FAILS IN $20,000 SUIT

Peter Ryan's Action Against A. I. and N. B. Smalley Falls Very Flat.

ACTS FOR REALTY FIRM

Which Claims Smalleys Failed to Keep a Macadamizing Contract—Case Non-Suited.

Without going to the trouble of putting in a defense N. B. and A. I. Smalley, owners of the Smalley cracked stone business, secured a non-suit of an action for $20,000, yesterday, brought against them by Peter Ryan, acting for Appleton & Sons, New York realty operators, in the Supreme Court. Charles A. Reed was counsel for the Smalleys, and Warren Dickinson appeared for the plaintiff.

The plaintiff claimed damages on the ground that the Smalleys had failed to execute a contract for the macadamizing of streets cut through the Fields property, Central avenue. The agreement was made over six years afo, and the work under it was finished by the stone dealers in 1901. The agreement was to the effect that the real estate men, who were developing the Fields tract, grade the streets to be macadamized. A clause in the contract provided that where the realty firm failed to grade, part of the money paid over for macadamizing work be applied to grading. In several instances this was done. The work, as far as the Smalleys could do it, was done, and they regarded the matter as completed.

The suit came as a surprise. The plaintiff claimed the Smalleys had not kept their agreement, leaving part of the work undone. When Judge Parker had heard the plaintiff's case, Counsell Reed moved a non-suit and it was promptly granted. The plaintiff did not produce a surveyor's certificate to show that any grading was done by the real estate firm, as agreed.

"There was no occasion to bring the suit," said Mayor N. B. Smalley this morning. "The other side had no chance whatever to win."

FORMED NEW ASSOCIATION.

Master Sheet Metal Workers Organize for Mutual Benefit.

The master sheet metal workers of the city met at the Iroquois hotel, last night, and formed a new association to be known as the Master Sheet Metal Workers Association of Plainfield. The following officers were elected: President, A. M. Griffen; vice-president, D. S. Dunavan; recording secretary, Philip Jahn; financial secretary, John Case; treasurer, C. W. Krausse.

The association was formed for mutual benefit and it is the intention of the organizers to join the State association within the near future. At the next meeting, which is set for May 16, a committee composed of D. S. Dunavan, John Case and Philip Jahn will present a constitution and by-laws.

Plans for 11th's Reunion.

Formal notification of the re-union of the 11th N. J. Regiment in this city on May 11 has been issued by the secretary and the programme outlined shows that a good time has been arranged for the veterans. A business session is to be held first in the G. A. R. rooms from 11 to 1 o'clock, after which the guests will adjourn to Truell Hall to enjoy an entertainment and dance as the guests of Captain and Mrs. William Hand, whose fiftieth wedding anniversary occurs on that day. It is hoped to have Arthur Brisbane, editor of the New York Journal, included in the attendance and at the close of the affair at the hall, the entire gathering will visit the Jackson school house where Captain and Mrs. Hand and Mr. Brisbane were pupils.

Bosses Will Probably Give In.

As yet neither the Master Plumbers' Association or the Journeymen's Association has given any intimation as to what will be done on May 6, the time fixed when the request for more money and less hours goes into effect. The bosses do not say that they will give in, neither do the journeymen say that they will compromise. It is the general opinion that the bosses will grant the request, rather than have any trouble.

Talked On Mexico.

Alexander Van Oss, who has made a recent trip to Mexico, spoke to the sophomore class of the Plainfield High School this morning. He told many things of interest in Mexico, including a vivid and entertaining description of a bull fight.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heath, formerly of Plainfield, have given up farm life in the upper part of New York State and returned to this city, where they will remain during the summer with relatives.

FLAG DAY OBSERVANCE IN SCHOOLS ON JUNE 14

SPECIAL EXERCISES IN THE LOCAL SCHOOLS ON THAT DAY.

For the first time by Legislative mandate, Flag Day will be observed in the city and borough schools, and for that mater throughout the State, on Friday, April 14. An act passed by the recent Legislature and now signed by Govenor Stokes makes the observance on that day compulsory. Special exercises will be held and of course there will be the customary addresses on the origin and history of the National emblem.

The new law, in question, follows: "It shall be the duty of the principals and teachers in the public schools in this State to make suitable arrangements for the celebration, by appropriate exercises among the pupils in said schools, on the fourteenth day of June in each year, as the day of the adoption of the American flag by the Continental Congress."

WOMEN SUFFRAGISTS HEAR FAMOUS SPEECH

PLEA OF ENGLAND'S PRIME MINISTER READ TO LOCAL SOCIETY.

On the invitation of Mrs. William H. Riley, of North Plainfield, the members of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield held an informal gathering at her home yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of discussing current events. At the annual meeting last week the time was taken up so much with other things that this part of the programme was not possible at that time.

Although the attendance was not large yesterday, those present were enthusiastic concerning the excellent reports. Mrs. Riley read the speech of the Prime Minister of England in favor of women's suffrage in that country. Reports were also read referring to the progress of women's suffrage in Colorado and other western States and showing the many alleged false statements that have been circulated throughout that part of the country. These papers were read by Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, county president of the W. C. T. U.; Mrs. David Thompson, of North Plainfield, and Mrs. C. L. Riley.

Following the presentation of the various papers there was general discussion of them by all present. The meeting proved to be a profitable, as well as interesting one.

Funeral of Cornelius Ackerman.

With a large gathering of relatives and friends in attendance, the funeral of Cornelius J. Ackerman, who died Sunday morning, was held at his late home on Clinton avenue, yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. Dr. Roberson, pastor of the Monroe Avenue church. There were numerous floral tributes, among them a set piece from the bank in New York, where Mr. Ackerman was employed for many years. Interment was made in the Methodist cemetery, those who acted as pall bearers being the following sons and sons-in-law: Archibald Ackerman, William Ackerman, Frank Martin, Edward Vail, Walter Manning and John Thompson.

Acquires More Property.

George J. Finger, of West Front street, has purchased of Charles H. Hand, the owner, one store and two-flat property at Watchung avenue and Second street, and is now in possession of the property. John A. Koch, the butcher, who occupies the store, will remain, as will also the tenants in the two flats. The deal was made for investment purposes. Mr. Finger is also building a one-story store on East Front street, which has been leased to a Plainfielder who will conduct a dry goods business there.

A Fine Performance of "Pinafore."

The dress rehearsal of "Pinafore" at the Casino, last night, by the Plainfield Operatic Association, was satisfactory in every particular. William Holmes, who has been associated with similar productions for the past fifteen years, says that the cast is one of the best and the chorus the strongest he has had anything to do with, and he assures the public of a finished performance. There will be two performances, Thursday and Friday nights. After the last performance there will be a dance.

Bondsman Surrenders Him.

Albert Conway, the young man held for the gand jury last week, on a charge of stealing bicycle wheels belonging to Rafael Kase, was surrendered by his bondsman, Robert Armstrong, this morning. The bond was for $50. Armstrong is the prisoner's uncle.

ALLEGED FORGER'S TRIAL

Pathetic Scene when Aged William H. Skillman Faces the Jury at Somerville.

A BITTER WILL CASE

Skillman Accused of Being the Author of Fraudulent Document Purporting to Be Will of Lanehart.

There was a pathetic scene in the Somerset Court House at Somerville yesterday when William H. Skillman, bent with age and weak from illness, was placed on trial for forging the will of his late friend and neighbor, William Lanehart, a retired New York business man who resided at Blowenberg.

Skillman was formerly the president of the New Jersey State Horticultural Society, and prominent in the affairs of Montgomery Township. When William Lanehart died two years ago, two wills were produced, one drawn by J. A. Race, cashier of the Hopewell National Bank, and one purporting to be a later will, drawn by William H. Skillman.

By the terms of the Race will Lanehart made a number of small bequests to his distant relatives, and left the residue of his $19,000 estate to his brother and two sisters. By the terms of the Skillman will Lanehart's near relatives were disinherited and the estate was equally divided between Miss Laura Kellogg, a niece of Lanehart, who resided with him for ten years, and his neighbor, William Skillman. No member of the Lanehart family had had any knowledge of the Skillman will until it was produced by Skillman shortly after Lanehart's death. The will was witnessed by Skillman's children and one of his neighbors. When it was filed for probate it was bitterly contested by Lanehart's relatives, and, after a legal battle, lasting for two months, Judge Schenck, in the Orphans' Court, decided that it was a forgery and it was not probated.

Skillman, in turn, was indicted by the Somerset Grand Jury for forgery. Judge Schenck, who adjudged the will a forgery in the Orphans' Court, refused to sit in the criminal action against Skillman, and remained in court yesterday a spectator, while Judge Booream, of New Brunswick, occupied the bench. In the Skillman will the alleged signature of Lanehart is first written with a lead pencil and then traced over with pen and ink. Before the Orphans' Court counsel for Skillman admitted that the signature had been made in this manner and produced witnesses to prove that Lanehart, from force of habit, first annexed his signature with a pencil and traced it over with ink.

Miss Laura Kellogg, who testified in behalf of Skillman in the Orphans' Court, was the only important witness called for the State yesterday. She said that her uncle used a stub pen during the last years of his life, with the penholder pointing away from his shoulder and held between his thumb and forefinger. She had never known him to use a pencil in making his signature and then write it over with a pen.

The will in dispute was presented to the witness and she was asked if she thought the signature was that of her uncle.

"I do not think my uncle ever wrote over that," was her reply.

The trial was resumed this morning and several witnesses for the prosecution gave their testimony. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the prosecution had not finished presenting its case.

D. A. R. Offers Prize.

As has been the custom for a number of years the Daughters of the American Revolution have offered a prize of $5 to the pupil of the Plainfield High School who writes the best essay on a historical subject in connection with New Jersey. The offer came too late to be included in the regular essay competition, but the matter was referred to S. B. Howe, Jr., instructor in history, who will select the subjects and arrange all details. This offer is open to students in the U. S. history class and others who have studied American history.

Anniversary of Day Nursery.

The eleventh annual birthday party of The Little Missionary's Day Nursery, 93 St. Mark's place, New York, Miss Sara Curry, manager, will be held at the Seventh Street church, New York, Thursday night, May 16, at 8 o'clock. The Plainfield friends of the nursery and Miss Curry have received invitations to the affair, together with a small bag in which to place their contributions for the support of the charity.

Fresh, green asparagus is one of the special vegetable offerings at Neuman Brothers' store. The display is one of the largest in the city.

STILL TALKING STRIKE

MORE PAY, LESS WORK

That Is What They Want—Strike-Breaker Offers Bosses His Services In Combatting Men.

Strike talk continues to be heard among the truck drivers of this city. It was rumored this morning that the men are to present a demand for increased pay and fewer working hours on Monday, and will go out if it is refused. The drivers formed a union about a year ago, and seem to have a compact organization.

The bosses have received no formal demand yet, but the men have talked pretty freely of the plans discussed and they know what is desired and impending. The men are receiving $10 a week for sixty hours of work. They want $12 and a schedule of fifty-four hours.

There is no inclination among the bosses to give what is asked. They have not organized and have held no meetings, it is said, but they are expected to get together as soon as the men make a definite move.

One of the bosses said this morning that the whole question was still, apparently, an open one among the men; that they had not determined on action of any kind.

News of the threatened strike reached a strike-breaking agency in NeX York this week, and a representative of the concern came here to see A. E. Hoagland, of Park avenue, one of the bosses, this morning. The agent said his principals would take hold of the situation on call and engage to break the strike.

BASEBALL GAME BRINGS PARENTS TO POLICE COURT

ANGRY FATHER PAYS $3 FOR TAKING HAND IN A SQUABBLE.

A bum decision given by the umpire or some other cause equally justifiable for inciting riot in a baseball game, resulted in a pitched battle between two juvenile teams on upper Manning avenue, Monday afternoon. After fists had been swung through the air for some times, stones were used in the fracas and a good-sized one connected with the cranium of First Baseman Thorn, of the "Stars." He claimed that it had been hurled by Catcher Ruttledge, of the "Crescents" and beat it home to tell his father of the fact in order to secure his assistance.

The parent, Willis Thorn, made haste to avenge the injury to his son and arriving at the scene of action, grabbed young Ruttledge. What happened after that nobody seems quite sure of but the boy is positive that he was handled roughly and was thrown thirty feet more or less. The members of his team claim it was fifty or perhaps a hundred, but at any rate it was enough to stir up Thomas Ruttledge, the catcher's father, and he hurried himself to police headquarters. He secured a warrant for the elder Thorn's arrest and he was arraigned in the borough court last night.

The specific charge against the defendant was disorderly conduct and the testimony warranted Recorder Dolliver imposing a $3 fine. No mention was made of the trouble that broke up the game and the teams will probably settle the matter in some secluded spot later on.

Quietly Wedded at Rectory.

John J. Curran, who is employed as driver by a local liveryman, and Bertha C. Mellman, of West Fourth street, were quietly married at the rectory of St. Mary's church last evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Sciolla and was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Higgins. The couple will make their home on West Fourth street.

Mrs. John Cashman's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. John Cashman was held at her late home on West Third street, yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, of which she was a member. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery, members of Miantanomoh Tribe of Red Men, of which Mr. Cashman belongs, acting as pall bearers.

Mr. Billet's Successor.

Wilbur E. Andrews, of Brooklyn, a young man who has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work, will temporarily fill the position of office secretary at the Y. M. C. A., left vacant by the resignation of F. E. Billet. He will take hold next week.

PLAN HARMONY DINNER

Smith, Gourley, Davis and Other Leaders to be Invited in Martine's Honor.

A PARTY LOVE FEAST

Farmer Orator Wants to Restore Good Feeling—Dinner at Elizabeth On May 29.

Brigadier General D. F. Collins and Charles K. Moore, both of Elizabeth, waited on "Farmer Orator" James E. Martine yesterday afternoon to notify him on behalf of the Democratic County Committee that it was the desire of the party leaders in Union county to give a dinner in his honor. They had been appointed at a recent meeting of the County Committee which had decided that some fitting recognition be taken of the many valuable services Mr. Martine had rendered the cause of Democracy during the last forty years. In accepting the invitation the "farmer orator" requested that the affair not be turned into a demonstration for the boom started for him for the gubernatorial nomination.

"What I would like," said the veteran stump speaker to the committee, "is to cement a friendly feeling among all the party leaders in New Jersey. I would like to bring together every man who has worked for the party welfare. Former United States Senator James Smith, Robert Davis, William J. Gourley, Johnston Cornish and several others I would particularly desire to be present. We don't want any friction in the party. What we desire is to all work in harmony. Another request I have to make is that the price of the dinner be within reach of the masses, to whom we owe so much. I don't care a rap about the Governorship but it is my ambition that there be no strife within the ranks of the party."

At a meeting of the committee last night at Elizabeth the following were appointed to make arrangements for the dinner to be held on May 29, Charles Moore, chairman; LeRoy Gibby, W. E. Tuttle, J. F. Kenno, R. McAdams, G. C. Clatek, Owen Farrelly, B. R. Wade and J. P. Owens. A sub-committee composed of Messrs. Moore, McAdams and Farrelly will secure the hall.

"ARM RIGHTS" ON THE JOB.

Turn the Tables on Their Opponents, the Prancing "Ponies."

The "Arm Rights" turned the tables on the "Ponies" at McLaughlin's alleys, last night, and won all three games played in the second match of a series arranged between the teams. The first and third games were excitingly close but in the second the "Arm Rights" had everything their own way, winning out by 114 pins. There were lots of surprises in the game, one of which was furnished by "Doc" Voehl, who led off with 202 and ended with a 118, the lowest score for the night.

The scores:

Somerville Town Meeting.

The annual town meeting was held in Somerville Monday night, County Clerk A. G. Anderson was made chairman and C. T. Hoagland secretary. The financial statement of Treasurer M. H. Johnson, showing that the total expenditures had been nearly $1,000 less than the previous year, was read. Nominations were then made for seven commissioners, and the ballot resulted as follows: Walter Durling, Charles Schwed, E. E. Houston, Charles C. Kenyon and Joseph Barras. The election will take place next Monday afternoon.

Slight Fire Causes $50 Damage.

An alarm from box 36 called the city fire department to the home of M. Zinkeisen at 414 West Eighth street, last night. A servant lighting a gas stove threw the burning match in a basket filled with waste paper and a brisk blaze sprang up. An attempt was made to extinguish it without calling the department but without success. The damage is placed at $50, most of it caused by smoke.

Mrs. George Whitley, of Beverly, Mass., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitley, of Essex street.

CONDUCTOR INJURED BY AUTO IS RECOVERING

HARTMAN NOT DANGEROUSLY HURT: TO BE TRIED MAY 11.

The automobile which ran down Irving Hartman, the Public Service Corporation conductor at Clinton avenue and West Front street yesterday afternoon is owned by W. S. Fanning, of Montclair. Mr. Fanning drove it.

After taking the injured conductor to the hospital, Fanning drove his car, under arrest, with Sergeant Overbaugh in the tonneau, to the police station. He was arrigned before Judge Runyon in the city court a few minutes later. He was released, on his own recognizance, to appear for a hearing on Saturday, May 11.

Hartman's condition, it was said at the hospital this morning, was not serious. So far as examination had disclosed, he was suffering only from two broken ribs and general contusions. It was reported yesterday that his injuries were serious and threatening.

L. T. L. CHILDREN IN "MOTHER GOOSE" SHOW

ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN UNDER DIRECTION OF MISS AIMEE LOUISE EMMONS.

Under the auspices of the Loyal Temperance Legion, and under the direction of Miss Aimee Louise Emmons, assisted by Miss Myra Emmons, a "Mother Gobse" entertainment was given in the Y. M. C. A. hall, last night, before a large and appreciative audience. The children who participated acquitted themselves well and shared with Miss Emmons in congratulations for the fine programme.

Part first of the programme was devoted to varied selections, beginning with a fan drill, well executed by the Misses Helen Woolley, Madoline Strader, Helen Roberts, Clara Weber, Ethel Vail and Thelma Curtis. Two recitations, "My Sister's Big Fellow," by Raymond Stevens, and "Little Girl's Lament," by Elsie VanDenburgh, were amusing and a feature was a character song, "Poor John," by Miss Hazel Walters. She was exceedingly clever. This part closed with two recitations, "I'm Tired," Wilbur Hoffman, and "Naughty Zell," by Miss Helen Woolley.

"Mother Goose and Her Temperance Family," was the title of part second, and the different members of the family from "Yankee Doodle," and "Columbia," to "Boy Blue," all declared their allegiance to the cause of temperance and promised to work with all their might for it. Each one had a part in presenting the claims for temperance and there were several pretty solos and choruses. The cast follows:

"Yankee Doodle," Benjamin Berce; "Columbia," Miss Ellen Doughty; "Mother Goose," Miss Powers; "Jack," Edward Ryder; "Jill," Miss Grace VanDenburgh; "Red Riding Hood," Miss Helen Ryder; "Old Woman Who Lives in the Shoe," Miss Emma Heidloff; children in the shoe, Elsie VanDenburgh, May Heidloff, May Howell, Grace Wakefield, Mary Roth, Ruth Hoffman, Grace Vail, Theodosia Vail, Daisy Terry and Marion Doughty; "Goody Two Shoes," Miss Anna Vail; "Mother Hubbard," Miss Dorothy Gaston; "Bo Peep," Miss Bessie Carson; "Jack Horner," Harry Moulton; "Blue Beard," Ernest Stevens; "King Cole," Elmer Hunting; "Jack Giant Killer," Earl Moran; "Humpty Dumpty," Leopold Berce; "Boy Blue," David Berce; "Goody Two Shoe Girls," the Misses Helen Woolley, Helen Roberts, Madoline Strader, Thelma Curtis, Anna Vail and Ethel Vail.

Mrs. Alvah TenEyck is the superintendent of the Loyal Temperance Legion, and she assisted in making last night's affair the success it was.

Objected to Method of Payment.

It is said that one of the chief reasons why the gang of Italians at work on the Southside sanitary sewer went on a strike yesterday was because their money has been held back to the 15th of each month. The men do not like to wait so long for their money. On the other hand the contractor believes that in holding back on the payment he is more likely to keep the men, for they are not apt to leave under such circumstances. A conference was held yesterday afternoon, with the result that probably all of the men will return to work. There has not been total cessation of work, a few men remaining when the others went out. The contractor will probably make other arrangements about paying the men.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Dellman, of West Sixth street, are entertaining relatives from Nashua, N. H.

MAY ERECT FIRE HOUSE

New Law Gives City Fathers the Right to Afford Better Protection in East End.

ABLE TO ISSUE BONDS

Richmond Street Picked As a Desirable Location for Proposed Structure—The Law Quoted.

Through the provisions of an act passed by the recent Legislature and signed by Governor Stokes, Plainfield's Common Council is empowered to erect a fire house in the East End, if it chooses so to do, and to issue bonds to meet the expense of construction. Whether it will do so or not, cannot be learned but it is quite certain that the matter will be brought to the attention of the city fathers in the near future. In his first annual message, Mayor Fisk drew attention to the need of a fire house in the East End and suggested that the Common Council consider the proposition.

The enabling act in question provides:

"Whenever any city has purchased land for the purpose of erecting a fire house thereon, it shall be lawful for the governing body or other body in control of the finances of said city to issue bonds for the purpose of erecting a fire house upon such land and of equipping the same with horses, fire engines and other necessaries for fire purposes, to the amount of not more than $20,000.

"The said bonds shall be issued after due advertisement and sold at a public sale to the highest bidder therefor; shall run for a period of not less than ten nor more than thirty years from date of issue; shall bear interest at a rate of not more than five per cent., and shall pledge the faith and credit and property of said city for the payment thereof, with interest.

"The proceeds of said bonds shall be issued exclusively by the governing board or body of the finances of the said city exclusively, for the purpose of erecting said fire house and fully equipping the same for fire purpose as aforesaid; said bonds shall be retired by establishing a sinking fund for the purpose, and there shall be disposed each year to the credit of said fund, to be produced and collected by assessment upon ratables of said city, a sum sufficient to retire the principal of said bonds at maturity."

One of the city authorities today said that there is urgent need for a fire house in the East End and that personally he favored the erection of such a structure in Richmond street.

SHOCK FOR QUINN.

Judge Runyon Puts Off Mercy from Court "Regular."

Peter Quinn, who has been arrested several times recently for drunkenness and disorder, was again arraigned in court on the old charge this morning. He was arrested on Plainfield avenue yesterday afternoon.

He denied being drunk, but the testimony of Doorman McCue, who received him at the station house, knocked the bottom from his denial.

"We have been treating you too kindly, Quinn," said Judge Runyon; "forty days."

Quinn was aghast at the sentence. He turned to Chief Kiely with an appeal, but Doorman McCue broke it off and shooed him to his cell.

Republican View of Martine.

The Democratic county committee of Union county is to give a dinner and reception early next month to James E. Martine, and it is believed to be a step in the direction of launching a boom for Mr. Martine as a gubernatorial possibility. If a Democrat must be elected governor of New Jersey, the people could make a greater mistake than they would if they should choose Mr. Martine for their chief executive officer. But Martine's chances for being nominated for governor by the State convention are not especially bright. He has always been an enthusiastic admirer of William Jennings Bryan and his policies. The people of the State haven't yet reached the point where they will set their seal of approval on anything that savors of Bryanism. —Trenton State Gazette, Republican.

Harry Lude Injured.

Harry Lude, of DeKalb avenue, employed at the Quincy-Manchester Machine Works as an apprentice, received painful injuries of the left hand yesterday afternoon by allowing a heavy piece of iron to fall on it. He was taken to the hospital, and after the hand was dressed, he returned home.

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothes, etc.—an impossibility, you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

Not satisfied with having a crack moist manipulator in Walsh, Fielder Jones, of Chicago, wants two. Frank Smith is now at work mastering the humid heave.

Dave Driscoll represents Elizabeth in the Lackawanna League, and will have charge of the team.

There is certainly a hoodoo hovering about the Brooklyn Nationals this season, and despite vigilant search Patsy Donovan has been unable to locate it.

A picture of "Lefty" Davis, the former Plainfield twirler, appeared in a Newark paper yesterday and he looks at least ten years younger than when he was here.

Knight, the Philadelphia High School boy who has been playing with the Athletics, is surely making good at third base and it looks as though he would be a fixture.

The weather this spring has been a source of great worriment to baseball managers. It is said to be the worst since 1874 and will result in the loss of much money to clubs. On Monday all games in the Western League had to be postponed on account of cold weather.

GOLF.

According to present indications Alex Smith will not defend his title of national open golf champion at Philadelphia in June. Instead, he hopes to go abroad to play in the British open championship, as he did last year. Unfortunately, the two events conflict, so he must skip one of them. The matter is decided, so far as he is concerned. Therefore, everything hinges on the Nassau Country Club, at which he is the professional. Such talk as the members have had about the project has developed a sentiment favorable to his going, so it seems likely that leave of absence will be granted him. Should he go he will sail about May 5, which would give him approximately a month before the competition is held.

Dates have been assigned for the annual open tournament of the Deal Golf Club. They are August 21, 22, 23 and 24. The committee in charge has had assurances from several prominent amateurs that they would be on hand. The tournament drew a large field last summer despite the rival attraction at Manchester which prevented Jerome D. Travers from taking part. There will be no conflict this year. These tourneys usually last three days, but this time the committee has named four days, as some additional attractions are under consideration. The programme will not be made out until later. Last year Gilman P. Tiffany, champion of the Hudson River Golf Association, won the chief cup, defeating Robert Abbott, of Plainfield, in the final round.

It has remained for J. G. Sage, a member of the Hackensack Golf Club, to make the second hole at Garden City in one stroke. The unusual incident happened in a recent four ball match, in which George Barnes, of the home club; W. H. Watt, W. D. Moffatt and Sage were the principals. Sage caught his mid-iron shot just right, and the ball, striking a few feet short of the pin, had barely force enough to roll into the cup. The hole is 145 yards.

Among the local players who are expected to make good records this season in golf are Frank O. Reinhart, W. Lester Glenney, C. B. Morgan, J. Whitney Baker and Robert Abbott. They all intend to follow the game closely.

Unusual interest is being shown in the game at the Westfield Golf Club this season and all are anxiously awaiting the opening on Saturday.

Rev. J. O. McKelvey will be a familiar figure on the Park Golf Club course this summer, as will also Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll and Rev. C. L. Goodrich.

The initial women's golf competition will be held at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow. The contest will extend throughout the season.

ROD AND GUN.

There will be a big shoot on the Independent Gun Club grounds, Maple avenue, Decoration Day, commencing in the morning. Handsome prizes will be offered in various events. The Plainfield Gun Club has consolidated with the Independent Gun Club and has sold its clubhouse and equipment to the latter organization. Other shoots will be planned for during the season and it is expected that some of the crack shots of the State will participate.

At Jamaica Track.

New York, May 1.—Incidents out of the ordinary at the Jamaica yesterday were the accident to Walter Miller, who was thrown from his mount, Epocha; in the opening dash, and injured his left leg so that he was told by "Tom" Welch not to attempt to ride for the rest of the day; the defeat of the $45,000 colt De Mund in a handicap at six furlongs, which his trainer and owner thought he would surely win, and the victory in a selling race of the Futurity winner of 1902, Savable, now racing in the name and colors of P. T. Chinn. Miller was thrown as the horses closed in on his mount, Epocha, and for a few seconds his motionless body chilled the blood of onlookers, but when he stiffly got on his feet audible expressions of relief went up all over the grounds. So frequently has Miller been thrown in the last two seasons that it has become almost an old story to speak of his accidents. Close observers say that at the Jamaica track he has not ridden with the fearlessness he had a year ago. He pulled up on Inquisitor a few days ago before it was well established that he was to be squeezed.

Robert Abbott Second.

Robert Abbott, of this city, finished second in punting Monday in the annual contests at Yale for the trophy cups in punting, drop kicking and accurate passing, which marked the last day of spring practise for the Yale football candidates. Henry Meyer Wheaton, of Philadelphia, won the event. In winning the punting competition Wheaton averaged 57½ yards, which stamps him as one of the most successful distance kickers Yale has produced in recent years.

During the years that Miss Lizzie Dunn, Miss Emma Whitlock and Miss Phoebe Mills sang in the Trinity Reformed church choir, Miss Emma U. King, soprano, now Mrs. Theodore Hardy, of Brooklyn, also voluntarily sang in the choir for several years, as did Charles D. Wheeler, of the borough. These names were omitted in the account on Monday.

It is now expected that the funeral services of Bishop James N. FitzGerald, who died in China, will be held at Newark either May 14 or 17. The steamship China of the Pacific Mail Line, on which the body is being brought home, left Honolulu yesterday and is scheduled to arrive in San Francisco early next week. Mrs. FitzGerald, the widow, and the party accompanying the body, will start East immediately and will reach Newark May 12. The body will be taken to the home of the bishop's son, Dr. Paul FitzGerald, 214 North Seventh street, Newark.

BRYAN WILL DELIVER SPEECH AT MIDNIGHT

DINNER COMMITTEE OFFERS TO RETURN MONEY TO THOSE WHO CANNOT WAIT.

William J. Bryan's appearance at the People's Lobby dinner in Krueger Auditorium, Newark, tonight, will be late. Mr. Bryan is to lecture, and afterward attend for a short time a private entertainment in New York before coming to Newark, and will consequently not reach the Auditorium before midnight. This is somewhat later than the committee had anticipated. Because of this information, which the committee in charge of the dinner obtained Monday, the following notice was sent yesterday to each of the 700 subscribers to the dinner.

"To prevent the misapprehension and disappointment on the part of the subscribers, the committee desires to announce that Mr. Bryan's itinerary will not permit him to reach the Krueger Auditorium before midnight. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock, and Messrs. Colby, Martine, Fagan, Sommer, Record and others will speak until Mr. Bryan arrives.

"Any subscribers who desire, because of the change in the programme, may have their money refunded by returning their dinner tickets to Alden Freeman, chairman of the dinner committee, 101 Munn avenue, East Orange."

This announcement was made following a conference held in New York Monday between members of the dinner committee and Colonel Harry W. Walker, secretary of the National Anti-Trust League, who will accompany Mr. Bryan to Newark. It was feared that the change in plan by which Mr. Bryan is to address the New York Legislature at Albany this afternoon and attend two functions in New York before coming to Newark, would make his local appearance even later than midnight, but the committee received assurances that the hosts at the private entertainment Mr. Bryan is to attend after his lecture would not retain him.

There is to be little formality about the dinner. Seats will be reserved only for speakers, a few guests of honor and the press. For others, the rule will be, first come, first served. There will not even be the formality of menu cards or toast lists. No list of set topics for the speakers has been announced, and it is understood that they are to be given free range of the several subjects included in the People's Lobby programme. The reforms declared for in this programme are: Initiative and referendum, direct nominations, blanket ballots, amendment of the legislative rules to require a committee to report and an open vote on every bill introduced, election of all county and State officers, including county prosecutors and judges; publication of a printed daily stenographic report of legislative proceedings, and popular election of United States Senators.

Rahway Objects to Its Taking Water from Robinson's Branch.

The Rahway Common Council last night directed the city attorney to apply to the courts for permanent injunctions restraining the Middlesex Water Company from using or diverting any water from Robinson's branch of the Rahway river. This action is made upon the assumption that by using this water the stream will become dried up and be a menace to the health of the citizens of the city.

GOVERNOR TO SPEAK

Sessions to Be Held at Peddie Memorial Church In Newark—

The Programme In Detail.

Rev. Adelbert Chapman, of Hackensack, outlined the programme for the State convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union, which starts October 9, at the spring session of the executive committee in the Y. M. C. A. building at Newark. The convention will be held in the Peddie Memorial church, Newark, and among those who are scheduled to speak are Governor Stokes and Mayor Haussling. There will be sessions each morning; afternoon and evening during the convention, and arrangements are being made to include open air meetings at night in Military and Washington parks in Newark.

The convention will open Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Ida Dukes will hold a conference for junior workers and the State executive board will hold its final meeting. At the night session, Rev. Dr. John F. Patterson, of Philadelphia, will speak. Thursday morning the session will include the addresses of welcome by Governor Stokes and Mayor Haussling, of Newark, with a response by John T. Sproull, president of the union.

At the afternoon session Percy R. Nuessle, of Newark, will report for the correspondence committee, while the fresh air work will be presented by J. K. Harriman, of Jersey City. Miss Jane R. Morrow, of Westfield, will tell of the missionary department work, and Robert E. Speer, of Englewood, will speak on missions.

At night the report of the secretary, Miss Ida B. Stephens, and the treasurer, A. W. Abbott, will be given, followed by an address by the general secretary, William Shaw, of Boston. The usual reception and reunion will take place at the end of this session.

Friday a service will be held at 6:45 a. m. At the regular morning session Rev. Dr. F. W. Johnson, of Washington, will report on the Sabbath observance work, followed by an address on "Christian Citizenship" by Rev. Dr. Charles F. Stanley, secretary of the Sabbath Observance Society. Rev. Dr. Albert Erdman, of Morristown, will present the report on State Bible study, followed by an address by Rev. Dr. S. D. Gordon. Rev. Abram Duryea, of Cherry Hill, will tell of the evangelistic work, and Rev. Dr. Wilton Merle Smith, of New York, will speak on "Endeavor Evangelism." At the afternoon session, Mrs. Dukes will conduct a junior exercise, and Rev. Dr. C. H. Tindall will address the junior societies.

At the closing session at night the committee on resolutions will report and officers for the ensuing year will be elected. Rev. Dr. Kerr Boyce Tupper, of Philadelphia, will deliver the convention sermon.

EDUCATORS APPEAL TO STOKES

Ask Him to Veto Teachers' Examination Bill.

Members of the Newark Board of Education's legislative committee, including President David A. McIntyre, Secretary Robert D. Argue and the superintendent of schools, Addison B. Poland, went to Trenton yesterday to urge upon Governor Edward C. Stokes that he veto Senate bill No. 271, passed at the late session of the Legislature.

The bill, which was introduced by Senator Minturn, of Hudson, prohibits the examination of teachers by boards of examiners when they apply for promotion.

The local officials asked the State Executive to affix his official signature to Assemblyman Brady's bill restricting the attendance of children at theatres.

APPOINTS NEWSPAPERMAN.

Charles R. Bacon, of Camden, a Philadelphia newspaper man, was yesterday reappointed chief of the State Bureau of Shell Fisheries.

Plenty of Work in Elizabeth.

From all present indications labor will find plenty of employment in Elizabeth this year. SEWERS FOR MORRISTOWN.

Voters Approve Plan of Commission at Special Election.

Morristown, at a special election yesterday, voted in favor of a sewerage system by 1,031 in favor of the plan presented by the sewerage commission to 50 against it, while 66 votes were lost owing to voters not using the machines according to directions.

The Civic Association and Business Men's Association took an active interest in getting out the vote, and last week held a meeting to further the project. All day long a wagon went about town with the legend "If you want sewers get in and ride."

Nearly a year ago, on the presentation of a petition from property owners which was indorsed by the Board of Aldermen, Justice Garretson appointed Rear Admiral P. H. Cooper, C. D. M. Cole, E. S. Burke and E. Hurtzig a commission to take up the matter. After ten months' deliberation they made a report to the Board of Aldermen, which was adopted after slight amendment. The commission now has authority to proceed with the installation of a system of sewers at a cost of $380,000.

Bingham In the Way of Peace.

New York, May 1.—As the inevitable price of peace and of a perfect working coalition with Mayor McClellan, the Sullivans demand the head of General Theodore Bingham, Commissioner of Police. That price Mayor McClellan positively refuses to pay. As a natural consequence, the dove of peace, which appeared hovering expectantly over the dome of the City Hall all day Monday, was frightened away yesterday with the loss of most of its pin feathers. Whether less radical demands and the submission of less drastic protocols looking to the proposed peace treaty may encourage the return of the timorous bird remains problematical. It is more than possible, even yet, despite Corporation Counsel Ellison's premature and indiscreet uterance, that there may result a peace and that in the interest of party harmony in the coming local and State elections the Mayor may desist from further efforts to widen the split in the Tammany organization by supporting opposition candidates in the primaries.

FAVORE DEEDS COMMISSIONERS

New Law Extends Their Term from April 1 to May 1.

Assistant Secretary of State J. B. R. Smith in a statement yesterday corrects a report concerning the effect of the act of the present Legislature on the standing of commissioners of deeds. The report stated that commissioners of deeds have no legal standing unless they qualify before May 1. Otherwise it will be up to Governor Stokes to name their successors. It was also stated in the report that the discovery had just been made that the bill in question legislated out of office every commissioner of deeds in the State.

"The facts are," said Mr. Smith, "that so far from legislating out of office any commissioners of deeds now in office, the bill does just the opposite, providing that the term of office of all commissioners now in commission shall be extended from the first day of April to the first day of May in the year in which their commissions expire. Under the new law the commissioners will bear date the first of May.

"The changes which the new law makes are: First, that the Legislature may appoint as many commissioners for each town, township, borough or ward as, in its judgment, is necessary; second, it provides for a State fee of $5, instead of the $1 formerly paid, and requires the appointees to qualify before their commissions are issued."

MILITANT WOMEN HELD.

Charged With Atrocious Assault on Man Digging a Ditch.

On a charge of atrocious assault, Annie Herman and Mary Nojallyss, of Linden, were held in $600 and $500 bail, respectively, by Justice of the Peace James P. Kelly, at Elizabeth yesterday morning.

The defendants were arrested on a warrant sworn out by James Farrell, who alleges that he was attacked by the women while digging a ditch in the rear of his yard. He further alleges that his wife, who went to his assistance, also received a beating.

Kills Self From Remorse.

St. Louis, Mo., May 1.—Overcome by remorse because, in a fit of impatience, he had struck his aged mother and discolored her eye, Edward Linne slunk in a shame into the basement of his mother's house and blew out his brains with a revolver. Linne was an interior decorator of sensitive, artistic temperament. Prowling far into the night when he should have slept made him nervous. When after a night of toil with the brush his mother called him in the morning he arose from the bed and struck the aged woman. He then left the house, but returned later and asked his mother's forgiveness, weeping like a child. The mother readily forgave him, but he could not forgive himself.

Shot Negro for Threat.

Dallas, Texas, May 1.—Arthur Powell, a brother of Felix Powell, a negro who was hanged in Victoria about three days ago for the murder of the Conditt family at Edna, Texas, was killed last evening at Edna by Sheriff A. C. Egg. Arthur Powell had said he was going to kill Egg for hanging Felix. Sheriff Egg and deputies went out in search of the negro and walked upon him in J. H. Kopp's grocery store. Powell whirled around, facing him, and as he did so Sheriff Egg shot him. The negro's double barrelled shotgun was lying close at hand. Egg surrendered.

Dream Saves Lives.

New York, May 1.—Dreaming that the house in which she was living, No. 226 South Third street, had collapsed and that all the tenants were buried in the ruins, Mrs. James Martin, who lived on the second floor, refused to stay in the house longer. The other tenants, hearing of her dream, also moved. The house collapsed yesterday afternoon. Workmen were excavating on the adjoining lots at Nos. 228 and 230 South Third street for a new building when the crash came and many of them had narrow escapes from serious injury.

SONS OF VETERANS TO HOLD ENCAMPMENT AT NEWARK.

Twenty-fifth Year of Organization Ends With Gains—New Officers to Be Elected.

Charles C. Lawrence, of Trenton Junction, division commander of the New Jersey Sons of Veterans, has made plans for the annual State encampment, May 8 and 9, in Marcus L. Ward Post rooms, 82 Bellville avenue, Newark. This session will be of special importance, as it marks the close of the twenty-fifth year of the order's history.

The first session will be held the evening of May 8, and on May 9 business will occupy all day. Reports of officers will show that the Sons of Veterans have made substantial gains during the year in finances and membership. Officers will be elected the second day.

Mr. Lawrence' term as division commander will expire at the close of the meeting, and his successor will be Henry E. Pennell, of Atlantic City, who is now senior vice commander. The office which will be vacated by Mr. Pennell will be filled by Theodore E. Jones, of Montclair, who is the present junior vice commander. For the vacant office of junior vice commander there will be a contest, and at present the probable successful candidate seems likely to be W. T. Stevens, of Dayton Camp, Trenton.

The division officers who will preside will be Division Commander Lawrence, Senior Vice Commander Pennell, Junior Vice Commander Jones, Division Secretary W. H. Good, of Trenton, and Division Treasurer H. A. Handley, of Trenton District Patriotic Inspector John L. Reeger, of Trenton, will also attend.

At the same time the Woman's Auxiliary will hold its annual meeting, but in a different part of the Marcus Ward Post rooms. The principal business will be the election of officers and presentation of reports. State President Mrs. Harry E. Pennell, of Atlantic City, will be the presiding officer. Mrs. Pennell was in Newark last Tuesday evening, where she organized a new auxiliary. She visited Beverley last Friday, and on Thursday was in Trenton.

Pistol In Bag Shot Him.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 1.—Henry C. Terry, for many years a leader at the Philadelphia Bar, was removed from a hotel to a hospital yesterday suffering from a bullet wound in the abdomen. His injury, which the physicians say is serious in the extreme, is declared to have been accidentally received. Mr. Terry's secretary told the hospital people that the injury of the lawyer was an accident. She declared that Mr. Terry had left his apartments for his office. He carried a handbag, in which was a loaded revolver. "Mr. Terry put the bag down on the floor of the elevator," she is quoted as having said. "Just as the car left the seventh floor he lost his balance and stumbled over the bag. The shock jarred the revolver and it was discharged, the bullet entering Mr. Herry's abdomen."

JULY 4 AT JAMESTOWN

Thomas Jefferson Memorial Association Plans Patriotic Celebration.

A REUNION ARRANGED

Descendants of Signers to Hold Reunion—Ex-President Endorses the Idea.

The Fourth of July celebration at the Jamestown Exposition promises to be one of the most uninque, as well as one of the most impressive, that has ever been held anywhere in the United States.

The Thomas Jefferson Memorial Association of the United States recently submitted, through its secretary, William S. McKean, its plan for the celebration of the day to the officers of the exposition. The association plans a grand reunion of the descendants of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and to have the declaration read by a lineal descendant of Thomas Jefferson, author of the famous document. In addition to these features of the day, it is proposed to have addresses and patriotic music by a specially-organized chorus of 500 voices.

The board of governors of the exposition has shown its approval of the plan by adopting the proposal of the association. The celebration will be conducted under the joint auspices of the exposition officials and the association.

The following letter of approval of the movement has been received by Mr. McKean from former President Cleveland:

"My Dear Sir—I unreservedly approve of the project which the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Association of the United States has in hand. It seems to me that a reunion of the descendants of the signers of the Declaration of Independence on or about the date when this immortal document was signed would be a most impressive incident in connection with the Jamestown Exposition.

"Such a reunion should certainly have a tendency to stimulate patriotic sentiment and arouse among those who are within its influence a better appreciation of the initial efforts of the fathers of the republic to establish a new nation, and impress upon it the best ideals of a free government.

"Yours very sincerely,
"GROVER CLEVELAND."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"At Piney Ridge," under the direction of the author, David Higgins, will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night. This grand drama presents the best, truest and most interesting picture of the Southland yet put before the public. It is full of meat, full of humor and rollicking fun, full of deep pathos and humanity. It is told in a natural way that pleases all sorts of people and for this reason it is a success. A company of capable artists headed by Mr. VanKinzie will present the play under the supervision of the author. Many novel effects and musical features will add to the attractiveness of this well known play.

Miss Rose Melville, who is making her eighth consecutive tour in "Sis Hopkins," has been booked for an engagement at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. "Sis Hopkins" may very properly be said to be the most popular play which has been staged in 20 years. Each season sees an increase in interest in the fortunes of the simple and oddly dressed country girl from Posey County, Indiana; the girl with the funny pig-tailed hair, the gingham pinafore and the "snap-ginger-time" dance; the girl with the gentle, abashed manner and the keen wit and the homely philosophic form of speech. Miss Melville, since she originated the character eight years ago, has played in every city in the United States and in nearly all the larger cities of Canada. The company supporting her this season is the best she has ever had and the production has been entirely redressed by J. R. Stirling who is directing the tour. This season, Obadiah, the undertaker's assistant, has a new lot of tomb-stone epitaphs.

McIntyre and Heath, the greatest and most humorous impersonators of negro character on the stage, will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre on Saturday afternoon and night, May 11, in a new musical novelty called "The Ham Tree," described on the programme as "Klaw & Erlanger's Laugh Trust." These clever comedians, with their company of 100 entertainers, made their debut in "The Ham Tree" at the New York theatre in August, 1905, where they ran for several weeks to the largest attendance in the history of this theatre. After this engagement they played long runs in Pittsburg, Philadelphia and Boston, repeating their New York success. Then followed a tour of other cities where their performance gave immense satisfaction. They opened the present season at the New York theatre July 30, and from the opening night till the close the house was packed. The book of "The Ham Tree" is by Geo. V. Hobart, the author of the famous "John Henry" stories, the lyrics are by William Jerome and the music by Jean Schwartz. The company numbers 100 people. The principals of McIntyre and Heath's support are W. C. Fields, the tramp juggler; Frederick V. Bowers, the ballad writer, singer and juvenile actor; Jeanne Towler, Carolyn Gordon, Belle Gold, Alfred Fisher and David Torrence. The ensembles include the most beautiful chorus of singing and dancing girls ever presented in a musical play.

The two vital questions in your piano purchase are, first, quality; second, price. An unsatisfactory piano, in tone and action, is the most annoying article you can have in your home. You dislike to be expending money on it continually to keep it in playing condition.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

"HOW TO KEEP HEALTHY."

"I am not a believer in too much medicine. Don't take medicine all the time. Get a good tonic and take it until the old vitality returns then stop. A general tonic and system regulator should be taken in the spring and fall. For this purpose there is nothing better on earth than Cooper's New Discovery, but I advise no one to take this medicine or any other all year long. Give nature a chance. Establish regularity in movement of the bowels. Drink plenty of water but not at meal time. Chew your food very carefully and eat slowly. Sleep with the window open, don't be afraid of fresh air and do not eat a great deal of grease. Be regular at meals. Go to bed and get up at the same hour each day if possible. Take a bottle of Cooper's New Discovery twice a year and your life should be long and healthy.

MISS MIDDLETON.

Here is what Cooper's New Discovery does for run-down people who need a tonic:

"I have been sick for a number of years with stomach trouble and also from backaches and headaches. Sometimes I became so weak I could not stand on my feet. My food did not seem to nourish me and I could not gain strength. I felt tired to death all the time. Nothing I took helped me, and hearing so much of the Cooper medicines I decided to try them."

"I have taken two bottles of Cooper's New Discovery with the most remarkable results. I now feel entirely well. My appetite is fine, I sleep well, have no more headaches and am quite strong again. I cannot express my thanks for what these medicines have done." Sallie Middleton, 1957 Central Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Ask us about these medicines. We sell them.

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

I happened just then to glance past him at a picture on the wall over his chair. It was a crayon portrait of his wife, made from an enlarged photograph—a poor piece of work, almost ludicrous in its distortions of proportion and perspective. But it touched me the more because it was such a humble thing, reminiscent of her and his and my lowly beginnings. And an appeal seemed to go straight to my heart from those eyes that had so often been raised from the sewing in sympathetic understanding of the things I was struggling to make her husband see.

I pointed to the picture; he slowly turned round in his chair until he, too, looked at it. What would she say, Burbank," I asked, "if she were with us now?"

And then I went on to analyze his outlined administration, to show him in detail why I thought it would ruin him, to suggest men who were as good party men as the Goodrich crowd and would be a credit to him and a help. And he listened with his old-time expression, looking up at his dead wife's picture all the while. "You must be popular, at any cost," I ended. "The industrial crowd will stay with the party, no matter what we do. As long as Scarborough is in control on the other side, we are their only hope." And so, we are free to seek popularity—and we must regain it or we're done for. Money won't save us when we've lost our grip on the rank and file. The presidency can't be bought again for you. If it must be bought next time, another figure-head will have to be used."

"I can't tell you how grateful I am," was his conclusion after I had put my whole mind before him and he had discussed it. "But there are certain pledges to Goodrich—"

"Break them," said I. "To keep them is catastrophe."

I knew the pledges he had in the foreground—a St. Louis understrapper of the New York financial crowd for secretary of the treasury; for attorney general a lawyer who knew nothing of politics or public sentiment or indeed anything but how to instruct corporations in law-breaking and law-dodging.

He thought a long time. When he answered it was with a shake of the head. "Too late, I'm afraid, Harvey. I've asked the men and they've accepted. That was a most untimely illness of yours. I'll see what can be done. It's a grave step to offend several of the most conspicuous men in the party."

"Not so serious as to offend the party itself," I replied. "Money is a great power in politics, but partizanship is a greater."

"I'll think it over," was the most he had the courage to concede. "I must look at all sides, you know. But, whatever I decide, I thank you for your candor."

We separated, the best of friends in the world, I trying to recover some few of the high hopes of him that had filled me on election night. "He's weak and timid," I said to myself, "but at bottom he must have a longing to be president in fact as well as in name. Even the meanest slave longs to be a man."

I should have excepted the self-enslaved slaves of ambition. Of all bondmen, they alone, I believe, not only do not wish freedom, but also are ever plotting how they may add to their chains.

CHAPTER XXIX.

A Letter From the Dead.

I was living alone at the Willard. Soon after the death of Burbank's wife, his sister and brother-in-law, the Gracies, had come with their three children to live with him and to look after his boy and girl. Trouble between his family and mine, originating in some impertinences of the oldest Gracie girl, spread from the children to the grown people, until, when he went into the White House, he and I were the only two on speaking terms. I see now that this situation had large influence on me in holding aloof and waiting always for overtures from him. At the time I thought, as no doubt he thought also, that the quarrel was beneath the notice of men.

At any rate my family decided not to come to Washington during his first winter in the White House. I lived alone at the Willard. One afternoon toward the end of February I returned there from the senate and found Woodruff, bad news in his face. "What is it?" I asked indifferently, for I assumed it was some political tangle.

"Your wife—was taken—very ill—very suddenly," he said. His eyes told me the rest.

If I had ever asked myself how this news would affect me, I should have answered that it would give me a sensation of relief. But, instead of relief, I felt the stunning blow of a wave of sorrow which has never wholly receded. Not because I loved her—that I never did. Not because she was the mother of my children—my likes and dislikes are direct and personal. Not because she was my wife—that bond had been galling. Not because I was fond of her—she was one of those cold, angry natures that forbid affection. No: I was overwhelmed because she and I had been intimates, with all the closest interests of life in common, with the whole world, even my children, whom I loved passionately, outside that circle which fate had drawn around us two. I imagine this is not uncommon among married people—this unhealable break in their routine of association when one departs. No doubt it often passes with the unthinking for love belatedly discovered.

"She did not suffer," said Woodruff gently. "It was heart disease. She had just come in from a ride with your oldest daughter. They were resting and talking in high spirits by the library fire. And then—the end came—like putting out the light."

Heart disease! Often I had noted the irregular beat of her heart—a throb, a long pause, a flutter, a short pause, a throb. And I could remember that more than once the sound had been followed by the shadowy appearance, in the door of my mind, of one of those black thoughts which try to tempt hope but only make it hide in shame and dread. Now, the memory of those occasions tormented me into accusing myself of having wished her gone. But it was not so.

She had told me she had heart trouble; but she had confided to no one that she knew it might bring on the end at any moment. She left a letter, sealed and addressed to me:

Harvey: I shall never have the courage to tell you, yet I feel you ought to know. I think every one attributes to every one else less shrewdness than he possesses. I know you have not given me the credit of seeing that you did not love me. And you were so kind and considerate and so patient with my moods that no doubt I should have been deceived had I not known what love is. I think, to have loved and to have been loved develops in a woman a sort of sixth sense—sensitiveness to love. And that had been developed in me, and when it never responded to your efforts to deceive me, I knew you did not love me.

Well, neither did I love you, though I was able to hide it from you. And it has often irritated me that you were so unobservant. You know now the cause of many of my difficult moods, which have seemed causeless.

I admired you from the first time we met. I liked you, I have been proud of you, I would not have been the wife of any other man in the world, I would not have had any other father for my children. But I have kept on loving the man I loved before I met you.

Why? I don't know. I despised him for his weaknesses. I should never have married him, though mother and Ed both feared I would. I think I loved him because I knew he loved me. That is the way it is with women—they seldom love independently. Men like to love; women like to be loved. And, poor, unworthy creature that he was, still he would have died for me, though God had denied him the strength to live for me. But all that God gave him—the power to love—he gave me. And so he was different in my eyes from what he was in any one's else in the world. And I loved him.

I don't tell you this because I feel regret or remorse. I don't; there never was a wife truer than I, for I put him completely aside. I tell you, because I want you to remember me right after I'm gone, Harvey dear. You may remember how I was silly and jealous of you, and think I am mistaken about my own feelings. But jealousy doesn't mean love. When people really love, I think it's seldom that they're jealous. What makes people jealous usually is suspecting the other person of having the same sort of secret they have themselves. It hurt my vanity that you didn't love me; and it stung me to think you cared for some one else, just as I did.

I want you to remember me gently. And somehow, I think that, after you've read this, you will, even if you did love some one else. If you ever see this at all, Harvey—and I may tear it up some day on impulse—but if you ever do see it, I shall be dead, and we shall both be free. And I want you to come to me and look at me and—

It ended thus abruptly. No doubt she had intended to open the envelope and finish it—but, what more was there to say?

I think she must have been content with the thoughts that were in my mind as I looked down at her lying in death's inscrutable calm. I had one of my secretaries hunt out the man she had loved—a sad, stranded wreck of a man he had become; but since that day he has been sheltered at least from the worst of the buffetings to which his incapacity for life exposed him.

There was a time when I despised incapables; then I pitied them; but latterly I have felt for them the sympathetic sense of brotherhood. Are we not all incapable? Differing only in degree, and how slightly there, if we look at ourselves without vanity; like practice-sketches put upon the slate by Nature's learned hand and impartially sponged away.

NEW GREAT FEATURE SHOW.

Royal Spectacles, Rare Acts and Startling Sensations.

The big circus—which means everybody's-day in Plainfield this year falls on Thursday, May 2, when The Frank A. Robbins Co. All New Great Feature Shows will, so to speak, pitch their city of tents in our midst, and in pageant and performance almost overwhelm us with their grand and glorious railroad aggregation of wild beasts, eminent equestrians, acrobats, jugglers, aerialists, hilarious host of clowns, daring charioteers, dashing jockeys and performing animals in almost incomputable profusion. Space is inadequate to enumerate the hundreds of rare wild beasts, arenic, hippodromatic and specially sensational features, which fill great special trains. Here are just three marvelous exclusive features of themselves more than enough to make a Roman holiday. A Millenium-like monster animal performance, introducing in one arena at one and the same time educated elephants, camels, zebras, water buffalo, llamas, dogs, goats, horses, ponies, dromedaries, monkeys, mules, donkeys, sacred cattle, bears, and other wild and domestic beasts. "The Tribunal of Nations," a magnificent equestrian tableau car pageant, introducing the living counterparts of ancient heroes and famous modern warriors and rulers, correctly armed and costumed, and Alpha and Omega, the rival cycle experts, seemingly dashing straight to death down a precipitous incline and across a deadful gap of fifty feet. It is a feat the mere thought of which is enough to make one tremble. A holiday parade of elephants, wild beasts in open dens, hundreds of magnificent steeds and ponies, Mardi Gras fun and frolic, and other attractions serves as the morning introduction to teh above mastodonic me[illegible]

Fear Saved $500,000.

New York, May 1.—Had William O. Douglass kept his courage to the last the theft of bonds from the vaults of the Trust Company of America would have broken all records in the amount stolen, and the young loan clerk would in all probability have been in a position to compel the bank officers to let him go free. He had $500,000 worth of gilt edged securities stored away, so that he could get them at any time, but in the rush and excitement of the Saturday morning when the theft was discovered he hurried away without taking them with him. It had been his intention to return to the bank after going out to luncheon, but he did not have the temerity to do so. Neatly piled up in an obscure part of the office where Douglass had his desk, the huge block of securities was found two days later. Had Douglass fled with them the total par value of the bonds taken by him would have been $1,300,000.

Forgot His Marriage.

New York, May 1.—After Percy H. de Mauriac, of Boston, and Mrs. Letitia M. Reeves, of Jersey City, had been married five days the bridegroom went to the officiating clergyman, the Rev. Dr. Henry Marsh Warren, and declared he had no recollection of having been a party to the ceremony. According to Dr. Warren, Mr. de Mauriac said that he did not remembered being married, and did not know of it until two days later, when he was told of it by his bride. Mr. de Mauriac, who gave his age as thirty-four, lives in Boston, and is the son of E. A. de Mauriac, a broker, who lives at No. [illegible] West Sixty-eighth street. When he is in this city he stays at the Harvard Club, in West Forty-four street.

TIME IS THE TEST.

The Testimony of Plainfield People Stands the Test.

The test of time is what tells the tale. "A new broom sweeps clean," but will it wear well is what interests most. The public soon find out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Plainfield people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

Mrs. Anna Holmes, of New Market, N. J., three or four miles from Plainfield, N. J., says: "Some years ago I gave a statement for publication, telling what Doan's Kidney Pills had done for me, and I am now glad to confirm what I said then. I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills for sharp pains in my head and dull beating pains in my back and sides. When I attempted to rise quickly after sitting or lying for any length or time, sharp, acute pains would always follow. My kidneys seemed to be weakened in every way, and I became in such a condition that work was impossible. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills curing others of kidney and bladder troubles, so I procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. They helped me from the first, and I continued to improve steadily. I am glad to repeat what I said in my former statement for my good opinion of this remedy has in no wise changed."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

MAYOR ASKS CO-OPERATION OF CITIZENS IN EFFORT TO HAVE PUBLIC THOROUGHFARES KEPT CLEAN

Mayor Charles J. Fisk will send out tonight to all residents the following self-explanatory letter:

Office of the Mayor,
149 North Avenue,
Plainfield, N. J.

LET US HAVE A CLEAN CITY.
WILL YOU HELP?

To All Business Concerns, Manufacturers and Residents of the City:

In order to make our City attractive we must keep our streets and grounds clean and orderly, free from rubbish, loose papers and litter of every kind. To do this I ask the co-operation of all the inhabitants, men, women and children.

While the streets and public places have been and are continually being cleaned by the proper authorities, it is absolutely impossible to keep them in a reasonably presentable condition while the householders and business people persist in throwing rubbish, sweepings and loose papers in the streets and on lots where the wind scatters them from one end of the city to the other.

I ask all our residents to have their yards and grounds thoroughly cleaned, papers destroyed, rubbish and ashes removed and hereafter to make provision for taking care of and burning all papers and not throw them into the streets or loosely into the ash heap where they are likely to be blown about by the wind.

A little care and pride on your part in this respect will go a great way toward beautifying the appearance of our city.

Will you do your part?

CHAS. J. FISK, Mayor.

MOVE FOR DIRECTORS OF THE PRUDENTIAL

CHANCELLOR RAISES POINT THAT HE SHOULD NOT BE REQUIRED TO ACT.

Application for the appointment for State directors in the Prudential Insurance Company, as provided for in the Hillery law, enacted by the legislature and recently approved by Governor Stokes, which provides for the appointment of three directors in all insurance companies operating as stock companies in New Jersey who are policyholders, but not stockholders, in these various companies, was made yesterday to Chancellor Magie by Counselor John R. Hardin, of Newark, who represented Warren R. Truesdell, Herman H. C. Harold and others, who hold participating policies with the Prudential company. Richard V. Lindabury, general counsel for the Prudential, accompanied by former United States Senator John F. Dryden, president of the corporation, was present when the application was made.

The chancellor laid the matter over with the remark that if he concluded that the legislative mandate could be directed to him as a private person, as the Legislature could designate their doorkeeper, he might change his views. He said he was totally unprepared to act at this time. No one had consulted him, or asked him if he was willing to act, and he thought he should have been consulted.

If he concluded to make the appointment, he would notify counsel and receive the list from the Prudential company, as proposed, and a copy should be shown to Mr. Hardin in order that he might have opportunity to object. He alluded with disfavor to some early applications for appointment, and added: "I may say that such will have slight chance."

Cornell's athletic council at its meeting Monday night ratified the Ithacan football schedule for the season of 1907. Several universities and colleges appear on this list for the first time. The most important among these is West Point, which the Ithacans will face on October 26. Pennsylvania State College and George Washington will meet Cornell for the first time this fall. The schedule follows: October 2, Hamilton at Ithaca; October 5, Oberlin at Ithaca; October 12, Colgate at Ithaca; October 19, Pennsylvania State College at Ithaca; October 26, Princeton at Ithaca; November 2, Western University of Pennsylvania at Ithaca; November 9, West Point at West Point; November 16, Swarthmore at Ithaca; November 28, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Boy of Six Buried Alive.

New York, May 1.—Charles Timmins, six years old, who lived with his parents, at No. 114 Bradhurst avenue, was smothered to death yesterday afternoon in an excavation in which he was playing with some companions, in 147th street, near Seventh avenue. Laborers had dug a five foot hole as an anchorage for a derrick, and the Timmins boy jumped into the excavation and started to dig with a stick. His companions remained above, and in some manner loosened the earth, which fell and buried the boy. The other lads were frightened and ran away, and it was two hours later, when John Conroy, of No. 122 West 139th street, learned of the accident, and when he dug young Timmins out he was dead.

Insurance Election Arrest.

New York, May 1.—George R. Scrugham, manager of the International Policy Holders' Committee, which fought for the control of the Board of Directors of the New York Life Insurance Company at the recent election, was arrested in Albany last night by Detective Fitzsimmons, of District Attorney Jerome's staff, charged with conspiracy, as a result of which thousands of ballots cast in the election were forged by employes of the committee. Earlier in the day Charles F. Carrington and Charles Stirrup, who aided Scrugham in preparing for the election, were arrested in this city on a similar accusation and were locked up in the Tombs. They were released on bail at midnight.

Stops Suicide With Pistol.

New York, May 1.—Threatened with death as he was in the act of committing suicide, Herman Walti, a young Swiss suffering from home sickness, became so frightened at the sight of a weapon other than his own that he changed his mind and begged for mercy. Policeman Hayden was at 129th street and Riverside Drive early Monday night when a small boy ran up to him and told him that a man was trying to kill himself in the park. He hurried over and in the dim light saw Walti raising a revolver to his head. Drawing his own pistol, Hayden shouted: "Drop that gun or I'll kill you!" and trembling with fear Walti dropped it.

Black Hand War.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 1.—As a result of the disclosures in the investigation and the trial of the thirteen alleged leaders of the "Black Hand" society, now under way here, District Attorney Salsburg says he is to unite with District Atorney Jerome, of New York city, and District Attorney Rotan, of Philadelphia, in an effort to crush out the Black Hand society in those two cities and in the anthracite coal region. He has discovered evidence showing that the various branches of the society are all closely connected, and he believes that only by an organized and prolonged effort can the society be put out of existence and the leaders and agents either put in jail or driven out of the country.

600 REFORMERS SIT UP ALL NIGHT TO HEAR BRYAN

Colby and Martine Precede "Commoner" in Making Ringing Speeches At Dollar Dinner

GREAT DEMONSTRATION

Bryan Wildly Cheered — Crowd Booms Martine For Governor —Colby Makes Fine Address.

Fully 600 wildly cheering reformers gave William Jennings Bryan a great reception as he entered Krueger's auditorium at Newark near midnight last night to speak at the "Dollar Dinner" of the People's Lobby. It was a great night and among the enthusiastic assemblage were a number of Plainfielders and North Plainfielders.

Seated at the speakers' table were Senator Everett Colby, Sheriff Sommer and Mrs. Sommer, Mayor Fagan, of Jersey City; George L. Record, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Farrand, Alexander R. Fordyce, James E. Martine, Mrs. Henrotin, Mr. and Mrs. William Thayer Brown, the Rev. and Mrs. Adolph Roeder and Frederick W. Kelsey.

There was an enthusiastic mention of Mr. Martine's name as a candidate for Governor, and a small boom was started for him.

Others who spoke were James Martine, of Plainfield; Sheriff Frank H. Sommer, of Essex county; Mayor Mark Fagan, of Jersey City; Corporation Counsel George L. Record, of Jersey City; Alden Freeman, of Orange, chairman of the dinner committee, and Herman B. Walker.

Mr. Bryan began his speech, at 12:45, by saying that if he started out by making a non-partisan speech President Roosevelt immediately made the same kind of a speech, whereupon the speech immediately became a partisan.

He referred to the President as putting Democratic policies in force and said he was glad to see what he had advocated for years at last put in force.

He was glad to join with Democrats and Republicans who were more interested in carrying out an idea than in winning a barren victory. He thought it was a good sign that a conflict was going on in the Republican party between the stand-patters and the reformers. He had gained a good idea of the value of harmony through the lack of it in his own party.

Both radical and conservative parties were necessary, he said. The radical to propose, the conservative to investigate. Finally the radical dragged the conservative on.

Progress is between two extremes. The radicals in the Republican party would win. There was only one place for a stand-patter, and that was in the grave. If the Republican party dared to stand still for ten years it would stop everything but in New Jersey. He had thought New Jersey hopeless, so far as the Democrats were concerned.

He was in favor of election of Senators by direct vote of the people. In the last fifteen years the House of Congress had passed five times an act for the election of Senators by direct vote of the people. Now, three Republican Congresses and twenty-one of the States of the Union had passed similar acts. "The Democratic sentiment in this country," he said, "is too large for any party to monopolize. The man who trusted the people is willing to have what the people want in government. The election of Senators by the people will come. We are going to go on applying fundamental principles until the people control the government absolutely."

He then took up the initiative and referendum. This was in the Democratic national platform six years ago. It was in a Democratic platform in Nebraska four years before that. He couldn't see why New Yorkers thought in speaking of this at the present time that he was trying to smuggle in a new idea without paying duty on it.

State after State had adopted the idea. If a man believed in the right of the people to govern themselves how could they oppose the initiative and referendum? Representatives were not elected to think for the people. The people did the thinking. The representatives were elected to act. The idea of leadership in this country developed the boss. It was not the duty of the leader to think

PARK COMEDY CLUB TO GIVE THREE PLAYS

AMATEURS TO PRESENT FREE DRAMATIC PERFORMANCES THIS MONTH.

According to its usual custom the Park Comedy Club will close its season with a dramatic performance to which the public will be invited. Instead of one play, which has been the custom in previous years, the club will present three short comedies, all very entertaining but differing widely from each other. Probably the most important of these is a clever sketch from the pen of Richard Harding Davis, entitled "Miss Civilization." This promises more thrills in its short career than anything yet presented by the club.

"Our Aunt from California," which was presented at the Floral Fete at the Casino last month and scored a decided hit, will be repeated. A well written English one-act comedy entitled "The Old Master," will complete the programme.

In the cast for these plays there are several new members of the Comedy Club, who will make their debut before a Plainfield audience. Those who will take part in the plays are: Mrs. Henry E. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. S. Fullerton Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. White, Miss Helen Phillips, Miss Kathryn Ball, Miss Elsie Suffern, Mrs. William R. Faber, Clifford W. McCree, Alson M. Abbott.

The date for the performance has not yet been fixed, but it will be sometime about the middle of May, and as usual will be held in the hall of the Park Club.

MISS ENID M-B. FONDA WEDS OTTO MULLER.

Ceremony is Performed at the Home of the Bride in Somerville by Rev. Frank Fletcher.

Miss Enid Ma-Belle Fonda, daughter of Mrs. John Lance, and the late A. P. Fonda, of Kansas City, and Otto Muller, of Elizabeth, were married Tuesday night at the home of the bride. Rev. F. Fletcher, formerly of the New Market Baptist church, who also married the bride's parents, officiated.

The bride wore a gown of chiffon organdie, trimmed with point de venice lace. Her only adornment was a pair of bracelets, the gift of her father to her mother on their wedding day thirty-two years ago.

The color scheme throughout the house was green and white and where the couple stood was filled in with palms and aspedestras. A large marriage bell of Easter lilies was suspended over the bride's table.

The bride's maid-of-honor was her step-sister, Miss Cornelia Lance, of Passaic, and Freeman Decker, of Staten Island, was the best man. Among the guests were the bride's only brother, A. P. Fonda, of Kansas City, whom she had not seen in twelve years; also a great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Nelson, of Roselle. The bride received many handsome presents. Mr. Muller is connected with the Singer Manufacturing Company. Both the bride and groom are talented musicians. They will be at home after June 1 in Elizabeth.

FAITH CHAPEL MEMBERS PLAN TO BUILD ADDITION.

Overcrowded Condition At Services to Be Relieved By Extra Class Rooms.

On account of the increasing attendance at the various services, which results in a constant overcrowded condition, the trustees of the Faith chapel branch of the First Baptist church decided last night to build an extension to the chapel building in the rear of the present structure. The new part will be 24x40 feet in dimensions and will be intended to provide a Bible class room for women, also a room for the newly-organized Baraca Class, as well as a room large enough to hold the weekly prayer meetings in.

This additional room has been needed for a long time, as the membership and attendance at services has been steadily increasing under the efficient work of the pastor, Rev. J. W. Musson, and L. W. Randolph, superintendent of the Sunday-school. Among the improvements made during the past year was the installation of a baptistry(where many new members have been baptized.

New Florist's House.

Rene Brower, of East Fifth street, son of the late William H. Brower, the Fifth avenue florist, has started in business for himself at No. 55 West Twenty-sixth street, New York. Mr. Brower has had a large experience in the business and orders sent him or left at his residence, 123 East Fifth street, will receive prompt attention.

TO CONSECRATE CHURCH

Grace Episcopal Edifice Now Free From Debt and Ceremony Will Take Place.

ON ALL SAINTS' DAY

Mortgage of $7,000 Paid Off This Week—First Services Held in Present Structure in 1872.

A mortgage of approximately $7,000 resting on the Grace Episcopal church edifice at Sixth and Sycamore streets has been paid off in full this week by the rector, wardens and vestrymen and the structure is now clear from debt. There is yet a mortgage of about $10,000 on the handsome new parish building erected under the supervision of the present rector, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, and an effort will be made to discharge it at an early date.

Plans are now being made for the formal consecration of the church edifice and it is likely that the ceremony will take place on All Saints' Day which falls on November 1. Under the laws of the Episcopal church, a church building cannot be consecrated to the worship of God until it is free from debt and for that reason the ceremony has been long delayed. Rt. Rev. Dr. John Scarborough, bishop of New Jersey, will consecrate the church and it is probable that a large number of the clergy will take part in the service.

The first service was held in the present edifice in 1892, just forty years after the first service of the church was held in Plainfield. Rev. P. E. Coe, of Westfield, conducted a service in the old village school house on January 11, 1852, and on June 9, a public meeting was held to take steps to organize a parish. In the following September, Bishop Doane consecrated the building, the ground for which was given by Mahlon Vail and David Rockwell. On March 21, 1872, a larger and more commodious edifice was erected and was consecrated by Bishop Odenheimer. Dr. Rodman took charge of the parish in the following November. Later services were held in the hall at Laing's hotel, but after this services were held on the old site until 1876. The first church on the present site was taken possession of during the same year. The present church and parish houses are two of the most attractive buildings in the city.

CARRIERS AND CLERKS WILL RECEIVE INCREASED PAY.

Civil Service Examination to Be Held May 29—What the Postoffice Men Will Get.

The civil service examination for the postal service which was to have been held at the postoffice, yesterday, was postponed to May 29, because no applications were received from those wishing to take the examination for clerk and carrier positions. However, with the new law in effect this year, raising the salary of employes in this service, it is expected that it will not be so difficult to secure applicants.

The actual increase from the former pay amounts to about $250. Clerks in offices of the first and second class and all carriers in the city delivery services are divided into six grades: First grade, $600; second grade, $800; third grade, $900; fourth grade, $1,000; fifth grade, $1,100; sixth grade, $1,200. Clerks and carriers who act as substitutes are paid at the rate of thirty cents an hour when serving and they are eligible for appointment as auxiliary employees who are paid for actual service at the rate of thirty cents an hour and are required to work not less than two hours each day. Further information about the examination can be obtained from W. B. Sharp at the postoffice.

L. L. Manning Laid First Stone.

The cellar excavation for L. L. Mannings' new building on West Front street, having been completed, work was commenced yesterday laying the foundation. Mr. Manning inaugurated this work by laying the first stone himself. Townley Brothers, of the borough, have the contract for the mason work, and James C. Manning for the carpenter work.

Kennedy's Horse Recovered.

The police received word this morning from the Westfield authorities that the horse and carriage belonging to Michael Kennedy, which was stolen in Elizabeth, Sunday, was recovered by the Westfield officers yesterday. No details were given.

Cotillion at the Park Club.

Under the auspices of the entertainment committee, a cotillion will be held at the Park Club, Saturday night. Harry L. McGee will lead the dance, and a number of original figures will be introduced.

HOT AFTER THE P. S. C.

City Fathers Demand That Public Utility Concern Remove High Tension Wire.

A MENACE TO CITY

Common Council Wants Them Put Underground Or Removed Altogether—"Big Stick" May Be Used.

The Common Council is after the Public Service Corporation good and hard and the public utility concern had better "beat it" unless it speedily comes down off its high horse and agrees to do the right thing. For two hours last night, the city fathers, meeting with Mayor Fisk as a committee on the whole considered the welfare of the queen city and its inhabitants. Some of the time was devoted to alleged wrongs of the Thomas McCarter concern and it is hinted that "something is going to drop" ere long if the P. S. C. does not do something.

The chief kick coming is one concerning the alleged arrogance of the P. S. C. in maintaining high tension wires about the city, endangering the lives of the people. The huge feel wire through Second street from its works to the trolley depot and on to the city limits along the route of the trolley is the one against which the principal protest is lodged. Chairman William S. Tyler and his councilmanic public affairs committee has been in correspondence with the P. S. C. officials seeking to have the high tension wires removed altogether or put under ground but from what is learned about the private conference of the mayor and councilmen last night, the P. S. C. has given the committee no satisfaction.

The big feed wire strung along the unsightly poles through Second street is regarded as a menace and it is said that disastrous results would surely follow were the wire to snap. It is also a disfigurement to the thoroughfare, as the countless other wires maintained by the company throughout the city.

It is said to be altogether probable that unless the P. S. C. put those wires underground, the courts will be asked to give Plainfield the desired relief.

COUNCILS TO COMBINE

City and Borough Fathers to Meet in Joint Session to Receive Consolidation Report.

ON MONDAY NIGHT

The Two Mayors Agree On Unique Plan To Receive Findings of the Investigators—Session in Local Council Chamber.

Mayor Fisk notified the members of the Common Council, in session as a committee on the whole, last night, that he had requested Mayor Smalley to hold an adjourned session of the North Plainfield Council on Monday night to receive the report of the Bi-municipal Consolidation Commission. As already told in The Daily Press, the commisison, after three months labor, has completed its investigation and is ready to present a volumnious report on its work.

It is more than probable that the Mayor and Council of North Plainfield, for the first time in history, will hold its session in this city, having been invited by the Mayor of Plainfield to meet jointly with the local Common Council. Chairman Alexander Gilbert and the other members of the commission will likely be present in person when the two governing bodies convene and the report will be read by, Acting City Clerk George Wean.

Nothing will be given out by the Commission concerning its recommendations until after the report is made. It has considered the scheme to consolidate Plainfield and North Plainfield without change of county lines and it has likewise considered the merging of the two municipalities with the annexation of North Plainfield's territory to Union county. The benefits and hinderances of the proposed union will be minutely detailed in the report.

AUTOISTS TO BE COPS

Mayors Fisk and Smalley hope to Organize Machine Owners for Protection.

THEY ISSUE A CALL

All Automobilists Are Asked to Meet at Casino Next Thursday Night—A Novel Scheme.

Aiming to regulate the running of automobiles about the city and borough, Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of this city, and Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, today invited the owners of such machines to meet with them at the Casino on Thursday night next for the purpose of adopting proper regulations with that end in view. Mayor Fisk has given the subject of reckless driving and other violations of the Frelinghuysen auto law his serious attention for some time and he has upon the plan of securing the co-operation of Mayor Smalley in getting the automobilists, themselves, to put an end to the offenses.

If the plans arranged by the two executives meet with the approval of the automobilists, special policemen will be appointed from among their number by the two mayors to look after those violating the State law. The "auto squad" will keep an eagle eye out for those who try to turn the municipal streets into race courses. A set of rules will be adopted, it is expected, at the meeting to be held on Thursday night, and any member breaking one of them will be severely dealt with.

The penalties provided by the Frelinghuysen law follow:

A. For failure to secure registration certificate, for failure to have numbers front and back, for displaying other numbers:

1st offense—Fine not exceeding $100.

2d offense—Fine not exceeding $200.

B. For displaying fictitious numbers, or driving without license, or driving while intoxicated, or without consent of owner, subject to fine not exceeding $500, or imprisonment not exceeding sixty days.

D. Refusing to stop on knowingly causing accident, fine not exceeding $250, or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days.

E. Driving without registration of automobile or motor cycle, fine not exceeding $100.

F. Driving on bet or wager, or violating any of speed limits, on first offense, fine not exceeding $100; for second or subsequent offense, fine not exceeding $200, or imprisonment not exceeding twenty days, and in addition license shall be revoked.

G. Failure to carry horn or trumpet, failure to carry required lights, motor cycle included, or proper numbers on an automobile; automobiles over 10 H. P. have two brakes, motor cycles one brake, failure to produce license or write his name, fine not exceeding $10.

H. Unless roads have one inch of ice or snow, no automobile shall have chains on wheels upon gravel, macadam, or other made roads, except on natural dirt, asphalt, cobble, Belgian block or vitrified brick pavements, fine not exceeding $5.

I. Failure of motor vehicle drivers to keep to right, fine not exceeding $25.

24. Magistrate may revoke for wilful violation of the law, but appeal to court of common pleas shall act as stay.

Y. W. C. A. Classes.

The office of the Young Women's Christian Association at 218 East Front street, will be open for class registration tomorrow and Saturday evenings from 7:30 until 9. Many visited the office during the first part of the week. The classes will start for a term of five weeks as follows, the evenings for class work are given provisionally: Dressmaking, Tuesday; millinery, Friday; [illegible], Thursday; German, Thursday; [illegible], Thursday; English, Monday; [illegible], Tuesday; embroidery, Monday. The classes will begin work during the week beginning May 13.

Paintings by Plainfield Artist.

Visitors to the annual exhibition of the National Arts Club, now being held at Nos. 119 and 121 East Nineteenth street, New York, are attracted by two paintings by George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place. One is named "Trolling," and the other "Princess Thumbcap." The exhibition is considered one of the best ever held by the club. It includes 163 paintings in addition to a large exhibit of sculpture.

Hartman Recovering.

Irving Hartman, the trolley conductor, who was run down on West Front street, Monday afternoon, by an automobile, driven by W. Fanning, of Montclair, was reported today at the hospital as recovering. His injuries are not serious, as was at first believed.

P. O. CLERK CONFESSES TO RIFLING THE MAILS

Robert Goldsach Breaks Down and Tells All When Placed Under Arrest by Government Inspectors.

SUSPECTED FOR MONTHS

Robert E. Goldsach, 27 years old, of 63 Wilson avenue, a clerk in the postoffice, was arrested last evening, charged with stealing money from the mails. He confessed after his arrest.

Complaints of missing money and money orders began to come in to Postmaster Elias M. Bird in December. Their number quickly made it evident that crooked work was being done in the office, and Postmaster Bird instituted an investigation. Suspicion was first directed to Goldsach late in March, when, on a Sunday morning, William Sharp, the money order clerk, found a torn order and the envelope in which it had been, also torn into small bits, in Goldsach's waste-paper basket. Goldsach was assisting mailing and distributing clerk, and much of the mail that came into the office passed through his hands. The money order was made out the afternoon before its discovery in the basket, to a seed house in New York.

Goldsach was watched colsely after that, and suspicion against him strengthened. Plans for trapping him were completed and early last evening, just before closing time, Postoffice Inspectors J. V. Holtby and William Duryea, of Philadelphia, came to the office. They put several test letters into the mail, and after ample time had been given Goldsach to send the letters back to the proper table for sacking, Sharp was directed to slip back to the table and see if the letters were there. A prearranged signal apprised the inspectors and the postmaster that the letters were not there. Goldsach was called into the office and placed under arrest.

The test letters were not on him, but a check mailed several days ago was found in his pocket. He broke down under examination, and acknowledged his guilt. He was taken to the police station. He will be transferred to Jersey City this afternoon, for arraignment before the United States commissioner.

The extent of Goldsach's peculations is unknown. Postmaster Bird said this morning that he could not tell, even approximately, how much had been taken. It is doubtful, it was said, if Goldsach himself knew the amount. In a statement to a visitor at the station house this morning Goldsach said the first offense he remembers occurred in December. He got ten cents then, he said.

The prisoner is married, and has two young children. His salary was $700 a year. So far as it known, Postmaster Bird said today, Goldsach had no bad habits, and not unduly pressed for money. He blamed the people who sent money through the mails, and placed temptation in the clerk's way.

"I wish there was a law in this country like that which is in force in England, making it a misdemeanor for people to send money in that way through the mails. It is so easy to get a money order or to register the letter. Either way safeguards the sender and removes temptation from the way of the clerks and carriers."

CIRCUS TROUPE EXAMINED BY THE CITY PHYSICIAN

MAYOR ORDERS IT TO GUARD AGAINST POSSIBLE CONTAGION.

Acting on instructions from Mayor Charles J. Fisk, City Physician Lufburrow prevented the members of Robbins' circus leaving the cars this morning until he had examined every one for health conditions. Every employe, including officials, performers, drivers and canvasmen, were subjected to a close scrutiny by the doctor and his assistants before a wagon was allowed to leave the cars. No symptoms of disease of any kind were found among the members and the circus was given a clean bill of health.

The mayor's action is based on the fact that several years ago, when he was a member of the Board of Health, a circus came to the city and was on the lot when it was found that a canvasman suffering from small-pox had been removed from a car the day before. Only the flimsiest kind of a fumigation process had been gone through with and the danger of contagion was very great. The city's executive was determined that nothing of this kind be allowed to occur again and every circus will have to submit to an examination. The big Forepaugh-Sells show will not be excepted and when it reaches this city a corps of health officials will be in waiting.

"FLORAL FETE" NETTED $2,080 FOR DAY NURSERY.

King's Daughters' Affair Was a Great Success.

The executive committee of the City Union, of the King's Daughters, met this morning and received the final report from the committee on the "Floral Fete," held recently at the Casino for the benefit of The Day Nursery. The total net receipts amounted to $2,080, which will go toward the actual expenses of the nursery and the payment of a portion of the principal on the mortgage. The returns far exceeded the expectations of the women in charge and all were much gratified to know that so much had been cleared.

The report of the nurse committee showed that during the past month there were 386 children cared for at the nursery and the city nurse made ninety-one visits. Announcement was made of the date for the annual meeting to be held Friday afternoon, May 17.

ARRESTED "BAD" COLORED MAN

Showed Fight When Nabbed and Had Razor In His Pocket.

Halston McElveen, whose color doesn't match his name, was arrested in the borough yesterday afternoon for disorderly conduct. He was noticed by Chief Weiss meandering around near Somerset street and Manning avenue waving his arms about his head and making threats to kill an unseen enemy. The head sleuth ordered Marshal Pope to lock him up but when the bluecoat got hold of McElveen he showed fight. It became necessary to throw him down, and place the nippers on him before he was subdued.

When searched at the station, the prisoner's coat pocket produced a new razor, sharpened to perfection. It may be that he had just purchased it but the police don't regard his having it in a favorable light. On the city side of the brook, McElveen has a bad reputation and has spent a couple of enforced vacations at Elizabeth.

Boston Man to Explain One System at Board of Trade Meeting.

Thomas Keenan, of the Hassam Concrete Paving Company of Boston, will address the Board of Trade tonight, explaining a system of permanent pavement that has been used with good results in many cities. Inasmuch as the Common Council has decided to expend $45,000 on improving the city streets by the introduction of permanent pavements, it is expected that there will be a large attendance of interested citizens at the meeting to be held in the Coward building.

O. K.'S PASSAGE OF A BILL.

Speaker of the House Corrects Oversight Concerning Measure.

Trenton, May 2.—When Speaker Lethbridge was asked if any important legislative matters had brought him to the State house he replied that he had come to sign an amended bill which had passed the House in the last hours of the recent session, and which he had inadvertently neglected to sign as having passed in its amended form.

The bill is Senator Brown's 165, and relates to the manner in which the Long Branch authorities may acquire property for streets and boardwalks. The bill passed the Senate and House and went to the Governor, but was recalled and amended by the Senate. The House concurred in the amendments and the measure went back to the Governor. Recently when the Chief Executive came to examine it he found that although it had been properly stamped by the Speaker as having passed in the amended form, Mr. Lethbridge had not affixed his name to the certificate of passage. The Governor requested him to come to his office and correct the oversight, which he did, and the bill is now in proper form.

Animal Show.

Washburn's Famous Trained Animal Shows, moral, mighty and magnificent, will surely exhibit in this city the afternoon and evening of Tuesday, May 7. Rain or shine, the mighty exhibition is given under waterproof tents, and two solid hours of the keenest enjoyment is assured to all. No show which will visit this locality this season promises so much, and no show now before the public so faithfully fulfills every promise made. There is no feature advertised but what positively appears, and while some of the novelties announced by the flaming posters are seemingly impossible, and never before witnessed, the management stakes its reputation that every act announced to appear will positively be given just as advertised and pictured. In a nutshell, the Washburn Shows this season are the finest and most fascinating that ever dazzled and delighted the public eye.

Mrs. William Barlow, of Prospect place, is spending a short time at Atlantic City.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"At Piney Ridge," by David Higgins, is the solidly good attraction the New Plainfield theatre has to offer next Saturday afternoon and night. The story of Jack Rose with its under-current of the romance of Cindy Jane has few equals in stage or book literature. The one vital thing about it is its power to entertain and hold the listener from first to last. There isn't any sort of doubt about this for it has been tried too long and too successfully to admit of question. Four stirring acts so well planned that each succeeding one augments the vivid interest of the story lead this play to a climax that is well near to greatness in the true sense of that much abused word. There is charm too in this poetic southern story that appeals and the public feels that it is a play for them in every sense. Its characters are of the people. A fine presentation will be given by a strong company.

There must be much more than mere curiosity that impels the theatre going public to accept a play season after season and year after year with little change of minor importance in the production. There must be cleanliness and deep heart interest and originality of expression. In fact the play must be a classic, and that is just why that pure comedy play of Hoosier country life, "Sis Hopkins," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night, is received year after year with increasing enthusiasm. Miss Rose Melville, who created the title role, is still playing the leading character, that of the awkward and shy little country girl, whose mannerisms awaken the interest of her hearers, is now making her eighth tour of the country and the success which she is meeting with is more brilliant and pronounced than ever. This season's tour is the longest in point of distance that Miss Melville has ever made and her company has been so strengthened by her manager, J. R. Stirling, that every part is perfectly cast. Every actor is a specialist in the particular character he portrays. The famous seminary scene has been filled to the uttermost with new specialty and brilliant bits of comedy.

Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Ham Tree," in which they are starring McIntyre and Heath, is unquestionably the funniest show of many seasons. Their's was a unique idea—the building up of a three-act entertainment out of a twenty-minute vaudeville sketch, but they knew their business and succeeded in putting together an attraction which is comic from start to finish. The chorus is a notable one and is made up of eighty young boys and girls who can sing and dance—especially dance. Nothing like the chorus shown in this piece has ever been seen on the stage. Their dancing is no mere posing, with little fancy sliding and gliding steps. The dancing is the real thing—clogs, jigs, soft-shoe and breakdown, done by thirty and forty people at a time, moving as one. It is as pleasing as it is novel. McIntyre and Heath will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night, May 11.

There are some points which are essential in the nursery. It should be light and cheerful, with plenty of sun and well ventilated. CENTENNIAL OF ORANGES

One Hundred Years Since They Were Set Off From the City of Newark.

CELEBRATION IN JUNE

Carnivals, Parades and Dedication of Monument to Take Place in June.

Just 100 years ago the town of Orange, comprising "all the Oranges," was set off from Newark. This event is to be celebrated during the week June 9 to 15. The purpose is to make the occasion an Old Home Week affair, and the committee is trying to get back home for the celebration all those who have lived in the Oranges.

The celebration begins on Sunday, June 9, when the programme will consist of services of patriotic spirit in all the churches and a patriotic meeting at 4 p. m. in a place to be designated later.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, June 10, 11, 12 and 13, will be Carnival Day, Grand Army Day, Labor Day and New England Day.

On Friday, June 14 (130th anniversary of the adoption of the American Flag) there will be dedication of the statue, "The Dispatch Rider of the American Revolution," in the old burying ground.

This statue, designed by Frank Edwin Elwell, is a massive creation in bronze, standing on a granite base, exemplifying for the first time the deeds of the men who carried the dispatches from army to army during the War of the Revolution and typifying a sturdy youth who carried messages to Washington at Morristown, passing through the Oranges.

A military and civic parade will start from the Parkway, in East Orange, and march to St. Mark's church, in which will participate the First Brigade, N. G. N. J., Old Guard, of New York; fraternal and civic organizations, floats depicting the progress and advancement of the community, etc. At the cemetery there will be patriotic orations and addresses. A dinner in the Woman's Club will close the events of the day.

On Saturday, June 15, an athletic carnival will be held on the new Ashland School oval. A fireworks display on a large scale in the evening will end the celebration.

ELIZABETH PLUMBERS GO OUT ON STRIKE

BOSSES WOULD NOT ACCEDE TO DEMAND OF $4 A DAY.

The plumbers in Elizabeth went on strike yesterday morning following their failure to agree with the master plumbers in the matter of wages. The men under the old scale were getting $3.75 a day. They demanded $4. Tuesday was the last day on which the old agreement held good, and yesterday morning all the union plumbers failed to show up for work. Twenty-four master plumbers are affected.

The tinsmiths, whose work is somewhat allied to that of the plumbers, and who also have made demands that are still unsettled, have not gone on strike, but are continuing at work pending a settlement of their differences. They are getting $3.50 a day. They also want $4. Both the bosses and the tinsmiths have shown a disposition to settle, and it seems probable that by the end of the week each side will concede something and agree on a satisfactory scale. It was said today that the probable rate would be $3.75 a day. There will be a conference before the end of the week.

Three men who represent the journeymen plumbers and three who represent the master plumbers form a conference committee. The plumbers are represented by James Desmond, Edward Connell and Luke Devine. The master plumbers are represented by Harry Birch, John Davis and Thomas Lowe. This conference met last Thursday, but reached no agreement. It was then understood that there would be a strike immediately. It was said by one of the boss plumbers that they were willing to have a seventh man chosen and arbitrate the matter, but that the journeymen had not thus far consented. Both sides seemed to be of the opinion that the strike would be short. One of the journeymen said there might be a settlement within a week.

As the men of all the other building trades continue at work except the plumbers, building has not been materially hampered, and is not likely to be until all the other work about building is completed and the structures are ready for the plumber. Some of the master plumbers intend to take hold themselves and do the journeymen's work.

The strike of the plumbers is the only cloud on the labor situation in Elizabeth. The carpenters and masons are in agreement with their employers, and it is expected that a settlement will be reached with the tinsmiths.

Plainfield, N. J., May 2, 1907.

MR. ACKERMAN AS SENATOR.

Union county has reason to be proud of the record of its representatives in the Legislature, and more particularly that of State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman. He occupied a more conspicuous position than did the others with the probable exception of Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, and throughout the sessions his course was most commendable. Though some of the Plainfielder's constituents may have disagreed with him on one or two occasions, they realized that he was capable of exercising wise judgment and was guided solely by a desire to carry out the obligations of his oath of office and act only for what he considered, after mature deliberation, to be best not only for Union county but for the whole State.

Much was accomplished by Mr. Ackerman, not alone in obtaining the passage of bills he introduced but by giving his support to others that he deemed to be essential for the general welfare. His advice was sought generally by older heads in the Senate and his opinions were always considered of great value. Indeed, in the last hours of the session the Senator loomed up as power that had to be reckoned with by his colleagues. He had become one of the big men of the State, and this notwithstanding that it was his first appearance as a legislator.

It is gratifying, therefore, to know that at the adjourned session in June and at the regular term next year, Union county will be represented in the Senate by a man "tried and true."

FRELINGHUYSEN HUSTLES.

State Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen would be a worthy successor to Governor Edward C Stokes and unless there is an unexpected change in the situation in the Republican camp between now and next fall, the Senator from Somerset will be the party's candidate. His friends, and he has many influential ones about the State, are working ardently in his behalf stirring up a sentiment that is already having telling effect.

At the present time, Mr. Frelinghuysen has the field all to himself, and he is not letting any grass growing under his feet. As for the others whose names have been connected with the nomination no real booms have been launched. True it is that Justice J. Franklin Fort, former Judge Gilbert Collins, and former State Senator William F. Johnson have been urged by friends to come out for the nomination, but with the possible exception of Johnson they are all staying under cover watching the trend of events. But Frelinghuysen knows that a man has got to get out and hustle if he wants anything, especially in politics, and he is making a chase after that "plum" that is surprising the old leaders. Good luck to "Papa" Joe.

If the city was compelled to pay Mayor Fisk for the services he renders, it is quite certain that there would be a big bond issue to meet the obligation.

Comfort For Missy.

A young lady of Macon, Ga., visited the home of her fiance in New Orleans. On her return home an old colored woman, long in the service of the family and consequently privileged to put the question, asked:

"Honey, when is you goin' to git married?"

The engagement not having been announced, the Macon girl smilingly replied:

"Indeed, I can't say, auntie. Perhaps I shall never marry."

The old woman's jaw fell. "Ain't dat a pity now!" she said. After reflection she added, "Dey do say dat ole maids is the happiest critters there is once dey uits strugglin'."—Lippincott's.

HIS WITNESS FAILS HIM

Miss Kellogg Reverses Testimony in Favor of William H. Skillman.

SHE GIVES HER REASON

Says When It Was Shown to Her at Hearing in the Contest She Could Only Make Superficial Examination.

Miss Laura Kellogg, who was the mainstay of aged William H. Skillman, former president of the New Jersey Horticultural Society, in his legal battle to prove the will of his late friend and neighbor, William Lanehart, was again on the stand yesterday at his trial in the Somerset Court on the charge of forging the alleged will. Tuesday she startled the defense by declaring that she believed that the signature to the will purporting to be that of her uncle, William Lanehart, was a forgery.

During a grilling cross-examination by former Congressman Alvah H. Clark, counsel for the defense, she was confronted with the proof that she had formerly testified in the Orphans' Court, when the will was being contested by the Lanehart heirs, that she believed that the signature on the will had been written by Lanehart. In explaining her contradictory testimony, Miss Kellogg said that, in the Orphans' Court, she was allowed to make only a superficial examination of the will, and as it was similar to her uncle's handwriting, she at the time believed it to be his signature, but she had subsequently examined the signature more thoroughly in County Prosecutor's Rogers' office, and compared it with genuine signatures of Lanehart, and she was convinced it was a forgery.

William J. Kingsley, the handwriting expert, also testified that in his opinion the signature of the will had not been written by Lanehart, but had the characteristics of the handwriting of the body of the will, which was executed by Skillman. William A. Apgar, cashier of the Somerville Savings Bank; Freder N. Voorhees, deputy county clerk, and former Sheriff Calvin D. McMurtrey, as handwriting experts, after comparing the signature to the will with standards of Lanehart's handwriting, testified that they believed the signature a forgery.

Former Prosecutor Jas. B. Griggs and T. Romeyn VanSendt testified that they had transacted business with Lanehart and had witnessed his signature, and it was their belief that he had not written the signature to the will.

John N. Race, cashier of the National Bank of Hopewell, testified that he had executed a will for Lanehart, which was in Lanehart's private box in the bank at the time of his death. The witness, on cross-examination, caused a sensation by saying that he had a former difficulty with Skillman because he believed that Skillman had forged the name of his father, William Race, who was murdered in his barn, near Blowenburg, several years ago.

SEEDTIME PLEASURES.

I've just received a catalogue
Fresh from the seedman's store,
A gorgeous book of fruits and flowers
And veg'tables galore,
And I can hardly wait until
The winter's ice and snow
Melt from my well loved garden plot
To spade and rake and hoe.

For in this catalogue I find
New radishes and peas,
Six kinds of lettuce, eight of corn—
I want to try all these—
Cucumbers slim, cucumbers fat,
And limas short and tall,
And melons, cabbage beets and greens—
I want to try them all.

Tomatoes, ten varieties,
And onions white and red,
Asparagus and celery—
I want of each a bed—
And turnips early, turnips late,
Potatoes by the score,
And squashes—my, don't say a word,
A dozen kinds or more!

I herewith thank the seedsman kind
For sending me this book.
When all these things are coming on,
How pretty they will look!
And when the frost has left the ground,
Amidst the robin's song,
I'm going to plant my tota plot—
Twelve feet by twenty long!

CAN YOU WINK YOUR EYE?

Professor Stirling, in his lecture on eyes at the Royal Institution, recently, gave some instruction in the art of winking. "It requires a veritable education to wink," he remarked, "although 'blinking' is very simple."

He told the audience many strange things about their eyes. The eyelashes, for instance, contain from 100 to 150 hairs on the upper and eighty to ninety on the lower lid; these hairs are replaced about every 100 days. "Rub your finger outward along your eyebrows," he advised, "and you will experience a most pleasant sensation; rub in the opposite direction, and you will have a revelation of the exquisite sensitiveness of your eyes."

Tears are of three kinds, he continued:

1. Natural tears, the little flood which nature secretes in the eye to wash away all the dust particles.

2. Psychic ters, which flow when minds are for the moment unbalanced, and

3. Alcoholic tears.

Tears do not always overflow, because there is just a little oily secretion along the edges of our eyelids which keeps the fluid back.

"The Japanese have a peculiar overlapping fold, which obscures the real edge of the eyelid. That is why their eyes look 'slanting.' Anb babies"—all the mothers in the room bent forward—"have just the same fold on their eyes, if you look for it."

The School of Adversity.

At a banquet in Lyons nearly a century and a half ago a discussion arose in regard to the meaning of a painting representing some scene in the mythology or history of Greece. Seeing that the discussion was growing warm, the host turned to one of the waiters and asked him to explain the picture. Greatly to the surprise of the company, the servant gave a clear and concise account of the whole subject, so plain and convincing that it at once settled the dispute.

"In what school have you studied, monsieur?" asked one of the guests, addressing the waiter with great respect. "I have studied in many schools, monseigneur," replied the young servant, "but the school in which I studied longest and learned most is the school of adversity." Well had he profited by poverty's lessons, for, although then but a poor waiter, all Europe soon rang with the fame of the writing of the greatest genius of his age and country, Jean Jacques Rousseau.—"Pushing to the Front."

RELATES HER WORK AT ELLIS ISLAND

MISS MATHEWS DESCRIBES HOW SHE HELPS IMMIGRANTS.

Miss Alma Mathews, who is the missionary for the Methodist Episcopal church, at the Ellis Island Immigrant Station, a position she has held for the past twelve years, spoke last night under the auspices of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. church, before a large audience in Vincent chapel. She is a gifted woman and has had unusual success in the work, which she graphically described.

Something of the variety of ministries which fall to the lot of missionaries on Ellis Island is indicated from these incidents in the record of Miss Mathews, as told by her:

"A heavy day. Nearly three thousand people landed. Went back after supper, and was there until between eight and nine. Carried water for the people to drink. Helped get a trunk through the custom house. A Jewish family landed yesterday, and in the confusion the daughter was lost. I went with the mother to the chief clerk, and we found the girl. The weather was most trying (it was July), but the mother insisted on hugging me. Had a five-year old Polish boy washed and dressed. His uncle and brother kissed my hands. Girl came to meet her lover, but he did not appear, and no word came for two or three days. At last he sent word he would come the next day, but instead of the lover came word for her to go to him. We sent back word that he must come here. Then word came from the chief of police in the town where the lover was that it was all right, and the two would be married as soon as the girl got there, so she was discharged."

Miss Mathews held the closest attention of the audience as she gave the thrilling incidents which crowd her daily routine at Ellis Island. At the close of the address Miss Bertha van Nuis Willis sang a solo.

THE USEFUL LEMON.

Are your hands or nails stained or discolored? The application of lemon juice, to which a little salt has been added, will quickly restore them to their natural tint.

Is your complexion dull and muddy-looking? Then squeeze a few drops of lemon juice in the water in which you bathe your face.

Do you suffer from biliousness? Then the juice of a lemon taken without sugar in a half a tumbler of ice water each morning for a week will have very helpful results.

GOES TO STATE PRISON FOR A ONE YEAR TERM

SENTENCE IMPOSED YESTERDAY ON CLARENCE KELLY BY JUDGE ATWATER.

Clarence Kelly, who one week ago pleaded guilty to the larceny of shoes, jewelry and other articles, was arraigned in the Court of Quarter Sessions before Judge Atwater at Elizabeth yesterday and sentenced to one year in State prison. According to Kelly's story he has been an inmate of the State Reformatory twice. He was first committed as an incorrigible, and on being admitted to parole some time afterward, was rearrested and taken back for a misdemeanor.

Anton Meyer pleaded guilty to breaking a gas meter and stealing $1.25 which it contained. Judge Atwater sentenced him to the State Reformatory by request of the young man's father, who said that he was an incorrigible and that he could do nothing with him. In passing sentence, Judge Atwater expressed a hope that his commitment to the reformatory would prove a lesson which would result in his mending his ways and making a man of himself.

The sentencing of Henry S. Conover, which was set for today, was postponed another week by request of Prosecutor English. Conover is the young man who broke into the office of the Rubber Type Company on Fulton street, Elizabeth, and stole a typewriter and other articles of value. He fled from the city and remained at large until about a month ago when he was arrested at Philadelphia and brought back by requisition. He pleaded guilty one week ago.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 5.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—The power of a contented life.—Phil. iv: 10-20.

In the last few years we have heard much about certain kinds of life, particularly "the strenuous life" and "the simple life." Each has had distinguished advocates. The strenuous life has been preached by no less a personage than the president of the United States, and Pastor Wagner of France has distinguished himself by proclaiming the doctrine of the simple life. It is certainly "a consummation devoutly to be wished" that life might be characterized by more simplicity, that the minds of men might not be so absolutely absorbed with the one idea of amassing wealth; but that they might realize that while "life is real, life is earnest," yet their Creator did not plan that it should become one mad rush to heap up riches or to do anything else that may even be more worth the doing. God made man to enjoy this life as well as the life to come, and when it is so strenuous that anxiety is its chief characteristic or so simple as to be useless to mankind and unprofitable to God, the aim of life is not achieved. Paul advocates the true ideal of life—the contented life. His life was most strenuous in one sense, for no man was ever busier or accomplished more in one lifetime. In another sense it was a simple life, for it had but one supreme object—his own salvation and the salvation of others. From a worldly standpoint it was not always successful. He was often hungry, often in peril by land and by sea, often persecuted, and, on the other hand, he often abounded in plenty, had times of peace and security and the blessings of the dearest friendships. But, whether his lot was one of joy or sorrow, pleasure or pain, prosperity or adversity, it mattered not, for his great soul had learned in whatever state he was therewith to be content. And no life is so blessed as the contented life. Would that all of us enjoyed a larger share of it.

1. The contented life as defined by Paul was not contentment with his personal spiritual attainments. He was discontented with himself, for in the third chapter of this letter to the Philippians he declares that he had not attained perfection, but was ever reaching forward toward it, "pressing toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." We need to guard against any spiritual self complacency. This is usually the contentment of spiritual death rather than a sign of advanced spiritual life. The Pharisees possessed this kind of contentment. They were so certain of their spiritual condition that they thanked God that they were not as other men, and yet Christ called them "whited sepulchers" and declared that to His disciples unless their righteousness exceeded that of the scribes and the pharisees they were not fit for the kingdom of heaven.

2. The contented life as defined by Paul refers to contentment with the external conditions of life, with the lot that God has apportioned to us in life. This is the contentment that all men need. And this is true regardless of the conditions of our lives socially or financially. Many of us imagine that contentment is possible with the possession of wealth and high social and political position; that if we could only gratify our desires we would be contented. But this is a gross mistake. The wealthy are often the most discontented and unhappy of people. The more we have the more we crave. Pleasure palls. Prosperity wearies. No, the rich as well as the poor need the solace of contentment. To many their wealth is a burden. Without Christ it is always a dissatisfaction. "If I had only my millions," said a dying rich man, "I would be most miserable, but I have Christ, and He is worth more than all."

3. The secret of the contented life is to be learned, and Christ alone can teach it. Paul says "I have learned" to be content. He was probably not always so, but Christ had taught it to him. Christ gave him strength to bear fortune or misfortune. "I can do all things through Him that strengtheneth me." Christ taught him to live by faith instead of trusting the world's wealth to live by; Christ taught him that the spiritual should be emphasized above the physical and the eternal in preference to the temporal, and contentment came. Christ can teach us these same things, and through Him we can learn the secret of contentment.

An Echo From St. Pierre Cathedral.

A man never grows great without storm and stress and struggle any more than the giant oak grows tough with only gentle breezes playing in its branches. What young man is there among Christian Endeavorers who has unusual gifts, a superior education, great mental alertness, indomitable industry? The Lord has need of thee, young man. Your endowment with unusual gifts is a call to unusual services.—Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D., Preaching in John Calvin's Pulpit, Geneva, Switzerland.

Christian Endeavor Hall In Porto Rico.

A most interesting scheme has been inaugurated to erect a Christian Endeavor hall at Blanche Kellogg institute, Santurce, Porto Rico. The scheme was launched with the cordial approval of President Francis E. Clark, D. D., Treasurer William Shaw and other leaders in the Christian Endeavor movement.

Reflections by Donn Piatt.

A wild goose will travel due north 500 miles. Man after a deal of labor makes the compass and rivals the goose.

Many a stateman honored in his grave owed his success in life to the length of his legs and the solemnity of his countenance.

The Fourth of July is a day set apart by the citizens of this blessed country to glorify themselves and mutilate their offspring.

May 5: "Counting the Cost." "Whosoever he be of you that renounceth not all that he hath, he cannot be My disciple."

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

Passages for reference—Matt. xix, 21, 22; Luke ix, 58, 60, 62; Matt. vi, 19-33; Mark viii, 34-38.

"A new broom sweeps clean" is an old saying which has an application to personal life, as well as to matters of household interest. Many people are attracted by whatever is new. If it is put in striking form and charged with some degree of eloquence, almost any cause will gather followers. Few have the ability to closely examine a question and decide accurately as to its reasonableness, its truth or error. Most are not convinced by cool logic. In fact, few are skilled to follow processes of reasoning unless of the simplest nature. We are all influenced more by feeling than by argument. So a speaker who puts the gospel message in a persuasive and pathetic way often wins disciples who have little idea of all that is involved in the Christian life.

It is likely that the personal presence of Jesus, His mode of speech and the sympathy He showed with suffering and the relief He gave to the sick often gave Him a multitude of followers who sought Him for this material gain they hoped to get through Him. Some, like Judas Iscariot, seem to have clung to Him with this idea in mind almost unto the last.

But Jesus was careful to correct all such wrong expectation. The passages given us for study this week set forth this matter in the clearest manner. We need to make it plain to all just what Christ offers and what He does not promise. Those who would come into the church with the thought of obtaining power, position and advancement in honors, wealth and influence, who hope for any sort of betterment of their worldly condition, should be shown plainly that none of these things are promised. Beyond question there are such things that men do gain who are Christians or at least who are members of the church, but these are not the durable riches of Christ.

This demand of exclusive devotion to Himself made by Christ as all His followers is not unreasonable. A divided allegiance is treason in any cause. In no other realm is this more true than in the matter of religion. True relations to God, from the very nature of the case, must be placed before any and all other considerations. If one deep in his soul cares more for what people say or think of him than for the way God regards him, it is useless to talk of that man's religion. He may have a lot of other things, but he has no religion worth speaking of.

To get on with God one must throw himself upon God with utter self abandon. This is more than self denial. It is the passion of self sacrifice. It is the imperious demand of an all mastering love. It requires all and in exchange it gives all.

It is best to count the cost as fully as possible. Not a few begin the Christian life with no adequate idea of the demands of Christ. They have more or less desire to be better, to be good or to do some good. Some unwise leader for some cause wishes to get as many names of converts as possible and overurges such half ready ones into open public profession and then leaves them there. No wonder at the first temptation they are overcome.

Let us be honest and plain in this matter. Better a few true disciples than a multitude of those who are afraid of every cross and are seeking selfish ends instead of a pure heart and the love of God.

If you would follow Jesus understand at the very start He demands all the life and all the heart and will take nothing less. Have you made the full surrender? If not, where are you and what do you expect? Best comply with His conditions at once.

Do Only Your Part.

"Mrs. H.," I said, "did it ever occur to you that you tried to do your part and God's part too?" Why not moment by moment simply do the next thing? Only so much is required of humanity. Don't you think the blessed Master is equal to His part? Why, yes, you do, of course. You have always thought that. Well, suppose you begin and for just a minute act upon that supposition—nay, my friend, act upon that fact, for it is no supposition. Let us face your worries and your cares on this rock. With the daylight comes trooping into your mind every burden to be carried for the day. Lay it off quietly, casing all your cares upon One who careth for you. Trust Him and see Him bring it to pass. Drop absolutely out of your mind thoughts about things that trouble you. You cannot do it? You can do it; you must do it. But, remember, you are to do this just a minute at a time. Let the care slide off. Do not assume responsibilities that belong to God. You cannot keep your children. You cannot make a revival. You cannot force people to accept Christ. Let the blessed Master keep your little ones. Oh, do get the sweetness and peace that flow in like a river when "little ones and cares" are given over to God.—Zion's Herald.

CHAPTER XXX.

A Philosopher Rudely Interrupted.

After the funeral I lingered at our Fredonia place. There was the estate to settle; my two daughters had now no one to look after them; Junior must be started right at learning the business of which he would soon be the head, as his uncle had shown himself far too easy-going for large executive responsibility. So, I stayed on, doing just enough to keep a face of plausibility upon my pretexts for not returning to Washington. The fact was that Carlotta's death had deepened my mood of distaste into disgust. It had set me to brooding over the futility and pettiness of my activities in politics, of all activities of whatever kind. I watched Ed and my children resuming the routine of their lives, swiftly adjusting themselves to the loss of one who had been so dear to them and apparently so necessary to their happiness. The cry of "man overboard," a few ripples, a few tears; the sailing on, with the surface of the water smooth again and the faces keen and bright.

Woodruff wrote, urging, then he sent telegram after telegram. Still I procrastinated; for all the effect his letters and telegrams had upon me, I might as well have left unopened. My final answer was: "Act as you would if I were dead."

Probably, what had given my pessimism its somberest tone was the attitude of the public toward Burbank's high appointments. I had confidently predicted that filling all the high offices with men who had no interest but "the interests," men who were notoriously the agents and servants of the great "campaign contributors," would cause a public outcry that could not be ignored. The opposition press did make perfunctory criticisms; but nowhere was there a sign that the people were really angered.

I got the clew to this mystery from my gardener, who prided himself on being strenuously of the opposition party. "What do you think of the new administration?" said I when I came upon him one morning at the rhododendron beds.

"Much better than I allowed," said he. "Burbanks's got good men around him."

"You approve of his cabinet?"

"Of course, they're all strong party men. I like a good party man. I like a man that has convictions and principles, and stands up for 'em."

"Your newspapers say some pretty severe things about these men."

"So I read," said he, "but you know how that is, Mr. Sayler. They've got to pound 'em to please the party. But nobody believes much he sees in the newspapers. Whenever I read an item about things I happen to know, it's all wrong. And I guess they don't get it any nearer right about the things I don't happen to know. Now, all this here talk of there being so many millionaires—I don't take no kind of stock in it."

"No?" said I.

Of course some's poor, and some's rich—that's got to be. But I think it's all newspaper lies about these big fortunes and about all the leading men in politics being corrupt. I know it ain't so about the leading men in my party, and I reckon there ain't no more truth in it about the leading men of your'n. I was saying to my wife last night: 'It's all newspaper lies,' says I, 'just like the story they printed about Mrs. Timmins eloping with Maria Wilmerding's husband, when she had only went over to Rabbit Ford folks to visit her married daughter.' No, they can't fool me—them papers."

"The General Resigns from the Command of the Army to Play with a Box of Lead Soldiers."

"That's one way of looking at it," said I.

"It's horse sense," says he.

And I've no doubt that to this average citizen, leading a small, quiet life and dealing with affairs in corner-grocery retail, the stupendous facts of accumulations of wealth and wholesale, far-and-wide purchases of the politicians, the vast system of bribery, with bribes adapted to every taste and conscience, seem impossibilities, romancings of partisanship and envy and sensationalism. Nor can he understand the way superior men play the great games, the heartlessness of ambition, the cynicism of political and commercial prostitution, and the sense of superiority to the legal and moral codes which comes to men with success.

Your average citizen is a hero-worshiper, too. He knows his own and his neighbor's weaknesses, but he gapes up at the great with glamoured eyes, and listens to their smooth plausibilities as to the reading of the Gospel from the pulpit. He belongs to the large mass of those who believe, not to the small class of those who question. But for the rivalries and jealousies of superior men which have kept them always divided into two parties, the ins and the outs, I imagine the masses would have remained forever sunk in the most helpless, if the most delightful, slavery—that in which the slave accepts his lowliness as a divine ordinance and looks up to his oppressors and plunderers as heroleaders. And no doubt, so long as the exuberant riches of our country enable the triumphant class to "take care of" all the hungry who have intelligence enough to make themselves dangerous, we shall have no change—except occasional spasms whenever a large number of unplaced intelligent hungry are forcing the full and fat to make room for them. How long will this be?

If our education did not merely feed prejudices instead of removing them, I should say not long. As it is, I expect to "leave the world as wicked and as foolish as I found it." At any rate, until the millennium, I shall continue to play the game under the rules of human nature—instead of under the rules of human ideals, as does my esteemed friend Scarborough. And I claim that we practical men are as true and useful servants of our country and of our fellow men as he. If men like him are the light, men like us are the lantern that shields it from the alternating winds of rapacity and resentment.

But, in running on about myself, I have got away from my point, which was how slight and even flimsy a pretense of fairness will shelter a man in high place—and therefore a Burbank. "He will fool the people as easily as he fools himself," said I. And more than ever it seemed to me that I must keep out of the game of his administration. My necessity of party regularity made it impossible for me to oppose him; my equal necessity of not outraging my sense of the wise, not to speak of the decent, made it impossible for me to abet him.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS.

In three hauls of the big seine at the Washington Park Fishery Monday 690 fine shad were caught.

Clement R. Sudd, a dairyman near Woodbury, has a tailless calf, but, believing that it would have a hard life in flytime, will turn it over to the butcher.

Six young women friends were the pall-bearers at the funeral of Miss Lizzie Kelly, aged twenty-seven years, who was buried Monday from her late residence, in Gloucester.

Millville police are looking for Harry Pettit, who was sent by several tending boys to draw their pay at the Whitall Tatum Glass Works. Pettit drew the money, about $40, and disappeared.

After eating canned tomatoes William, the five-year-old son of Samuel Curtet and grandson of Mayor Payne, of Millville, was stricken with metallic poisoning and is still in a critical condition. Other members of the family who also partook of the tomatoes were not affected.

The plan of Trenton Methodists to buy a house and have the presiding elder of the district reside permanently in Trenton is being vigorously combated by Rev. Holly, Burlington and other places. The whole question will be considered at a meeting of the district stewards to be held in Medford. The elder's salary is likely to be increased from $2,300 to $2,500.

A persistent housebreaker was four times repulsed in attempts to enter the home of Mrs. Rose Sheady, 312 Morris avenue, Trenton, Sunday night. Each time the man tried to get in Mrs. Sheady heard him and compelled him to retreat. Mrs. Sheady was alone at the time.

Patrick Hayes, Jr., chief of police of Hoboken, declared Monday that there will be no more games of baseball played Sundays at the St. George cricket grounds. The announcement created much comment in that city, for in its population are several hundred lovers of the national game.

Chief Monohan, of the Jersey City police, has sent out a list of pertinent queries to the proprietors of alleged bucket shops. One of the recipients of the list, fearing a raid, had a temporary injunction issued to restrain the police from interfering. The writ was returnable yesterday, before Vice-Chancellor Garrison, in Jersey City. When the case was called Assistant Corporation Attorney Ziegenfus told the court that the police had never had any intention of raiding the place, and a motion to dismiss the writ was granted.

Evidently hungry, but fastidious, robbers broke into the house and drug store of Dr. E. S. Adams, at Beverly, early Monday morning and had a gala time. They broke open the cash register and got $5, helped themselves to the best cigars, passed to the dining-room, enjoyed a bountiful repast, with cigars, while the family slept peacefully overhead. The intruders left a note saying, "We've had a very pleasant time."

An hour after Antonio Clemendo, of 706 South Second street, and Antonio Toriano, of 909 South Fourth street, were committed to jail by Recorder Stackhouse in Camden Monday, their cases were presented to a special session of the grand jury, when true bills were found against both defendants charging them with keeping disorderly houses. Their homes were raided on Sunday, and witnesses testified that they purpurchased beer there.

Plans have been completed for the construction of the new recreation pier at the foot of North Twenty-ninth street, Camden. A wharf 400 feet in length will be constructed, in the centre of which will be erected a structure three stories in height and costing $35,000. On either side of the wharf will be a yacht harbor, fronting which on the shore will be built twenty two-story dwellings. The entire cost of the project will be upward of $35,000.

CARE OF SEWING MACHINE.

What To Do When Things Don't Work Together For Good.

There are but three important parts to the common double thread machine—the needle, the shuttle and the feed.

In cleaning a sewing machine use a small screwdriver, a stick about the size of a lead pencil, with a long slender point, a piece of cotton cloth and some machine oil.

In taking a machine apart do not go at it in a haphazard way, but commence at one side and work toward the other side, taking off everything as you go that needs cleaning.

Have a table with plenty of room, and as fast as the pieces are removed lay them there in the order in which they were removed.

Be particularly careful not to lose any of the small screws, for they are frequently of such a thread that you cannot get a duplicate.

After you have taken off the small parts carefully clean the body of the machine.

Kerosene will act like magic in taking off the hardened oil and dirt, and the sharpened stick will be very serviceable in reaching every crevice.

In oiling the machine use none but the very best oil. It is a good idea once in awhile to use a little kerosene. This will keep it free from gum.

STILLMAN SCHOOL BOYS PLAYING WINNING BALL.

They Have Defeated Leal's School and P. H. S. Freshies This Week.

The Stillman Public School team defeated the P. H. S. freshmen Monday afternoon by a score of 12 to 9. Slocum and Clarke pitched fine ball for the grammar school boys, and Trembath caught his usual good game. On Tuesday the P. H. S. sophomores were defeated by the Stillman School team by a score of 26 to 0. Only two hits were made off Slocum's delivery. The contest only lasted five innings, but the Stillman boys touched Lounsbury for nine hits. The latter's wildness caused defeat.

Yesterday the Stillman boys met Leal's School nine, defeating the private school boys by a score of 10 to 9, who only secured six hits off Slocum, while Rushmore was touched for seven singles. The score:

"WHITEWASHED" NEWARK BOWLERS ON LOCAL ALLEYS.

The P. B. C. Defeats the Hollywoods Three Straight Games.

The members of the Hollywood team of bowlers, of Newark, one of the eight comprising the well known Lackawanna League, were easily defeated by the Plainfield Bowling Club on McLaughlin's alleys last night. The local men took all three games of the series played, the pin surplus being 51, 95 and 110. The Hoolywoods are a set of very pretty bowlers and their defeat was due more to splits and hard luck more than anything else. None of them went over the 200 mark, although Matthews and Losey tried hard for it and deserved better scores than they got.

The Plainfielders were up in good form, with Chief Kiely getting the highest average as usual. Louis Skelly and Joe Farlee got double centuries and Radin and Voehl held up their ends nicely. A return match will be rolled on the Tuxedo alleys, Newark, next Monday night.

GOD CHEER BRYAN

for the people, but to think with the people. The leader must be ahead of the people or he would not be leading them. The moulder of public opinion did not make opinion. He simply gave it form to make it more effective.

The power came from the people up to those for whom he spoke. He said only what they wanted him to say.

If the people had the initiative their representative, knowing that they could act, would act. If the representatives knew the people could veto their laws they would not pass laws they know the people would veto. If one man could veto the act of a legislature, why could not the people who elected that man and the legislature as well.

No matter what mistakes in the Constitution, if the people had the power to correct the mistakes they would correct them. The initiative and the referendum were the best things found so far to bring the government near to the people. When the people had the power to correct mistakes, abuses would be corrected quickly.

If the people had their way there was no danger in any country. When predatory wealth dammed the stream so high that it broke there was disaster below. If you give the people a method of government they can control they will reform every abuse as soon as they find them out. But if you dare to obstruct the people you will find a cry for more radical reform.

James E. Martine, "an exponent of popular government," was greeted with the waving of napkins. Mr. Martine said he came not as a stranger.

"I read that the People's Lobby was composed of long-haired men and short-haired women. This was an untruth, as is demonstrated by this audience," he said. "I have no excuse. I am here as a Democrat. I love my party as I love my life. My politics is a religion with me, but I claim that the man aids his party most who loves his country most. And I think the initiative and referendum is a veritable quintessence of Democracy. Anything that brings the government close to the people is an aid to Democracy."

Mr. Martine referred to the "infamous contrivance, the voting machine." Taking up the initiative and referendum, he referred to its adoption in Switzerland, although it had been called into use only four or five times in the last fifty years.

"Somebody said to me the other day: 'Aren't your tired of being a dreamer, hunting for ideals? You have been running for office all your life, and you have never been elected.' That is true, but we have obtained a victory. Victories have not been estimated by majorities."

Mr. Martine referred to the difficulty any Democrat would have to be elected in Plainfield.

"What we want is your aid—and we want that of you women, kind, gentle, sweet woman, to help make the burdens bear more lightly on all. While we give you no votes, your moral aid is of great effect. What I want is that our communities stand for civic righteousness. We in this commonwealth are blessed with fortune untold, a State rich in materials as well as in history. We want the public to understand that we stand for equal justice to all—for the election of United States Senators, for a railroad commission, not appointed by the Governor but elected by the people."

This sentiment brought out applause. Mr. Martine referred to the power of the ballot, and closed with a poetical quotation, which he learned at school, but the author of which he forgot.

The Senator from Essex, Everett Colby, was given a fine ovation.

Senator Colby said:

"I deem it, Mr. Chairman, a very great privilege to be invited by your committee to speak to this gathering on the subject of the 'Fight for Independence,' and were I to take a text it would be a statement once made by the distinguished guest who who will be with us this evening: 'No convention can rob me of my convictions, nor can any party organization drive me to conspire against the prosperity and liberty of my country. A man's duty to his country is higher than his duty to his party.' To my mind in these few words is clearly expressed the conflict between the theory of party regularity and the duty of a conscientious citizen, and it is of that conflict that I wish to speak."

After referring briefly to various reform movements and sketching their downfall, Senator Colby continued:

"In studying the independent movements to which we have briefly referred, there are two facts that necessarily force themselves upon the mind. First, that in spite of these deflections from both political parties and in spite of the spasmodic upheavals that have taken place, there are still the two dominant political parties in the country. Second, that in no instance has the work been lasting and permanent in so far as it attempted to strike at the evils of machine domination.

"Let us ask ourselves the question, Why is this so? The answer to the first question is found, I presume, in the fact that in a democracy, where every individual is a sovereign, each is called upon to take some part in a government the complexity of which makes co-operation of individual effort absolutely necessary, and this co-operation takes the form of party organization. The issues which call into existence a given party being settled, the voters turn their attention once more to personal affairs, and for a time neglect their civic duties. They leave the patronage in the hands of the party boss and the machine in complete control of the primaries. Then comes the evil day, and the party voters find their organization in the hands of those who are pillaging it for the benefit of the few and in full command of the field. Then an independent movement is started, generally without a clearly defined issue. It is inaugurated with great pomp, a lot of dust is kicked up, a few scoundrels go behind prison bars, and then the brain storm of reform quiets down.

"Then what happens? Now, remember, I am drawing my conclusions directly from history. The leaders of the movement quarrel among themselves, the people tire of their protestations and cry, 'Who made thee ruler and judge over us!' We become tired of hearing Aristides called the Just. Then some of the reformers quite properly seek office and are called 'office seekers,' while others refuse office and are called 'quitters.' The reformers often refuse to accept criticism, believing they should be immune, and they fail to acknowledge their mistakes. Again they compromise with the machine, thus losing the confidence of the public, which they accuse of ingratitude. At the next election we find the independent voter, because of ignorance, prejudice, indifference, sentiment, or force of habit, drifting back to the party fold, and all because the reformers did not have a definite policy and lacked ordinary common sense.

"Now, what is the answer to the other question: Why have results not, as a rule, been permanent? My answer to this is simply a lack of patience on the part of the public. It wants to do too much at a time and fails to appreciate the fact that a few men working spasmodically cannot beat the men who devote their whole time to the task of building up a machine out of which they make their living. Self interest will defeat occasional reform every time until reform adopts a definte policy and proceeds to carry that policy out in a bulldog, persistent, never-say-die fashion. Reformers use themselves up. They become tired because of their superhuman exertion. They lack steadiness and staying power.

"What, then, should be our policy in New Jersey? To fix upon a plan we must first discover what is wrong, and do we not find the trouble in the insurmountable difficulty of getting the great masses of the people to think independently? It is a question of mind. The public mind, although aroused at times, clings still to the dogma of party. Experience teaches us this fact, and it is in many respects a wholesome and natural tendency. It is as natural for people to seek affiliations with those who think as they do as it is for them to breathe. It is natural for people to work together; therefore, why not use that tendency? Why not direct it rather than attempt to destroy it?

"And the way to do that is to destroy the means now employed by the boss and machine to capitalize for the benefit of special interests that human quality, that state and condition of the public mind. If you cannot lead the people away from a party, lead the party to a principle.

"Lead the voters to a belief in Civil Service; lead the voters to a belief in the direct primary; force those issues by steady effort, and you are making them work out their own salvation without attempting to destroy their faith in the efficacy of their party. If you cannot do this after a fair trial, and you believe further affiliation with your party will lead you to 'conspire against the prosperity and liberty of your country,' then and not till then bolt your party."

Among the Plainfielders present were Samuel S. Swackhamer, former Assemblyman from Somerset; R. Henry Depew, president of the Plainfield Protective Association; Howard C. Tracy, formerly president of the "New Idea" Central Committee; James E. Martine, probable Democratic gubernatorial candidate; Walter Linabarger, member of the executive committee of the People's Lobby; George E. Firstbrook, of the Plainfield Democratic City Committee, and D. M. Martine.

Circus In Town.

Frank A. Robbins' big circus, better than ever before, reached the city today for its annual visit and pitched tents on the grounds at Essex street and Darrow avenue. The "White City" was in evidence shortly after breakfast time, the usual horde of small boys being on hand to boss the job of getting the canvas up. The customary street parade was given at 11 o'clock and it showed that Mr. Robbins has been branching out in this direction as well as improving the show programme.

The circus this year is nearly twice as large as when seen here before and is now rated as one of the best organziations of its kind. All the features which made the show popular in the past have been retained and many new ones added. The tents were filled with a big crowd this afternoon and the prospects of a capacity attendance tonight are good.

Mrs. Charles Burnett and daughters are sojourning at Atlantic City.

STREET MATERIAL BIDS

Watchung Stone Co.'s Figures Lowest For Crushed Stone, Crosswalks and Curbing.

MUCH RIVALRY SHOWN

J. Y. Wilson and N. B. Smalley Also Compete for Work—The Bids In Detail As Submitted.

Bids were received at a meeting of the Councilmanic street committee last night for furnishing crushed stone, crosswalks and curbing, and the Watchung Stone Company submitted the lowest figures for crushed stone, as well as crosswalks and curbing, their bid being even lower than when they were first received a few weeks ago. At that time the company was six cents lower than the bid submitted by Smalley Brothers, the other chief bidder. In presenting his bid last night, N. B. Smalley submitted one for weathered stone It is said that this kind of material will not be considered.

Three bids were received for crushed stone and two for crosswalks and curbing. The figures for crushed stone are as follows:

J. Y. Wilson, fine screenings, $1.20; ½ inch, $1.20; 1½ inch, $1.10; 2½ inch, $1.10.

N. B. Smalley, blue stone, fine screenings, $1.04; ¾ inch, $1.04; 1½ inch, $1.04; 2 inch, 94 cents; 2½ inch, 94 cents. Weathered stone, fine screenings, 90 cents; ¾ 1-3 inch, 90 cents; 1½ inch, 90 cents; 2 inch, 90 cents; 2½ inch, 90 cents.

Watchung Stone Company, fine screenings, 99 cents; ½ inch, 97 cents; 1½ inch, 85 cents; 2½ inch, 80 cents.

The bids for the other materials follow:

Andrew Roach, Hudson River stone, crosswalk stone, 24 inches, 82 cents; cover stone, 29 cents; curb 4x16 inches, 48 cents; 4x20, 55 cents; Pennsylvania gray stone, crosswalk stone, 24 inches, 68 cents; cover stone, 24 cents; curb 4x16 inches, 40 cents; 4x20, 47 cents. Watchung Stone Company's crosswalk stone, 24 inches, 75 cents; cover stone, 28 cents; curb 4x16 inches, 48 cents; 4x20 inches, 56 cents; crosswalk stone, 30 inches, 90 cents.

At the meeting of the Common Council the chairman of the street committee will make a report and the contract will be awarded, presumably to the lowest bidder, provided everything is found to be in accordance with the regulations governing such matters.

The committee has instructed Street Commissioner Gavett to look after the serving of notices upon property-owners, asking them to repair sidewalks and curbing and other minor details concerning street work were discussed.

ST. GABRIEL'S PUPILS HOLD ANNUAL RECITAL.

Large Gathering of Parents and Friends Enjoy Programme of Merit.

The pupils of St. Gabriel's Academy gave their annual piano recital and accompanying exercises before a large audience of parents and friends at the Park Club, yesterday afternoon. The programme was lengthy but every number was cleverly given and was greatly enjoyed by the attendance. A feature was a recitation by little Miss Valentine Coombs, barely more than five years old, who recited effectively a little piece, "Don't." The majority of the instrumental numbers showed no small degree of skill while the vocal solos and duets were greatly appreciated.

Those who took part in various ways were the Misses Anna Pedeflous, Rose Nash, Mary McCullough, Jennie Dineen, Anna Horan, Henrietta Pedeflous, Marie Tobin, Valentina Coombs, Marjorie Burtis, Marguerite Wilbee, Katherine Moynihan, Adelaide Stiglitz, Clara Smith, Nora Meany, Marguerite Windham, Mary Texier, Leontine Texier, Sadie Lee, Helen Leitheusser, Marcella Vooz, Irene Hearn, Adelaide Stiglitz, Dorothy Smith, Frances LaPorte, Marguerite Walsh and Marie Sullivan; Masters Edmund Kenney, Charles Beckman, Frederick Coombs and Alfred Seidel. Miss Anna Pedeflous, Miss Mary McCullough and Miss Marcella Vooz acted as accompanists for the songs and choruses.

INVENTION SAVES FUEL

W. T. Griffin's Compressing Machine Makes Peat Bricks For Heating Purposes.

CHEAPER THAN COAL

Plainfielder Builds Hundred Thousand Dollar Plant, With Capacity of Many Tons of Fuel a Day.

Through the invention of a Plainfielder, peat has been made commercially valuable as a fuel, and a rival of coal wherever that can be used. Walter T. Griffen, of East Seventh street, has perfected a machine that prepares the peat for burning perfectly.

The machine and the product it turns out have been subjected to exhaustive tests, and both have proved completely successful. A big company has been partly formed to make and sell the fuel, and a plant has just started up at Ogdensburg, N. Y. Mr. Griffen is largely interested in the company.

Peat, which is a form through which all coal has passed, is to be found in large quanities practically all over the country. It burns readily when dried out, but the problem has been to dry it properly, in an economical way, to make it valuable. After working eighteen years, and studying peat thoroughly, Mr. Griffen perfected a machine, that automatically cuts, dries and forms the peat into bricks.

The product burns with an intense heat, and better than coal. It gives off very little smoke, leaves but little ash and no clinkers. It is an ideal fuel for grates, and its superiority to coal in engines and furnaces has been demonstrated to a certainty. It will be sold much more cheaply than coal. Peat bricks will be obtainable, when the company gets under full way, at the price given for coal at the pit's mouth. Moreover, the ashes of peat are valuable, being very rich in potash.

Peat will make a splended illuminating gas, and the manufacture of fuel gas will be easy for the company. It is claimed that fuel gas can be made to sell as cheaply as it does in Pittsburg.

The Ogdenburg plant has been going for about a month. It is turning out between 200 and 300 tons a day, with a force of only five men. Plans have been made for the erection of another plant there, with a capacity of 5,000 tons a day, working twenty-four hours. The company has secured $250,000 for the prosecution of its plans so far, and as much more as it wants is in sight. Big financial powers are interested in it. The erection of five more plants, in different parts of the world, has been decided upon as a first step in expansion.

Peat is found in practically every State in this country. There are two big deposits in New Jersey, and Mr. Griffen intends to work on them. The deposit at Ogdensburg is thirty-five miles in extent. The people who have seen the trenches and breaks in the Newark meadows know what peat looks like. The dark soil is just about as peaty looking as peat itself.

MISS EMMA DAVIDSON WEDDED TO PHYSICIAN.

Plainfielder Becomes the Wife of Dr. Paul Richard Oeser, of Lawrence, Mass.

Miss Emma E. Davidson, a sister of Mrs. William Camp, of 920 West Fifth street, and Dr. Paul Richard Oeser, of Lawrence, Mass., were quietly married on Tuesday by Rev. Dr. Holloway, a Baptist clergyman, of New York. The ceremony took place at the home of the officiating minister. Tuesday night the couple was given a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Camp in this city, which was attended by guests from New York and Brooklyn, including many physicians and graduate nurses.

The bride is a graduate of the Cumberland Street Hospital, Brooklyn, and during the past two months made her home with her sister here. The groom is a practicing physician at Lawrence, in which city the couple will reside after a honeymoon.

Park Golf Season's Opening.

The lateness of the season has so delayed the opening of the grounds of the Park Golf Club that the competitions will not start tomorrow, as was originally planned. The clubhouse is now open and the course will be ready for informal play. The first competition for the President's cup will be held on Saturday, May 11. Announcement of the complete schedule for the year will be made next week. It is elaborate and includes not only the two cups and the holiday trophies, but a series of monthly competitions similar to the one for the Hyde cup, which proved so successful last year.

SKILLMAN DEFENSE ON

Testimony of Two Sons and Neighbor Favorable to Man Accused of Forgergy.

EXPERT ON THE STAND

Prof. Osborne Declares Instrument Bogus—William Ely Corroborates Prisoner.

In its effort to prove that aged William Skillman, former president of the New Jersey Horticultural Society, forged the will of his late friend and neighbor, William Lanehart, in order to get one-half of a $19,000 estate, in the trial at Somerville, the State yesterday placed on the stand Professor Alfred S. Osborne, of Rochester, N. Y., the handwriting expert, who spent several hours in explaining to the jury, by means of charts and other appliances, how Skillman had embodied many characteristics of his own handwriting in the alleged forged signature of Lanehart affixed to the will, which the Somerset Orphans' Court had already decided was a forgery.

He said that, in his opinion, Lanehart did not write the signature, and corroborated the testimony of William E. Kingsley. After producing several other witnesses who gave damaging testimony against Skillman, the State rested.

Edward A. Skillman, son of the defendant, was the first witness for the defense. He testified that Lanehart had come to his father's house in February, 1906, and in the presence of himself, his brother, Jeremiah Skillman, and his neighbor, William Ely, had signed the will which his father had previously drawn up according to Lanehart's dictation. He said Lanehart wore two overcoats, and that his hands were swollen with cold. He stood about fifteen feet from Lanehart when he signed the will, and he observed that he first made his signature with a pencil and then traced over it with pen and ink. The signature was written up-hill on the paper, and was very shaky.

Jeremiah Skillman also swore that he saw Lanehart sign the will, and told of a conversation which he had overheard between Lanehart and his father previous to the drawing up of the will in which Lanehart said:

"I want you to fix up that will so that my blood relatives will not get one damn cent of my money."

The witness said he did not know the contents of the will at the time he signed it as a witness. After the will was signed he was in the woods one day with his father as Lanehart drove by. His father said:

"Jerry, who do you suppose will get Mr. Lanehart's money when he dies?"

The witness said he told his father that he believed it would go to his niece, Miss Kellogg, and his father replied:

"No, unless Mr. Lanehart changes his will, the property will be divided between Miss Kellogg and myself."

William Ely testified that he chanced to drive to the Skillman farm on the day Lanehart was there and was called to witness the will. He corroborated the evidence given by Skillman's sons as to the details of the signing of the will by Lanehart, and was still on the witness stand when court adjourned.

S. I. FERRY CO. REFUSES TO REDUCE ITS FARES

FREEHOLDERS' COMMITTEE MEETS WITH NO SUCCESS AT CONFERENCE.

A special committee of the Union County Board of Freeholders reported yesterday that it had been unable to induce the officials of the New Jersey and Staten Island Ferry Company to reduce its rates for ferrage across the Staten Island Sound, from the foot of Livingston street, in Elizabeth. The chairman of the committee informed the board that F. H Innes, counsel for the company, and its superintendent, J. H. Sims, had promised the committee that the company was about to enlarge its slips and ferryhouse in Elizabeth and Staten Island. Mr. Sims also informed the committee that, although the regular fare was five cents, the company six months ago made concessions to daily patrons in the form of a fifteen-trip ticket, sold for fifty cents.

To the surprise of the freeholders, Mr. Innes insisted that the business had never paid. When it was suggested that a larger boat be used, Mr. Innes urged the fact that the sound was so narrow at this point that it would be difficult to manage a vessel larger.

The freeholders still favor a flat rate of three cents, and will hold another conference with the company's representatives.

M'CLELLAN STATUE UNVEILED BY SON

GREAT CEREMONY AT WASHINGTON IN HONOR OF "LITTLE MAC".

On the slightest upland in the city of Washington, the equestrian statue set up to commemorate the services of Major General George B. McClellan was unveiled by Mayor George B. McClellan, of New York, the general's son, yesterday afternoon. A great military pageant, marching by the statue immediately after the unveiling ceremony concluded, was reviewed by the president of the United States and witnessed by the veterans of the Society of the Army of the Potomac and other soldiers of the Civil War, who formed on either side of the line of march while the troops of the regular service were passing Governor Stokes was among the guests at the ceremony. Col. Joseph Frelinghuysen, one of his aides-de-camp, was in his party. The Governor called on President Roosevelt this morning.

MEETING IN INTEREST OF MISS CURRY'S WORK.

At the Home of Mrs. George A. Chapman She Tells of Her Labors.

An enthusiastic, but not largely attended parlor meeting was held at the home of Mrs. George A. Chapman, of Stelle avenue, yesterday afternoon in the interest of The Little Missionary Day Nursery, New York, and the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, of which Miss Sara Curry is the manager. Miss Curry was accompanied by four children from the nursery, who sang and recited for the audience.

Miss Curry also spoke, telling briefly of the increasing interest and attendance and far-reaching influence of the New York nursery. She explained the method of conducting it, which is similar to that employed at the local day nursery on West Fourth street under the auspices of the City Union, of the King's Daughters. Reference was made also to the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, where an addition has been built to permit the admission of many additional New York children this summer. The meeting was planned for by Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, who is president of the fresh air association, and it aroused substantial support for the work. Other similar meetings will probably be held soon.

Circus Rigger Drunk.

"PINAFORE" SCORES A HIT

Initial Perfomance of Comic Opera by Plainfield Operatic Association Well Received.

REPEAT IT TONIGHT

Production of Gilbert and Sullivan's Great Work Considered the Best In History of Amateur Performers.

The first performance of "Pinafore" by the Plainfield Operatic Association, at the Casino last night, was considered the most noteworthy achievement of this ambitious organization and well deserved the generous applause given by the appreciative audience. From the opening chorus of the sailors and marines to the closing by the entire company, there was not a dull moment and under the careful direction of Anton Gideckner, conductor, the performance was smooth and satisfying.

Without an exception every one of the principals scored a hit from the dignified "The Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B.," in the person of William Holmes, to "Hebe," impersonated by Miss Elizabeth V. Day, as well as Carlton Dunham, who took the part of "Tom Tucker." Mr. Holmes interpreted his difficult part in a clever manner. In the singing and speaking lines he was sure and very graceful in the dances. He divided the honors of the evening with "Capt. Corcoran," Arthur Chamberlain; "Ralph Rackstraw," William J. Tallamy; "Dick Deadeye," William N. Runyon, and "Bill Bobstay," Joseph C. Martin.

Notable features of the performance were the opening solo by William Tallamy and the chorus; the welcome to "Captain Corcoran" and the entrance of "Josephine," the captain's daughter, Miss Hortense Marie Sheldon, together with "Hebe" and the first lord's sisters, his cousin and his aunts. Each principal was given an ovation and was obliged to respond to an encore.

Miss Sheldon made a capital "Josephine," and she fully sustained her previous reputation in comic opera. Her singing and acting were a pleasure, and as for Mrs. F. M. Ward, who interpreted the part of "Little Buttercup," it is needless to say that she scored a decided hit. She displayed true ability throughout. One of the effective parts was the selection by the trio, Mr. Tallamy, Mr. Runyon and Mr. Martin, with the chorus. They were recalled repeatedly, and another hit was made by Miss Sheldon and Mr. Tallamy in a duo number.

In the second act the chorus has much to do and the light catchy music won great applause. Too much praise cannot be given to the large and well-balanced chorus. There was not a weak spot in it and as a result of the careful training its work was given in a finished manner.

The special scenery painted for the occasion, showing the deck of "H. M. S. Pinafore," was effective and presented a picturesque scene as a setting for the opera.

One of the many features of the production was the dancing of the "Sailor's Hornpipe," by Miss Violet Grey, formerly of the "Liberty Belles" company. She was graceful and it is doubtful whether an old salt could have excelled her. She received an ovation and was obliged to repeat the dance.

The second performance will be given tonight. It will be followed by a dance.

The cast:

"The Rt. Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B.," William Holmes; "Capt. Corcoran," Arthur H. Chamberlain; "Ralph Rackstraw," William J. Tallamy; "Dick Deadeye," William N. Runyon; "Bill Bobstay," Joseph C. Martin; "Tom Tucker," Carlton Dunham; "Josephine," the captain's daughter, Miss Hortense Marie Sheldon; "Hebe," Sir Joseph's first cousin, Miss Elizabeth Day; "Little Buttercup," Mrs. F. M. Ward; dansense, Miss Violet Grey.

As stage manager Clifford A. Braider assisted largely in making the performance a success.

A Fine Monument.

A fine ivy leaf is carved on the four sides and on the second base in relief, is carved the name "Harty" with the inscriptions on the center. On the cap is engraved the family monogram and when completed it will be one of the most attractive yet turned out by Manning & Son." Mr. Harty is a brother-in-law of S. T. Sarson, of Watchung avenue, Plainfield.

CONCRETE AGAINST BRICK

New Factor Entered Into Paving Question By the Board of Trade.

HEARS CONCRETE AGENT

Who Is Supported In His Claims By Mayor N. B. Smalley—Lively Meeting of the Rejuvenated Body.

Possibility of concrete paving in place of the brick that the street committee is supposed to have decided upon, was introduced into the permanent pavement question, last night, by the Board of Trade. After listening to a representative of a concrete pavement company, and to Mayor N. B. Smalley's favorable report on examples of its work, the Board members, some of whom spoke decidedly against brick, expressed an opinion that the concrete deserved investigation, and a committee of three was appointed to go before the Common Council at the pavement hearing to report on its ideas as to the character of the material to be laid.

The board meeting was largely attended. Complete rejuvenation was in evidence. Fifty members were present, and for the first time on record a regular meeting developed a scarcity of chairs. Twenty-seven new members were added to the roll, bringing the roster up to 155.

The rules were suspended to permit the immediate election of the following: A. S. Herr, F. C. Langhorne, F. J. Blatz, Greer & Greenwood, C. W. Leonard, F. A. Duttenhofer, Clarence L. Murphy, Fred Becker, C. L. Stanley, J. Van Winkle, Vail & Gardner, P. B. Hodge, J. I. Brokaw, Wyman & Haberle, Kenneth Robbie, E. H. Clevely, Fred Ivamy, Powlison & Jones, Henry Windham, M. Hertz, Dr. F. W. Cornwell, W. H. Pope, F. W. Dunn, William Newcorn, W. D. Thickstun, C. D. Manning, John F. McIntyre.

The committee on collection of a publicity fund reported a total of $585 secured this week in a two days' canvass. Four districts are still to be heard from, and a fund of at least $1,000 is in sight.

Among the communications was a letter from President Thomas N. McCarter, of the P. S. C., relative to the overcrowding of the Fourth street and Arlington avenue cars. He said the retiring general superintendent of the company had said the traffic would not warrant larger cars, but that the question was still open and would be taken up with the new engineer, who took office May 1. The L. J. Wing Manufacturing Company and the Industrial Bureau of New York, acting for an unnamed concern, presented stock-selling and site-seeking propositions. The communications were filed, with sophisticated smiles.

J. V. E. Vanderhoef, reporting for the arc light committee, stated that petitions for the lights had been signed by the business men, and would be presented at the next meeting of the Council. The committee has accepted Mayor Fisk's invitation to attend the next conference with the P. S. C. on city lighting.

Robert T. Keenan, a representative of the Hassam Paving Company, Worcester, Mass., explained its concrete pavement to the Board. The pavement is composed of stone, cement and sand, in proper proportions, the patent being on the method of laying. The company excavates to a depth of six inches and rolls the dirt heavily; broken stone is then laid and grouting mixture is forced into all the voids until it flushes up. A cement top dressing is then laid on, rolled, and allowed to set for a week. It is claimed that the mixture becomes one stone, with no joint anywhere; that the pavement is good looking, durable, impervious to frost action, easy to clean, wears evenly, gives a good foothold to horses even under the slipperiest conditions, is ideal for automobiles, and lastly is alleged to be not nearly as noisy as brick. Mr. Keenan read testimonials from various city engineers and other officials, and referred to examples of the paving work in cities in all parts of the country, places where frost is heavy as well as in southern sections. The pavement, he said, was 25 per cent. cheaper than other kinds, under the most expensive conditions, and, on account of the base of roadways here the cost of laying it in Plainfield would be materially reduced. The difference between the cost of Hassam pavement and other systems, he said, would yield interest enough to pay for all repairs. Mr. Keenan said 370,000 square yards of the pavement was laid last year.

Mayor Smalley, who, with Councilman Herbert Buxton, of this city, spent two days last week looking over Hassam paving work in New England cities, spoke in favor of it. He referred to his natural interest in the system, through his connection

OFFER FAMOUS PAINTINGS

County May Get Masterpieces of the Late Julian Scott at a Nominal Figure.

ONLY $1,000 FOR THREE

"Charge of Union Troops At Antietam," "All Quiet Along the Potomac" and "General Winfield Scott."

Three masterpieces, "Charge of the Union Troops at Antietam," "Winfield Scott" and "All Quiet Along the Potomac," from the brush of the late Col. Julian Scott, of this city, and now the property of the Drake Veteran Zouaves, Elizabeth, were offered to the Board of Freeholders at the May meeting yesterday for the sum of $1,000. The offer was made through a communication from Gen. J. Madison Drake. He said that the first named painting was valued at $10,000 and the last named one at $500. He recommended that the paintings be purchased by the freeholders for the county to be hung in the Court House. A committee comprising Freeholders C. A. Smith, Westfield, chairman; J. Hervey Doane, of Plainfield, and Adams, of Elizabeth, were appointed to consider the matter and report at the June meeting.

The Consumers' Acqueduct Company communicated with the board, stating that it had purchased 150 acres of land along the Rahway river near Rahway, for the purpose of building a reservoir, and it desired permission from the board to make the improvement, as it will necessitate the raising of the county bridge at that point. The matter was referred.

Upon the recommendation of the committee it was voted to appropriate $225 for the building of walks on the Division avenue bridge, Summit. Dr. Martin V. Shangle, of Elizabeth, was appointed prison physician at a salary of $250, that amount to include all medicines and supplies as well as services for the year.

It was reported that the bridge over the South branch of the Rahway river, which was weakened by heavy telephone cables, had been repaired and is now all right. The report of the committee on roads was laid over for one month. The auditing committee reported that the books of the collector, Nathan R. Leavitt, had been examined and were found correct.

Upon the motion of Freeholder Jones a committee of three was appointed with power to consider the building of a new county line bridge at Berkeley Heights, Union and Somerset counties to each stand half the expense. Freeholder Krausse's motion that a committee of three be appointed to consider the building of a new bridge over Linden avenue, Roselle Borough, was adopted, as was also the motion of Freeholder Meisel that a committee of three be appointed to inspect the bridge at Springfield, with a view to covering it with stone arch. A similar motion by Freeholder Woodruff, which was adopted, called for the appointment of a committee of three to consider the building of a new bridge on Grant avenue, Roselle Park.

After the meeting the members of the Board were entertained at a plank shad dinner at the Burkeley Hotel, by Freeholder J. Logan Fay.

An Illustration

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

DIAMOND DUST.

George Huff, of the University of Illinois, has resigned the position of manager of the Boston Americans, and returned to his former job, physical director at the university. Unglaub, first baseman of the Bostons, has been appointed manager.

Cornell and Penn State played a seventeen inning game at Ithaca on Wednesday, the latter winning by a score of 3 to 1. Cornell is credited with making ten errors, and only three hits.

Maloney, the Fordham College twirler, is making a record this year. On Wednesday he shut out Pennsylvania by a score of 2 to 0. He allowed his opponents but two hits.

It is the opinion of experts that college baseball teams are playing better ball today than ever. The big teams are all evenly balanced and show marked improvement in fielding and batting.

Chicago and Detroit went fourteen innings on Wednesday and the contest had to be called with the score a tie, 3 to 3. Chicago made her runs in the first inning and could do nothing with Mullin after that.

Considering the wretched weather for baseball there have been several extra inning contests this season, showing that the players are in fine condition, even though the weather is out of sorts.

Foxen is showing up strong this year in the box for Jersey City. On Wednesday he defeated Providence by a score of 3 to 2.

The Williams College team is considered one of the strongest college aggregations this season. The nine shut Trinity out Wednesday by a score of 5 to 0.

Under the direction of "Bosey" Reiter, athletics at Wesleyan University were never in better shape. Every department shows steady improvement and the baseball nine is especially strong.

GOLF.

The women's weekly golf competition which was scheduled to begin yesterday, has been postponed indefinitely. There still appears to be a lack of interest among the women members.

Everything will be in readiness for the opening of the active season at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow, when there will be the initial play for the Opening Day, Greens Committee and Golf Committee cups. If the weather is favorable there will undoubtedly be a large turnout.

The Park Golf Club will begin its active season tomorrow, with competition for a monthly cup, and the weekly events, handicap and scratch, as well as special events. The course and greens are in excellent condition.

The active season will begin at the Westfield Golf Club tomorrow with qualifying rounds in Class A and B for handicap, match play for the month of May. The eight lowest net scores in each class will qualify.

At the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, where the clubhouse faces the broad Atlantic and there are no mosquitoes from Peconic Bay to bother the players, all arrangements have been made for an active season. There will be an invitation tournament on August 8, 9 and 10. Saturday and holiday competitions will be held from June 15 to October 5, inclusive. Among donors of cups are Frederick A. Snow, J. Bowers Lee, Joseph S. Clark, Adrian H. Larkin, E. L. de Forest and R. H. Robertson.

Since the fall the course of the Richmond County Country Club has been lengthened from 5,700 to 6,000 yards. The changes to gain more length will be on the first, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth holes.

"Say this for me," said W. C. Freeman, the intercity newspaper champion, "that Dyker Meadow has the five finest testing holes in American golf. They are the first, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth. Any golfer who gets nicely on these greens in par figures has reason to congratulate himself."

At the Ilenwoodie Country Club, which was only opened last year, the committee has been hard at work in preparation for the season's opening on Saturday. The links has been greatly improved and the putting greens are in splendid condition. The turf on the fair green, under the supervision of Jack Mackie, the professional, is in splendid shape. The club has now a membership of considerably over 200, and the coming season will undoubtedly prove most successful in every way.

with the stone business, but emphasized the sincerity of his conviction that the cement idea in paving was the best. Cement workers, he said, knew that a mixture such as entered into the Hassam pavement should make a tough and handsome roadway. He said the pavement was good and cheap, and he was so convinced of it that he would ask the Borough Council to lay a block of it for test, and he would guarantee it himself. He was prepared to guarantee a test block to the city. It would be his effort, the mayor said, to have Somerset street permanently paved, and to have the digging of it controlled by the municipality, and not, as under present conditions, open to private individuals.

F. A. Duttenhofer, who was a member of the Harrisburg, Pa., Board of Trade before his recent removal to this city, said the concrete pavement was the best he had ever heard of. Harrisburg has been trying five kinds, including brick, and none of them was good. Brick was intolerably noisy and chipped off, he alleged. J. F. McDonald said the business men he talked with on his publicity collection rounds had protested against brick pavement on account of the noise. The Woodhull & Martin Company was emphatic in opposition to brick. F. A. Dunham spoke in favor of brick. He said good brick lasted and the volume of noise depended on the way it was laid.

President Marshall appointed L. B. Woolston, Mayor Smalley and Mr. Dunham on the committee to report to the Council that it was the consensus of opinion that concrete should be investigated.

A. V. E. Vanderhoef shifted the discussion by asking if the city had an ordinance with which to back up the mayor's crusade for streets free of papers and rubbish. Councilman R. I. Tolles was present and he announced that an ordinance of the kind would be introduced at the next session of the Council. Mr. Marshall suggested the placing of cans for the reception of papers and the like on street corners. Answering another query, Mr. Tolles said the Council was considering the removal of ashes and garbage.

B. Frank Coriell protested against the agitation in favor of municipal collection of garbage. He said the noise that was being made over it, simply advertised the city's deficiency and injured its reputation. He was in favor of allowing the Council to settle the question without publicity.

Mr. Marshall, with some warmth, stated that Mayor Fisk had asked the Board of Trade to back up the administration in arranging for expenditure of money for such improvements, so the Council could feel assured of support in carrying them through, and he felt some expression should be made by the Board. A resolution that it was the sense of the Board of Trade that the city should collect ashes and garbage was promptly passed.

P. P. A. Meeting.

The Plainfield Protective Association's executive committee will meet at the Casino tomorrow night to consider permanent pavements and the proposed new school building. It is said that some of the members oppose permanent pavement for the business section and are also against locating the school on the site selected.

Two Weddings.

George Dunkens and Mrs. Mattie Cornet, of this city, were married at 215 New street, Tuesday night, April 23, by Rev. G. W. Bailey, pastor of Calvary Baptist church. He also officiated last night at the wedding of Miss Annie Crafton and Grant Miller, both of this city, held at the residence, 602 West Fourth street.

Monos Against Laurels.

The Mono Field Club has cancelled its game for tomorrow with the Raritans, and instead will play the Laurel A. C., at Bound Brook. The Laurels are rated the strongest team in the Inter-City Amateur League and a fine contest is assured, as the Monos have defeated two of the amateur league teams this season.

State Councilor Visits Franklin.

State Councilor Frank Sharpe, of Newark, visited Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., last night, and made a short address on the cardinal principles of the order. Brief addresses were also made by the officers of the council, after which refreshments were served.

A Dinner and a Boom.

Farmer Orator James E. Martine is to be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given by Union county admirers next month. Prominent Democrats throughout the State will be present and a Gubernatorial boom for the Farmer Orator will be launched. Mr. Martine's personal popularity in the Fifth Congressional District is undoubted. He carried Union and Warren counties by 911 plurality, but was defeated by a thumping plurality for Fowler in Morris county. In 1904 Fowler carried Union county by 2,563 plurality, and his plurality in Morris was 1,769 greater than last year. A change of 277 votes in the district would have elected Farmer Orator Martine. Or he would have been elected over a weaker opposition candidate. What wonder that Union county Democrats enthuse and subscribe for a dinner to signalize his formal presentation as Union's candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.—Newark Morning Star.

—About one-half the number of electric lights that have been used to illuminate West End avenue, the borough, at night, have been cut out, the present number being considered sufficient. Later on the full number may be restored when the street improvements are completed.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

At the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow, matinee and night, the attraction is "At Piney Ridge." On the night of its first production, when David Higgins, the author of this fine southern play, stood before the curtain in a crowded New York theatre in response to vociferous calls he simply said: "My play speaks for itself." The excited audience sent back a ringing cheer, which told unmistakably that the play had spoken to the satisfaction of those who saw it and heard it for the first time. Hundreds of audiences have since seconded the opinion of this New York City theatreful. There is a breeziness about "At Piney Ridge" that is wholesome, that has in it some of the quality of its rather odd title, the breath of the pines is in it, and the air of the cloud tipped mountains of the south. Not for a moment is there a dull period while the curtain is up, each curtain fall finds the audience in a tumult of excitement and at times enthusiasm runs riot. A strong company gives this worthy play a worthy presentation.

Miss Rose Melville, in "Sis Hopkins," the most charming and delightful of the rural type plays, will appear at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. This is the eighth season Miss Melville has been playing the part of this delightfully quaint and refreshing country girl of Posey County, Indiana, for whom the play is named, and interest in the stage story of the play shows no signs of waning. In fact, everywhere Miss Melville appears she plays to the capacity of the theatre and oftentimes the house is sold out completely and the "standing room only" sign is out before the ringing up of the curtain. "Sis Hopkins" is really more than a mere play; it has become a classic of the American stage for it depicts a type of character which is frequently seen in many of the country districts of the middle west. Miss Melville's portrayal of the joys and sorrows and the bitter disappointment of this odd, little country girl is a work of dramatic art in which the actress sinks her personality and becomes for the time the living, breathing embodiment of the character she is portraying. The exquisite art of the actress, the fidelity to human nature in the play itself and the genuine homespun types of character surrounding the star, make the play what it truly is—a classic of the American stage.

Belle Gold, who plays Desdemona, the colored maid, with McIntyre and Heath in "The Ham Tree," which appears here Saturday afternoon and night, May 11, has made something of a reputation as a dramatic writer as well as a character comedianne. She has written several plays, three of which have been successfully produced—"A Colorado Waif," "An Angel of Mercy" and "The Mail Boy." Miss Gold starred in "A Colorado Waif" for two seasons. She also wrote the successful vaudeville playlet, "The Maid From Maine," and several popular ballads, among them "The Tale the Belle Told." Miss Gold has proved herself an exceptionally clever actress in her work with McIntyre and Heath, she especially excelling in the delineation of negro character types. This is rather remarkable in a woman. There are but four players in this line of work on the American stage who are regarded as of the first rank.

Nothing Is Lost.

We cannot possibly hear, see, feel or experience anything which is not woven in the web of character. What we are this minute and what we do this minute, what we think this minute, will be read in the future character as plainly as words spoken into the phonograph can be reproduced in the future.—O. S. Marden.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

CHRONIC CRANKS.

We all have met people who are continually kicking. Life seems a terrible thing to them. They seldom smile. Something dreadful is going to happen, nothing is ever just right, and they worry and fret and complain from morning till night.

MR. J. R. SMOCK.

Their trouble seems to be just a bad disposition but this is seldom so. In most cases there is one of two things the matter with them; either their nerves or their digestion is responsible. Both come from the same thing—stomach trouble. A man or woman whose nerves are tied in knots is bound to be mighty poor company. The same thing is true if what they eat don't digest properly. No wonder they grumble, I don't blame them.

I have seen Cooper's New Discovery change the whole disposition of people in a month's time simply by getting their stomach in shape again. Even the expression on their faces was altogether different. The worried, tired, fretful look changed to a peaceful happy expression, and the lines of care disappeared altogether. Many people tell me about this in letters. They seem to think it a miracle. It is'nt. It's just the stomach working again.

Here's a case of this kind:

"I suffered with my stomach for thirteen years. Nothing I ate seemed to digest. I also had chronic constipation, and was tired, dull, irritable and despondent all the time. I found it difficult to attend to my duties as section agent at this place."

"Six different doctors treated me and all gave different opinions."

"I began taking Cooper's New Discovery, and to my surprise it helped me from the first. I have gained ten pounds in three weeks and am feeling fine. My work now is a pleasure, where before it was drudgery. J. R. Smock, Cicero, Indiana.

We sell the Cooper medicines.

VIEWS OF ROAD BUILDER

David Bowden Says That Brick is Preferable to Concrete For Paving.

HE GIVES HIS REASONS

Street Foreman Points Out Advantages and Defects of Both, Based on Experience.

A side to the record of concrete paving not brought out at the meeting of the Board of Trade Thursday night was added to the permanent pavement question this morning by David Bowden, head of Street Commissioner Gavett's roadway force. Mr. Bowden has been a road builder all his life, and he is regarded as the most thoroughly trained and experienced road builder in the city.

Concrete pavement, Mr. Bowden said in a statement to The Daily Press, was not a new thing. It had been tried a score and more years ago in Europe, and found wanting. Three streets on which it was laid in Edinburgh, where he came from, were in his mind's eye particularly. Concrete was laid on them twenty-eight years ago, and the pavement was found wanting.

The mixture and method of laying were practically the same as in the pavement described for the Board of Trade. The street was graded and rolled, and a base of 2½ inch whinstone, which is the same as trap rock, was laid and rolled on it. A 20-ton roller was used. The stone base was filled flush with a grouting mixture of two parts sand and one part English Portland cement, the rolling going on all the time until every void was full. A top dressing of inch stone and grouting was rolled until the material was laid at a uniform grade and curvature. All the surplus grout was removed and a light coating of clean, gritty whinstone was rolled until the surface was perfectly smooth. The street was then shut off from traffic for six weeks.

The roadway presented a beautiful surface, and in looks it was all that could be asked. It was quite sanitary, and its good looks continued for a considerable time. But its weakness was demonstrated after a time where heavy traffic went over it. Wherever the traffic was heavy it wore into deep ruts. Composed of small particles in unyielding formation, the surface of the road gave out under the friction of vehicle tires. This, Mr. Bowden said, would occur with any cement roadway.

The Edinburgh streets were rutted in three years. When the repairs were made, the surface was cut down fifteen inches and the same mixture was rolled down; the streets were shut off from traffic for six weeks. For all that careful procedure, there was a general breaking up and pulverizing within six months. Within eighteen months the ruts were as bad as at first.

Cement roads, Mr. Bowden said, could not be practically repaired to become durable. It was utterly impossible to make old and new cement to adhere in perfect bond.

GARBAGE DISPOSAL COST

Estimated That at Trifling Addition to Tax Budget Improvement Can be Made.

ENTIRE EXPENSE $12,000

This Will Include Removal of Ashes —Tax Only Three-quarters of a Mill On the Hundred.

Pursuing the investigation of a sanitary garbage disposal system, which has been going on for some months, several of the city authorities will pay a visit to New Bedford, Mass., next Saturday for the purpose of inspecting the plant in operation in that place. The system in the Down East city is somewhat similar to the one in operation at Atlantic City in so far as the utilization process is concerned but it varies widely in other respects and is claimed to be vastly superior to thers throughout the country.

A communication has been received by the authorities from the Board of Trade urging that a sanitary system of garbage and ash collection and disposal be inaugurated at the earliest feasible time. In the communication received from Secretary Edward F. Feickert the statement is made that the Board of Trade considers that the present unsanitary method is a reproach to the city and a menace to public health. To this the Board of Health seems to agree for it has biven its attention for a long time to have the present conditions remedied by Councilmanic action. The delay has been occasioned by a desire on the part of the authorities to make a complete investigation of the various methods throughout the country in regulating this work and not until the authorities are satisfied that they have hit upon the most economical and satisfactory scheme will the Common Council be called upon to act.

At the present time there are two general methods in vogue in disposing of garbage, one being the incinderating process and the other and more preferable being the utilizatioin plan. In both Atlantic City, where the proper authorities have investigated the conditions, and in New Bedford, the utilization process is in use, but there is a marked difference in the workings. In Atlantic City the garbage is utilized by obtaining oil from it while at New Bedford soap grease is gotten out of the waste stuff. The incinderating system is somewhat antiquated.

It is estimated that the addition to the tax rate by the introduction of municipal collection of both garbage and ashes will be trifling here. Reliable statistics gathered by the proper authorities show that approximately three-quarters of a mill on the hundred will be necessary to do the work in a completely satisfactory manner. The figures gathered by the city reveal that the work can be done for about $12,000 a year and those by independent estimators at about $12,500. As can be readily seen this would mean a great saving as the present unsanitary method costs the residents a vastly greater sum all told. In Atlantic City, whose population is many times that of Plainfield, the cost of disposing of garbage alone is $39,000, which sum goes to the contractor.

It is more than probable that before the end of the year some very satisfactory proposition will be hit upon by the city authorities, and in the meantime the investigation will go on apace.

Bethel Chapel Boys' Club Affair.

The Boys' Club of Bethel chapel held a very successful entertainment and fair in the Sunday-schools rooms, Thursday night. It was in charge of Miss Helen Lovell, who has charge of the organization, and delighted a large audience. Baskets, rugs, mops and similar articles made by the boys were on exhibition in the afternoon and were sold at night. The entertainment part of the programme consisted of plantation scenes and the singing of Dixie melodies. It will be repeated next Thursday night.

Testing Roadway Base.

Robert T. Keenan, of the Hassam Paving Company, who spoke on concrete paving at the Board of Trade meeting Thursday night, made several tests of the base of the North avenue roadway this morning in company with Mr. Gavett. His estimate on the work to be done here may be modified by the quality of the base.

SOMERSET STREET PAVING

Mayor N. B. Smalley Brings the Question Before the Borough Council.

FAVORS CONCRETE TEST

Hassam Paving Company Representative Repeats His Talk on the Concrete Pavement to Borough Fathers.

The question of permanent paving, which has been agitating the city officials for some time, has made its way over to the borough and at the regular monthly council meeting, last night, the matter was brought before the members with a view to having something done with Somerset street in the near future. Mayor Smalley broached the subject and asserted that something should be done in the way of putting down a more durable pavement than macadam on the borough's main thoroughfare. At his request, Robert Keenan, of the Hassam Concrete Paving Company, who appeared before the Board of Trade Thursday night, was in attendance at the session and told of this new form of road making. The councilmen were much impressed with his talk and it is probable that the street committee will look over some of the work that the company has done in nearby cities.

In bringing the subject before the meeting, Mayor Smalley called attention to the fact that Somerset street, especially in the section from the bridge to Jackson avenue, is generally in a bad condition despite the amount of care that is given it. He said he had been considering a permanent pavement for a long time and that he had figured out that by dividing the expense between the property owners through assessment and the Public Service Corporation, the expense would not fall heavily on anyone in particular. What form of pavement should be adopted, the Mayor said, is still a matter of conjecture but he expressed the belief it would be a good idea to have the Hassam company put down a stretch of concrete from the bridge to Craig place as an experiment. He said the concern would do it on favorable terms and guarantee it for five years, which is as long as any pavement is guaranteed.

In introducing Mr. Keenan, the Mayor stated that the expenditure of money for public pavements should be done intelligently but councilmen as a rule have little time to get around to investigate conditions, accordingly any information that could be brought to them should prove of benefit. Mr. Keenan's talk was similar to the one he gave before the Board of Trade and explained in detail just what the new concrete pavement is, its advantages over other methods, the cost and other features. No action was taken but since the matter has been broached it will probably be taken up again within a short time.

CAPTAIN STUART DEAD.

Well-known Seafaring Man Passed Away This Morning.

Following an illness of several weeks with a complication of troubles, Captain Peter E. Stuart died this morning at his home on Grove street. He was about fifty years old and though he had followed the sea nearly all his life he had made his permanent home in Plainfield a long time. He retired from the captaincy of a vessel three years ago and since then had been engaged in the shoe business on West Front street. His experiences as a seaman were exceptionally varied and interesting and there is hardly a port in the world that he had not visited at some time or other in his career. His services were much sought after by the large trading companies and he had taken vessels on tramp voyages that frequently lasted more than a year.

He leaves a wife, one daughter, Mrs. Frank Moffett, formerly Miss Inez Stuart, whose home is in Georgia, and one son, Kenneth Stuart, the well-known musician.

LAWSON OFFERS A CUP

STILL ANOTHER PRIZE

Official Blue Book Challenge Cup Valued at $250—Complete Prize List About Ready.

In addition to the many valuable prizes to be awarded at the annual horse show of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club at the handsome show grounds, Woodland avenue and Randolph road, June 6, 7 and 8, unusual interest will be manifested in the announcement that Thomas W. Lawson, the well-known Boston financier, has offered a challenge cup, valued at $250, for pairs, shown to demi-mail or Stanhope phaeton. This will be what is known as the amateur class and owners of horses must drive. Dealers and professionals will be barred. The cup must be won twice before becoming the property of the winner.

Another event which will be of equal interest will be the competition for "The Official Horse Show Blue Book" challenge cup, valued at $250, for single horses shown to an appropriate two or four wheeled vehicle, owners to drive. This is also for the amateur class and dealers and professionals will be barred. The cup must be won twice before it becomes the property of the winner.

The horse show committee is busily at work arranging the details for the show, which promises to exceed previous ones. It is expected that the prize list will be out within the next two weeks. The entry list is believed will be fully as large if not larger than that of last year.

STARTED BUILDING BEFORE GETTING PERMIT

AND BOROUGH COUNCIL TALKS SHARPLY ABOUT HOTEL MAN'S ACTION.

In the regular order of business at the meeting of the Borough Council, last night, a communication was received from R. A. Boyce, proprietor of the Somerset Hotel, in which he stated that he had commenced the erection of a shed in the rear of his premises but had stopped when he was informed that it was necessary to have a permit. He outlined the structure and asked for the permit in order that he might proceed. His action led to a breezy discussion, the general impression being that the building ordinance had been given enough prominence for every resident of the borough to know what he should and what he shouldn't do. The permit was finally granted with the stipulation that certain changes in the plans should be made. There was also some talk that in the future a fine should be imposed upon people starting buildings without a permit but nothing came of it.

At the request of Winfield Scott Post, $25 was appropriated as a donation to the Memorial Day celebration, this being the customary amount. The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company was given permission to open a part of Sycamore avenue to lay conduits and on resolution the fire committee was empowered to secure a new horse for the fire department at a cost not to exceed $300. The formal resignation of Peter Dooley, tillerman in the department, was received and accepted. In connection with fire department persinnage, Mayor Smalley made the suggestion that in the future the salaries of the men be so regulated that they buy their own uniforms as is done in the police department. The mayor asserted that they last longer than when the borough buys them and that there is no expense through men leaving the positions.

Recorder Dolliver reported the collection of $32.50 in fines during the month and the treasurer stated the balance on hand is $565.66. The Council adjourned until next Monday night when it meets with the city fathers to hear the Consolidation Commission's report.

Borough Mayor Accepts.

Mayor Smalley, of North Plainfield, has accepted Mayor Fisk's invitation for the borough councilmen to meet with the city fathers on Monday night for the purpose of receiving the report of the Bi-municipal Consolidation Commission.

Dr. Demarest to Preach.

Plainfield will be honored tomorrow by the presence of Rev. Dr. William H. S. Demarest, president of Rutgers College, who will occupy Dr. Schenck's pulpit in Trinity Reformed church both morning and evening.

HOLD UP P. S. C'S BILL

Borough Council Not Satisfied that it Got Service Equivalent to Lighting Bill.

WON'T PAY CHARGES

Councilman Smith Wanted Fellow Members to Refuse to Honor Bill at All but Compromise Is Made.

The Public Service Corporation poor street lighting service in North Plainfield, came in for a severe hauling over the coals at the Borough Council meeting, last night, and steps were taken to remind Mr. McCarter concern that it must do better. A bill of $466 for street illumination last month was submitted but it brought a bunch of protests from the councilmen who declared that the lights had been unusually bad during April, especially in the Washington Park section.

"For an honest fact," said Mr. McGee, who lives over that way, "it has been so dark in my neighborhood recently I've been afraid to go out nights."

Mayor Smalley remarked that the trouble didn't affect him that way but he was positive the borough wasn't getting the service it was asked to pay for and he suggested taking $50 off the $466 bill to see if the P. S. S. wouldn't pay a little more attention to business.

"If a bill came to this council for any article or supplies," remarked the Mayor, "we would certainly hold it up if we found we were not getting what we ordered."

Councilman Smith, who is chairman of the light committee, asked that the whole bill be kept back in order that the lights that could be specified in notifying the Public Service. He stated that he had consulted with the local superintendent regarding the poor service and was informed that accidents at the power house the past month had been responsible for some of the trouble and that more of it was due to tree limbs short circuiting the wires. In behalf of this official, Mr. Smith asked permission to do some trimming of trees but the question was raised as to whether this would be advisable. Mayor Smalley remarked that if the company was allowed to do it, the borough would have to employ someone to follow the men around and see that they did it right.

Councilman Smith continued to argue for holding up the entire bill, however, and finally won out. The committee will see if it is entitled to clip off $50 and at the same time will frame up something to show the Public Service that the borough is little but can wave the "big stick" with the rest of them.

BANK IN NEW HOME NOW

Plainfield Savings Bank Moves Into Its Palatial Marble Building.

A MAGNIFICENT PLACE

An Architectual Ornament—Interior Furnishings of the Most Elaborate Description.

At the close of business hours this afternoon, the Plainfield Savings Bank, known for many years as the Dime Savings Institution, will abandon the temporary quarters it has occupied since last fall and take possession of its handsome new home on East Front street. The location is the same as was held by the Dime Savings for many years but so little remains of the old building that it would be a difficult matter to locate it. Employees will work until late tonight in order to get everything in shape for the formal opening and transaction of business Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

While the new building is practically three stories in height, the main compartment extends from the street level to the roof, a comparitively small part in the rear being divided into floors. In the construction the one idea kept in view was to secure a banking home in every sense of the word and this has been attained. The building stands today as one of the handsomest of its kind in the State and its occupancy will mark a new epoch in the career of one of the city's most substantial institutions. The surroundings will undoubtedly add greatly to its prestige and lend impetus to the growth that has been apparent in the past.

The structure has an imposing front of Indiana limestone with a large oval window directly in the center over the entrance. This together with a sky-light running almost the entire length of the building will preclude the necessity of artificial illumination at any time during business hours. The natural light will be heightened by the scheme of finishing off the interior which has been done with decorative plaster. Artistic touches are noticeable everywhere and yet there is the air of plain substantiality that marks the modern banking house. The furnishings and various departments are in quartered oak with a silver finish while the floors are tiled and the wall bases in granilithic.

In addition to the departments for the receiving and paying tellers, a private room for women patrons and other divisions, the main compartment has separate offices for the president and secretary. The directors' room is located on the second floor of the rear division, while the first will be used as an office for general business. A large new vault has also been installed in the rear by the Manganese Safe Company and the bank will be enabled to care for a large increase in lock box and safety deposit patronage. Everything has been arranged with a tendency to aid the Plainfield people in transacting their banking business with expediency and yet aimed at congenial surroundings and the public will undoubtedly take proper recognition of the fact.

Inexperience and Speed.

Paul Brakeley, a youthful bank teller of Dunellen, was arrested for speeding his father's automobile on North avenue last night. He told Judge Runyon in the city court this morning that his inexperience with automobiles led to the speeding. He said he inadvertently put on the high speed, and when the officer started for him he was so rattled he couldn't slow down. Sentence was suspended.

Moving Pictures at Monroe Avenue.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, an entertainment consisting of moving pictures was given last night by E. S. Hadley. Many new views were shown and in addition several illustrated songs were given. There was an unusually large attendance and a considerable sum will be realized as profit.

POSTAL STAMPS OF PHILIPPINES

DISTINCTIVE SERIES, ADOPTED BY GOVERNMENT HONORS NATIVE.

The Philippine Government has recently adopted for the use of its postal service a distinctive series of postage stamps, which were prepared by the bureau of engraving and printing. The values and colors of these stamps correspond to those of the United States postal service, and there are the same number of stamps in the series, but the denominations are expressed in pesos and centavos to conform to the new currency system of the islands.

The designs are also different. The portraits of Rizal, McKinley, Magellan, Legaspi, Lawton, Lincoln, Sampson, Washington, Carriedo and Franklin appear on the stamps of less than one peso, and those of one peso or more bear the coat-of-arms of the Philippines. Rizal, a Filipino patriot and author, became a martyr for his country; Magellan discovered the islands; Legaspi was the first Governor-General, and Carriedo, a Spanish philanthropist, gave an endowment which resulted in the construction of a water works system for Manila. The special delivery stamp has a Filipino messenger boy, dressed in white, on one end, and Mt. Mayon, the most prominent volcanic peak and an old landmark of the islands, on the other.

The Philippine Government has also in circulation a series of silver certificates which were authorized by an act of Congress. The series of these certificates bear the portraits of Rizal, McKinley, Washington, Lawton, Magellan and Legaspi, and one of them a scene of Mt. Mayon in active eruption. They are of one, five, ten, twenty, fifty, 100 and 500 peso denominations, and they show that their face value is covered by a deposit of Philippine silver coin or United States gold coin in the insular treasury. They bear the signatures of the Governor-General and treasurer of the islands, and also the seal of the Philippine government. They are about two and three-quarters inches wide and six and one-half inches long, and are smaller than the United States silver certificates.

CORESPONDENT PAYS COSTS.

This Is the Decision of Vice-Chancellor Bergen.

Trenton, May 4.—The marital infelicities of two families terminated Thursday when Vice-Chancellor Jas. J. Bergen granted an absolute divorce to William Q. Prall, of Ocean Grove. Prall had named Garrett S. Wyckoff, of Washington, and Fred Shibla, of Ocean Grove, as co-respondents. Some time ago Mrs. Wyckoff obtained a divorce from her husband in a suit in which Mrs. Prall was named.

For a time after this suit the Ptalls lived together, having become reconciled; but, according to the husband's claim, Shibla appeared and became attentive to Mrs. Prall, and action for divorce followed. The custody of two children was awarded to the father, and the costs of the suit were put on Shibla.

Can't Return License Transfer Fee.

Elizabeth, May 4.—The Board of Excise of this city, at its regular meeting Thursday afternoon received an opinion in the case of George J. Matthews, who had asked the board to refund him $25 that he had paid for the transfer of a license for the National Hotel, here, as the excise commissioners, after granting him the transfer, revoked their action at the next meeting. The city attorney said the board had no power to return the money to Matthews, as he had accepted the transfer at his own risk, knowing the board had power to take it away from him at any time.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

David Higgins' great play, "At Piney Ridge," will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight. VanKinzie will be seen in the role of "Jatk Rose" and he will be supported by a company of Mr. Higgins' selection.

An attraction of unusual interest which has been booked for an engagement at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night is "Sis Hopkins," the most delightful, the cleanest and the most enthralling comedy drama of rural life which has been presented on the stage in twenty years, in which Miss Rose Melville, the originator of the character of "Sis Hopkins," will play the title role for the eighth consecutive season. Miss Melville's manager, J. R. Stirling, has provided her with a company of unusual excellence this year and the entire production is a new one in every respect. While the story of the play itself—the fundamental basis around which the action revolves during the three acts necessary for its telling, is the same—Mr. Stirling has added a great deal of new material in the way of specialties and dialogue. For instance, Obadiah, the undertaker's assistant, whose great joy is a rumor of death and disaster, has a lot of new epitaphs for the good people of Posey County in which he ridicules their fards and their hobbies. Obadiah is a good-natured soul, but he always keeps an eye open for the main chance and being assistant to a country undertaker makes him irresistably funny in everything he does. Miss Millville's familiar portrayal of "Sis Hopkins," clad in gingham pinafore, striped stockings and panella gaiters, with hair done up in tight little pigtails on either side of her head, is being received this season with greater favor than ever and everywhere she appears it is to the capacity of the theatre.

McIntyre and Heath in Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Ham Tree," which comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and evening, have made a success the like of which has not been seen in many years. This is a real comic entertainment and the audience is convulsed with laughter from start to finish. If there be any complaint, it is too comic and too severe a test of one's endurance in continuous laughter. But yet every patron delights in it and hundreds have seen it several times. The story is most interesting and introduces McIntyre and Heath in the famous skits on minstrelsy which have given them the reputation of being the two most entertaining comedians in America. Their company is an excellent one and their chorus a real beauty show. There is more fun in "The Ham Tree" than in any other piece of its kind on the stage.

BIG SHOW COMES SOON.

Adam Forepaugh-Sells Bros.' Circus Now Biggest of All.

It is a pleasure to announce the coming to Plainfield of the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros. shows, the date of the exhibition being Saturday, May 18.

Since last seen in this section of the country, this circus has added to, brightened and strengthened its various displays, until today there is no question that it stands foremost among the circus enterprises of the world. With three rings, two stages and a vast hippodrome course, its exhibitions are displayed beneath the greatest spread of canvas ever made into one tent. Another tent, almost as large, is used to house the menagerie which is practically a complete zoological collection.

Some idea of the magnitude of the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros.' circus can be had from the fact that 85 double-length cars are required to transport it from place to place; the employees number 1,200 men, women and children; there are 500 horses, the three largest herds of elephants in America, and canvas enough to cover seven acres. The free street parade represents an outlay of one million dollars—spent in giving it a novelty, a grandeur and variety to be seen in no other street display. This parade is twice the length of any other and not one feature of it can be seen with another show. Costly and gorgeous as it is, as varied in its attractions and striking in its surprises, it but faintly expresses the superior quality and novelty of the performance.

The 300 performers are for the most part European talent new to this country, the aim of the management being to get completely away from what other circusses are presenting and give the people the best. Another fortune has been spent on the spectacle of "Fighting the Flames," which precedes the regular performance. A city filling the entire arena with pedestrians, trolley cars, automobiles and other vehicles, and with every semblance of a great commercial center, is thrown into confusion by an immense fire. A battalion of froty professional firemen with latest improved battery of engines, hook and ladder wagons and a great battle with the flames and the rescue of women and children from high windows ensues. It is the most absorbing and dramatic spectacle ever devised.

The trained animal features are other striking novelties. Chief among these acts are the bears of the great Spessardy, seen for the first time in America. Some of the most ferocious of jungle beasts perform astonishing acts in a steel arena. Other great acts are those of the Flying Fishers, the Le Vans, Miss Minnie Forepaugh and Miss Nettie Carroll, the world's greatest high-air artists; Zobedie, Joseph La Fleuer, the Dollars, the Corralla family, the Jennets, the Goltz Trio and Fred Welcome, the leading acrobats of all countries; the celebrated Wallett, Orrin, May and Victoria Davenport, Miss Shipp, Oscar Lowanda and Rebecca Daniels, the most remarkable equestrians on earth, and forty of the funniest clowns that ever smelled sawdust.

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his futur credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

It has been found necessary to postpone the opening of the active season at the Park Golf Club until a week from today. The clubhouse will be opened today and there will be social features. The play for the cups will begin next Saturday.

Today will be a gala one at the Plainfield Country Club, when the initial play for several cups will be held and the active season begins officially. There will also be social features at the clubhouse.

All eyes are turned toward Atlantic City this week, where the big golf tournament has been in progress. Jerome D. Travers has been the one particular star, leading more than 100 contestants in the qualifying round.

After much hard work the course at the Plainfield Country Club has been put in the pink of condition and today the greens will be in perfect shape for play.

The extension of the Arlington avenue trolley line to the Plainfield Country Clubhouse would be of great benefit to the company and a big convenience to the patrons.

Health Officer Leon R. Thurlow, who was an enthusiastic golfer last season, is planning to devote his spare time to the game this summer, although his many extra duties prevents him from accepting an office in the club.

George Anderson, the efficient steward at the Park Golf Club, has returned and is now in charge of affairs again.

The new system for caddies at the Plainfield Country Club is sure to be a success. "Marty" O'Loughlin is in charge of the boys and will see that they strictly adhere to the rules.

The Westfield Golf Club will begin its active season today and there is every indication of a successful summer at this popular club.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Atlantic (outlaw) League will open the season today. East will play Elizabeth at the county seat and Phil. Smith is expected to pitch for Elizabeth.

Jim Scott, who is on the pitching staff of the Easton, Atlantic League, has been suffering from a sore arm, due to a cold, and has not been able to do his best work.

Jack Peacock, of the borough, who has developed into a fine pitcher for the Princeton freshmen, faced the strong Lawrenceville aggregation this week. Although his side was defeated by a score of 3 to 0, Peacock gave his opponents very few hits.

Walter Clarkson, it is hoped by his admirers, will make a good showing in the box for the Highlanders this season. On Thursday he relieved Hogg in the seventh inning and held Boston safe.

Despite the fact that the Philadelphia Athletics used Bender, Waddell and Vickers in the box against Washington on Thursday, the Senators won out by a score of 4 to 1. Hughes for Washington was in top form.

The officials of the Inter-City Amateur League expect to announce the complete list of players today or Monday, when the relative strength of the teams will be learned.

It is said that all the positions on the Y. M. C. A. team have about been decided except that of first base. There are several candidates, but Manager Lisman and Captain Craig have not been able to reach a decision.

Although the East Millstone team has lost the services of Minford and Overton, the crack battery of last season, that town will still have a representative team on the diamond. The selection of a battery has not been made yet.

Flushed by several victories, including those over Clinton Avenue and Dunellen, the Mono Field Club will seek the scalps of the Laurels, of Bound Brook, today. The local independent aggregation is certainly a strong one.

(Other sporting news on page eight).

—The Public Service Corporation trolley sprinkler made its first appearance this week. It is due to go into commission May 15.

—Miss Henriette Winn, contralto, and Mrs. Willard Martin, soprano, have resigned from their positions in the choir of the First Baptist church.

—Mr. and Mrs. David Olmstead, who were residing on Somerset street, the borough, have returned to their former home at New Brunswick.

—John Nagle took an excellent photograph of the members of the Plainfield Operatic Association, following the performance on Thursday night.

—Arthur L. Smith, the contractor, who was awarded the contract for building coal sheds for the New Jersey Central at Dunellen, has started the work and is now employing a large force of men.

EXPERT TESTIMONY.

No better demonstration, of the unreliability of "opinion" testimony, which usually cuts such a big figure in criminal cases of magnitude, could hardly be cited than one given during the trial of William H. Skillman, who is standing trial at Somerville on the charge of having forged the will of William Lanehart. While the State was having its inning on Thursday, Prosecutor Reger placed Abram Vanzant, of Blowensburg on the stand as an expert on Lanehart's handwriting. Vanzant was quite certain that he knew the dead man's signature when he saw it and appeared to be very positive that Lanehart had never penned his name to the document upon which the prosecution relies to make out a case against the defendant. As the examination proceeded, former Congressman Alvah A. Clark, chief counsel for the defense, was all eyes and ears, but his associate, former State Senator C. A. Reed, was apparently disinterested, spending his time scribbling at the counsels' desk. When the witness was turned over to Mr. Clark, Mr. Reed slipped a bit of paper into the latter's hands. Handing the paper in turn to the witness, Clark asked what he thought of that and the "opinion" witness had no hesitation in saying that he believed it contained a genuine signature of Lanehart. Both of the lawyers for the defense could not resist a little laughing. Mr. Reed had penned the signature, himself, while the State's witness was being examined.

CROWDED HOUSE ENJOYS PERFORMANCE OF 'PINAFORE'

CREDIT FOR ELABORATE SCENERY DUE TO C. J. FISK.

The second and final performance of "Pinafore," by the Plainfield Operatic Association, at the Casino, last night, was even more successful than the first and was witnessed by an audience that filled the auditorium. There was more life and a display of greater confidence on the part of the principals and chorus. The ovation given to the participants was flattering. Every one did his best and the result was gratifying.

Many favorable expressions were heard concerning the specially painted scenery, showing the deck of the ship "Pinafore." It was through the efforts of Mayor Charles J. Fisk, president of the association, that this feature was made possible.

The work of Anton Gloeckner, conductor, and his orchestra were also complimented for its excellence. All of the principals were given encores and every chorus repeated.

After the performance, a flashlight picture of the company, with Mayor Fisk, Anton Gloeckner and Clifford A. Braider in the foreground, was taken by John Naegle. As soon as the floor was cleared, dancing was enjoyed until 1 o'clock, music being furnished by Gloeckner's orchestra.

WIFE GIVES BLOOD IN VAIN.

Husband Dies After It Had Been Pumped Into His Veins.

Charles Goodfellow died at Trenton last night after heroic efforts had been made to save his life by transfusion of blood from Mrs. Goodfellow to her husband.

Mr. Goodfellow was stricken with kidney trouble some time ago and grew rapidly worse. On Thursday Mrs. Goodfellow went to the hospital and offered herself for the transfusion operation. The physicians performed the operation, but without avail.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Clawson are staying at the Chalfonte, Atlantic City.

"Seeress" Wealth Chimerical.

New York, May 4.—Following a meeting yesterday of attorneys who have claims for more than $100,000 against the estate of Mrs. Marie Vitous, an agent of the Bureau of the Public Administrator reopened the safe in the former home of the seeress, who was known as "The Little Mother of the Poor," in No. 214 East Seventy-second street, and made an inventory that shattered the lingering hopes of the creditors. Two cheap watches, a bundle of mortgages and twenty bank books belonging to persons who had turned over their money to Mrs. Vitous were the "treasure" found in the safe. The books show bank credits ranging from $5 to $100—savings of men and women that went with other thousands of dollars into the hands of an unidentified man who had induced her to invest in a worthless patent.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

William Collier is holding up his high reputation as a fun-maker by delighting crowded houses at the Garrick theatre, where himself and his new farce, "Caught In the Rain," are in their fourth successful month. The comedian has broken all his New York records with this farce. It is the funniest play in which he has ever appeared in the city, and this fact, having been established on the opening night of the piece, it is no wonder laugh-seekers have thronged to the Garrick, and have remained loyal to Mr. Collier and his play ever since. Collier's Dick Crawford is not only delightfully funny, but he is also a splendid manly type, and he makes love notwithstanding a certain shyness of nature, as finely as any matinee idol that ever dazzled Broadway. All these things combine to make Mr. Collier, and his play popular, and to keep the crowds thronging in their direction.

Ethel Barrymore is captivating crowded houses at the Empire theatre by her exquisite erformances in the delightful comedy, "His Excellency the Governor." All the comedy and coquetry of her art are combined in the personation. The delicious humor of the role is finely expressed, and the sentimental phases, which are important, are presented in a superbly natural and convincing manner. In these love scenes, she has the assistance of Bruce McRae, who plays the part of the Governor, and whose acting is at all times of artistic and sterling quality. It will interest the followers of spring fashions to learn that Miss Barrymore wears a series of beautiful and up-to-date gowns in the course of the performance. Her brother, Jack Barrymore, who has not been seen before in New York this season, has an important role in the comedy, that of Captain Carew, who joins in the merry-makings Cupid provides for the personages in the comedy. Wednesday and Saturday matinees of "His Excellency" at the Empire.

Eddie Foy appears in "The Orchild" at Lew Fields' Herald Square theatre, New York, and this musical comedy has made the biggest hit that has been known to New York in several years. The "Standing Room Only" sign has been out in front of the theatre since the opening night. The following excerpt from the New York criticisms: Herald: "It is highly enough spiced to suit the most jaded theatrical palate to be found on 'The Great White Way.' It can be set down as a success. Mr. Foy sang a topical song called "He Goes to Church on Sunday' that set the gallery to whistling and the people in the orchestra seats to beating time." The Press: "Best Bloom of Spring surely is 'The Orchid.' Musical Comedy is a Singing and Sartoriacl Success. Chorus Outdoes All Rivals. Eddie Foy Welcomed in the Lew Fields Herald Square and Returns the Compliment by Being Immensely Funny. It may as well be said in the beginning that 'The Orchid' is a sensational singing and superlative sartorial success. It is a prize-winning exotic of the blue-ribbon class. There have been choruses and choruses in musical productions past and present, but never in the history of Shubert shows has there been such a surpassing quantity and quality of beauty and ability as are displayed in 'The Orchid.'"

Grace George is appearing at Wallacw's in the comedy success of the year, presenting the Margaret Mayo version of Sardou's "Divorcons." Miss George appears in the part of the captivating capricious Cyprienne, a role to which she is thought to be especially adapted. "Divorcons" is a comedy in three acts and though it was written more than twenty years ago so modern is the theme and so adequately has it been translated that the average theatregoer would think it a product of today. As might be presupposed from its title, "Divorcons' has to do largely with the all-absorbing question of divorce. The chief character is Cyprienne, a young woman of great beauty who has married a middle aged genius whose whole time is devoted to inventions and who is somewhat eccentric. In the fullness of time she realizes that she is being more or less neglected and her fancy turns to a young officer in the Forestry Department of the government. "Divorcons" might aptly be renamed "She Fell In Love With Her Husband" for that describes the plot of the comedy as well as anything could. The husband allows Cyprienne every latitude and thus it comes about that she, womanlike, realizes that there is little of romance in an affair of this kind when it is not forbidden and has apparently the full sanction of her husband. Miss George shines to unusual advantage in this role. An excellent company, including Frank Worthing and Robert T. Haines, appear with Miss George in "Divorcons."

At 8 o'clock Monday evening, President Roosevelt, in his executive library at Washington, will press an electric button which signals the opening of the Actors' Fund Fair at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. Afternoon and evening during the entire week the great auditorium will be converted into a busy and brilliant bazaar that promises to eclipse in magnitude any previous charity affair in the world's history. Its object is to replenish the treasury of the Actors' Fund, which annually disburses some $40,000, an amount considerably in excess of its income. It does not maintain the idle, nor does it encourage improvidence. Its work is purely charitable—the care of the sick, the burial of the dead, the support of a home for infirm and worn-out veterans no longer able to follow their profession. And the Actors' Fund makes public appeal with every claim to generous consideration. If a private or public charity is to be assisted, if an immense relief fund is to be raised in time of fire, flood, famine or other overwhelming calamity, the actors are the first called upon and the first to respond. One year ago they were playing all over America to raise great sums for the San Francisco sufferers. Without the actors it would be impossible to organize benefits. Now the profession makes a national appeal that it may relieve its own afflicted members. The Actors' Fund Fair will be the first of its kind in fifteen years. It has aroused great enthusiasm, not only in New York, but from ocean to ocean.

"Before and After," Leo Ditrichstein's screaming farce, inaugurated the season of comedy at the Astor Theatre. This is the first of a series of revivals of the Ditrichstein plays at this theatre. The cast of "Before and After" will be remarkable, being made up almost entirely of stars. Leo Ditrichstein, the author, who heads the company, has been a star for years. Charles Dickson is known throughout America as a successful comedian, and has headed his own company for many seasons. Henry E. Donnelly is a star that almost everybody who loves comedy have seen. Julia Taylor has also been a star on her own account. All these are in the big cast. Besides these are such favorites as F. Newton Lindo, Kenyon Bishop, and Georgia Talbot. "Before and After" was played for more than one hundred and fifty nights at the Manhattan theatre, New York, and was received as a laughing success in which there was not a single dull moment. The story of "Before and After" runs like this: Dr. Page, a fashionable New York physician, laughs at the claims of his fellow practitioner, Dr. Philip Latham, that his newly discovered drug, "Sunny Jim," can make the ugliest woman look like a venus to the man who partakes of it. Latham drops a powder into Page's glass of water and the mischief is done. While under the influence he kisses the wife of an irrascible Frenchman, Col. Larivette. The Colonel's terms are a duel or an introduction to Mrs. Page, with whom he hopes to take his revenge. Page introduces an actress as Mrs. Page, appears with her at Saratoga, and the fun grows fast and furious to the end when everything is straightened out.

LONG AND SHORT DAYS.

Where the Sun Never Sets for Months.

The length of the day or night a man prefers is merely a matter of choice and the ability to get to the proper place. If one is not satisfied with what he gets at home there is an assortment of days to choose which ranges from three hours' duration to three months and a half, from which he may take his pick. On the other hand, he can play the nighthawk for from two hours and a half up.

At Wanderbus, in Norway, the day lasts from May 21 to July 22 without interruption, and at Spitzbergen the longest day lasts three and a half months.

At Tornea, in Finland, the longest day has twenty-one hours and a half and the shortest two and a half.

At St. Petersburg and Archolsk the longest has nineteen and the shortest five hours.

At Stockholm and Ppsala the longest day has eighteen and a half hours. At Hamburg, Dantsic and Stettin the longest day has seventeen hours and the shortest seven.

At Berlin and London the longest day has sixteen and a half hours and the shortest about eight.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Eva Tanquay has gone into vaudeville.

Maxine Elliott is to play a month's engagement in New York in "Her Great Match."

Winchell Smith and William Gillette are writing a new American comedy in collaboration.

J. Fred Zimmerman has secured from George Broadhurst the rights to "The Lady from Lane's."

Augustus Thomas has returned from Mexico, where he went to get local color for a play that he is to write for Dustin Farnum.

Miss Carlotta Nilsson will appear in Dr. Leopold Kampf's Russian play "On the Eve" at the expiration of her present contract. The name of her manager has not been mentioned.

Miss Mary Mannering has improved rapidly from an attack of grip, but is still suffering from rheumatism and was ordered by her physician not to resume her tour for several weeks.

ENGLISH ETCHINGS.

Fewer than 8,000 people own half the soil of Great Britain.

Of the boy workers in London newsboys are the healthiest, barbers' boys the most unhealthy.

For every English person who lives in a house valued at over £20 a year six live in dwellings of lower value.

There are now 30,000,000 acres of permanent pasture in England, and the extent of grass-land is still increasing.

The smallest capital in the British empire is Edinburgh, the chief and indeed only town in Tristan da Cunha. It has ninety-seven inhabitants.

There are 2,000 golf clubs in England, with 300,000 players. These use 500,000 golf balls a week, and in a year walk after golf balls about 240,000,000 miles.

Women of the poorer class in London have adopted Dutch wooden shoes for indoor use. The shoes are imported by a Streatham mill firm, and their price is from 25 cents upward. They are becoming popular in London, although no one has yet appeared in the streets wearing them.

His Specialty.

"Do you find it difficult to pursue a train of thought?" queried an inquisitive party.

"I never had occasion to try it," replied the newspaper humorist. "You see, I'm a commuter, and it keeps me busy pursuing railway trains."—Detroit Tribune.

A Preference.

"Would you prefer to have your son a rhetorician or an athlete?"

"A rhetorician," answered Farmer Corntossel. "A good one can make the average person look like a molly-coodle without running any risk whatever of physical punishment."—Washington Star.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

At last Woodruff came in person. When his name was brought to me I regretted that I could not follow my strong impulse to refuse to see him. But at sight of his big strong body and big strong face, with its typically American careless good humor—the cool head, the warm heart, the amused eyes and lips that could also harden into sternness of resolution—at sight of this old friend and companion-in-arms, my mind began to lift and I felt him stirring in it like sunshine attacking a fog. "I know what you've come to say," I began, "but don't say it. I shall keep to my tent for the present."

"Then you won't have a tent to keep to," retorted he.

"Very well," said I. "My private affairs will give me all the occupation I need."

He laughed. "The general resigns from the command of the army to play with a box of lead soldiers."

"That sounds well," said I. "But the better the analogy, the worse the logic. I am going out of the business of making and working off gold bricks and green goods—and that's no analogy."

"Then you must be going to kill yourself," he replied, "for that is life."

"Public life—active life," said I. "Here there are other things," and I looked toward my two daughters, whose laughter reached us from their pony-cart just rounding a distant curve in the drive.

His gaze followed mine, and he watched the two children until they were out of sight, watched them with the saddest, hungriest look in his eyes. "Guess you're right," he said gruffly.

After a silence I asked: "What's the news?"

A quizzical smile just curled his lips, and it broadened into a laugh as he saw my own rather shamefaced smile of understanding. "Seems to me," said he, "that I read somewhere once how a king, perhaps it was an emperor, so hankered for the quiet joys that he got off the throne and retired to a monastery—and then established lines of post-horses from his old capital to bring him the news every half-hour or so. I reckon he'd have taken his job back if he could have got it."

"I reckon," said I.

"Well," said he, "the news is that they're about to oust you from the chairmanship of the national committee and from control of this state."

"Really?" said I, in an indifferent tone, though I felt anything but indifferent.

"Really," said he. "Burbank is throwing out our people throughout the country and is putting Goodrich men in place of 'em—wherever our fellows won't turn traitor. And they've got hold of Roebuck. He's giving a dinner at the Auditorium to-morrow night. It's a dinner of 11 covers. I think you can guess who ten of 'em are for. The eleventh is for Dominick!"

That was enough. I grasped the situation instantly. The one weak spot in my control of my state was my having left the city bosses their local power, instead of myself ruling the cities from the state capital. Why had I done this? Perhaps the bottom reason was that I shrank from permitting any part of the machine for which I was directly responsible to be financed by collections from vice and crime. I admit that the distinction between corporate privilege and plunder and the pickings and stealings and prostitutions of individuals is more apparent than real. I admit that the kinds of vice and crime I tolerated are far more harmful than the other sorts which are petty and make loathing outcasts of their wretched practitioners. Still, I was snob or Pharisee or Puritan enough to feel and to act upon the imaginary distinction. And so, I had left the city bosses locally independent—for, without the revenues and other aids from vice and crime, what city political machine could be kept up?"

"Dominick!" I exclaimed.

"Exactly!" said Woodruff. "Now, Mr. Sayler, the point is just here. I don't blame you for wanting to get out. If I had any other game, I'd get out myself. But what's to become of us—all of your friends, not only in this state but throughout the country? Are you going to stand by and see them slaughtered and not lift a finger to help 'em?"

There was no answering him. Yet the spur of vanity, which clipped into me at thought of myself thrown down and out by these cheap ingrates and scoundrels, had almost instantly ceased to sting, and my sense of weary disgust had returned. If I went into the battle again, what work faced me? The same old monotonous round. To outflank Burbank and Goodrich by tricks as old as war and politics, and effective only because human stupidity is infinite and unteachable. To beat down and whip back into the ranks again these bandits of commerce disguised as respectable, church-going, law-upholding men of property—and to do this by the same old method of terror and force.

"You can't leave us in the lurch," said Doc. "And the game promises to be interesting once more. I don't like racing on the flat. It's the hurdles that makes the fun."

I pictured myself again a circus horse going round and round the ring, jumping the same old hurdles at the same old intervals. "Take my place, Doc," said I.

He shook his head. "I'm a good second," said he, "but a rotten bad first."

It was true enough. He mysteriously lacked that mysterious something which, when a man happens to have been born with it, makes other men yield him the command—give it to him, force it on him, if he hangs back.

"What do you want me to do?" I asked.

"That dinner to-morrow night is in suite L. Go to it—that's the shortest way to put Roebuck and Dominick out of business. Face 'em and they'll skulk."

"It's a risk," said I. I saw at once that he was right, but I was in a reluctant humor.

"Not a bit of it," was his confident reply. "I had a horse that was crazy—would run away on any old provocation. But no matter how busy he was at kicking up the dust and the dashboard, you could always halt him by ringing a bell once. He'd been in the street car service. That's the way it is with men, especially strong men, that have been broken to the bell. They hear it ring and they can't resist. Go up and ring the bell."

"Go ring it yourself," said I.

"You're the bell," said he.

CHAPTER XXXI.

Harvey Sayler, Swineherd.

At a little after eight the following night, I was in Chicago, was knocking at suite L in the Auditorium hotel; I was hearing sounds from within that indicated that the dinner was under way. The door swung back, and there stood old Roebuck himself, napkin in hand, his shriveling old face showing that his dollar sense was taking up the strength which his other senses were losing. He was saying cordially: "Ah, Croffut, you are late—"

Then his dim eyes saw me; he pulled himself up like a train when the air brakes are clapped on.

"They told me at the office that you were at dinner," said I, in the tone of one who has unintentionally blundered. "As I was looking for dinner, I rather hoped you'd ask me to join you. But I see that—"

"Come right in," he said smoothly, but gray as a sheep. "You'll find some old friends of yours. We're taking advantage of the convention of western manufacturers to have a little reunion."

I now had a full view of the table. There was a silence that made the creaking of starched evening shirt-bosoms noisy as those men drew long stealthy breaths when breathing became imperative. All my "clients" and Dominick — he at Roebuck's right. At Roebuck's left there was a vacant chair. "Shall I sit here?" said I easily.

"That place was reserved—was for—but—" stammered Roebuck.

"For Granby's ghost?" said I, pleasantly.

His big lips writhed. And as my glance of greeting to these old friends of mine traveled down one side of the table and up the other, it might have been setting those faces on fire, so brightly did they flame. It was hard for me to keep my disgust beneath the surface. Those "gentlemen" assembled there were among the "leading citizens" of my state; and Roebuck was famous on both sides of the Atlantic as a king of commerce and a philanthropist. Yet, every one of those brains was busy most of its hours with assassin-like plottings—and for what purpose? For ends so petty, so gross and stupid that it was inconceivable how intelligence could waste life upon them, not to speak of the utter depravity and lack of manliness. Liars, cheats, bribers; and flaunting the fruits of infamy as honors, as titles to respect, as gifts from Almighty God! And here they were, assembled now for silly plottings against the man whose only offense in their eyes was that he was saving them from themselves—was preventing them from killing the goose that would cheerfully keep on laying the golden eggs for the privilege of remaining alive. It was pitiful. It was nauseating. I felt my degradation in stooping to such company.

I spoke to Dominick last. To my surprise he squarely returned my gaze. His eyes were twinkling, as the eyes of a pig seem to be, if you look straight into its face when it lifts its snout from a full trough. Presently he could contain the huge volume of his mirth no longer. It came roaring from him like a great coarse torrent, shaking his vast bulk and the chair sustained it, swelling the veins in his face, resounding through the silent room while the waiters literally stood aghast. At last he found breath to ejaculate: "Well, I'll be good and—damned!"

This gale rushed from the others and whirled away their cloaks of surface-composure. Naked, they suggested a lot of rats in a trap—Dominick jeering at them and anticipating the pleasure of watching me torture them. I choked back the surge of repulsion and said to Roebuck: "Then where shall I sit?"

Roebuck looked, almost wildly, toward the foot of the table. He longed to have me as far from him as possible. Partridge, at the foot of the table, called out—in alarm: "Make room for the senator between you and Mr. Dominick, Roebuck." He ought to be as near the head of the table as possible."

"No matter where Senator Sayler sits, it's the head of the table," said Roebuck. His commonplace courtesy indicated not recovered self-control, but the cunning of his rampant instinct of self-preservation—that cunning which men so often exhibit in desperate straits, thereby winning credit for cool courage.

"We're a merry company," said I, as we sat. This, with a glance at Dominick heaving in the subsiding storm of his mirth. My remark set him off again. I glanced at his place to see if he had abandoned his former inflexible rule of total abstinence. There stood his invariable pot of tea. Clearly, it was not drink that enabled him to enjoy a situation which, as it seemed to me, was fully as unattractive to him as for his fellows.

Soon the door opened and in strode Croffut: handsome, picturesque, with his pose of dashing, brave manhood, which always set the crowds into a mood for the frenzy his oratory conjured. Croffut seemed to me to put the climax upon this despicable company—Croffut, one of the great orators of the party, adored by the people that, but for overwhelming superiority in the state, I should never have dared eject from office. Since I ejected him he had not spoken to me. Dominick looked at him, said in a voice that would have flared even the warm ashes of manhood into a furious blaze: "Go and shake hands with Senator Sayler, Croffut, and sit down."

Croffut advanced, smiling. "I am fit for my company," thought I as I let him clasp my hand.

"Retter tilt Granby's ghost out of that chair, Croffut," said Dominick, as the ex-senator was seating himself. And in his animal exuberance of delight at his joke and at the whole situation he clapped Roebuck on the shoulder.

Roebuck shrank and winced. Moral humiliation he could shed as an armor-plated turret sheds musket balls. But a physical humiliation, especially with spectators, sank in and sank deep. Instantly, alarmed lest Dominick had been and understood, he smiled and said: "That's a vigorous arm of yours, Mr. Dominick."

"Not bad for a man of 60," said Dominick.

I ate because to eat was a necessary part of my pose to absolute calmness; but I had to force down the food. It seemed to me to embody the banquet there set before my mental appetite. I found I had no stomach for that banquet. It takes the coarse palate of youth or the depraved palate of age more debauched than mine to enjoy such a feast. Yet, less than a year before, I had enjoyed, had delighted in, a far less strenuous contest with these mutineers. As I sat holding down my gorge and acting as if I were at ease, I suddenly wondered what Elizabeth Crosby would think of me if she could see. And then I saw her with a reality of imagining that startled me—it was as if she were in the doorway; and her eyes lifted to mine in that slow, steady, searching gaze of hers.

Plainfield People Have Found That This Is True.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench,
A little cause may hurt the kidneys.
Spells of backache often follow,
Or some irregularity of the urine.
A certain remedy for such attacks,
A medicine that answers every call,
Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific.
Many Plainfield people rely on it.

Mrs. J. C. Manchester, of 120 Lafayette place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I was a sufferer from kidney and bladder troubles for a long time, and doctored with physicians for same, each time without being cured. In July, 1905, I saw Dooan's Kidney Pills advertised and made up by mind to get a box at Randolph's drug store and give them a trial. I did so, and with good results, as the treatment regulated the kidneys and got the bladder into a proper condition. If this cure proves to be a permanent one, as I have every reason to believe it will, I will always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

Advice to Mr. Martine.

James E. Martine wants to make the dinner to be given him in Elizabeth on May 29 a harmony affair, to be attended by Messrs. Smith, Davis, Gourley, Cornish and some others, who have never been suspected of being mixed up in any reform movements. The farmer orator, before consummating this plan, ought to secure a copy of Sheriff Sommner's "No Compromise" speech at the People's Lobby dinner and read it over carefully.—Newark News.

Chicago, Ill., May 4.—Mrs. Mary Sladek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mette, who recently died as the result of arsenical poisoning, was yesterday, by the verdict of the Coroner's jury, held to await the action of the Criminal Court. It is declared that she mixed arsenic in the food prepared for the family and caused the death of her father and mother. Four of her brothers were also poisoned, but recovered.

There will be an election of officers of the Boys' Mission Band, of Trinity Reformed church, in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

JAPAN NOT HEATHENISH

Rev. E. S. Booth Tells of Civilization at Trinity Church.

TO THE MISSION BAND

Good Thing Missionaries Do Not Know the Language, He Says, Because It Makes Them Study Customs.

Interesting facts and incidents were presented before the Young Women's Mission Band, of Trinity Reformed church, yesterday afternoon, by Rev. Eugene S. Booth, a returned missionary from Yokohoma, Japan. Mr. Booth has been engaged in mission work for many years under the direction of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed Church in America.

He has been engaged at Ferris Seminary, Yokohoma, supported by the Reformed church, and in his talk he dwelt particularly on conditions in that country. His subject was "The Needs of Japan." The Japanese, he said, would say the needs are a larger navy, others would say it was more and better business men, while the missionaries' constant request is for more missionaries and money to carry on the work of the Gospel.

The speaker said that Americans in referring to Japan as a heathen nation make a mistake, for the people of that country were civilized long before those in this country and they lived in ease, luxury and comfort, while many in this country existed in an exceedingly primitive way. In the matter of education Mr. Booth said that Japan is second to none, yet her position has been achieved during the last thirty years. The education of that country he described as being unique in that it has a women's university, and he exhibited pictures of Ferris Seminary, showing the many improvements made there.

Showing the increased value of property, Mr. Booth said that when Ferris Seminary was started land was rented and a small building was erected. Since that time $23,000 has been expended on the seminary in new buildings and improvements and today if the land should be put up at public auction it would bring, exclusive of the buildings, the sum of $30,000.

Referring to the work of the missionaries, the speaker said, that it is a good thing for them not to know the Japanese language before engaging in the work there, for in acquiring it they learn the habits and customs of the people. He devoted considerable time to a discussion of the educational work, explaining the compulsory school law, which compells children eleven years of age and under to attend school. Efforts are now being made to extend the age limit to fourteen years. It is hoped by those interested in Ferris Seminary to make that institution self-supporting and thus be in a position to do even better work than in the past.

Reference was also made to the culture and politeness of the Japanese, especially the women. He declared that the mothers never speak cross to their children and they grow up learning to love their parents, their country, and the boys grow to become fine soldiers, while the fire of patriotism always burns in the breast of the people.

At the close of the meeting an appeal was made for useful articles to be placed in a barrel to be sent to McKee, Kentucky. This barrel is to be sent away May 7.

15 Men Feed Big Snake.

New York, May 4.—It took fifteen men yesterday to induce Salome, the largest regal phyton in captivity, to partake of a meal consisting of two rabbits and a chicken, the first meal the reptils had taken in about three months. Salome is one of the reptile family in the New York Zoological Park and has been slowly starving. Nothing that Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of reptiles, could do would induce Salome to break her fast. Yesterday Mr. Ditmars got twelve Italians and with two keepers they went into the cage and lifted the twenty-seven feet of snake from the floor. The snake resisted at first, and several of the men were knocked down. The food was finally forced down the snake's throat with a pole.

GOVERNOR STOKES TO AGAIN SEE ROOSEVELT

President Invites Him Back and It Is Understood the New Jersey Situation Will Be Discussed.

President Roosevelt took advantage of the presence at Washington Thursday of Governor Stokes, of New Jersey, to get a line on sentiment in New Jersey regarding the next contest for the Presidency. The President did not have much time to discuss the matter, but he requested Mr. Stokes to again visit him. The Governor admits that it is quite possible he will go to Washington shortly.

The published utterances of Governor Stokes to the effect that New Jersey was a Roosevelt stronghold and that the feeling there was favorable to a third term for Mr. Roosevelt, it is believed prompted the President to confer with Mr. Stokes. Neither the President nor the Governor would discuss what passed between them.

It is understood that the President outlined his position in respect to Taft.

COURT'S OPINION IN B. & L. LITIGATION

VICE-CHANCELLOR FAVORS TRUSTEES INSTEAD OF RECEIVER.

Vice-Chancellor Leaming, of Camden, on Thursday filed an opinion in the suit of David O. Watkins, State Banking and Insurance Commissioner, and Patrick Fitzgerald against the Mutual Building and Loan Association for the appointment of a receiver, as told in The Daily Press yesterday. While the vice-chancellor did not entirely dismiss the rule to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed, he held that the three trustees recently elected by the stockholders were regularly chosen. The opinion finally disposes of the matter, which was to have been decided by the vice-chancellor next Monday.

The opinion in full follows:

"I have determined not to appoint a receiver at this time. There is no evidence before me from which I can properly conclude that the interests of creditors or stockholders require it. Suggestions have been made that the trustees named are men who are too closely conected with the former management of the association, and the manner of their selection is also criticised. These suggestions carry the implication that irregularities may exist which the trustees will not be free to expose.

"It is manifestly improper for me to base my action upon such suggestions in the absence of some substantial evidence or positive assertions of facts. I shall assume that the trustees named will do their whole duty until I am judicially informed of matters which justify a different assumption.

"The bills will be retained and a receiver may be applied for at any time the necessity can be made apparent.

"Creditors and stockholders will be privileged to examine the books of accounts and papers of the association, and may employ accountants for that purpose if it is thought desirable."

WEALTHY MAN AS "BEAT."

Claims That He Cannot Be Legally Forced to Pay Certain Bill.

Atlantic City, May 4.—Edward B. McKay, the wealthy president of the American Fruit Machine Company, with offices in the Drexel building, Philadelphia, was arrested on the boardwalk here yesterday on a charge of failure to pay a board bill, under the hotel "beat" law, passed by the New Jersey Legislature in 1905. The charge was brought by Reed & Evans who conduct a santitarium here, and who claim that the magnate secured board and attendance in the place, and then stopped the check which he gave in a Philadelphia bank on payment. The warrant was issued by Justice of the Peace DeHart, who gave the man a hearing and reserved decision until today.

According to the story of the complainants, who are young women, McKay was sent to their sanitarium by his physician last July. When he left they presented a bill for $225, which he settled with a check. When the check was presented to his Philadelphia bank, however, payment had been stopped. Civil suit for the money has been started in Philadelphia, but when McKay came here a few days ago for a visit the lawyer for the women heard of his presence, and a criminal warrant charging attempt to "beat," as defined by the Jersey law, was sworn out.

Miss Reed accompanied the constable with the warrant and McKay was taken from a party of friends, with whom he was strolling on the boardwalk, and held under $300 bail. McKay's defense at the hearing this morning is that the sanitarium is not licensed as required by law, and, therefore, unable to legally collect the money. Imprisonment is prescribed as a penalty in case of conviction under the hotel "beat" law.

COUNTRY CLUB OPENING

Active Season on the Golf Course Was Inaugurated Saturday Afternoon.

A LARGE FIELD OUT

Competition Play at the Park Club Links Again Postponed One Week.

The Plainfield Country Club had an auspicious opening of the active season on Saturday, and there was a large field out during the day. The clearing weather in the afternoon attracted a host of members and friends to the course. A brisk wind blowing over the course prevented low scoring, and besides it was the first time a number had played this season. The course was in excellent condition, the greens being especially good considering the bad weather.

The social features at the clubhouse were greatly enjoyed, although no special programme was prepared. The first tea of the season, which will mark the opening of the social season, will be held on Saturday afternoon, May 18. After that social functions will follow each week.

In the commencement of play on the course, Saturday, there were competitions for the Opening Day, Golf Committee and Green Committee cups, Classes A and B. Those in Class A are for players with handicaps of 14 and under and those in Class B for players with handicaps of 15 and over.

In Class A Howard W. Beebe won the Opening Day cup, besides scoring three points for the Golf Committee trophy, weekly competition. W. Lester Glenney and L. A. Chase divided the remaining honors, each receiving 1½ points. In Class B C. C. Burke, Sr., won the Opening Day cup with an 80; also scoring three points for the Green Committee cup, weekly competition. G. E. Cathcart won two points and C. C. Burke, Jr., 1 point, while all three qualified for the May Cup competition.

These scores were returned:

Class A—Howard W. Beebee, 92, 10—82; W. L. Glenney, 85, 0—85; L. A. Chase, 94, 9—85; J. Whitney Baker, 86, 0—86; Frank O. Reinhart, 86, 0—86; C. B. Morgan, 89, 2—87; J. A. Lane, 101, 12—89; Charles A. Stover, 98, 8—90; Henry D. Hibbard, 104, 6—98.

While the course and clubhouse at the Park Golf Club were open on Saturday, the active season was deferred one week, when there will be the initial play for the various cups. However, a number of players were on the course Saturday and enjoyed general play.

Once more the Westfield Golf Club was obliged to postpone its opening on Saturday because of the condition of the course. In places it was almost inundated with water, making play impossible. Another attempt will be made on Saturday to start the competitions as scheduled.

Spring Trousers and a Fight.

Frank Chester Denton, 17 years old, wore a pair of light striped trousers yesterday for the first time. John Yose, same age, made ribald remarks about loud raiment, and Frank Chester resented the slurs on his sartorial display. With Augustus Frank, Cornelius Compton and Mark Strader, all 17 years old, looking on, they submitted the question of spring trouserings to the arbitrament of feints, left hooks and short-arm jabs. Frank Chester was nobly vindicating his taste when the police broke up the mill, which was held in a Front street alley. Weeping mothers and stern-faced friends of the family saw Mayor Fisk last night and got the boys out of the station house. They were discharged with judicial warnings to leave questions of dress to the fashion papers for settlement, this morning, by Judge Runyon in the city court.

S. of V. to Reorganize.

Those interested in the reorganization of John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, are urged to attend a meeting to be held in G. A. R. Hall tomorrow night. It is expected that Division Commander Lawrence, of Trenton, will be present. The Division Encampment will be held at Trenton on Wednesday and he desires to make a report concerning the new camp at that time.

Captain Stuart's Funeral.

The funeral of Captain Peter E. Stuart, who died at his home on Grove street Saturday morning, will be held at the late residence tonight.

MARTINE'S BOOM GROWS

All Signs Point to Nomination of Farmer-Orator for the Governorship.

UNION BOASTS HIM

Candidacy to Be Given Official Sanction at the Dinner on May 29—Committee Meets Tonight.

The boom for James E. Martine as a Gubernatorial candidate is rapidly shaping itself. His friends are enthusiastic over his candidacy and there is little doubt that he will be proclaimed the choice of the Union county Democrats at the dinner to be given at Elizabeth on May 29.

That Mr. Martine has recently strengthened himself not alone in Union but also in Essex and Hudson counties is beyond question, if one may take the freely expressed opinions of some of the Democratic leaders. There is not a superabundance of harmony among the State Democrats, and Martine is looked to as one upon whom warring interests can agree. There is apparently no other reason for the acclaim that has greeted his name.

Were it not for the efforts of Mr. Martine, William Jenning Bryan would never have graced the rostrum of the Krueger Auditorium in Newark with his presence last Wednesday night.

With H. B. Walker, Martine went to Springfield, Mass., where they took up and followed the trail of Mr. Bryan through New England and stopped not until they received his assurance that he would come. It was an achievement that won for Martine the homage of Mr. Bryan's supporters throughout the State. Of course the anti-Bryan element take another view of the performance.

Mr. Martine's address in Krueger Auditorium, Newark, suggested to those who have heard him often that he realized that he was in the limelight as a possible gubernatorial nominee and was trying to act the part.

Most Democrats believe that Mr. Martine is certain of the nomination.

An effort to bring all the factions together will be made at the coming dinner in Elizabeth, and Mr. Martine has himself suggested that Bob Davis, of Hudson; former U. S. Senator Smith, of Essex, and the representatives of all the other conflicting elements in the party should be invited.

The County Committee will meet at Elizabeth tonight to hear the report of the Special Committee appointed to make arrangements for the gathering. The call for the meeting is an unusually long one, and every member has been strongly urged to be present "in order that every encouragement may be given to honor a man who has never failed the party in the county, State or nation." It is expected that the list of speakers to be invited will be made up at this meeting.

It has been said that the friends of Judge G. D. W. Vroom, of the Court of Errors and Appeals, will soon issue a statement defining the position of the judge in the situation. His friends say he is in the race for the Gubernatorial nomination, although he is said to have stated privately that he will not be a candidate. His friends resent the use of this statement. Frank S. Katzenbach is also a Mercer county possibility.

CEELBRATION FOR MRS. HOWE.

Family Gathering Planned for Her Eighty-eighth Birthday.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe will celebrate her eighty-eighth birthday on May 27 in her home in Beacon street, Boston. There will be a large family gathering in honor of the event. Her daughter, Mrs. Maude Howe Elliott, and the latter's husband, John Elliott, will not be present as they have been in Italy for some months, where Mr. Elliott is working on his mural painting for the Smithsonian Institution of Washington. Mrs. Florence Howe Hall and family, of this city, have planned to attend.

F. Marion Crawford, the novelist, who is a nephew of Mrs. Howe, arrived in New York from Italy several weeks ago. He will go to Boston to attend the anniversary celebration, and will also visit his son, Harold Marion Crawford, who is soon to take his final examinations for Harvard.

Wagon Damages Runabout.

Starting quickly, before its driver, Marcus Beekman, who had just jumped to the seat from the roadway, could get hold of the reins, a horse attached to a United States Express Company wagon swung the heavy vehicle against a runabout driven by James Carron, of the East End, on Park avenue, near Second street, Saturday afternoon. One of the rear wheels and the axle of the runabout were broken.

DEATH CALLS AGED ACTOR

Curtain Falls on Life of Edwin Phillips, Known to the Stage as Edwin Varrey.

ILLNESS WAS BRIEF

Professional People Regarded Him As One of the Most Finished Players of the Old School.

Edwin Phillips, who was known in the theatrical world as "Edwin Varrey," and considered one of the most finished actors of the old school, died Saturday afternoon at his home in Washington Valley, following an illness of two days. During the summer of 1905, just after his last engagement at the Lyric theatre, New York, with Ada Rehan and Otis Skinner, in a revival of Shakespearean plays, he was taken seriously ill and his life was despaired of for a long time. However, he partially recovered and was able to go about, enjoying fairly good health, until last Thursday, when he was suddenly taken ill. Death was due to Bright's disease, from which he suffered for years.

Mr. Phillips was born in New York city eighty-one years ago and was graduated from Columbia College in the Class of '42. Early in life he displayed exceptional talent in acting and after leaving college decided upon following a theatrical career. He was particularly bright as a student of the languages and stood high as a Greek, French and Italian scholar, and he maintained his interest in these studies until his demise.

One of his early appearances of note was with Laura Keene who played "The American Cousin," at the old Chatham theatre, New York. An incident in his life which he never forgot to mention to friends was when he appeared in this play at Ford's theatre, Washington, the night Lincoln was shot.

During his career of fifty-seven years on the stage he played all over this country and Europe, appearing with such well-known stars as Edwin Booth, Edwin Forest, Wilson Barrett and Lester Wallack, and in more recent years with Joseph Jefferson in "Rip VanWinkle," in which play he took the part of "Nicholas Vedder." He was with Jefferson in all just twenty-five years. His last public appearance with Ada Rehan at the Lyric theatre, New York, was notable for the great success in the revival of Shakespearean plays. The comments of the Metropolitan press at that time regarding Mr. Prillips were very flattering.

In 1895 he went to England with Ada Rehan and appeared with her in "As You Like It," in the Shakespearian theatre at Stratford-on-Avon. Following his last appearance on the stage he fully intended to return to it the next fall, having made arrangements to join E. H. Sothern's company in a leading part, but the death of his wife in April 1905, together with his illness, changed his plans. Later he received a flattering offer to join Mrs. Gilbert's company in "Granny," but this he had to decline also.

Mr. Phillips resided at the place where he died for forty-five years, and although he was away from home much of the time, he was always glad to spend his summers on his farm.

He is survived by four sons, Leo, Henry S., Hubert P. and Arthur R. Phillips, and five daughters, the Misses Mary S., Lucy, Celia, Bertha and Edna Phillips.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at St. Joseph's church in North Plainfield and interment will be in Calvary cemetery, L. I.

MISS KAHLE INTRODUCED.

Meets Plainfield Society at Delightful Tea Saturday Afternoon.

In honor of Miss Kahle, of Staten Island, the fiancee of Clarence Peck, formerly of the borough, but now of Washington, his mother, Mrs. James Clarence Peck, gave a delightful tea at her home on Myrtle avenue, Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, for the purpose of introducing Miss Kahle to Plainfield society. The home was simply, but effectively decorated for the occasion.

Mrs. Peck, Miss Kahle and the latter's mother, Mrs. Kahle, received, assisted by Mrs. George T. Rogers and Mrs. Robert W. McCutcheon. A large number of young society women of the city and borough assisted in the dining room. The tea was largely attended, including a number of out-of-town guests.

Stole Coal, Fined $5.

Mary Valoski, arrested for stealing coal from the railroad at Plainfield avenue and South Second street, was fined $5 by City Judge Runyon this morning. She shed tears as she passed a crumpled bill across the desk.

P. P. A. EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

CHANGE IN ORGANIZATION'S NANE SUGGESTED.

The executive committee of the Plainfield Protective Association held a meeting at the Casino Saturday night. Mayor Fisk was present.

Plans for the year were discussed. It was generally agreed that the association could rest so far as lighting contracts for the municipality were concerned, and trust to the Council for settlement of the matter. The lighting committee reported that, conference being over, there was nothing further to do.

It was suggested that the name of the organization be changed to the Plainfield Protective and Improvement Association. It is the idea to have the body suggest improvements in local conditions, general as well as specific, in addition to protecting the people from abuses.

The question of permanent pavement was briefly discussed. It was decided to leave that matter entirely with the Council, which was in a position to choose and work for the best solution of the problem.

A successor to J. Herbert Case, who finds it impossible to continue as treasurer, was discussed. It was decided to leave the choice to President Depew.

THE "UNWRITTEN LAW" SCORED BY LOCAL PASTOR

FLAYS SO-CALLED "HONOR CODE" IN SERMON AT ORANGE.

Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of All Soul's church, this city, preached yesterday morning on "The Unwritten Law" in the First Unitarian church, Orange, and also had something to say regarding the recent Thaw trial.

"We are living in a time," said Mr. Nickerson, "when individualism is running riot in the assertion that every man has a right which the individual is bound to respect. But, respect for the rights of others is the initial beginning of all society. The other way goes fast toward chaos and the dark. A man cannot take a partner in any business; a man cannot marry a wife, unless he is ready to consider the running mate, to abridge something of his own pretension in furtherence of mutual purpose or good will. The law of co-operation, of deference, of consultation would not exist if it were permissable for a man to think only of himself, to act unrestrainedly, to defy others.

"Many men feel called upon in our day to justify themselves, and so talk about the 'unwritten law.' There is no such thing! Law always takes to itself a body. Until it is outlined for the people's reading, no principle or sentiment has become a law. Our land more than any other owes its strife today to legal traitors, men who know the law, and defy it, with the weak excuse of 'the unwritten law.'

"What to them is 'the unwritten law?' Is it one which they hope to see later put on our statute books, like the proposed legislation in behalf of minors, of abused children, or sweatshop slaves, or sanitary regulations, or educational safeguards? If there were any unwritten law it would be something like this."

The minister also referred in his sermon to the arrest of many brigands who take the law into their own hands, and also denounced Thaw without citing him by name. The men who make an alleged "wounded personal honor" an excuse for murder were also denounced.

Continuing the crusade inaugurated two weeks ago, the police had a fine-meshed dragnet out for speeding automobilists yesterday. Nine arrests were made.

All but three of the latter were laid over by Mayor Fisk, who was called to the station house yesterday afternoon to enable the prisoners to give bail, to Wednesday morning, when Judge Runyon will hear them in the City Court.

Charles Beebe, chauffeur for Parkson Runyon, of Orange, arrested yesterday mroning on Park avenue by Policeman Kelly, was fined $10 by Judge Runyon shortly after his arrest. John F. Staiber, of New York, arrested at Fifth and Richmond streets, in the afternoon by Bicycle Policeman George Dobson, who estimated his speed at twenty miles an hour, was fined $10 by Mayor Fisk. Edward Slingland, of this city, a draughtsman, arrested yesterday afternoon for overspeeding, was fined $10 by City Judge Runyon this morning. John L. Prewitt, of Newark, one of the prisoners released until Wednesday, will face two charges. Dobson got him in the morning and Policeman F. S. McCarthy arrested him in the afternoon. The others who will face charges on Wednesday are Paul Weissmantel, arrested by Policeman Andrew Saffron on West Front street; James J. Andy, arrested by Policeman F. S. McCarthy at Park avenue and Front street; Wilbur D. Hopkins, arrested by McCarthy on West Front street, and Robert Rushmore, of this city, arrested by Policeman Andrew Saffron on West Front street. Chief Kiely will send a warrant after a chauffeur who went so fast it was all the policeman who saw him could do to get his number.

TRINITY'S FINANCES.

Annual Statement Shows Church to Be In Excellent Condition.

Robert M. Clark, Jr., as chairman of the finance committee of Trinity Reformed church, presented the annual statement of finances at the morning services, yesterday. It showed the church to be in excellent financial condition, which is very gratifying to all. The report is up to April 1, last, and the balance at that time was $144.30 with all bills paid.

The receipts for the year were $5,324.87 and the expenditures $5,180.57. The contributions for benevolent purposes amounted to $3[illegible].40.

A summary of the financial reports of all societies of the church shows that $1,092.73 was raised for denominational benevolences, $[illegible]37.15 for other benevolences and $[illegible]929.60 for congregational purposes. These figures include the contributions from Marconnier chapel.

The total amount raised for all purposes during 1907 was $8,659.48 and that raised for all purposes during 1906 was $7,870.23, an increase of $789.25.

Theatre Contract Awarded.

Manager W. J. Counihan, of the New Plainfield theatre, on Saturday awarded the contract for the erection of his new playhouse at Perth Amboy to the Knauer Company, of Atlantic City. The plans were prepared by the Fuller-Claflin Company and call for a theatre that will be modern in every detail. USED AXE ON HIMSELF

DISCOVERED BY FAMILY

Hurried to Muhlenberg Hospital as Soon as Found, But His Recovery Is Doubted.

While suffering from a violent attack of dementia, caused, it is believed, by the loss of a large amount of money, Joseph Wiedoson, a farmer residing on the John L. Darby farm, Alton, made a desperate attempt yesterday afternoon to kill himself. He used an axe and had succeeded in fracturing his skull, before members of the family discovered him almost dead in the woodshed, a short distance from the house. Mrs. Wiedoson summoned Leslie Lambert, who lives across the road from the Darby farm and when he arrived it was believed that the man would die before medical assistance could be secured.

Lambert ran to the home of Theodore Glazer and called Dr. F. W. Westcott. When the latter arrived, Wiedoson was still alive and it was thought best to remove the man to Muhlenberg hospital. This was done, and although he was still alive this afternoon little hope for recovery is entertained.

Wiedoson, his wife, two sons and a daughter came from England to this country about three months ago, and through an advertisement the husband was induced to purchase the Darby farm, considered one of the most valuable in that section of the State. It is said that he paid $15,000 for the land and buildings, but that neither he nor his wife were satisfied with the purchase. Wiedoson did not work the farm, and the neighbors frequently noticed that he acted queerly.

Two weeks ago Wiedoson sold his farm to S. A. Sabbacher, who also owns the Henry Clay Randolph farm, and it is said that the price was about one-half of what he paid for it. This fact, it is said, preyed on his mind to such an extent that he grew morose and refused to talk to anyone.

Shortly after dinner yesterday he disappeared from the house and nothing was seen of him for nearly an hour when his wife found him in the woodshed. He was lying prostrate and beside him was a large axe covered with blood. The man's head and face were hacked and gashed in a terrible manner. Wiedoson is large and of powerful build. When Dr. Westcott first examined the man he was under the impression that some one had attacked him, and was about to make an investigation, when an abundance of facts proved to him that the man's wounds were self-inflicted.

RUTGERS PRESIDENT PREACHES

Occupied Pulpit at Trinity at Both Services Yesterday.

Rev. Dr. W. H. S. Demarest, president of Rutgers College, delivered two impressive scholarly sermons at Trinity Reformed church, yesterday, before large congregations. In the morning his discourse was based on the text, "I Came Not to Destroy but to Fulfill," and the subject of the evening sermon was "And the Pearl of Great Price Was Hid." He referred to the costliness of the pearl, comparing it to Salvation, and although the pearl was hidden it could be found. He dwelt upon the fact that this "pearl of great price" was something to be desired and that every effort should be made to obtain it.

The sermons were based entirely on the Scriptures and contained much food for earnest consideration. Dr. Demarest is an entertaining speaker and he held the closest attention of his hearers throughout.

PREVENTS MISCEGENATION

Policeman Blocks Colored Gallant's Plan to Marry White Woman.

TALE OF INTIMIDATION

Woman Tells It, But Police and City Judge Receive It With Skepticism—Would-be Bridegroom Sent to Jail.

Willard Gibson, colored, and Ida Ottenberg, white, 33 years old, both employed as servants by Allan Cole, of Linden, came to this city late Saturday night to get married. They were arrested instead, and this morning the prospective bridegroom went to the county jail under sentence of sixty days and a fine of $100. When the pair were arrested it was thought the negro had been guilty of a heinous crime, but investigation did not bear out the charges madg by the woman.

Patrolman Cornelius McCarthy saw the couple leave a main line car at Plainfield avenue and Front street, with a white man closely following. The policeman's suspicions were aroused and he stopped the negro and his companion. Gibson said the woman was his wife and when the officer turned to question her he tried to prompt her in answering. McCarthy ordered him to keep still, and the woman said they were not married. Frank D. Palmer, the white man who followed the pair from the car, told the officer that the woman had made charges against the negro to him, and McCarthy placed Gibson and his companion under arrest. He found a huge revolver, unloaded, in Gibson's pocket.

At the station house the woman made a statement in which she accused Gibson of having assaulted her five months ago at the point of the revolver found on him, and that he had continued to force his attentions on her. Still using the revolver, she alleged, he compelled her to come to this city Saturday night to be married by Rev. Griffen W. Bailey, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, colored, who lives at Plainfield avenue and Fourth street.

She repeated the story to City Judge Runyon in court this morning. Palmer said he was riding on the trolley car as the pair boarded at Rahway Junction, and his attention was attracted to the apparent unwillingness of the woman to go along. He had intended to get off at Westfield, but he thought it might be worth his while to keep an eye on the pair. When he left the car with them Gibson asked him where Rev. Mr. Bailey lived, and Palmer seized the chance to question the negro. Gibson said the woman was his wife. Palmer turned to her and asked her if she was married.

"Will I tell him the truth?" she asked Gibson.

"You tell me the truth, and never mind him," said Palmer sharply.

Then the woman told her story of enforced intimacy. Palmer was preparing to hold the negro when McCarthy came up.

Gibson acknowledged the truth of Palmer's statement, and admitted that he brought the Ottenburg woman here to marry her, but denied her story of intimidation from first to last. She was pointed out to him as a woman of bad character, he said, and she has offered no objections to his advances. It was at her own suggestion that he brought her here to be married, he said, and asked the court to telephone a young man who lived near the Cole home who knew he and the woman were to be married Saturday, and who had wished him luck, as he started on the way. He said the fact that they went together was known all about their neighborhood in Linden. The woman had frequently stayed at his home over night. The revolver, he said, he carried in Linden because he frequently travelled a lonely way home after dark.

By her own confession the woman had made all charges against the negro in Linden, and acknowledged that she was the mother of an illegitimate child born in Europe. Judge Runyon decided that she was not an outraged innocent, but he scored Gibson as a type of colored man that must be held in check.

Sentence was passed on the negro under a charge of disorderly conduct and carrying concealed weapons. The woman was remanded until this afternoon. The Organized Aid Association has taken up her case.

The threatened strike of employes at Seeley's mill will not occur, the firm having agreed to allow a half holiday Saturdays during May to October. The new arrangement went into effect Saturday. Two weeks ago the men asked for Saturday half holiday during the summer months with the same pay. The firm promised to take the matter under consideration. Early Saturday morning the notice was posted that during the five months named the mill would close at 12 o'clock; wages to remain the same.

Divorced and Wed Same Day.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 6.—Rody P. Marshall, who inherited more than a million dollars from his father, Thomas M. Marshall, leader of the Allegheny county bar in years gone by, Friday was divorced and remarried. Rody has a large legal practice and is estimated as worth $3,000,000. The divorce proceedings have been kept quiet and would probably not have come to light had it not been necessary in view of Marshall's immense real estate holdings that it became a matter of public record to protect possible purchasers. Mrs. Anna M. Marshall, the first wife, filed the application for divorce. As soon as the court granted the decree, which could not, under the law of this State in view of what followed, reflect on the bride to be, Mr. Marshall took out a license to marry Miss Margaret Goodwin, a beautiful and well connected girl of twenty-two years. The marriage followed immediately after.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"Sis Hopkins," that charming rural comedy drama depicting the life of the simple people of Posey County in the Hoosier State, has been booked for an engagement at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night. This is the eighth season theatregoers have seen "Sis Hopkins" and there is no cessation of the interest shown in the stage story of the fortunes of the quaint country girl who dresses in gingham pinafore, panella gaiters, striped stockings which look like barber poles, and who wears her hair done up in tight little pig-tails kept in place by a couple of little pink celluloid side combs of the kind that were worn 15 or 20 years ago. Miss Rose Melville, who originated the character nearly a decade ago, is playing the title role again this season and her consummate art as an actress and her personal charms and grace in the delineation of the quaint character of the philosophic country girl who, wit is spontaneous and gentle, have made "Sis" a classic figure on the American stage. The play is one of the few really clean and wholesome dramas of recent years, its simplicity and sweetness and its freedom from artificial masking it one of which theatregoers never seem to tire. There is none of the complicated entanglements of the modern dramatic production but many of the riff-raff of hodge-podge which has marked much of the dazzled and tawdry presentation which knock-about comedy is forced to take the place of literary merit and clean sentiment. "Sis Hopkins" is a play with a story of rare merit and deepest heart interest, and is told in simple language with all the atmosphere necessary to the reproduction of pleasant pictures of rural life, home, "Hopes" and gentle.

McIntyre and Heath will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night, in Klaw & Erlanger's production of the musical farce, "The Ham Tree," which has proved one of the greatest laughing successes the American stage has ever known. These comedians have no equals in the delineation of negro characters and they are funnier than ever in their career in "The Ham Tree." The book is by George M. Hobart, the lyrics by William Jerome and the catchy music by Jean Schwartz. Klaw & Erlanger have been most lavish in the brilliant and gorgeous production, and have surrounded their new stars with a company of real excellence. Prominent in their support are W. C. Fields, the comic juggler; the statuesque Jeannie Dowlet, Carolyn Gordon, long a favorite with the Daly musical productions; Frederick V. Bowers, the famous tenor, and Belle Gold. A special feature is the chorus of fascinatingly pretty girls who do some wonderfully attractive singing and dancing specialties.

Artificial Copper.

Baltimore, Md., May 6. Dr. Ira Remsen, president of Johns Hopkins University, is authority for the statement that Sir William Ramsey, a famous chemist of Cambridge University, has discovered the method of making artificial copper, and that the great discovery will be made known to science when Sir William will read a paper on the subject before the Royal Chemical Society of Great Britain. Professor Remsen, who is prominent as a chemist, has a private letter from the famous Englishman, stating that Sir William has succeeded in accomplishing what no other chemist has ever been able to do—the segregation of one element from another and the production of copper by the synthetic or combining process from the elements sodium, lithium and potassium. A combination of these elements when treated with radium vapor gives us a product copper sulphate, which is readily "broken down" into copper. Such is the substance of his experiments. Such a discovery would not only be of great value as a purely scientific investigation, but would be of equal value in its application to commerce and the arts. If copper can be made synthetically by such a process as the English scientist will attempt to demonstrate, its influence upon the copper mines of the world will be untold.

Cooke Elopement Mystery.

Hempstead, L. I., May 6. Taking issue with persons who declare an unsound mind was responsible for the elopement of Jere C. Cooke with his seventeen-year-old ward, Floretta Whaley, Bishop Burgess last night asserted that the deposed rector's act was the result of long deliberation and that he was by no means insane. By steadfastly refusing to divulge certain details of the letter written to him by the unfrocked clergyman of St. George's church Bishop Burgess injected into the amazing case an element of mystery which is causing much speculation among the aristocratic members of the congregation. That this letter contained the names of several persons and that criminal allegations were made is the report which is generally believed in Hempstead. Bishop Burgess admitted names were mentioned. He would not state whether charges were made against anyone.

—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders will hold its final meeting for the fiscal year at Somerville, tomorrow, and on Wednesday the new board will organize for the coming year.

Miss May Cook, of this city, has returned from a visit with Miss Nellie Hehne, of Somerville.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

What threatened to be a disagreeable day for the opening of the active season at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday, proved happily otherwise and the afternoon was ideal for the game.

Not in several years has the golf season openings occurred so late in Plainfield, which is due to the backward spring and summer weather. It has also interfered with the work of putting the courses in shape for play.

The new arrangements at the Plainfield Country Clubhouse for the serving of lunches and meals is very popular.

Charles A. Reed promises to be an important factor in the game at the Park Golf Club this season. Last year he was successful in winning many honors.

The scheme of contesting for monthly cups is sure to prove popular at the Park Golf Club. Some of the cups will be offered by individuals and others by the club.

When the members visited the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday they saw the fruits of the hard work of the greens committee, of which Leighton Calkins is the chairman. The improvements are appreciated and will aid in making the course more popular than ever.

Charles Kirchener, of this city, who is one of the officials of the Professional Golfers' Association, has returned from an extended tour through the west in the interest of golf and cricket.

A force of men has been employed at the Middlebrook Country Club putting the course in shape for play. The active season will start this month and an attractive schedule of events is planned, including team matches.

Robert Abbott, of Yale, who is a member of the Plainfield Country Club, will play against his club-mates in the team match between Yale and the local team.

Morris Academy, 6; Plainfield, 1.

Morris Academy defeated the Plainfield High School nine Saturday afternoon on the Morristown Field Club diamond by a score of 7 to 1. Whitmore was in the box for the Academy until the sixth inning, when he hit men and issued a pass, filling the bases. Clark was put in and pulled the team out of the hole only one run to the bad. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
M. A.	4 0 0 0 1 2 0 0 0—7	6	2
P. H. S.	0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—1	1	4

When their backs are turned George Davis and Ginger Beaumont are living images of each other at the bat. The only way you could tell them apart would be to ask their names.

Stafford, the new American League umpire, has a silver voice, so that when he pairs with Jack Sheridan matters strike a balance vocally. Joe Cantillon ought to get Jean De Reszke to help him coach.

Without any desire to recall unpleasant exepriences of the past, it may be noted that Westfield will have a team in the Lackawanna League, and at the end of the season the chances are there will be no deficit. You could put about four Westfields in Plainfield, to say nothing of the difference in the aggregate wealth of the two places.

There is every reason to believe that the amateur league in Plainfield will be a success this season. The players will receive no compensation, the expenses, including guarantees will be nominal. If it could be arranged to admit the fans to the games free, there is no doubt but that the attendance would be large.

"Jimmie" Montross pitched for the Monarchs, of Newark, at the latter place on Saturday. It is not likely that he will join the Atlantic League, as reported.

The handwriting of former Manager Charles Denman, of Westfield, is a familiar sight at present in this city. In the office of the Hotel Kensington a piece of his handiwork is to be seen on the wall, which concludes with "We're back at the old job—sport for sport's sake."

Westfield will open the Lackawanna League season at home on Saturday, with Irvington. Everything looks bright for a prosperous season.

It is to be sincerely hoped that Saturday, May 18, will be favorable for an auspicious opening of the Inter-City Amateur League. It will be the first game for local fans when the Y. M. C. A. and Bound Brook meet at Crescent Oval.

QUICK JUSTICE FOR NEGRO.

Arrested Wednesday; Practical Life Sentence Friday.

Judge Starr, at Woodbury, Friday morning, following a trial which lasted but seventeen minutes—from 9:55 until 10:12—sentenced Edward Gibson, the vicious negro who, on Wednesday, attacked Dorothy Paris, of this place, a pupil of the Friends Select School, of Wenonah, to twelve years in state prison, and added a fine of $3,000, until which it is paid the negro cannot be released.

The judge's sentence amounts to imprisonment for life, as it is altogether improbable that the negro will ever be able to raise any such sum.

Under Advisement.

A newly elected squire in Wisconsin was much elated by his honors, but was not sure that he could carry them gracefully, says a writer in the New York Sun. So he haunted the court-house to gather stray crumbs of wisdom from higher courts which set there.

One day he sat in judgment on his first case, and when the testimony was all in and the arguments made he said:

"The court takes this case under advisement until nevt Wednesday, when it will render a verdict in favor of the defendant."—Youth's Companion.

The Conundrum Crank.

"Why is Legs, the sprinter, like a graphophone?"

"Because he runs mechanically?"

"No."

"Because he takes on airs?"

"Wrong again."

"Why, then?"

"Because he holds so many records."—Kansas City Times.

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

HOTEL THIEF TAKES SWEENEY'S BEST CLOTHES.

Former Plainfielder Loses His London Made Outfit at Trenton.

William Rallston Swenney, a former well known resident of this city, at present one of the members of the Trenton Abattoir company, was the victim of a hotel thief a few days ago when one of those individuals secured a room next Mr. Sweeney in the Trenton House at Trenton and took advantage of Sweeney's absence and helped himself to the best suit of clothing in Sweeney's wardrobe, afterward departed without paying his hotel bill.

He registered at the Trenton House as Jules Rosenkranz and was given a room on the second floor. There was a communicating door to Sweeney's room and the fellow climbed out the window and into Sweeney's room, and when he had selected the desired suit, which was made in London, he went back through the communicating door and fastened it on his own side and departed.

The man was evidently of Sweeney's build, for he left a suit of well worn clothing behind in place of the one selected. He also selected another coat and vest of London made clothing belonging to his neighbor, but he left no clothing in place of these. There were several other suits and clothing of all description in the room, but the fellow seemed to have a special attraction for London made clothing, for this is all that he took and left a cheap bowery New York suit in their stead.

Sweeney reported the loss Saturday when he returned from New York, where he had been for a few days. This was the first that the hotel employes had missed the man, and when the detectives were called in they discovered how easy it would be for a man to rob Sweeney's room in the manner in which it was done. The fellow was evidently a professional crook and was well on his way when the theft was discovered.

Washburns' Animal Show Tomorrow.

The ponies, handsome little animals they are, too, and smart, are a feature of the Washburn Famous Trained Animal Shows, which will visit this city and present its remarkable performances, tomorrow afternoon and evening. There are fifty-eight ponies of all sizes with this show, including "Prince," positively the smallest pony ever known. This cute little equine is three years old, is 14 inches high, and weighs just 37 pounds. Just imagine such a wee bit of a horse, if you possibly can. And then there are talking ponies, musical ponies, dancing ponies, military ponies, and ponies who have been taught to accomplish tricks hitherto thought impossible by animal trainers. Every boy and girl will be interested in this happy family of miniature horse-flesh, and that the children may have an opportunity to pet and fondle the cunning creatures, immediately after each afternoon performance the little folks are allowed the privilege of riding them, all of which are perfectly gentle, and are chaperoned by careful attendants. No other animal show in existence allows such a privilege to its juvenile patrons, and it is no wonder that the advent of the Washburn shows is so eagerly awaited by thousands of the boys and girls.

C. E.'S SUMMER SCHOOL

ASBURY PARK, AUG. 5-10

Splendid Programme Prepared by Mrs. L. Ida Dukes, of Camden—Her Corps of Assistants.

Junior and Intermediate Christian Endeavor work in New Jersey will receive much impetus through the Summer School of Methods for Junior and Intermediate Workers to be held at Asbury Park August 5-10 inclusive. The State superintendent of Junior work in the New Jersey C. E. Union, Mrs. L. Ida Dukes, of Camden, has arranged a programme the mere reading of which will arouse in workers for children's religious culture a desire to attend. Mrs. Dukes is a woman of rare ability in this field to which she devotes so much of her time. Not only has she that executive ability which makes a good leader, but she is a close student of the child. Giving much attention to phychology and environment, she at the same time keeps always to the fore the spiritual development of the boy and girl. She believes most heartily in the Christian Endeavor society as an adequate training school for those who are later to become the workers and leaders in the churches.

In her labors as State superintendent, Mrs. Duke has already done much to arouse enthusiasm for the Junior and intermediate work. The department has grown so rapidly under her direction that recently the executive committee of the State C. E. Union provided her with four associate workers. These, also, are women who have had experience in endeavor for the children, and Mrs. Dukes finds them able assistants. They are Mrs. A. R. Baxter, Trenton; Mrs. F. W. Miller, Newton; Miss Mae Hice, Fleminton; Mrs. G. D. Baker, Jersey City. The first three work particularly in the Junior field, while Mrs. Baker has charge of the Intermediate work.

Mrs. M. G. Kennedy, of Philadelphia, known all over the United States as a leader in Sunday-school work, will be the principal speaker at the summer school. Though she has passed "the three score years and ten," Mrs. Kennedy is no less helpful and inspiriting than in her younger days. She is a personal friend of Mrs. Dukes, and it is felt that her coming to New Jersey will be of practical value to the New Jersey Christian Endeavor workers. She will conduct a superintendents' training course, giving two lectures each day on "Fitting the Bible to the Child." Another important speaker will be Miss Katherine R. Crowell, the author of the mission studies used in many Junior societies.

The tuition fee for the school of methods will be $2, and special rates will be obtained for board. It is hoped that every church in which there is a Junior society will send its Junior superintendent to this important gathering.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR.

A woman calls it news if she tells it and scandal if anybody else does.

The best way to get excused for not being able to earn your living is to be a poet.

A nice thing about sending telegrams is you can shift the blame for the bad spelling.

If a woman could talk in three languages she would have to be able to do it all the same time to believe that she was having a good time.

When a man sneaks away from his office to go to the races he pretends he doesn't know what horse won so his family will think he went to the funeral of a relative.

JAPANESE JOTTINGS.

Japan's six sardine factories are to be increased to thirty during 1907.

Japan's exports of porcelain ware to the United States are increasing rapidly. They were about $2,800,000 worth in 1906 against $1,900,000 worth in 1905 and three and one-half times as much as in 1902.

The Kawasaki Dockyard company of Japan has increased its capital from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 to engage also in the construction of locomotives, railway carriages, cast steel work, firearms, steel and dynamos. The capital is to be further increased to $10,000,000.

Home Folks.

A Virginia negro in Boston passed wearily from one house to another asking unsuccessfully for bread or work. At one door finally a man looked down upon him sourly and broke out:

"What do you mean, you blankety blank nigger, comin' to my front doah as if you were white? Get around to the kitchen if you want somethin' to eat, and if you ever come to my front doah again, I'll break every bone in your body, you black rascal!"

"Bress God, bress God!" said the black. "Dat sounds like old Virginny; dese are my own home folks, sure enough!"

AWNINGS AND WINDOW SHADES made to order by expert workmen. Let us give you an estimate. We'll do you a good job.

A WIFE'S QUALITIES.

The average young wife must be content with a small beginning.

She must learn that married life is not all romance; that there is a practical side to be faced, and unless she faces it with cheerful willingness there will be little happiness for either herself or her husband.

She has entered into a partnership, and she must "play fair."

She must not squander the money that he labors so hard to earn.

She must hold the name he has given her in the highest honor and respect and never disgrace it by any act on her part.

Supposing her neighbor does dress a little bit more smartly than she, it gives her no excuse for running into debt.

These are a few of the simplest requisites necessary to the making of a good wife.

If a young woman cannot live up to them she had much better remain unmarried, says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

Every man demands some certain quality in a wife, but all men have a right to demand the qualities enumerated.

The man who marries and does not find them is fully justified in adopting the views held by so many bachelors averse to matrimony.

NURSERY NOTES.

Sometimes offering a reward will break up the habit of nail biting, such as promising to give the child a long coveted top or pleasure if he will stop biting the nails for one or two months.

Keep a sharp watch on the children's spinal column and shoulders. When there is any inclination to stooping shoulder, look into the matter at once to find the cause. It is usually the clothing in some way.

From whatever source bleeding arises prompt remedial measures are imperative. If from an artery or from a vein the best method is to put pressure on each side of the wound that nearest the heart and that most remote from it, so as to prevent further access of blood to the part. Ordinary bleeding from a cut or bruise may be arrested by the application of cold water.

SOME NEW YORK FIRSTS.

The first Governor was Peter Minuit. He was appointed in 1626.

The first male child born of European parents was Jean Vigue (1614).

The first female child born of European parents was Sarah Rapalja (1615).

The first physician was Dr. Johannes La Montague, who began practicing in 1636 and who for many years was the only doctor.

The first engineer was Kryn Frederick, who was authorized by the Governor in 1626 to superintend the construction of a permanent fort on Manhattan Island.

The first warehouse was erected in 1626. It was a rude, inartistic structure, one corner of which was set apart as a village store. Here the Indians came for a drink of the white man's "fire water."

GERMAN GLEANINGS.

Germany during its entire history never before had such a prosperous year as that of 1906.

Partly because of the high price of meat the German fish catch has nearly trebled in amount and value within the last five years.

Since the foundation of the German empire its population has increased in 20,100,000. The birth rate is at present six per thousand higher in Germany than in England.

The German statistical bureau has issued a summary of the average prices of food products in the empire during the past year, which shows clearly that the general increase of cost in the United States for the necessities of life is simply part of a world-wide movement.

So She Had Heard.

In an Episcopal church in Peoria it is an Easter morning custom for the ushers to greet incoming members of the congregation with, "The Lord is risen." An old lady who was deaf and who had but recently united with the church was met by Dr. Tying with the salutation.

"What is it?" she asked, pausing and placing her hand to her ear.

"The Lord is risen," repeated the doctor.

"Oh, yes," said the lady absently as she moved on down the aisle. She was met by another usher, who gave her the same greeting.

"What did you say?" she demanded.

"The Lord is risen," returned the usher.

"Oh, yes, so Dr. Tyng tells me," she remarked complacently as she entered a pew.—Everybody's.

AUTOMOBILE HITS AND WRECKS BUTCHER WAGON.

Boy Driver Left in State of Nervous Collapse by the Accident.

A delivery wagon owned by Herman Theis, a butcher, of Muhlenberg place, was struck and badly damaged by an automobile on West Fourth street, near Grant avenue, Saturday morning. Mr. Theis' son, Herman, who drove the wagon, was too excited to get the name of the auto driver, but the police say the car is owned by Edward M. VanBuren, Central avenue.

The chauffeur drove the car against the rear wheel of the wagon, in turning from the tracks to avoid a trolley car. The wagon was turned over on its side, and young Theis was pitched out. He was not hurt beyond shock, but the accident has left him in a nervous state that may develop into serious illness.

The wagon was badly damaged. The horse was held by the wreck and could not run away. Mr. Theis telephoned an account of the accident to the police.

Digs Grave and Kills Herself.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 6.—Brooding over a disappointment in her love affairs Elva A. Ellison, a servant in the employ of Stirling Johnson, of No. 501 Allen lane, Chestnut Hill, committed suiicideby shooting herself early yesterday morning after having first dug a grave in the cellar of the house. Miss Ellison was twenty-five years old. She was brought from New York by Mr. Johnson about four months ago. Her sweetheart ceased paying her attentions several weeks ago and the young woman became melancholy. Mrs. Mary Snell, the housekeeper, found the young woman in the cellar yesterday digging a long, deep hole in the earth floor. "What in the world are you doing?" asked the astonished woman. "Making a place to die in," replied the servant." "Well, you get up stairs and forget this nonsense," said the housekeeper, and for the time the matter was forgotten.

Funeral of Mrs. Mary A. Ayers.

The funeral services and interment of Mrs. Mary A. Ayers, a former well-known resident of this city, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Marshall France, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Saturday morning, took place this morning at the North Plainfield cemetery. Rev. Perry Bascom, pastor of the M. E. church, Bound Brook, officiated. The pallbearers were Charles Thurston and Edward Cooper, of Somerville; Albert Conyne and William Hanna, of Raritan, and Frank Applegate and Asa Applegate, of Bound Brook. All but Asa Applegate were grandsons of Mrs. Ayres and he was a son-in-law.

PARK CLUB COTILLION ENJOYED BY MANY GUESTS.

Saturday Night's Affair Proved to Be One of the Most Delightful of the Season.

More than one hundred guests attended the cotillion given at the Park Club, Saturday night, and it proved to be one of the most delightful social functions of the season. The decorations were perhaps the most elaborate yet seen at the club. The entire stage was banked with flowers, an effective arrangement being the use of a cherry tree loaded with blossoms, placed in the centre of the stage, behind which numberless incandescent lights were to be seen.

Harry L. McGee led the cotillion alone. There were three favor figures, each one being original. Dancing was enjoyed from 8:30 until 12, with an intermission during which refreshments were served. The affair was under the direction of the entertainment committee of the club, of which Mrs. Charles A. Reed is the chairman.

Roosevelt to C. F. U.

New York, May 6.—President Roosevelt yesterday convinced the Central Federation Union that his attitude toward Haywood, Moyer and Petibone, men whom he characterized as "undesirable citizens," is fair, square and manly. A committee which visited him in Washington on Thursday reported an interview which it had with him and presented a leter which he wrote that afternoon to John S. Henry, a member of the committee. After this report was made and the letter was read delegates who declared themselves political opponents of the President praised him without stint, and when certain socialist members of the union attacked him they turned on these critics and shut them up peremptorily.

Demented, Wandered 23 Miles.

Harry Fritz, 19 years old, who gave his address as 347 Ninth street, Jersey City, was found sleeping on the sidewalk on South avenue late last night by Patrolman Tobias Nolan. He seemed demented, and the officer took him to the station house. He told Judge Runyon, this morning, in the City Court that he lost his way when his mother sent him to the store yesterday morning and wandered here afoot. He was released and Chief Kiely gave him a quarter for trolley fares homes.

Big Demand for Seats.

When the box office opened at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday morning at 9 o'clock for the sale of seats for "The Peasant Prince," there were more than one hundred people in the line. One person purchased thirty tickets. The performance will be given Thursday night, May 16. Three rehearsals of the opera will be held this week, tonight, Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Editorial Association Convention.

The members of the New Jersey Editorial Association and their friends will hold their firsty-first annual meeting June 13-17 at the Hotel Pannaci, Long Branch, which will be by special invitation of the Board of Trade of that city. Baptist Anniversaries.

The Baptist Anniversaries, or as they are better known, the "May Meetings," are to be held this year at Washington, May 15-22. They will be of unusual interest. Following them will be the great gathering on May 22 and 23 of the Baptists of the North and South in Exposition Hall, Jamestown.

Fire at Mrs. Benford's.

A still alarm called the fire department to the home of Mrs. Margaret Benford on Cottage place at 7:30 yesterday morning where a bundle of bedding had ignited from a stove pipe. The blaze was extinguished before any great damage had resulted.

Reception to Mr. and Mrs. Warner.

The members of the Church of the Holy Cross will tender a reception to Rector and Mrs. George A. Warner in the parish house this evening. It will be an informal affair but promises to be largely attended.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Buckles are worn both at the back and front of the belt.

There is a slight leaning toward larger hats, and it is more than likely that the tendency will increase as the season advances.

Pongee cloaks will be worn a great deal over thin frocks this summer. Both in traveling or dust cloaks and in dressier designs there are many good models.

Drab crape, a slightly transparent cloth, with granite like surface and rather a loose weave, is employed equally for dressy house wear and for simple street toilets, depending on its mode of trimming to determine its use.

The new three piece suit models are not by any means confined to the Eton coat, shirt waist and skirt combination of past seasons. The latest effects show the cutaway and blazer coats, the jumper waist made as elaborately or as simply as may be desired.—New York Post.

Polka dots, checks and stripes are the leading motifs in silks.

Metallic effects are seen in the new millinery, but less of them. Gold lace over black tulle and also over white is effective.

In spite of the general sentiment toward fancy materials, the tendency toward elaborate trimming increases and this applies to skirts as well as coats and waists.

Fourards, when used are of the bordered variety, the most popular of these showing a wide satin band or a narrower band headed by several still narrower ones.

Taffet, either plain or fancy, has a place among the trimmings rather than as a dress fabric, as the tendency turns toward satin and the more glossy weaves, even for separate coats, for which there is an unprecedented demand.—New York Post.

Chiffons are still trimmed with folds of satin or velvet.

Dyed laces of a coarse mesh will be worn on tailored linens.

The sleeve in one piece with the corsage is gaining considerable prestige. It rivals the Rimona sleeve at present.

Some of the braid trimmed waists are wonderfully fetching and give ample scope for extravagant elaboration with simple lines.

While the entire costume is now considered more dressy, the spring showing of separate blouses os undeniably larger and more varied than for several seasons.

Tiny pockets in all manner of odd designs are very much in evidence, although they are in realty but a travesty on the name, never by any chance being other than mere patches and therefore entirely ornamental.—New York Post.

FACTS FROM FRANCE.

The Grand Opera House of Paris has a regular orchestra of 170 performers. This is the largest orchestra belonging to any theatre.

There are very few millionaires in France. Outside of Paris no one has died worth as much as £2,000,000 during the past two years.

There is now pending in the French chamber of deputies a bill abolishing courts martial in time of peace and providing that French soldiers and sailors accused of offenses shall be tried by civil tribunals like other citizens.

Often in France a manservant is employed to do housework which in America generally is regarded as woman's work. He makes the beds, sweeps and cleans the rooms, goes to market, cooks and sometimes even does the washing.

France's importations of coal for 1906 exceeded those for 1905 by $16,000,000.

A French professor is the owner of a collection of 920 human heads, representing every known race of people on the globe.

A Parisian newspaper usually has a director as well as an editor. The director lays down the political line which the organ is to follow.

In France the servant question has reached a very acute stage. In ten years the supply of women domestic servants has decreased by some 200,000 individuals. "But," says a Frenchman, "though now fewer in numbers than formerly, those that remain to us are certainly greater in efficiency."

A SEARCHLIGHT.

Some Questions for Women to Ask Themselves.

Ask yourself these:

Am I too negative, too compliant? Do I not need to cultivate positiveness in my character?

Do I confuse foolish sentimentality with a strong, self respecting, ennobling affection?

Are my ideals so impracticable that they never enter into my actual life and beautify the real things around me?

Do I belittle myself with the petty idea that housework is degrading? Am I so blind that I cannot see that it is the character an idiot the scrubbing brush that sets the standard?

Have I tried to make my voice as musical as possible, and is my desire to look well a sincere wish to give pleasure to others?

Am I strong and courageous enough to remain single, rather than compromise in marriage by giving my trust to a man I cannot honestly admire and respect?

Do I try to keep myself alert and interesting by keeping in touch with the movements of the day and understanding civic and governmental affairs? Or do I confine myself wholly to the reading of the bargains and murder trials?

Am I content to stand exactly where I stood a year ago? Or is it my ideal in life to work onward toward a more patient wisdom and a wider life every day?

NURSERY NOTES.

The firstborn is fortunately born if his young mother has wisely resolved to go slowly with the infant theories and feel her way carefully and never go to extremes.

For the first week or two the child requires but slight attention. He must be bathed, dressed, fed and kept warm. Otherwise, for the most part, he is best when left alone, gradually to learn that he is alive and make use of his organs and senses.

He requires no handling save that which is necessary during the process of bathing and dressing, with an occasional turning from side to side. More than this is not good for him.

Then he must be kept warm. To do this it is not necessary to overburden him with wraps or keep the room at a hothouse temperature. If you do, you will have a baby as tender as a forced plant.

Select the clothing with a view to combine lightness and warmth. If the weather is at all cool be certain that each little garment is warm before putting it on the body. Do not put the socks on while the feet are cool. First warm the little members with your own warm hands or by an open fire. Warm the hands in the same way and, if necessary, draw over them a pair of worsted mittens and let them remain for a while until entirely warm.

A RHETORICAL TRIUMPH.

Sheridan's Speech In Connection With the Hastings Trial.

Answering a correspondent who asked about the speech of Sheridan in connection with the Warren Hastings trial, the London News says:

"That immense oratorical triumph was certainly not reported in the notes in question, for the Onde speech was not delivered during the trial. Sheridan pronounced it in the house of commons in the year before the trial in moving that the Oude charge should be one of the articles of the impeachment.

"No speech recorded in our history ever had such a reception. The entire house and all in the galleries violated the traditions of parliament and set a precedent that remains unfollowed by clapping furiously and continuously. Pitt, fully conscious of the extraordinary state of excitement disclosed by this breach of decorum, moved the adjournment on the unparalleled ground that 'the minds of members were too agitated to discuss the question with coolness and impartiality.' Sheridan had spoken for five hours and forty minutes. No full report of the speech exists. The best appeared in the London Chronicle for February 8, 1788.

"The fame of the speech was such that when the trial came on £50 was gladly paid for a seat in the hall on the day of Sheridan's speech as a manager of the impeachment. Macaulay's account of that speech, which is both misleading and inaccurate, in several respects, at least permits us to know the fact that the speaker was publicly embraced by Burke on resuming his seat. At a later stage in the trial—six years later, in fact—Sheridan delivered another speech which was described by one of the auditors as an extraordinary rhetorical triumph."

Not Too Long.

The chapel of a fishing village in Newfoundland used to depend for its services on the occasional help of the clergy of the nearest town. One wet Sunday the clergyman there volunteered to do the duty drove over in a hack.

Tolling the chapel bell himself, he announced his arrival to the natives, but for a long time no one appeared.

At last one solitary person came in and took a seat at the very back of the chapel. The clergyman then found his surplice and commenced the service. That ended, he remarked to his audience of one that perhaps a sermon was superfluous.

"Oh, please go on sir," was the flattering reply, and the clergyman mounted the pulpit.

In the course of his address he expressed the fear that he was wearying his hearer and was gratified to be told that he could not be too long. The sermon, consequently, was lengthened out to some forty minutes.

When it was ended the preacher expressed a desire to shake hands with a man who had listened to him with such evident appreciation. On a nearer view (for he was somewhat short sighted) he discovered that he had been preaching to the driver of his hack, who was all the while charging overtime!

Farragut's Way.

Stanch old Admiral Farragut—he of the true heart and the iron will—said to another officer of the navy:

"Dupont, do you know why you didn't get into Charleston with your ironclads?"

"Oh, it was because the channel was so crooked."

"No, Dupont, it was not that."

"Well, the rebel fire was perfectly horrible."

"Yes, but it wasn't that."

"What was it, then?"

"It was because you didn't believe you could go in."

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

I suppose if a soldier thrusting his saber into the bowels of his enemy on the battlefield were suddenly to see before him his mother or the good and gentle wife or daughter he loved, he would drop the saber and fly to hide himself like a murderer. So, I, overwhelmed, said to myself: "I cannot go on! Let these wretches wallow in their own vileness. I shall not wallow with them. I am no swineherd!"

As I was debating how to escape and what one of the many other ways of saving my friends and lieutenants I should adopt, Dominick touched me on the arm. "A word with you, senator," said he.

He glanced at the others as if he were debating whether he should order them from the table while he talked with me. If he had ordered it they would have gone. But restrained, perhaps by his crude though reverent sense of convention, he rose and led the way over to a corner.

"I want to tell you, senator, that as soon as I got on to what this here push was plottin', I wired you askin' an appointment. You'll find the telegram at your house when you go home. I don't stand for no foulin'. I play the game straight. I came because I thought you'd want the party to be represented at such a gatherin'."

I saw that he had come to the dinner, doubtful whether any enterprise against me, promising enough for him to risk embarking, could be launched; as soon as I entered the room he, like the rat when the cat interrupted the rat-and-mouse convention to discuss belling it, unceremoniously led the way to safety. But this was not one of those occasions on which it is wise to show a man that his lies do not fool you. "I am glad to hear you say these things, Dominick," said I. "I am glad you are loyal to the party."

"You can trust me, senator," said he earnestly.

"I can trust your common sense," said I. And I proceeded to grasp this lucky chance to get away. "I am leaving," I went on, "as soon as the coffee is served. I shall look to you to send these gentlemen home in a proper frame of mind toward the party."

His eyes glistened. Except his growing fortune, nothing delighted him so much as a chance to "rough-house" his eminently respectable "pals." He felt toward them that quaint mixture of envy, contempt and a desire to fight which fills a gamin at sight of a fashionably dressed boy. He put out his big hand and dampened mine with it. "You can count on me, senator," he said gratefully. "I'll trim 'em, comb and tail-feathers."

"Don't overlook their spurs," said I.

"They ain't got none," said he, "except those you lend 'em."

We returned to a table palled by sullen dread—dread of me, anger against Dominick, who, in the courage of his ignorance of the conventionalities which restrained them, had taken the short, straight cut to me and peace. And, as veterans in the no-quarter warfare of ambition, they knew I had granted him peace on no less terms than their heads.

They had all, even Roebuck, been drinking freely in the effort to counteract the depression. But the champagne seemed only to aggravate their gloom except in the case of young Jamieson. He had just succeeded through the death of his father, to the privilege of levying upon the people of 11 counties by means of trolley franchises which the legislature had granted to his father in perpetuity in return for financial services to "the party." It is, by the way, an interesting illustration of the human being's lack of thinking power that a legislature could not give away a small gold mine belonging to the public to any man for even a brief term of years without causing a revolution, but could and does give away far more valuable privileges to plunder and to tax, and give them away forever without causing any real stir. However—young Jamieson's liquor, acting upon a mind that had not had enough experience to appreciate the meaning of the situation, drove him on to insolent taunts and boasts, addressed to his neighbors but intended for me. I ignored him, and, when the coffee was served, rose to depart.

Roebuck urged me to stay, followed me to the cloak-room, took my coat away from the servant and helped me with it. "I want to see you the first thing in the morning, Harvey, said he.

"I'll call you up if I have time," said I.

We came out of the cloak-room, his arm linked in mine, and crossed the corner of the dining-room toward the outer door. Jamieson threw up his arm and fluttered his hand in an impertinent gesture of farewell. "So long, Senator Swollenhead," he cried in a thick voice. "We'll teach you a lesson in how to treat gentlemen."

The last word—gentlemen—was just clearing his mouth when Dominick's tea-pot, flung with all the force of the ex-prize-fighter's big muscles and his big body, landed in the midst of his broad white shirt-bosom. And with the tea-pot Dominick hurled his favorite epithet from his garbage barrel of language. With a yell Jamieson crashed over backward; his flying legs, caught by the table, tilted it; his convulsive kicks sent it over, and half the diners, including Dominick, were floored under it.

All this in a snap of the finger. And with the disappearance of the physical semblance of a company of civilized men engaged in dining in civilized fashion, the last thin veneer over hate and fury was scraped away. Curses and growling roars made a repulsive mess of sound over that repulsive mess of unmasked, half-drunken, wholly infuriated brutes. There is shrewd, sly wisdom snugly tucked away under the fable of the cat changed into a queen and how she sprang from her throne at sight of a mouse to pursue it on all fours. The best of us are, after all, animals changed into men by the spell of reason; and in some circumstances, it doesn't take much of a blow to dissolve that spell.

For those men in those circumstances, that blow proved sufficient. Partridge extricated himself, ran round the table and kicked Jamieson in the head—partly in punishment, perhaps, and because he needed just that vent for his rage, but chiefly to get credit with me, for he glanced toward me as he did it. Men, sprawling and squirming side by side on the floor, lashed out with feet and fists, striking each other and adding to the wild dishevelment. The candles set fire to the tablecloth, and before the blaze was extinguished burned several in the hair and mustaches.

Dominick, roaring with laughter, came to Roebuck and me standing at the door both dazed at this magic shift of a "gentleman's" dinner into a bear-pit. "Granby's ghost is raisin' hell," said he.

INVICTUS.

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud;
Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbow'd.

Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds and shall find me unafraid.

It matters not how straight the gate,
How charged with punishments the scroll,
I am the master of my fate,
I am the captain of my soul.

ENGLISH ETCHINGS.

The first knives were used in England in 1559.

In London there are 70,000 municipal employes. In England generally there are close upon 2,000,000.

Armorial bearings yielded a revenue of £68,142 last year, and £148,690 was paid in taxes in male servants.

Charged in a London court with embezzling his employer's money, a young man pleaded that he was driven to it by the expenses of courting three girls at the time.

The London county council has in its various parks fifty swans, ninety-six geese (eight varieties), 674 ducks (nineteen varieties) and seven storks. Aviaries at nine places are stocked with small birds of twenty-seven varieties.

Ground has been broken for the Franco-British exposition that is to be held in London in 1908. A tract of land containing 140 acres has been secured within seventeen and a half minutes of Charing Cross, on which the buildings are to be erected.

THE CARE OF A CUT.

A dirty cut or a suppurating wound must be cleaned of all dirt and carefully bathed in carbolic solution (strength one dram to four ounces of water). If carbolic acid be kept in the medicine chest, this lotion can be made up at any time with a measure glass.

After bathing cut a piece of white lint of size to overlap the cut, soak it in clean carbolic lotion and apply. Cover the lint with gutta-percha tissue cut so as to leave a margin of one inch all around the lint, which is just kept moist.

No ragged edge of the lint must show, or the moisture will evaporate. Cover with cotton wool and apply a bandage to keep the whole in place.

The dressing may be removed in twenty-four hours and the wound will be found clean. This treatment also removes pain and the only after treatment necessary is to cover with a piece of dry, clean cotton. A little boracic ointment on the cotton will prevent it from sticking.

There has been a breach between the first and second parishes of Exeter, N. H., for over 160 years, and the present parishioners are attempting to heal that breach.

Amusing Oneself.

General Ogle, a member of the Pennsylvania Assembly, had been deputed to compose an address to the newly elected president, Andrew Jackson. When the old warrior submitted his document to the house, a fellow member, a short man of light build, from Philadelphia, observed:

"Pardon me, general, I hesitate about making any suggestion to so distinguished an individual, but I cannot refrain from saying that it is customary with cultured letter writers to write the first personal pronoun with a capital 'I' instead of a small 'i.'"

General Ogle returned a look of scorn. "Sir," said he, "when I write to so great a man as General Andrew Jackson, Democratic President of the United States, I abase myself. I abase myself, sir. I use as small an 'I' as I can put upon paper. But, sir, if ever I should have to write to a little snipe like you I would use an 'I,' sir, that would fill two pages of foolscap."

Miss Bertha Dilts, of Raritan, has been visiting relatives in Plainfield for several days.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Mono Field Club added another scalp to its strong of victories on Saturday when it defeated the Laurels, of Bound Brook, at that place, by a score of 2 to 1, thirteen innings. It was a hard fought contest throughout, and proved to be a pitcher's battle, in which George Conover, of the Monos, had a little the best of it. He fanned eleven men, while his opponent, Harney, had a record of seven strike-outs.

Trotter distinguished himself by making a difficult catch of a high foul fly. The back-stop work of Moffett was also a feature of the contest. This is the third amateur league team defeated by the Monos and they feel proud of their victories. They defeated Clinton Avenue, 2 to 0; Dunellen, 6 to 5, and the Laurels, 2 to 1.

Cooke's Bishop Flays Society.

Hempstead, L. I., May 6.—From the pulpit that was his own up to a week ago and from the lips of Bishop Burgess, who was one of his strongest admirers, Jere K. Cooke, the unfrocked rector of St. George's church, was today branded a traitor to his faith and the worst enemy of the girl with whom he eloped. Finishing his attack on the rector, Bishop Burgess gave a direct blow to modern worship of wealth and declared with a show of deep feeling that "it is a dark and fearful arraignment that can be made of society, spelled with a big S." He said that as a church is so is the priest, and he enjoined his hearers to search into to recesses of their hearts to find whether they have concealed there some sin of which they world is not aware. None of the millionaires' colony heard the address. To the surprise even of the Bishop himself not one of the wealthier members of the select congregation came to the morning service. But the little place of worship was comfortably filled and many of the listeners had tears in their eyes when they departed.

All Rails Defective.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 6.—"Every steel rail before it leaves the rolls at the rolling mill is more or less fractured," was the sensational statement made by an expert roll turner in Pittsburg Saturday. "The fracture is not visible and does not develop until a etrain load of cars is rushed over the track. This causes the track to roll in waves and the fracture in the steel develops into a break, which is discovered by a track walker or a train is wrecked." O. W. Heinle, whose home is in Grafton, a suburb of Pittsburg, is an expert and consulting roll turner and has made steel rails a life study. His father is also a roll designer. The elder Mr. Heinle laughs at his son's efforts to show up the weakness in rail construction, although his views coincide with those of his son. The younger Heinle is a persistent advocate of a change in the present "T" rail, which is declared a menace to life and property. Should Mr. Heinle's contention be proved correct that it is the shape of the rail which leads to so many breaks and accidents, it would cost n any millions of dollars to replace the present standard sections with a new style rail.

Between twenty and twenty-five teachers from various parts of the county appeared for examination. The session was finished late Saturday afternoon. The examiners will announce the results later.

Suspends Sentence on Prisoner.

Judge Atwater held a short session at Elizabeth on Saturday of the Common Pleas Court. The only prisoner arraigned was Harry S. Conover, of Trenton, who had pleaded guilty to breaking into the Fulton Type Works at Elizabethport and stealing a quantity of goods. A strong petition for clemency was presented to the court in behalf of the prisoner, while President William Smith, of the type company, made a personal appeal for clemency. Judge Atwater, in view of this, decided to suspend sentence, and turned Conover over to the probation officers.

DOHONG PARTAKES OF BLANKET DIET

ORANG-OUTANG IN NEW YORK ZOO DEVELOPS A REMARKABLE APPETITE.

SAVED BY EMINENT SURGEON

Animal Is Given Strong Sleeping Potions and Unusual Meal Is Safely Removed from His Interior.

New York.—This story deals with an eminent New York physician and surgeon—a man with a liberal store of scientific knowledge—and a very unfortunate orang-outang which understands the surgeon's knife.

One day recently Dohong (Jungle Man), a remarkably intelligent inmate of the orang-outang quarters of the Bronx park zoo, was seized with a fervent desire to devour everything in sight. He started out to put away his cage, but, finding this unsatisfactory as a culinary delight, he turned his attention to a very heavy blanket. This blanket diet pleased Dohong immensely and he was making good progress before he was detected by his keeper.

The keeper immediately summoned a physician. But it was too late. Dohong had developed a very promising case of "blanketitis." Dr. W. Reid Blair, veterinary surgeon, and Dr. Hanlow Brooks, pathologist, both of whom are attached to the Bronx park zoo, put their heads together, and decided, after a brief consultation, that Dohong was critically ill and that, in order to save his life, something had to be done to his pyloric orifice—an operation was imperative.

Dohong is regarded as a valuable acquisition to the animal collection of the Bronx park zoo. More than this, he is greatly admired by naturalists and other wise men. Something extraordinary had to be done. After consulting W. T. Hornaday, director of the zoo, it was decided to relieve Dohong of the parts of the blanket he had swallowed.

Rather than perform such a difficult operation upon their own responsibility, the physicians attached to the zoo decided to engage the services of an eminent specialist. A widely known surgeon was hurriedly called into the consultation and Dohong and the blanket were placed upon the operating table.

Donong was provided with a liberal supply of sleeping tablets and at the given time the surgeons began their work. His digestive organs were carefully removed and the pyloric orifice and vermiform appendix were laid bare to the view of the scientists. It is sufficient to say that Dohong was almost perfect, physically, when the job was completed, and it is now believed that he is on the swift road to recovery. It is said that the eminent Manhattan surgeon who officiated in the case will receive the sum of $1,000 for his official services.

Thoroughly wrapped in bandages Dohong refused to meet any of the callers at the zoo to-day.

In view of Dohong's newly acquired fame it may be interesting to know something of his career in this country. Dr. Blair, one of the attending physicians, said that Dohong came to this country with his mother about five years ago. His fond parent was very much attached to her offspring, but she disliked her new home, and as a result of her refusal to take any form of nourishment, she died several days after her arrival at the Bronx park zoo. After the death of his mother the officials at the zoo took Dohong in hand and he was raised on the bottle.

The officials decided to make a scientific study of their new boarder, and Dohong was allowed, figuratively speaking, to work out his own salvation. This native of Borneo one day last summer broke into science and, like Archimedes of Syracuse, he discovered those of the lever. With the horizontal bar in his cage he pried his way into the corridor. He is an enthusiastic bicyclist, an authority on polite etiquette and table manners, a competent typewriter and it is said that he is thinking about taking up a course in stenography.

Ellen Terry a Bride.

New York, May 6.—Ellen Terry is again a bride. At a private dinner given in this city on Saturday night James Carew, who has been Miss Terry's leading man during the theatrical season now drawing to a close, announced that she had become his wife in Pittsburg on March 22, the ceremony having been performed by a Justice of the Peace. He requested a friend who was at the dinner to so inform Daniel Frohman, under whose engagement Miss Terry's recent forewell American tour was made. Mr. Frohman confirmed this fact last night.

Gatin's "Maid of All Work" finished third in the second race. C. W. Fisk's "Apple Jack" fell down and was not able to finish in this race. The other Plainfield horses did not win anything, but all made a good showing.

HOW THEY WON SUCCESS

Former Assemblyman Swackhamer Draws Lessons from the Lives of World's Great.

THE EFFORT THAT PAYS

Lawyer Address at Meeting of Edcational Society of Somerville Instructive to Young Men of Body.

Former Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer addressed the Educational Society of Somerville at that place last night. His subject was "The Effort That Pays."

Mr. Swackhamer said:

"The twentieth century quivers and throbs with vitality and is distinguished for the rapid, breathless march of events.

"In an age and country where the 'possibilities of a cycle have been compressed within the compass of a half century' it is of first importance to single out with mathematical exactness The Effort that Pays, and I would lay it down as a maxim, that: "An effort to pay must be well directed, and the first essential of success is to select that vocation which is most congenial to the individual taste.

"Obey the fiat of nature. Many a born mechanic has been forced into the law; many a born trader has been forced into the pulpit; many a born farmer has been forced into medicine and surgery. And there is a misfit—a square peg in a round hole.

"Locked up in the mind of the child may be the will of a Napoleon; the understanding of a Newton; the memory of a MaCaulay; the imagination of a Milton or the ingenuity of an Edison, but they will not all be there.

"There is always one inborn, dominant faculty. Where did Bossuet get his eloquence? Where did Raphael get his colors? Where did Blind Tom get his music? Direct from heaven by Divine gift.

"Isaac Watts, who lisped in numbers, was told by his father that if he wrote another verse he would flog him. The boy soon incurred the penalty and the father prepared to inflict the punishment. As he raised the whip, Isaac burst into tears and cried,

"O, dear father, pity take,
And I will no more verses make.'

"Pascal was designed by his father for the ministry, but he was born to be a mathematician. At nine years of age he was shut in a room, by his father, with nothing but religious books to read. When his father returned at night he found the floor of the room decorated with demonstrations of the propositions of Euclid done in chalk.

"The favorite toy of Napoleon Bonaparte was a little cannon.

"Florence Nightingale was a nurse by nature, and when a little girl, her dolls were always sick or in delicate health and she nursed them with the tenderest care, putting them to bed in a dark room and giving strict orders that their slumbers should not be disturbed. During the Crimean War, she was a ministering angel to the sick and wounded soldiers, who from their beds of pain and suffering, would extend their nerveless hands only to touch the hem of her garment.

"A New England minister was asked what his intentions were for the future of his son. 'Well,' said he, 'My wife and I believe in natural selection, and letting a boy follow the bent of his own mind. To find out what that was, we left him in the sitting room one day with a Bible, a silver dollar and an apple. I said, 'If, when we came back, he is reading the Bible, I shall train him to follow me as a preacher; if he has pocketed the dollar, I shall make a banker of him; if he is playing with the apple, I will put him on a farm.' When we returned, he was sitting on the Bible, eating the apple from one hand and clutching the dollar in the other, and I said, 'Wife, this boy is a hog; we must make a politician out of him.'

"Let the boy do what he likes to do; let the girl do what she likes to do; if your son can draw a straight furrow across the field and raise cauliflower where you could raise only cabbage, for cauliflower is cabbage with a college education, make a farmer of him; if he can drive a nail and not split the board and cut away the upper and lower lines with the saw, make a carpenter and builder of him. If he can set the dog's broken leg and cure the chickens of the roup, make a doctor of him.

"If your daughter can trim an old hat so that it looks like a new one, make a milliner of her. If she can drive the fever from your forehead with the gentle pressure of her hand and beguile your pain and anguish by the healing of her presence, make a trained nurse of her.

"If she steals away from the broom and the oven and the dish pan to the

JUDGE'S SALARY RAISED

Common Council at Last Fittingly Recognizes Services of William N. Runyon.

HE WILL RECEIVE $1,000

Pay of Office Has Only Been $600 Despite Great Amount of Work Required to Be Done.

An effort on the part of Chairman Tolles, of the finance committee, to secure an increase in City Judge W. N. Runyon's salary from $600 to $1,000, in which he was successful, resulted in a strong protest from Mr. Tyler at the May meeting of the Common Council, last night. Mr. Tolles stated that he believed that Judge Runyon is being paid too little for the services required of him and his resolution provided that the increase date from January 1, 1907.

Mr. Tyler said that he disliked to oppose the resolution, but in view of the many increases made this year in different departments, together with the new work to be undertaken, he believed that the resolution should not be adopted. He recognized the faithful services of Judge Runyon, but under present conditions thought it unwise to raise his salary. It was only fair in his opinion, he said, to request him to wait until next year.

He thought that many serious problems confront the Common Council and the city at the present time and he was fearful of the result. "Why, just think of what we propose to do this year?" said he. "There is the garbage disposal question, which means an expense of at least $12,000 a year; an increase in street sprinkling, street paving, a new public school building, a fifty per cent. increase in the library appropriation, an appropriation for the water investigation commission and the consolidation commission. Only the chairman of the finance committee and the president of the Common Council can tell where we are coming out.

"Why wasn't this increase put in with the other amounts at the beginning of the year, instead of waiting until this late day. We should have all the increases at once."

Mr. Tolles replied that he had previously opposed increases in salary, but here was a position where the salary had never been raised and he believed it to be due to Judge Runyon.

Mr. Montgomery favored the increase, and because it comes late he thought it to be none the less necessary. He said that Judge Runyon is called upon to do work that clearly entitles him to the raise.

At this point Mr. Tolles said that he proposed to ask for an appropriation for the water investigating commission, whereupon Mr. Tyler replied: "Why don't you present that first and maybe it will assist you in getting a raise for Judge Runyon?"

Mr. Mellick took exception to the position of Mr. Tyler, saying that he was not alarmed over the city's financial condition. He regretted that the finance committee did not raise Judge Runyon's salary on January 1 last, and as he remembered it the matter was discussed at a meeting of the Common Council when it met last week as a committee of the whole, and favorably considered.

When the vote was taken on the resolution, it was adopted by a vote of eight to two, Councilmen Buxton, Gloak, Hibbard, Mellick, Tolles, Montgomery, C. C. Randolph and President Daniel voting in favor and Councilmen Ginna and Tyler against it.

Mr. Tolles then offered a resolution appropriating $2,000 for the water investigating commission; it being understood that this amount is to be used solely for the work of the commission, while later another appropriation is to be made for the expenses of employing competent engineers. This resolution was adopted unanimously.

COUNTY COURT CONVENES

Justice Swayzey Directs the Grand Jurors Attention to Various Criminal Cases.

CHAS. J. FISK FOREMAN

White Man Who Shot Negro May Be Indicted for Murder or Manslaughter—Striker Also May Be Indicted.

The May term of the Union County Court opened in the Court House, Elizabeth, this morning, with Justice Swayzey on the bench. There was a large attendance of lawyers from all parts of the county and it looks like a busy term. After the selection of the members of the Grand Jury, of which Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of this city, is foreman, Justice Swayzey addressed that body briefly. He called attention to violations of the excise law which he hoped would be given careful consideration.

Reference was also made by the court to the case of homicide which occurred in Elizabeth several weeks ago, when George Holland, white, shot and killed James Thorn, colored. Holland was awakened one morning about 5 o'clock by a strange noise and looking out of the window saw a man going away from his house. Thinking he was a burglar he shot and killed Thorn. Justice Swayzey informed the jury that it could indict for manslaughter or murder, it being left to its judgment as to what a person should do under such circumstances.

Another case of shooting was brought to the attention of the jury, that of Joseph Buckley, a striker, shooting J. J. Bennett, a strike-breaking hod-carrier at Elizabeth. Bennett is still in the hospital and is said to be recovering. The Justice said that Buckley could be indicted on a charge of atrocious assault and battery and for carrying a concealed weapon.

Plainfield—Charles J. Fisk, foreman; DeWitt C. Ivins, Dr. Peter B. Cregar, B. Frank Coriell. Elizabeth—Augustus F. Young, Henry G. Smith, Lebbeus B. Miller, Frederick W. Glasby, William H. Reibel, Louis J. McVicker, Frederick L. Heizritter, George A. Mooney. Summit—Geo. Z. Muchmore. Rahway—Edwin S. Naughton, Jesse B. Lawrence, Fred W. Schuppman. Westfield—Charles A. Smith. New Providence—W. A. L. Jett. Roselle Park—Alfred Atkins. Cranford—James C. W. Rankin. Linden — George Sweet. Springfield—Benjamin F. Heard. Fanwood—Dr. F. W. Westcott.

MAYOR FISK NAMES CITY TREE COMMISSION

APPOINTMENT OF BARROWS, GAVETT AND ROBERTS IS CONFIRMED.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk communicated with the Common Council at its May meeting, last night, regarding the question of raising the salaries of the policemen and firemen. He stated that he had conferred with Corporation Counsel Marsh and the latter informed him that according to the law not more than one change during the year can be made in such salaries and that the Common Council is restrained from taking any further action until January 1, 1908. This disposes of a much-discussed question for this year at least.

The Mayor also at this meeting took occasion to appoint a tree commission with full power to superintend the setting out and care of shade trees. Elliot T. Barrows is appointed for five years, Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett for two years and Miles Roberts for one year. The commissioners are to serve without compensation.

In moving that the appointments be confirmed, Mr. Montgomery remarked that the Mayor had made happy selections and that the city was to be congratulated upon securing the services of such men. The appointments were confirmed by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Roberts is the expert of the commission, having a thorough practical knowledge of trees. He is the author of a recent article in "Country Life in America" on the "Abandoned Farm Club," of which he is a member. Mr. Roberts is also in touch with the tree commission of New Haven and has followed the work for the preservation of the famous elms in that city.

PERMANENT PAVE TALK

Borough Mayor Gives His Views at City Council's Public Hearing.

WOOLSTON APPEARS TOO

Representatives of Plainfield Board of Trade Hear Ideas of Citizens on Plan to Use Vitrified Brick.

There was not the expression of opinion for or against the proposed plan to pave the business streets with vitrified brick, at the May meeting of the Common Council, last night, as was expected. Mr. Ginna, chairman of the street committee, had the regular order of business suspended to allow any one an opportunity to speak on the subject.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, who was appointed a member of the committee from the Board of Trade, to attend the meeting, was the principal speaker. He said that personally has was not interested to any great extent in Plainfield property, but from a distant view he believed that the sum of $50,000 a large one to expend on one particular kind of pavement, such as brick, and he thought it to be against the best interest of the citizens of the city to do so. There are other pavements just as good and less expensive in his opinion.

The Mayor said that some of the streets proposed in the ordinance have a good telford foundation and it would be unnecessary to place a brick pavement on top of it. The use of one kind of pavement he declared to be a mistake. Referring to Park avenue as a narrow thoroughfare, he declared that the noise from brick pavement there would be as much of a detriment as dust. North avenue could be fixed more easily as not over four inches would have to come off the top. He added that many large cities are adopting various kinds of pavement and Plainfield should be able to portit by it.

In referring to the brick pavement on Watchung avenue, Mr. Smalley said that there is not a street in town where the traffic is as slow as on that avenue, between North avenue and Second street, and that while the test had not been a severe one the brick had shown considerable wear at that. In his opinion the adoption of brick exclusively would be a serious mistake.

L. B. Woolston, also a member of the Board of Trade committee, chosen to attend the meeting, said that he favored no special pavement, but urged that some system be adopted. He was perfectly willing to leave the matter to the judgment of the Common Council. F. A. Dunham, a third member of the committee, was present, but did not speak.

In connection with the public hearing on the permanent pavement ordinance, another one was granted on the ordinance to macadamize certain streets, but no one appeared to speak for or against this matter.

DR. VANCE TO BE ORATOR

Board of Education Selects Noted Newark Divine for Commencement Day.

ORCHESTRA ENGAGED

Common Council Will Have to Appropriate $71,000 for School Expenses for the Current Year.

Details relating to the annual commencement exercises of the Plainfield Public High School to be held in June, occupied the attention of the Board of Education at the May meeting, last night. Dr. J. B. Probasco, president of the board, reported that the First Baptist church will be available, as usual, and it was also stated that the speaker for the occasion will be Rev. Dr. James I. Vance, pastor of the North Reformed church, Newark. He is a scholarly divine and possesses exceptional ability as an orator. Clerk F. B. Clark stated that the usual orchestra had been engaged for the occasion.

L. N. Lovell, for the finance committee, offered a resolution, which was adopted, authorizing the secretary to inform the Board of School Estimate that the public schools will require $71,000 for the coming year, exclusive of State school tax. The specified amount, together with the State school tax available, already assured, will cover every expense, including teachers' increase in salary. It was stated that the Board of Education has nothing dependent on the decision of the court as to the railroad tax, $71,000 is $3,000 less than last year's demands, and State tax enabling the board to reduce the amount. The local school tax rate will be 24 points.

Medical Inspectors Vantorn and Tomlinson reported that during the past month they had examined 561 pupils, and in this connection Dr. Probasco asked Dr. Maxson if any scarlet fever cases among the children had been reported. He replied that there were a number of cases of the disease during the past two months. Dr. Maxson stated that he had received only eight contagious disease cards since September, indicating that all cases had not been reported as required by law.

RECEPTION TENDERED REV. AND MRS. WARNER

CHARMING AFFAIR ARRANGED AND CONDUCTED BY WOMEN'S GUILD.

The members of the Church of the Holy Cross tendered a reception to Rector and Mrs. George A. Warner, whose marriage was recently celebrated at Orange, in the parish house last night. It was conducted by The Ladies' Guild and was attended by from 150 to 200 friends. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, and Dr. E. M. Rodman, rector-emeritus, were among those present.

The main room of the house was made cosy and inviting by the tasteful arrangement of cherry blossoms, palms and other decorations in the corners and on tables. Mr. and Mrs. Warner were assisted in receiving by Senior Warden Dr. Carman and Junior Warden Charles L. Nichols. For the first hour of the gathering the time was passed in an informal way after which refreshments were served by the Women's Guild. During this period several vocal solos were rendered by Frederick J. Pope, a member of the church choir, Mrs. Frederick Harrington acting as accompanist.

The reception was arranged and directly in charge of the executive committee of the Guild, composed of Mrs. J. O. Stevens, chairman; Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Mrs. Frederick Harrington, Mrs. Irene Murray, Miss Nettie Davis and Miss Florence Stevens.

CONSOLIDATION WITHOUT ANNEXATION FOUND IMPRACTICABLE

REFERENDUM LAW TO BRING BOTH ABOUT IS RECOMMENDED

Bi-Municipal Commission's Report to the Governing Bodies of Plainfield and North Plainfield in Joint Session Shows that a Merger of the City and the Borough Would be Advantageous to the Two Places and the Commissioners Are Unanimous For a Complete Fusion.

SENTIMENT OF CITIZENS FAVORABLE TO UNION

Mayor Fisk Welcomes the Officials of North Plainfield and After Report Is Submitted Action Is Immediately Taken to Continue the Commission in Office—Bi-municipal Committee Appointed to Devise Ways and Means to Accomplish the Desired Ends.

The net result of the thorough investigation conducted by the Bi-Municipal Consolidation Commission is, as exclusively announced by The Daily Press sometime ago, that "consolidation without annexation is impracticable." Having arrived at that conclusion and deeming that from its own investigation a merger of the two places would secure greater advantages than are obtained by the present dual government, the commissioners recommend that a referendum law be enacted by the next Legislature providing for both consolidation and annexation.

The able report of the commission, which consisted of Former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, chairman; School Trustee Floyd T. Woodhull, and Col. Mason W. Tyler, representing the city of Plainfield, and Charles W. Mc Clutchen and Elston M. French, representing the borough of North Plainfield, was submitted to the governing bodies of the two municipalities in joint session at the Plainfield Common Council chamber last night. Mayor Charles J. Fisk and Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of the city and borough, respectively, occupied seats of honor beside President Leslie M. Daniel. Clerk Frank Rowley, of the borough, also being given a seat beside Acting Clerk George B. Wean. All the borough councilmen were present, except Messrs McGee and Krewson.

Being given the privileges of the floor, Mayor Fisk extended a welcome to the borough officials, saying:

"If I may be allowed the privilege of the floor for a minute. I believe this is the first time in the history of the two communities—Plainfield and North Plainfield, that the two Councils have sit together in joint session for any reason. I think this is a step in the right direction. Never mind what this report says of the Consolidation Commission; we are two communities with one interest.

"There are a great many things coming up from time to time that we have to act together on. I think it is a step in the right direction where we can get together in one room and consult with each other; and, in the name of the City of Plainfield, and as Mayor of the city, I wish to welcome the Mayor and Council of North Plainfield, and tell them that we are glad to have them with us.

"I have been entrusted by the Chairman of the Consolidation Commission with, and present herewith their report of their investigations. I have two copies, one for the city and the other for the borough.

"Accompanying that report there is also a letter from the Commission which they desire to have presented along with the report, recommending an appropriation be made to defray the expense of their secretary and stenographer."

Mayor Smalley responded on behalf of North Plainfield, incidently expressing his hope that the friendly relations and co-operation of the two municipalities be continued on all matters effecting their welfare.

At the direction of President Daniel, of the Common Council, Acting Clerk George B. Wean read the report of the commission, which is to be found in this issue.

At the conclusion of the reading of the report, Mayor Fisk said that both Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh and Borough Counsel Charles A. Reed had presented their opinions from a legal standpoint, which formed a part of the report, but as it was rather dry reading, as is always the case with such documents, he thought it unnecessary to read them. He suggested that the report be filed and that the two municipal bodies take such action as they see fit, that the commission be continued, that each body appoint a committee to confer from time to time and that copies of the report be printed and one copy be sent to the Board of Trade as the original action started with that organization.

Mr. Tolles then offered a resolution which was adopted, providing that the report be filed, that the commission be continued, that the finance committee be authorized to have not less nor more than 1,250 copies of the report printed, and as amended by Mr. Tyler, that the report be referred to a committee of four to be appointed by the presidents of the two bodies. After the Common Council adopted the resolution, Mayor Smalley put the resolution to a vote of the borough members and it was also adopted by that body. Mr. Smith raised the question as to the number of copies of the report needed in the borough, but Mayor Smalley said that the number could be ascertained later.

The resolution as offered by Mr. Tolles and adopted by the Common Council, which was signed by the Mayor of Plainfield, follows:

"Resolved, That the report of the Commissioners be referred to a special committee of two to be appointed by the President of the Common Council (it being understood that a like Committee will be appointed by the Common Council of the Borough of North Plainfield); That the thanks of the Council be extended to the Commissioners; that the Commissioners be requested to continue their organization; that there be printed under the direction of the finance committee, copies of the Commissioners' report to the number of not less than 750 nor more than 1,250 as the committee may deem proper; and that the City Clerk be requested to furnish a copy of the report to the Board of Trade."

Mayor Smalley said in conclusion that the borough today occupies a peculiar position in relation to the consolidation idea. In appointing commissioners from the borough, Mr. Smalley said that he had chosen one citizen who favors the proposition and one who was against it. The result is that both borough members favor the union, which confronts the borough with a new proposition. He said that personally he favored the necessary expenditure of money and would lend his aid to the movement.

Mayor Smalley and the Borough Council retired from the meeting after thanking the city officials for the courtesies shown.

The committee appointed to represent the city, as provided by resolution, consists of Councilmen Ralph I. Tolles and William S. Tyler. Mayor Smalley named Councilmen M. C. VanArsdale and Clifford M. McGee.

Following is the complete report:

UNION WITH ANNEXATION

At a meeting of a joint committee composed of representatives of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield and the Council of the Borough of North Plainfield, held June 14, 1906, a resolution was adopted recommending the appointment by the respective governing bodies of the said City and Borough, of two citizens of Plainfield and two of North Plainfield, who should have the power to choose a fifth member—who should be a citizen of Plainfield, and said five members to constitute a Commission to fully examine into the advantages and disadvantages of the consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield under one municipal government, and to report plans and methods by which the same may be brought about. In accordance with said recommendation, at a meeting of the Common Council of the City of Plainfield held October 1, 1906, Alexander Gilbert and Floyd T. Woodhull were appointed Comissioners to represent the City of Plainfield, and at a meeting of the Mayor and Council of the Borough held December 21, 1906, Charles W. McCutchen and Elston M. French were appointed Commissioners to represent the Borough of North Plainfield.

At the first meeting of the Commission, which was held January 7, 1907, Mason W. Tyler was chosen a fifth member to complete the Commission.

The Commission has held regular weekly meetings, and has endeavored in a careful and painstaking manner to consider every question that could have any possible bearing on the subject.

It has looked into the legal aspects of consolidation as presented to it by the Corporation Counsels of both the City and Borough, and has had prepared and submitted to it statements of the debts of the City and Borough, both the general debt and that appertaining to the schools, the fire departments and sewer systems also the debt of Somerset and Union Counties.

It has also considered the question of taxation and the values of property in the said City and Borough respectively so far as the same could be determined from sales that have occurred within the past two years, and the taxes assessed and paid in the said City and Borough during the last two years and the present assessed valuation of property in each of said municipalities with a view of determining how each of the respective municipalities would be affected by the proposed change.

It has had before it prominent citizens and officials from the City and Borough, who have given their views upon the different aspects of the question.

The meetings have been attended generally by the Mayors of the City and Borough, who, by invitation of the said Commission, have expressed their views, not only upon the general subject of consolidation, but upon many questions incident thereto, which have been considered by the Commission. In fact, the Commission has endeavored to secure all possible information that could throw light upon the advantages and disadvantages to be derived from consolidation.

So far as any advantages accruing to or disadvantages to be incurred by either of the parties to the proposed union are concerned, it may be said that while the advantages are sufficiently in evidence to be easily recognized and estimated, the disadvantages can only be determined by experience. Some disadvantages worthy of consideration have been suggested and are fully set forth here. It will be readily granted that the greater city would have an advantage over the two separate municipalities in the fact that only one set of municipal departments would be required where now there are two, and one should cost less than two, and the burden of the proportionate share of the expense of each department chargeable against the individual taxpayer should decrease as the number of tax-payers increase.

The expense of providing and running one sewer system for the combined cities ought to be very much less than if each municipality equipped and ran its own separate system.

The Plainfield sewer system is large enough and with a small additional outlay can be put in condition to take care of the sewage of the united municipalities, and when so completed can be run at very little if any additional expense to that required to run it for the City of Plainfield alone. Thus Plainfield would be relieved of a part of its annual charges for sewer system maintenance and North Plainfield would get the benefit of Plainfield's finished plant for sewage disposal, and instead of being obliged to pay out a certain sum annually for the maintenance of its own separate plant, would have to pay a very small proportion of the expense required to run the Plainfield plant.

The same principle would apply to a greater or less extent to all the other departments of the City Government. That is, by having one such department instead of two there should be a saving of expense and the benefit of that saving would be divided proportionately, or nearly so, between the citizens of the two municipalities as they now exist.

In the department of schools, one superintendent and one High School could be spared. The present High School building of the Borough would render unnecessary another new school building in that section for some time to come.

In the police department, one Chief of Police and one police headquarters could be spared.

In the tax department, one Collector, and probably one or more clerks, and an office in which to conduct the business, could be spared.

In the same way the united cities would be saved the expense of:

One Mayor and his office;
One Street Commissioner and his office;
One Overseer of the Poor and his office;
One Health Commissioner and his office.
One Corporation Counsel;
One City Council and its meeting room;
One City Clerk.

The larger city would probably have a more rapid growth than the two separate communities have enjoyed. As a result of this, we should have better hotels, better stores, better streets and street railways, and more of each.

The consolidated cities could establish uniform laws for the regulation of the saloons and the liquor traffic, which would be of great advantage to the community in general.

Statements have been presented which show that the area of territory covered by Somerset County is three times the size of that of Union County. That in 1860 Union County numbered 27,789 in population while Somerset County contained 22,057. From the census of 1905 it appears that Union county had increased to 117,211, while Somerset County had increased to 36,270, and Union County numbered in population three times the total number of inhabitants then in Somerset County.

These figures show that Somerset County has a very much larger area of territory to take care of than Union County, but has nowhere near the same number of tax-payers to contribute to the expense of said care. Consequently, either Somerset County must have fewer improvements, or, if it makes improvements, the cost of making them will bear much more heavily upon the individual citizen or tax-payer than it does in Union County; and, as a further consequence, if Somerset County should try to attain to the standard of Union County in the matter of public improvements, the rate of taxation will increase much faster than it has heretofore done in Somerset County, and will probably largely exceed that in Union County.

As between Plainfield and North Plainfield analgous principles seem to apply, for an investigation of tax statistics for a period of ten years shows that, owing to the larger increase of population of Plainfield as compared with the Borough, the increase of the tax rate of the Borough has been greater than that of Plainfield.

Much fallacious reasoning has been indulged in with reference to the respective debts of the two municipalities, both municipal and county, and how much either side would gain or lose financially if consolidation should occur. It may be well to say that the liquidation of municipal debts is accomplished gradually by appropriations to a sinking fund or by small annual payments and the burden on the tax-payer in connection therewith is always expressed in his annual tax bill. Should his tax bills increase as a result of consolidation he may consider it a loss; should they decrease, it may be called a gain.

Consolidation without annexation would necessitate the following changes:

First. The Borough ratables would have to be increased to about $4,000,000 to conform to the Plainfield valuation.

Second. The Borough tax rate would be lowered to the Plainfield tax rate basis.

Third. As the greater city would be in two counties, the county taxes would require to be separated from the city tax; the Borough paying the Somerset County tax and Plainfield paying in the Union County tax. For this purpose annual tax bills for City and County would be issued separately.

Fourth. With the Borough ratables increased to $4,000,000, the county tax would be increased from $19,846.20, as in 1906, to about $26,000.

Should the consolidated city require for municipal purposes the same amount as was assessed and collected in both City and Borough in 1906, the municipal tax rate would be about 1.01 per hundred dollars. The Borough tax would then be:

Ratables, $4,000,000 @ 1.01	$ 40,400 00
County Tax	26,000 00
State School Tax	4,811 27
	$ 71,211 27
Compared with 1906 tax	71,891 00
Decrease	$ 679 73

Plainfield Annual Taxes:

Ratables, $20,945,665 @ 1.01	$221,551 21
County Tax	58,694 93
State School	19,488 11
	$289,734 25
Compared with 1906 tax	282,500 00
Increase	$ 7,234 25

With annexation the Borough indebtedness will be assumed by the greater city; the Borough's share of the Somerset County debt will be assumed by Union County; the Union County tax rate will be increased to meet the demands that will naturally arise through the addition of the Borough and its territory to Union County.

Basing our calculations on the municipal requirements of the City and Borough for 1906, the tax budget of the greater city would be as follows:

Municipal purposes	$251,550 49
County Tax, say	75,000 00
State School, say	24,000 00
	$350,550 49

which would make the tax rate about 1.40½ per hundred dollars.

The amount of taxes then required for the greater city would be divided as follows:

Borough Portion:

Ratables, $4,000,000 @ 1.40½	$ 56,200 00

Plainfield Portion:

	$350,486 59

It is quite possible that in the years to come the tax rate may be higher, but it will be seen from above figures that it may be increased to 1.80 without putting any heavier burden upon the Borough than it had to bear in 1906.

It follows, however, that just in proportion as the Borough gains in the matter of debts and taxes, Plainfield loses, but the gains and losses of either side seem of minor importance as compared with the greater benefit which will accrue to both communities through the growth and building up of the Borough and the increase of its ratables, making possible the acquirement with less difficulty of the impfovements which are needed from time to time to thoroughly equip and develop a modern city.

The people of North Plainfield have already recognized the fact that they are one community with Plainfield. The churches they attend are for the most part in Plainfield. Their postoffice is in Plainfield. Their depot is in Plainfield. The stores and markets where they do their trading for the most part are in Plainfield; and the social relations between the people of North Plainfield and those of Plainfield are just as close now as they will be after consolidation. In those particulars nature triumphs over law and asserts and emphasizes the fact that the two places are so situated and so related physically, socially, economically and politically that there is a strong presumption in favor of the conclusion that the legal union ought to be completed and the two made one in law as well as in fact.

Consolidation is opposed by some on the general ground that it would not be an advantage to the Borough. While admitting that the acquisition by the City of the Borough will enhance the position and importance of the City in its relations to the State, and other municipalities, and particularly in its relations to Union County; still it is a question in the minds of the objectors whether this political expansion would be an advantage to either the City or the Borough. It is suggested that municipal bigness does not necessarily mean municipal betterment, that smaller municipalities are comparatively free from the danger of municipal extravagance, and the centralization of control in the hands of professional politicians. It is also urged that, viewed from the standpoint of the citizens of the Borough, it would not be an advantage to the Borough to surrender the right of self-government and the administration of its own affairs in exchange for the privilege of becoming one or more wards in Greater Plainfield. That the advantage to be derived from a union with the City would not be commensurate with what the Borough would lose by the voluntary surrender of its autonomy.

These are valid objections and doubtless reflect the views of a number of voters in both City and Borough; views which are entitled to and should receive due consideration when the question involved is presented for the final determination of the people.

Conclusion.

In the foregoing we have endeavored to present, impartially, the advantages and disadvantages of consolidation as they have been presented to us during the course of our investigation.

As to plans and methods by which consolidation may be brought about, the Commission has duly considered the resolution of the Joint Committee in accordance with which the Commission was appointed, recommending to the Common Council of the City of Plainfield and to the Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield, that a special election be held in accordance with the provisions of Assembly Bill No. 155 of 1902 now on the statute books of the State of New Jersey, entitled:

"An Act to unite and consolidate the municipal corporations known as Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union, and the Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield," which is popularly known as the plan under which consolidation could be effected without annexation.

There is unquestionably a strong and growing movement in both communities in favor of consolidation, and while the Commission has no desire to hinder or discourage this movement, it has reached the conclusion that consolidation without annexation is impracticable.

If by simply holding an election in the Borough and City, the result of which should be favorable to consolidation, the merger of the two municipalities into one could be effected, it would seem a very simple matter to proceed under Assembly Bill No. 155 as suggested in the recommendation of the Joint Committee; but the fact remains that, while consolidation might be effected in this manner, the union would not be complete. We would find ourselves without the necessary legal machinery to properly govern the new municipality. The present statutes of the State of New Jersey do not contemplate a city located in more than one county, and new legislation would be necessary to properly adjust the many general laws which now apply to Plainfield in Union County, to Plainfield in Union and Somerset Counties. Many statutes would have to be amended, which doubtless could be accomplished in time, but in the meantime we would be constantly running up against new legal difficulties affecting the rights of individuals and property.

Appended hereto are the opinions of the Corporation Counsels of the City and Borough which more fully cover this phase of the subject. In view of the legal difficulties so clearly set forth in these opinions—especially in the opinion of Corporation Counsel Marsh, the Commission cannot recommend consolidation without annexation. The logical plan to pursue is to secure the passage of a bill authorizing both annexation and consolidation. In our opinion it will be no more difficult to secure such legislation than it will be to secure satisfactory legislation to consolidate without annexation.

The recommendation of the Commission, therefore, is that your Honorable bodies cause to be prepared a bill for submission to the next session of the Legislature which shall provide for both consolidation and annexation, to take effect only after a majority of the legally authorized voters of both municipalities shall have voted in favor of the same at a regular or special election held for that purpose.

Respectfully submitted.
ALEXANDER GILBERT,
FLOYD T. WOODHULL,
MASON W. TYLER,
Commissioners for Plainfield.
CHARLES W. McCUTCHEN,
ELSTON M. FRENCH,
Commissioners for North Plainfield.

On January 14th last the Corporation Counsel was asked by the Commission for his opinion. He appeared before the Commission and delivered his opinion orally, which was as follows in part:

There is not a city in the State, and I think there never has been, that extends or extended into two or more counties. All our legislation concerning cities has been based on the assumption that each city was wholly confined within the limits of the county of which it forms a part. Now there is nothing in our constitution which expressly forbids the legislature to make a city out of parts of two counties.

Now I am going to pass from that question, and assume that the act is constitutional. I take it that the next question that you will want to consider is, are the City Charter and the laws of the State applicable to cities, adapted to meet the needs of a city occupying parts of two separate counties? Now, in the first place, it is obvious that the legislature passed the act in expectation that before it should take effect, the whole territory would be put into one county, the county of Union. See the next preceding act of 1902, p. 774; that preceding act, as the chairman suggested, was repealed at the next session, in 1903. After the Governor had approved and filed the annexation act, although on the same day, he next filed and approved the consolidation act, in the first section of which the annexed territory is, in the words of the act, "made a part of 'Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield' in the County of Union." The eighth section of the general act concerning consolidated cities and annexed municipalities, makes it perfectly clear that the legislature intended that act to apply solely to municipalities in the same county. For example, it requires the oaths of the commissioners who are to create the new wards of the enlarged city "to be filed in the office of the clerk of the county in which such consolidated city shall be situated." P. L. 1900, p. 156. So if the division of wards is made by the Common Council, the same section directs that one copy of the written description of the boundaries and maps shall be filed "in the office of the clerk of the county in which such city shall be situated."

Section 12 also provides that upon the election of chosen freeholders in the enlarged city, the office of the former chosen freeholder resident in the annexed municipality shall be vacated and abolished. * *

It will be noted that in this law of 1900, just referred to, while in the first seven sections there is included annexation of boroughs to cities, section 8, being the section providing for wards of the enlarged city, is limited by its terms to cases of a township or townships, or portions thereof annexed to and consolidated with cities. Boroughs are not mentioned or referred to in the entire section of more than two pages.

Mr. Marsh here referred to the following statutes which would require amendment to adapt them to this city if consolidation should take place:

The act under which Plainfield makes street improvements, P. L. 1898, p. 426;

The Martin Act, General Statutes, p. 3370; and the various supplements and amendments;

The Freeholders' Act, General Statutes, p. 435;

The New School Law, P. L. 1903, p. 5, and particularly sections 25, 32, 178, 181, 182, 228 and 231;

The City Charter, and particularly sections 18 and 19; and the amendments of 1873, sections 8 and 9;

The Tax Revision Act of 1903, and particularly sections 19, 40, 41, 50 and 58;

The General Act concerning Consolidated Municipalities, P. L. 1900, p. [illegible].

Reference was also made to P. L. 1901, p. 94, the Act creating Congressional Districts, which places the whole of Somerset County in the Fourth District and the whole of Union in the Fifth District.

After discussing these several statutes referred to, the Eminent Domain Act and other statutes, Mr. Marsh continued as follows:

Now I have shown enough, I think, to indicate that to put Plainfield in the unique position of being the one city in the whole State which overlaps two counties would deprive it of the benefit of many statutes inapplicable to such a situation until these statutes shall have been amended. Now it is going to have another effect—as to future legislation. I suppose that it would be possible even piano, make a musician of her.

"To insure high attainment, one must proceed along the line of least resistance. When a young man thoroughly enjoys his work it is not longer labor, but recreation, and he then can surmount all obstacles and success is sure.

"But an effort to pay must be sustained and persistent, kept up with untiring energy and an enthusiasm amounting almost to fanaticism.

"Demosthenes, the prince of ancient orators, shut himself up in a cave, shaved one side of his head and face so that he could not appear in society, and remained underground till he had copied the twelve books of Thucidides nine times over in order to master the historian's matchless style.

"An indefatigable Dutchman spent forty years of incessant labor digging out the cuneiform language, whereby we read inscriptions that were cut into stone centuries before the Ark rested on Ararat.

"Bernard Palissy, the great discoverer of glazed pottery, followed the object of his pursuit with such determination and abandon, that everything was sacrificed to its attainment. He beggared himself and his family to collect the fuel that should produce the necessary heat, and when he threw on the last bundle of wood and found the material did not melt, he rushed into the house with an ax and crowbar, broke the table and chairs into pieces, tore up the floors, and out of the buring wreckage of his gome, gave to the world an article of universal use and beauty.

"Hugo Grotius, the 'Father of International Jurisprudence,' was surrounded in youth by poverty and squalor. In 1619, at the age of 36, he was sentenced, as a partisan of Barneveldt, to perpetual imprisonment in the fortress of Louvenstein. After a year and a half of close confinement, he made his escape by a most perilous expedient. He was packed up and carried out as a bundle of merchandise, and so suspicious were the guards that a sword was thrust into the bundle, inflicting a dangerous wound. Yet through all this adversity, poverty and peril, he struggled on and produced 'The Rights of War and Peace,' which is the only book ever officially honored by the United States Government. At the Hague, in 1899, during the Peace Conference, by command of President McKinley, Andrew D. White, then ambassador to Germany, laid a silver wreath on the tomb of Grotius (at Delft), and said in the presence of the Peace delegates, 'Of all books, not claiming divine inspiration, this book has done most to promote peace and prevent suffering among mankind.'

"We are told that Michael Angelo, while engaged in painting a picture of the Crucifixion for the Conventual Church of the Holy Spirit at Florence, in order that the features might be as lifelike, or rather as deathlike as possible, obtained permission of the Prior to have the coffins of the newly buried opened and placed beside him during the night, thus enabling him to produce with terrible effect, not only the mortal pallor, but the anatomy of death itself, in the relaxation and repose of muscle exhibited by the corpse.

"It is related of Edmund Kean, that being called to act the part of the Genelteman Villain, he refused to appear in public for the period of a year and a half during which time he practiced daily before a large mirror, studying minutely every gesture and expression until the very soul of villainy looked through his eyes. When he came upon the stage, Bryon, who with Moore was there to hear him, said that he never looked upon so fearful and kicked a countenance. As the great actor proceeded to delineate the terrible consequences of sin, Bryon swooned away and before the play was half over the audience had fled in horror from the dreadful spectable. But if you want to localize and study at close range the proposition that nothing is impossible to industry, courage and high resolve, take three living examples from Somerset County's Roll of Fame and study the environment, the character and careers of Richard V. Lindabury, Vice Chancellor Bergen and ex-Senator Childs.

"Finally, the effort that pays must be an honest one. The sentiment expressed in the maxim, 'Honesty is the best policy,' is not lofty enough. It makes expedience the foundation of right.

"I like the honesty that drove Abraham Lincoln from his home at night four miles across the country to return to a customer two cents of overcharge.

"That merchant is worthy of success who will fail in business rather than adulterate his goods.

"But there is no such word as failure for the man who builds upon the sure foundation of Righteousness and Truth."

Exposure Killed Marvin Boy.

Dover, Del., May 7.—That little Horace Marvin died from exposure in a marsh little more than a quarter of a mile from the home of his father was almost conclusively established by the autopsy held on the body yesterday morning. Hunger of course added to the sufferings of the lad, and perhaps starvation had something to do with the death, but this is not so conclusively shown. In any event, as it stands today it is believed that for twenty-four hours at least, and perhaps twice as long, after he had wandered form the haystack, where he had been at play, the little lad, helpless and perhaps insensible from cold, lay in the grass and weeds while searchers by the score were passing and repassing within a rod of him. The boy was not drowned. The authority for this is Dr. James H. Wilson, one of the best known physicians of this part of the State, who performed the autopsy. The condition of the lungs and other organs showed that, while for the other assertion of exposure he had abundant proof. In a statement last night he is borune out by the other physicians who assisted at the autopsy.

time a bill is introduced for the relief of cities, for Plainfield's representative to send and get hold of that bill, and to amend it so as to cover the case of a city in two counties, and provide that if you had a city running into two counties, you can choose and go to either county court, etc., or go to the Supreme Court. But we have to make up our mind that we cannot, in a few months, change the whole drift of legislative thought.

I do not hesitate to advise you, gentlemen, to annex first. I mean just from the legal point of view. But if you do otherwise, it would be common prudence to require that these several important statutes that I have mentioned, and any others that may be found would require amendment to adapt them to the new situation, should be amended before you consolidate. * * *

You would have troubles, but they are easily surmountable. The thing I want to impress upon you most is first of all that it would be much better to get annexation first, so as to get rid of these constitutional questions, and the serious embarrassments which will necessarily exist and constantly arise in the future if you put Plainfield in a class by itself, the only city in the State overlapping two counties. So situated, it would be extremely difficult, to say the least, to mold future legislation governing cities so as to inure to our benefit. But if you decide otherwise, if you decide you will have consolidation without annexation, then see to it that the statutes of the State which other cities are able to avail of now because each is wholly within its own county, are made applicable to us, and do that in advance of consolidation.

At the meeting of the Commission held March 12th the Chairman requested Mr. Marsh to give his opinion as to the practicability of drawing a general statute to the following effect:

Whenever by virtue of any law of this State two municipalities located in two different counties unite and consolidate into one municipality, everything relating to the municipal affairs of said enlarged municipality shall be subject to and governed by the laws applicable to the larger of the two municipalities in point of population, and all reference in said laws to county courts and county officers relating to municipal affairs in the enlarged municipality, shall be construed to refer to the courts and officers of the county in which the larger of the two municipalities in point of population is located.

Mr. Marsh gave an oral opinion as follows in part:

I think that you have expressed lucidly the thought in your mind. Whether that comprehensive scheme can be put into a constitutional statute is another question.

As I suggested the other day, since the courts have held that cities may be classified by reference to their natural characteristics, as, for example, those of cities located—bordering on the Atlantic Ocean, a system of laws might be framed which should apply solely to cities having the characteristic that they extend into two or more counties, but when you propose by any such bill to alter the provisions and effect of numerous public statutes previously passed to govern cities all over the State that are, each one of them, wholly in one county, I think you run counter to the constitutional provisions in the clause begining "that laws shall embrace but one object which should be expressed in its title, etc." * * *

In a word, I do not think it possible by any general bill to substantially amend each one of these important Acts governing cities referred to in our earlier conference so as to read differently for Plainfield from what they read for other cities. I tried to make clear at our earlier conference my view that it would not only be difficult, if not impossible, to frame amendments to the several laws governing different interests of the cities of the State so as to make those laws applicable to a city covering portions of two adjoining counties; but that even if it were practicable to do that, it would be most injudicious and unwise. * * *

In think the thing to do is to bring the territory which you desire to annex—all the territory which is to form the greater city—into one county, because I see ahead the difficulties to government that will arise from the fact that we would be unique in our position if we do otherwise.

That even if we should take up one law after another that now applies to cities located wholly in one county and adjust each of them so as to apply to cities running over into two counties, aside from the difficulty of that task, and the doubt whether when the task shall have been completed it will have been accomplished in a constitutional manner, there would remain the difficulty in the future with respect to every important bill introduced into the legislature for the government of cities "How shall it be molded so as to apply to this unique situation."

The Commission, desiring to be advised as to whether under the Consolidation Act, it would be practicable to hold elections in both municipalities, and in case of a favorable vote in both, to defer final action until after the legislature should pass a new law to annex the territory of North Plainfield Borough to Union County, the Corporation Counsel under date of March 13th last, furnished his written opinion that the plan proposed was, from a purely legal point of view, impossible of execution. The following are extracts from the written opinion:

After the election shall have been ordered, no action by the Common Council or the Borough Council, or both combined, can stay consolidation if the act is accepted by popular vote.

The Act requires the election officers to make returns to the governing bodies of the two municipalities respectively, and requires such governing bodies to enter the election returns at length on their minutes and expressly adds "and thereupon and upon such adoption, but not otherwise, this act shall in all respects be operative." The duty enjoined by the act upon the election officers is mandatory. Failrue to perform that duty within a reasonable time would constitute non-feasance in office and would be punishable by indictment. In like manner, the failure to enter the returns at length on the minutes within a reasonable time would constitute non-feasance and the municipal bodies guilty of such non-feasance would be subject to indictment.

State v. Startup, 10 Vroom, 423;

State v. Kern, 22 Vroom, 259.

What would constitute "a reasonable time" may be infetred from the fact that similar returns by election officers under the General Elections Act are required to be made within two days of the election.

Moreover, upon any failure of the election officers to make the returns required by the statute, or upon any failure of the Common Council of the City or of the Council of the Borough to enter such returns at length upon the minutes, such recalcitrant officers could be compelled to perform their statutory duties by mandamus from the Supreme Court. * * *

The plan which the legislature has in fact, embodied in the act under consideration is that the act shall execute itself and consolidation be completely effected upon the elections resulting in favor of the acceptance of the act and the performance of merely ministerial duties by the election officers and governing bodies of the two present municipalities following the counting of the votes.

The opinion of Corporation Counsel Reed is expressed in the following letter:

Plainfield, N. J., April 3, 1907.

Hon. Alexander Gilbert,
Chairman Consolidation Commission.

My dear Sir:

In reply to your request that I prepare synopsis, as brief as possible, of my opinion on the consolidation question as submitted to your Commission I submit the following, my understanding being that you desire simply my views of the legal questions involved and not any expression of opinion as a layman.

I am satisfied there are no insurmountable legal obstacles to consolidation in two counties. That there is nothing in the constitution of New Jersey which would interfere with the passage of any laws deemed desirable for the convenient government of a city situated in two or more counties. In other words that if it were decided to consolidate Plainfield and North Plainfield without change of county lines, such consolidation could be legaly accomplished and such consolidated city could be successfully operated.

If this plan were adopted it would beyond doubt be necessary to procure the passage of statutes to provide for the operation of any city situated in two or more counties. As none such exists in New Jersey such a condition has not been provided for in the statutes heretofore passed, and there are a number of matters incident to municipal government which would require legislation in case consolidation in two counties occurred.

While these maters can readily be magnified by those opposed to consolidation so as to appear to the layman almost insuperable, yet in truth they can all be easily disposed of by legislative action.

So far as concerns the question of securing the passage of laws providing for the government of cities situated in two counties, it may be pointed out that there should be no difficulty in that direction. Such legislation would affect none but cities which may extend into two counties and as none such at present exist there would be no one to object. My experience convinces me that such bills, properly drawn, would easily become law.

It cannot be successfully denied that the simplest and most rational method of bringing about a union of the borough and city would be by changing the county line for the purpose of consolidation. Neither can it be denied that only by such changes can the fullest benefit of any union be realized. Nevertheless as I have already stated consolidation without change of county lines can in my opinion be legally accomplished and a city in two counties can be furnished by the legislature with all of the laws required for its government.

Very truly yours,
CHARLES A. REED

Plainfield, N. J., April 22, 1907.

To The Consolidation Commission.

Alexander Gilbert, Esq., Chairman.

Gentlemen:

Mayor Fisk having informed me of your request for my opinion, as to liability of Plainfield in the matter of assuming the Borough's share of the Somerset County debt, if consolidation should be effected with annexation, I submit the following:

Plainfield city would not be liable as such for any portion of the Borough's share of the debt of Somerset County if consolidation should be effected with annexation. Union County would, in case of such annexation, be liable to pay such proportionate part of the indebtedness of Somerset County as the value of the property assessed for the purpose of taxation in the annexed territory bears to the entire amount of property assessed for such purpose in Somerset County according to the assessments for the purpose of taxation in the year preceding such annexation.

After annexation shall have been brought about, a committee made up of three members taken from the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders and three taken from the Somerset County Board of Chosen Freeholders will be required to meet at the court house in Somerset County and there proceed to ascertain (1) the entire amount of the indebtedness of the county from which such annexed territory is taken; (2) the amount of money in the treasury of the county applicable to the payment thereof, if any (3) the amount of uncollected taxes and other claims due such county which are deemed to be collectable; (4) such other information as shall be necessary to enable said committee to make a just and equitable division of such indebtedness and assets between the counties."

The committee will also be required to ascertain "the amount of the indebtedness of the county from which the annexed territory is taken that should be paid by the county to which such territory is annexed, and how much of the taxes and claims due the county from which the territory is taken should be paid over or delivered to the county to which the territory is annexed, and the time or times when such payment or delivery should be made, and shall make a report of their determinations in duplicate."

Union county would thereupon become liable for the payment of such portion of such debt and interest thereon as shown by the committee's report when the same will become due or payable and Somerset county thereupon will also become liable to Union county according to the determinations and provisions of the report, the decision of a majority of the committee being made final and conclusive.

The Act governing this matter is Chapter 260 of the laws of 1902, and will be found in the Pamphlet Laws of that year on pages 770 to 774.

Respectfully submitted.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

But I had no impulse to laugh or gloat. "Good night," said I to Roebuck and hastened away.

It was the end of the attempt to ruine the foundations of my power. But I did not neglect its plain warning. As soon as the legislature assembled, I publicly and strongly advocated the appointment of a joint committee impartially to investigate all the cities of the state, those ruled by my own party no less than those of the opposition. The committee was appointed and did its work so thoroughly that there was a popular clamor for the taking away of the charters of the cities and for ruling them from the state capital. It is hardly necessary to say that my legislature and governor yielded to this clamor. And so the semi-independent petty princes, the urban bosses, lost their independence and passed under my control; and the "collections" which had gone directly to them reached them by way of Woodruff as grants from my machine, instead of revenues of their own right.

Before this securing of my home power was complete, I had my counter-attack upon the Burbank-Goodrich combine well under way. Immediately on my return to Fredonia from the disastrous dinner I sent for the attorney general of the state, Ferguson. He was an ideal combination of man and politician. He held to the standards of private morality as nearly as it is possible for a man in active public life to hold to them—far more nearly than most men dare or, after they have become inured, care, to hold. He always maintained with me a firm but tactful independence; he saw the necessity for the sordid side of politics, but he was careful personally to keep clear of smutching or besmutching work. He had as keen an instinct for popularity as a bee has for blossoms; he knew how to do or to direct unpopular things on dark nights with a dark lantern, how to do or to direct popular things in full uniform on a white horse. I have never ordered any man to a task that was not morally congenial; and I was careful to respect Ferguson's notion of self-respect. I sent for him now, and outlined my plan—to bring suits, both civil and criminal, in the federal courts in the name of the state, against Roebuck and his associates of the Power trust.

When he had heard, he said: "Yes, Mr. Sayler, we can break up the Power trust, can cause the indictment and conviction of Mr. Roebuck. I can prevent the United States attorney general from playing any of the usual tricks and defending the men whom the people think he is vigorously prosecuting. But—"

"But?" said I, encouragingly.

"Is this on the level? If I undertake these prosecutions, shall I be allowed to push them honestly? Or will there be a private settlement as soon as Roebuck and his crowd see their danger?"

"No matter what happens," I replied, "you shall prosecute at least the civil suits to the end. I give you my word for that."

He thanked me warmly, for he appreciated that I was bestowing upon him an enormous opportunity for national fame.

"And you?" asked I. "If you succeed in this prosecution, will you remain in the public service or will you accept the offers the interests will make, and remove to New York and become a rich corporation lawyer?"

He reflected before answering. "That depends," said he. "If you are going to stay on in control of this state, I shall stick to public life, for I believe you will let me have what I call a career. But, if you are going to get out and leave me at the mercy of those fellows, I certainly shan't stay where they can fool the people into turning on me."

"I shall stay on," said I; "and after me, there will be Woodruff—unless, of course, there's some sort of cataclysm."

"A man must take chances," he answered. "I'll take that chance."

We called Woodruff into consultation. Although he was not a lawyer, he had a talent for taking a situation by the head and tail and stretching it out and holding it so that every crease and wrinkle in it could be seen. And this made him valuable at any conference.

In January we had our big batteries loaded, aimed and primed. We unmasked it, and Ferguson fired. I had expected the other side to act stupidly, but I had not hoped for such stupidity as they exhibited. Burbank's year of bathing in presidential flatteries and of fawning on and cringing to the multi-millionaires and their agents hedging him around, had so wrought upon him that he had wholly lost his point of view. And he let his attorney general pooh-pooh the proceedings—this in the face of the great popular excitement and enthusiasm. It was not until Roebuck's lawyers got far enough into the case against him to see his danger that the administration stopped flying in the teeth of the cyclone of public sentiment and began to pretend enthusiasm, while secretly plotting the mistrial of Ferguson's case. And not until the United States attorney general—a vain Goodrich creature whose talents were crippled by his contempt for "the rabble" and "demogoguery"—not until he had it forced upon him that Ferguson could not be counter-minded, did they begin to treat with me for peace.

I shall not retail the negotiations. The upshot was that I let the administration drop the criminal cases against Roebuck in return for the restoration of my power in the national committee of the party to the smallest ejected postmaster in the farthest state. The civil action was pressed by Ferguson with all his skill as a lawyer and a popularity-seeking politician; and he won triumphantly in the supreme court—the lower federal court with its Power trust judge had added to his triumph by deciding against him.

Roebuck was, therefore, under the necessity of going through the customary forms of outward obedience to the supreme court's order to him to dissolve. He had to get at huge expense, and to carry out at huger, a plan of reorganization. Though he was glad enough to escape thus lightly, he dissembled his content and grumbled so loudly that Burbank's fears were roused and arrangements were made to placate him. The scheme adopted was, I believe, suggested by Vice President Howard, as shrewd and cynical a rascal as ever lived in the mire without getting smutch or splash upon his fine linen of respectability.

For several years there had been a strong popular demand for a revision of the tariff. The party had promised to yield, but had put off redeeming its promise. Now, there arose a necessity for revising the tariff in the interest of "the interests." Some of the schedules were too low; others protected articles which the interests wanted as free raw materials; a few could be abolished without offending any large interests and with the effect of punishing some small ones that had been niggard in contributing to the "campaign fund" which maintains the standing army of political workers and augments it whenever a battle is on. Accordingly, a revision of the tariff was in progress. To soothe Roebuck, they gave him a tariff schedule that would enable him to collect each year more than the total of the extraordinary expenses to which I had put him. Roebuck "forgave" me; and I really forgave Burbank.

But I washed my hands of his administration. Not only did I actually stand aloof but also I disassociated myself from it in the public mind. When the crash should come, as come it must with such men at the helm, I wished to be in a position successfully to take full charge for the work of repair.

"Sis Hopkins" is coming to the New Plainfield theatre tonight and Miss Rose Melville, the most delightful of character actresses, will be seen in her original creation of the funny little girl of Central Indiana, with her countrified way, her homemade clothing, her awkward walk, her funny little pigtails, her quaint sayings and her childish philosophy. "Sis Hopkins" is a play full of the human sympathies of honest hearts and there is running through it a trace of the genuine pathos which is forever cropping out in human nature delicately shading the high lights of this work-a-day life.

McIntyre and Heath, who are unquestionably the most talented delineators of negro characters on the American stage, will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night in Klaw & Erlanger's production of George V. Hobart's new musical novelty, "The Ham Tree." This piece was first staged at the New York theatre in August of last year, and, after a long ride toured the principal cities. Wherever seen it created a sensation. "The Ham Tree" is a serio-comic story staged in three acts, built up on McIntyre and Heath's successful vaudeville sketch, "The Georgia Minstrels." With this as a foundation, Mr. Hobart erected a comic structure which closely holds the attention of the audience from the time the curtain rises until its fall on the final scene. The scenes represent a hotel in Marion, N. C., a water tank on a railroad in Delaware, a wood near the water tank and the drawing room of a Fifth avenue mansion.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Ecru and silver, with a line of dark blue running through it, is one of the new wool voile designs.

The question of the neck ruff has been until recently a debatable one, but now it is certain that they will be even more in fashion than they were last year.

The fashionable colors for gloves are tan, champagne, gray, all the leather shades. Black and white are never really "out," so they will be worn, but are not de rigueur even for evening, for which the palest of champagne tints is reserved.

Jabots are strong features of the neckwear styles and come in many attractive forms, the prevailing length being about five inches. Some of these are slashed up the center with a contrasting material inserted, others are pointed in the center, and still others are fan shaped.—New York Post.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Rhoda A. Martin.

Mrs. Rhoda A. Martin, widow of Joseph B. Martin, died last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Chas. E. Steiner, of Jackson avenue. She had been ailing for the past three months because of her advanced age and her death was not entirely unexpected. Mrs. Martin was the daughter of Squire Runyon and Mary Leforge Runyon and was born at the old Runyon homstead at Greenbrook eighty-five years ago. She was the oldest of twelve children of whom there are now but four living. They are Mrs. Margaret Kiney, of Newark; Mrs. John R. Morris and Mrs. Cornelius Compton, of the borough, and Nelson Runyon, of the city. Her husband died about twenty-five years ago, at the time being one of the best known residents of North Plainfield. Shortly before his death he was the proprietor of a large sale and exchange stable on Grove street near Prospect place. Mrs. Martin is survived by thre daughters, Mrs. Stephen E. Miles, the wife of a Methodist clergyman who has a charge near Kingston, N. Y.; Mrs. Harry H. Moore and Mrs. Steiner, of the borough, and two sons, Horace J. Martin and Joseph C. Martin, both residing on Duer street. She was a member of the Park Avenue Baptist church and attended regularly for a long time. The funeral will be held at Mrs. Steiner's home Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Jennette B. Stowe.

Mrs. Jennette B. Stowe, mother of Miss Harriet B. Stowe, died yesterday at the home of her daughte, in the Babcock building. She was in her seventy-seventh year and came to this city from Binghamton, N. Y. The funeral will be held at Miss Stowe's home tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and interment will be at Binghamton.

Mrs. J. W. Mitchell.

Mrs. Mary Jane Mitchell, wife of Rev. J. W. Mitchell, colored, died last night at her home on West Third street, opposite Muhlenberg place. She had resided in Plainfield for many years and is survived by seven sons and four daughters. Two of the daughters are school teachers at Asbury Park. No arrangements have been made for the funeral as yet.

Jury in Skillman Case Disagrees.

The jury in the case of the State against aged William H. Skillman, former president of the New Jersey Horticultural Society, charged with forging the will of his enighbor, William R. Lanehart, retired yesterday afternoon and returned this morning without coming to an agreement. Judge Theodore B. Booream, before whom the case was tried at Somerville, immediately discharged the jury. It is said that the jury stood stood 6 to 6.

A Family Scrap.

Edward Urquhart, colored, was arraigned in the city court this morning, charged by his wife with beating her and general disorderly conduct. It looked to Judge Runyon as though both had participated in a family quarrel and he sent complainant and defendant away with a warning to behave themselves.

COMMISSIONERS NAMED

Mayor Appoints Messrs. Meeker, Wilburn and MacDonald as Sewer Commissioners.

There was an almost endless number of petitions at the May meeting of the Common Council, last night, taking up a large part of the members' time. Residents of Martine, Edgewood and Kensington avenues asked for four electric lights and a fire hydrant. F. W. Gray, of Hillside avenue, asked for permission to move a building off his farm 250 feet. Residents of Randolph road asked for two fire hydrants on that thoroughfare, and S. Sharkey petitioned for permission to remove an iron pipe awning from North avenue to the front of his property at 226 Richmond street. The Town Improvement Assosication of Plainfield and North Plainfield offered to keep the city park in repair and good condition until November 30 for the sum of $200. All of these petitions were referred to the fire and building committee, and later upon a resolution offered by Mr. Tolles the last named one was granted.

A communication from Thomas Burke and Michael Walsh, teamsters, stating that owing to the increased license fee they would be obliged to charge the city fifty cents more a day for their teams, was referred to the street committee. The request of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., for an appropriation for Memorial Day, was referred to the finance committee. Later Mr. Tolles offered a resolution, which was adopted, appropriating the sum of $100.

V. W. Nash, Sr., of Prospect avenue, petitioned the Common Council for permission to purchase certain properties on that avenue upon the payment of the amount due in taxes, he having secured equity in the same. The matter was referred to the street commitee with power.

A petition for two electric lights on Randolph road was referred to the light and trees commitee, and a petition from Muhlenberg Hospital and others asking that the property at Randolph road and Park avenue be rounded off and laid out in a park, the owners to denate the land and the city to do the work without any expense to the owners, and another petition from the same parties asking that Randolph road, between Park and Woodland avenues, be widened, were referred to the street committee.

The Board of Trade in a communication asked the Common Council to erect an arc light on West Front street, between Park and Central avenues, one on Watchung avenue, between East Front street and North avenue, and another on Park avenue, between Front street and North avenue. The matter was referred to the light committee.

The Public Service Corporation informed the Common Council that two electric lights, as ordered, have been located on West Eighth street.

Mayor Fisk appointed R. A. Meeker, S. P. T. Wilbur and Harry B. MacDonald sewer commissioners to assess benefits and damages, Mr. MacDonald taking the place of John W. Murray, Jr., resigned. Mr. Ginna offered a resolution, which was adopted, confirming the appointments. Mr. Tyler interposed an objection on the ground that it had not been considered by the street committee and he wanted it referred back to the committee. His motion was not seconded.

Later in the evening the matter of levying assessments for benefits and damages by reason of the sewer work performed by Callahan & Chamberlain was referred to the commission. The cost of this work is $10,867.20 and is to be met in the usual way.

Mayor Fisk presented the request of the Board of Trade that the city take up the question of the disposal of ashes and garbage and urged that the investigation of the subject be completed. The matter was referred to the public affairs committee.

The bond of Tax Collector J. W. Murray, Jr., referred back for correction, was returned to the Common Council by Corporation Counsel Marsh and filed. Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported the granting of thirty-four permits during the month and Street Commissioner Gavett reported that thirty-four sewer permits were granted from February 1 to April 30. Horace G. Adams, clerk of the district court, reported receipts for the past month to be $142.74, disbursements $56.09 and a balance of $86.65.

Mr. Tolles moved that when Council adjourn it be to meet on Wednesday night, May 15, and the motion was adopted. He also offered a resolution, which was adopted, transferring $2,000 from the general fund to the fire fund.

Mr. Hibbard, chairman of the light committee, presented a resolution that the Public Service Corporation be requested to submit a corrected bill, allowing for lights out and reduced candle power, for action at the adjourned meeting on May 15, and the same was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Tolles the tax ordinance was adopted on third reading and on a similar motion by Mr. Gloak, the amendment to the ordinance fixing the salary of the city physician at $500 was adopted on third reading, Mr. Tyler voting against the amendment.

COSTS $20 TO THROW PAPER IN THE STREET

ORDINANCE TO PREVENT NUISANCE PASSED ON 2D READING.

Following up the efforts of the Mayor in the matter, as well as the request of the Plainfield Mothers' Association in which the members asked that action be taken to prohibit the distribution of circulars, papers, cards, etc., other than those subscribed for by residents, about the streets, in yards and alley-ways, Mr. Tyler offered an ordinance at the May meeting of the Common Council, last night, which imposes a penalty for violations of the same. The ordinance was drafted at the request of Mayor Fisk and sent to the meeting for the purpose of immediate adoption.

The ordinance provides for a fine not to exceed $20 in each of three violations—the distributing and strewing of cards, papers and pamphlets in the streets and yards, for dumping refuse and other matter liable to decay in vacant lots and for sweeping papers, boxes, etc., on the street or sidewalk. The ordinance was adopted on first and second readings and ordered advertised.

Only a few days ago the Mayor issued a circular letter which was sent to each house in the city, as well as the public schools, requesting that extra care be exercised in this matter, and he stated that the response had been quite general in favor of the movement.

ROBERT GOLDSACH RELEASED, BAIL FIXED AT $1,000

Accused Mail Clerk's Trial to Take Place on June 18 at Trenton.

Robert Goldsach, the assistant mailing and distributing clerk at the local postoffice, who was arrested last week charged with taking money from the mails, was arraigned this afternoon at 1 o'clock for a hearing before United States Commissioner Biglow at Newark. After a brief hearing, the prisoner was released on $1,000 bail, which was furnished by two sureties from this city. Goldsach immediately returned to Plainfield.

Commissioner Biglow fixed June 18, at Trenton, as the time and place when the clerk will be placed on trial. When he was arraigned today he was accompanied by several Plainfield friends.

They forced a rear door and took goods to the value of $50. Among the articles taken were a gold filled watch valued at $20, two pipes valued at $3, a pistol, a railroad watch and cigars and tobacco worth $25. The theft was evidently accomplished at an early hour this morning a sit was late last night when Stites closed up and went home.

SIRES AND SONS.

Alonzo H. Evans, Boston's oldest bank president, at eighty-seven is robust and hearty.

Pliny F. Morgan, who recently passed his eightieth millstone, has been a resident of Nashua, N. H., for sixty years, moving there before Nashua became a city.

William Trotter, of Ripley county, Ind., enjoys the proud distinction of having driven the stage which carried Horace Greeley during part of his overland journey to California in the summer of 1859.

Premier Campbell-Bannerman, of England, unlike his predecessor, is a great reader of the newspapers and writes for them frequently. His predecessor, Mr. Balfour, boasted that while he was in office he never read the newspapers.

James J. Hill never locks his office desk and allows none of his immediate employees to lock theirs. Not long ago an employee who violated the rule found that a locksmith had opened the offending desk before his arrival the next morning.

Frederick A. Busse, the newly elected mayor of Chicago, is the second native son of that city to succeed to the office. He is the first of German descent. He is forty-one years old, a bachelor and makes his home with his father and mother.

Daniel A. Campbell, who has been appointed postmaster of Chicago, replacing Mr. Busse, just elected mayor, is a Senator and a prominent lawyer of the State. He is known as "the silent man," and his leadership in the Senate of late years has been absolute.

Professor E. Clayton Wyland of the School For the Deaf, in Frederick, Md., himself a mute, is the first person so afflicted to be admitted to membership in the Knights of Pythias. He has joined lodge No. 29 of Frederick. In order that he might be admitted it was necessary for members of the lodge who administer the degree to learn the sign language.

United States Senator William Pinkney Whyte, who has just won an acquittal for a client in his eightieth homicide case, has been in active practice for the past sixty years. His remarkable success in criminal cases is said to be due to his eloquence in pleading, simplicity of method in dealing with juries and his keenness in examining witnesses.

Alex. Lusardi, 111 West Front street, dealer in choice foreign and domestic fruits, has just received from Italy a shipment of olive oil.

AFTER EXCISE VIOLATORS

Judge Swayzey in His Charge Refers to Elizabeth's Disregard of Bishops' Law.

GRAND JURY AT WORK

Large Lists in Supreme and Circuit Courts of Interest to Plainfielders—Members of Petit Jury.

The Supreme Court and Circuit Court list of causes for the May term of the Union County Court, announced yesterday, show that the term will be a busy one. Included in the causes are no less than twenty-one against the Public Service Corporation, the damages asked for being from $5,000 to $20,000.

The Supreme Court causes of interest to Plainfielders are as follows:

Charles C. Geer against the Somerset, Union and Middlesex Lighting Company, and Harrison Construction Company, in tort; Craig A. Marsh for the plaintiff and John A. Bernhard and Scott German for the defendants. Alexander Walter, Jr., against the Public Service Corporation, in tort, Craig A. Marsh for the plaintiff and John A. Bernhard for the defendant. Raffaele Pizzo against the New Jersey Central, in tort, Craig A. Marsh for the plaintiff and George Holmes for the defendant. Andrew McCardell against the Courier-News Publishing Company, and Robert L. Lee, in tort, Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., for the plaintiff, and George W. V. Moy for the defendants, called for May 13.

In the Circuit Court these causes are of interest to Plainfielders:

Frederick L. Lancaster against Sarah A. Bready, on contract, George Ball for the plaintiff and V. W. Nash, Jr., for the defendants. There is only one case in the Justice appeal causes of local interest and that is Thomas Cogan, appellant, against Aaron D. Thompson, appellee, on contract, Craig A. Marsh for the plaintiff and Charles A. Reed for the defendant.

The following Plainfielders are members of the petit jury: Albert F. Baker, Edward H. Bowman, William H. Brokaw, Edward H. Clevely, Asa Collier, John Cory, John H. Cose, James H. Craig, Uzal B. Crane, Charles W. Eoff, Charles A. Hazeltine, Albert Hedden, J. Stephen Higham, Henry D. Hibbard, Frank J. Hubbard, Frank L. C. Martin and Joseph T. Vail.

In his charge, Judge Swayzey said:

"Gentlemen of the Grand Jury:

"I have learned that there are likely to be complaints before you of the violation of what is called the Sunday law, those violations principally consisting in the illegal sale of liquor upon Sunday. If no such complaints are made the information which comes to me is such that I think it would be your duty to investigate for yourselves. There can be no difficulty, I think, with reference to the law upon the subject, and I say nothing at present about that. Of course, at any time you desire any instruction upon that subject and will let me know, I shall be glad to give you any information in my power.

"A statute passed in 1906 enacts that no intoxicating liquor shall be sold or served under a license except in a bar or business room; that the clear interior view of the room shall be in no way obstructed; that the authority having power to grant licenses shall require that the entire interior of the room shall be open to full view from the public street upon the days when the sale of liquor is prohibited, and the licensing body may also require the room to be open to full view at all times.

"Inns, taverns and hotels having at least ten spare rooms and beds for the accommodation of boarders, transients and travelers, are exempted from this provision of the statute. It becomes important, therefore, to determine what is meant by the words inn, tavern, hotel. The three words, at least as far as we are now concerned with them, mean the same thing. Inns and taverns are the older words; hotel is a more modern word.

The "Inns and Tavern."

"An inn, tavern or hotel is a place the keeper of which publicly professes that he will receive all travelers who pay an adequate price and come in a condition in which they are fit to be received. As long ago as 1739 the Legislature of the colony of New Jersey declared tha the true and original design of taverns, inns and ordinaries was for the accommodation of strangers, travelers and other persons, for the benefit of men's meeting together for the dispatch of business, and for the entertaining and refreshing of mankind in a reasonable manner. Our present statute contains similar language, and in order that there may be no doubt that the entertainment of travelers is an essential part of the duties of the keeper of an inn or tavern, requires him to have at least two good beds and sufficient bed-clothes for the same, and to keep good, wholesome

GEO. D. HALLOCK HEAD OF THE PARK CLUB

ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS 221 MEMBERS AND GOOD FINANCIAL STANDING.

Three governors were elected, the officers chosen and reports presented at the annual meeting of the Park Club, last night. The past year has been the most successful in the history of the club, there being an increase in membership, finances and general interest in affairs. The present membership is 221. The financial statement presented by the treasurer, J. Brognard Betts, showed the club to have met practically all of its obligations, with a balance in the treasury. The bonds issued by the club are being taken care of as they mature.

Edward T. Wilson, Clifford W. McGee and Andrew McClean Parker were elected governors to succeed those whose terms of office expired. After the annual meeting the Board of Governors met and organized by electing these officers: President, George D. Hallock; secretary, H. C. White; treasurer, Clifford W. McGee. Mr. Hallock succeeds Henry A. McGee, who was president last year.

George T. Rogers, Charles L. Nichols and Henry D. Hibbard were chosen as a nominating committee for the next annual meeting.

CORPORATION COUNSEL TELLS CITY FATHERS OF WORK DONE.

Mr. Marsh Reports on Matters Pertaining to the City Business.

Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh presented a report on several legal matters at the May meeting of the Common Council Monday night. As to the application of Elston M. French for a reduction of 1906 taxes, which appeal was not sustained by the County Board of Taxation and is now before the State Board of Taxation, Mr. Marsh reported that a hearing would be held the latter part of the month.

In the case of Stephen McCormick against the city treasurer in which the latter sought to recover damages for the sale of his property for taxes, Mr. Marsh stated that the bill against the city had been dismissed without costs.

Regarding the long-standing suit of the American Sewage Disposal Company, of Boston, against the city for alleged infringements, Mr. Marsh reported that as the complainants had made no move since the court denied its injunction, he had decided to take no further action for the present.

Mr. Marsh also reported that for the purpose of permitting Plainfield to issue bonds for the laying of permanent pavement, such as brick or any other material of a similar character, he had had a bill passed at the last session of the Legislature. This question has never come up before, but now that the city contemplates permanent pavement in the business section legislative authority is necessary to permit the issuance of bonds and an ordinance will be drafted accordingly.

Aid Society Officers.

Officers were elected and reports presented at the annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Faith chapel, yesterday afternoon. The reports of the secretary and treasurer showed a large increase in members and finances during the past year. A feature of each meeting during the year has been a missionary talk and an offering received for missions. These officers were elected: President, Mrs. J. W. Musson; vice president, Mrs. John Mackey; secretary, Mrs. Edward Baker, Jr.; treasurer, Mrs. Valentine Utzinger; chairman missionary work committee, Mrs. F. W. Conger; secretary and treasurer of mission work committee, Mrs. D. Patterson.

Sewer Contract Awarded.

Bids were received and contract awarded for the construction of the sanitary and storm sewer at Bound Brook, last night. Mr. McNabb, of Bound Brook, was the successful bidder, his price being $16,000. Arthur E. Smith and Frank J. Hubbard, of this city, bid $23,500; Richards & Gaston, of Somerville, $23,000, and Jelin, of New Brunswick, $22,000. The sewer is to be built under the New Jersey Central, a creek, through meadows, a pond, under the Lehigh Valley Railroad and extend to the centre of the Raritan river, and is intended to sewer the greater part of Bound Brook.

Knights Templar at Service.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., has made arrangements to attend the Ascension day service at Holy Cross church tomorrow night, when Rev. George A. Warner will make an appropriate address. Members are requested to meet at the asylum at 7:30. Regalia is requested.

HEALTH BOARD'S WORK

Dairies Inspected by Health Officer; Permits Granted to Milkmen and Plumbers.

SOME VITAL STATISTICS

Eighteen Marriages, Thirty-three Births and Thirty-six Deaths During April.

In all sixteen cases of cummunicable disease were reported at the May meeting of the Board of Health, yesterday, there being seven scarlet fever, five diphtheria, one typhoid fever and three tuberculosis. There were four deaths from tuberculosis and one from diphtheria. Each one of these cases was thoroughly investigated with a view to discovering the source of contagion, but no connection could be found between them. They were scattered over the entire city.

During the past month considerable work was done on dairy inspection and milk analysis. Seventy-nine dairies were inspected and fifty-six samples of milk analyzed. All dairies, creameries, bottlinng places and stores supplying milk in Plainfield have now been inspected and the samples of milk analyzed. The condition of the stables and cattle found at the seventy-nine daries was as follows:

Excellent, two; good, seventeen; fair, thirty-four; dirty, twenty; very dirty, six. The milk from the dairies of John McGrath, State Brothers and Sydney Williams was excluded from the city. Permits to sell milk were granted to the following:

The health officer was instructed to allow no plans to be filed, or fees to be paid by those plumbers who have failed to renew their plumbing bonds.

During the month, the eighteenth annual report of the Board of Health was delivered and the report is now ready for distribution among the citizens of Plainfield. Copies may be obtained at the office of the Board.

DEADLY OVERHEAD WIRES

Board of Health Calls Upon Common Council to Have Menace Removed.

CURRENT 13,000 VOLTS

P. S. C. Wires Strung Above City Streets but Corporation Pays No Heed to City Fathers Demands.

Believing that certain overhead electric wires of a high tension, which are strung through some of the principal streets of the city, to be a menace and dangerous to life, the Board of Health at its May meeting, yesterday, adopted resolution, urging that the Common Council be petitioned by the Board to take such necessary action to have these wires removed or placed underground at the earliest possible date.

This matter has been under consideration at conferences held by city officials and officials of the Public Service Corporation, but without definite result thus far.

These resolutions were adopted at the meeting yesterday:

Whereas, the attention of this Board has been called to certain overhead wires of the Public Service Corporation on Clinton avenue and West Second street, used for the purpose of carrying electric current from the power station in Metuchen to the power station in Plainfield, for distribution for light and power in this city, and

Whereas, these wires carry a current of from 13,000 to 15,000 volts, and being under certain conditions, very dangerous and a great menace to life, be it therefore

Resolved, that the Common Council be petitioned by this Board to take the necessary action to have these wires removed or placed underground at the earliest date.

SONS OF VETERANS HAVE REORGANIZED

COUNCILMAN E.P.T. SMITH IS CHOSEN COMMANDER.

John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, reorganized in G. A. R. Hall, last night, under the direction of Department Commander Lawrence, of Trenton, and other department officers. The charter will be left open until Monday night. The organization started off under favorable auspices and promises to be as active as ever

These officers were elected:

Commander, Edward P. T. Smith; senior vice commander, Oliver Pearson; junior vice commander, James Stryker; secretary, F. Clarkson, treasurer, Victor Lorton; sergeant of the guard, Ray McVoy; chaplain, James Clarkson; camp guard, Charles Graves; principal musician, Edward Connelly; picket guard, Albert Naylor; camp council, Charles Graves, Ray McVoy and Albert Naylor; representative to Department Encampment, James Stryker. The encampment will meet in Newark today and tomorrow.

AUTO CASES HELD OVER.

Hearings Will Not Be Held Until Next Saturday Morning.

The automobilists arrested Sunday for exceeding the speed limit and who were ordered at the time to appear in the City Court this morning, were notified by Chief Kiely yesterday to present themselves next Saturday morning. The postponement of the hearings was thought advisable inasmuch as the meeting of officials and auto owners called by Mayor Fisk will be held Thursday night and some agreement regarding speed will probably be reached at the time. It is the Mayor's idea to have a thorough understanding of the ordinance governing autos and the owners can state their position, the claim having been set up that the majority of arrests that have been made were unjust.

There were nine auto drivers arrested Sunday and of this number three pleaded guilty and were fined. The others disputed the arresting officers' estimate of their speed and it is these cases that are held in abeyance.

Handsome Posters Displayed.

The Watchung Hunt Club is displaying handsome and attractive posters about the city and vicinity announcing the third annual steeplechase meet of the club to be held at the Gentlemen's Driving Park on May 30 and June 1. This will be one of the red letter day events for local and state horsemen and judging by the way entries are being received it will be even more succesful than previous ones.

ASH DRIVER HORSE SHOW

At the Hour of Going to Press. Result of Their Exhibition is Not Announced.

SOME GREAT TURNOUTS

Plainfield Riding and Driving Club Beat a Mile—Conway and Yettman Favorites.

Without any previous announcement of the fact other than an order from Mayor Charles J. Fisk, the first annual spring horse show of the Plainfield Ash Carters' Association took place on North avenue, this morning. As an exhibition of a certain class of equines it had anything the Riding and Driving Association ever conducted beat to a frazzle and it is improbable that any such conglomeration of rigs and nags was ever seen in the city before. No ribbons were awarded, either blue, red, yellow or white, but the Board of Health cup and the Municipal silver plate will be passed out later in the week.

The show was brought about through Mayor Fisk, who has received so many complaints about the dilapidated appearance of the carts used in the local ash service that he decided to get them all together and look them over. The owners were ordered to appear with their rigs in front of the "City Hall" at 9 o'clock and fifteen of them were present promptly on time. The mayor was unable to act in the role of judge, however, as his presence was demanded at the session of the Grand Jury so he turned the job over to Health Inspector Thurlow, Chief Kiely and a couple of assistants.

Thurlow bossed the job as he has attended nine horse shows against the chief's seven and in addition he assisted Aleck Ayers in looking over the two circuses that have appeared here recently. The showing was directly opposite the mayor's office and the two large front windows were used as private boxes. Hackmen from the North avenue station had a monopoly on the parking spaces while the fifty cent crowd looked on from the sidewalk and neighboring roofs. The newspaper correspondents were on hand ten minutes ahead of time but out of deference to the supersensitiveness of some local citizens they refrained from taking snapshots.

Deacon Spencer Conway, the dean of Plainfield's carters, was the first of the exhibitors to come before the judges and he was greeted with cheers from the onlookers. He had a prancing steed that had evidently been in the polo pony class about the time of the Johnstown flood and a wagon with the Studebaker name but the only part that came from that factory was the board that held it. Fernando Brown dashed up with a pacer that was a pippin for manners but was sadly off in its knee action. His wagon was a cross between a surrey and a brake of the Colonial type. William Campbell outshone his competitors with a vehicle that had been newly tied together with wire and appeared to be as sound as a Plainfield bond. Someone told him ribbons were to be awarded for general good appearance and he sat as stiff as a poker for the best part of a half hour before Thurlow told him he could go. When nothing was handed him he drove off in the same kind of a high dudgeon that Mrs. Gerken displayed when "Newsboy" and "Shop Girl" were defeated at Durling's.

Christopher Maden, or as he is better known, "Chris Columbus," attended the exhibition on foot, explaining to the inspectors that his doctor had informed him it would not be policy to drive down town because of his health. His excuse was accepted and he was made an assistant judge, being in a position to designate good points that might otherwise be passed over. The show occupied the best part of half an hour but the general result would not be made known by either Chief Kiely or the health officer. Kiely or the health officer. "Doc" Whelan tipped the reporters off on Prime Yettman's exhibit as a blue ribbon "come on." Moses Roth, another witness, picked Conway.

It was hinted around the city offices that Mayor Fisk, who called for the exhibition, purposely sought a place on the Grand Jury in order to escape acting as judge. For this reason no one can blame him if there is any argument or dispute about awards or recommendations to be made later on, as what action he takes will be based solely on the report of Messrs. Kiely and Thurlow.

Will Make Western Trip.

Superintendent Amos Andrews, of the Plainfield Water Works, will leave tomorrow on an extended western trip, combining business with pleasure. He will go as far as California and will also visit Arizona and other southwestern states.

FATHER OF CONSOLIDATION PLEASED WITH REPORT

Greatest Victory That the Cause Has Achieved Says William L. Saunders,

THE OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT

No Politics In Question or In Complexion of Commission, Whose Influence Will Be Felt At Trenton.

As no one man in either the city or the borough has done so much to bring about the proposed union of Plainfield and North Plainfield as has former Mayor William L. Saunders, president of the Ingersoll-Rand Drill Company of New York, his views on the report of the Bi-municipal Consolidation Commission should be of timely interest. Believing this to be the case, The Daily Press has obtained from that public spirited and whole-souled resident of the borough this comment on the report:

(By William L. Saunders.)

"The report is the strongest consolidation argument that has ever been presented to the people. The Daily Press is the only paper which understood it correctly. Instead of being an "adverse report on merger" it is a report in favor of the most complete merger possible—consolidation with annexation. The report is only adverse to consolidation without annexation. It bears evidence of investigation, study and a wise and disinterested effort to get at the truth and all the facts in this important matter. It must not be forgotten that the men composing this commission are not only in the highest sense representative citizens of both city and borough but they were chosen from among those who had either been antagonistic to consolidation or have not given the matter much attention. In other words it was expected that they would look at the whole subject de novo and without bias, prejudice or a superabundance of enthusiasm in any direction. Everybody knows that consolidation has never been a political question and this is not a political commission, the men on it represent different parties and are men of independence of thought on all questions.

"That such a commission as this should unanimously favor consolidation is the greatest victory the cause has achieved since the subject was first agitated by the Board of Trade. Great credit is due the Board of Trade for the consistent manner in which they have always stood for consolidation. We are also greatly indebted to that incomparable Mayor, Mr. Fisk, who with such admirable tact and ability has taken hold of the wheel with a determination to steer the ship to the harbors of peace and prosperity.

"The commission could not be otherwise than weigh both the pros and the cons of the subject but it is plain that the reasons for greatly outweigh the reasons against, the latter being largely academic and general. It is hoped that this commission will continue its organization and its labors until the work has been completed. The influence of such a body of men cannot but be felt at Trenton, even in so difficult a matter as the change of a county line. Fortunately no political arguments can weigh against this measure because both Union and Somerset counties are largely Republican, this is especially true of Somerset county, the fourth Congressional district of which gave in 1906 a Republican majority of 3,508. During this eelction Somerset county gave a Republican majority of 1,118. North Plainfield furnished of this majority 262, so that taking out North Plainfield's majority, Somerset county would still be Republican by 875.

"Those who have favored consolidation without annexation are not disappointed, because one could only be a step to the other and all consolidationists favors the union of these two places by all fair and reasonable means and in most thorough manner possible. After consolidation, which is now sure to come, we may look for a new era of prosperity in North Plainfield. Property values there will undoubtedly be benefited and the best part of the borough is likely to become the most desirable place of residence in the city of Plainfield. The borough will be the west end of the greater city."

DARING THIEF STEALS A GROCERY WAGON

ABANDONS IT NEAR SAMPTOWN AS PURSUING CITIZEN DRAWS NEAR.

While a boy employed by Charles O. Smith, of Liberty street, was delivering groceries in a house on Sherman avenue at 10 o'clock this morning, a man sprang to the seat of the wagon left in front of the house and drove off. He urged the horse to its best speed and disappeared in the direction of South Plainfield.

The boy informed police headquarters by telephone and the authorities at South Plainfield were asked to be on the lookout for the rig. Jacob Rubenstein, a resident of the latter place, decided to go in search of it on his own account and located it near Samptown. The thief noticed him approaching and jumping out of the wagon ran through the elds. Rubenstein was not near enough to get a good description of the fellow and did not pursue him. The rig was turned over to City Physician Lufburrow and Overseer Alex Ayers, who chanced to pass, and they returned it to the owner. The police are unable to account for the thief's action as it would have been impossible for him to have gone any great distance with a wagon bearing the owner's name.

MARTINE BOOM DINNER AT ELIZABETH MAY 29.

Banquet in Honor of Farmer Orator to Be Held in Turn Hall In That City.

Arrangements were partially completed at a meeting of the Union County Democratic Committee, in Elizabeth, last night, for the dinner to be given to James E. Martine, of "Cedar Brook Farm," who is prominently mentioned as the Gubernatorial candidate. It was decided to hold the dinner in Turn Hall, Elizabeth, on Wednesday night, May 29, and the guests will be limited to 300. At that time it is the intention of the county Democracy to launch Mr. Martine's candidacy for the Governorship.

The special committee appointed to arrange for the dinner has not yet completed its list of speakers, but it is expected that some of the biggest guns in the party will be heard. John P. Owens, of this city, has been appointed chairman of the reception committee, and the other two members are Bradley Jones, of New Providence, and W. E. Tuttle, of Westfield.

Among those who attended the meeting from Plainfield were Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., and J. V. F. Dilts.

MEN'S CLUB ENTERTAINS.

Programme Enjoyed at Congregational Church.

The entertainment given by the Men's Club, of the Congregational church, last night, which was a "ladies' night" affair and the last one of the season, was undoubtedly the best in the series. The programme was one of exceptional merit and enjoyed by a large audience.

James S. Vail, a youth who has unusual talent as a pianist, delighted all with several selections. His renditions aroused great enthusiasm and he was obliged to respond to encores.

The greater part of the programme was furnished by professional talent, DeWitt Paxton, a humorist, and Miss Edna Kimball, a soprano soloist, being the artists. Both were clever and Mr. Paxton, who was down for "Just a few stories," and he was kept busy throughout the evening responding to encores, as was also Miss Kimball. Herbert Harold, of this city, was the accompanist. After the programme the members of the club served ice cream and cake.

Miss Melville Returns.

Miss Rose Melville returned to Plainfield, last night, after an absence of six years and delighted a large audience at the local playhouse in her quaint impersonation of "Sis Hopkins." Her acting has improved greatly since she was here before and those who saw her were much impressed by her versatility in changing from the part she has made famous to a vivacious young woman just home from Paris. She was surrounded by a capable company.

Funeral of Alfred L. Randolph.

The funeral of Alfred L. Randolph was held at his late home on Liberty street yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss and was attended by a large gathering. Interment was made at Hillside, the pall bearers being Howard Randolph, Lewis Henry, C. O. Smith, George Harris, John Dunn and Fred Smith.

The Rushmore A. C., Harry E. Hann, 92 Somerset street, manager, would like to arrange games with any uniform team in Plainfield or out-of-town.

The Clinton Avenue team will play Metuchen at the latter place on Saturday.

The Mono Field Club, which has had so much success this season, having defeated three of the Inter-City Amateur League teams, will have a hard nut to crack on Saturday, when it plays the Y. M. C. A. aggregation. It is not at all likely that the Monos will enjoy a runaway match. The club will have an important meeting tonight.

R. H. Dalley and James Brown have been appointed umpires for the Inter-City Amateur League. "Wren" Townley has been selected as substitute.

In the last two games pitched by Clifford Randolph for the Clinton Avene team, he has given no bases on ball, neither has he hit a batsman.

Thus far all of the teams in the amateur league are showing up strong and there is every promise of good baseball this summer.

While much has been heard of the other pitchers in the amateur league, little has been said about Minford, who will twirl for the Y. M. C. A. nine. Much is expected of him, and his friends predict a successful season for him; also George Dupee, who will alternate with him.

McGraw changes his batting order less than any other big league manager.

Poor Brooklyn! Will someone explain the meaning of all this bad luck. One victory and fourteen defeats is enough to drive a team crazy.

The Cornell 'varsity nine has been having strenuous days of late. A seventeen inning game with Pennsylvania on Wednesday, followed by a twelve inning game with Columbia, then a 2 to 1 victory over Yale is pretty stiff work. There was not a moment in the thirty-eight innings when the Ithacans could afford to ease up.

TENNIS.

A club tennis tournament will begin at the Plainfield Country Club Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The entries close Friday night at 6 o'clock with T. M. Day, chairman of the tennis committee, 74 Carlton avenue; telephone 353-R. On Saturday morning at 10 o'clock a club tournament for women's handicap singles will begin. The entries will close Friday night at 6 o'clock with Miss Sarah Schuyler, 319 East Seventh street.

The boys' handicap singles tournament, scheduled for last Saturday morning at the Plainfield Country Club, was postponed on account of the rain, and will be played off during the present week.

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

A Great Purchase of Guaranteed
Taffeta Silk Petiicoats
To be Sold at Astonishing Prices

Here is the best story that has come from our Second Floor in many a day. Silks have jumped in cost like everything else, and everyone owning quantities of the filmy stuff is holding on for the higher price, making it increasingly difficult for manufacturers to secure material and making the transaction we have just completed all the more extraordinary.

Think of it! Here are something over seven hundred fine silk petticoats made of taffetas of the handsomest kinds, each one with the maker's guarantee sewed in, insuring you a new skirt if the one you buy should split or crack within three months—all made in the most perfect of this season's styles in a variety of colors and designs larger than is usually found in the stocks of the bigger stores—and all bought at a price that makes it possible for us to sell them to you for little more than half what you would have to pay ordinarily.

So good is the bargain we made that a big Metropolitan buyer begged the maker for a share of the petticoats so that he could make a noise, but we held fast to our fortunate find like a prospector who has found a nugget of gold.

So, tomorrow, THURSDAY, at 9 o'clock, we will offer these splendid rustling petticoats this way:

$4.90
For Silk Petticoats
Worth $7.50 to $8.98

In this lot are Silk Petticoats of Pastel and Evening Shades in a range of ten colorings, including light and dark navy, greens, grays, browns, tans, ecru, all white, and black—heavy, chiffon taffeta—not loaded with glue and chemicals but pure silk.

$7.60
For Petticoats
Worth $10 to $12.50

In this lot are all the solid colors found in the first lot as well as dainty hairline and medium stripes, Fanchin and Roman stripes; generous in size, some with deep umbrella flounces, tailor strap and accordion flounce; some finished with ruching and underlay of silk or percaline—truly beautiful petticoats.

Lack of Sunshine Brings Down Millinery Prices

There have been so few pleasant days that many have not felt the desire to wear dressy hats. As a result, though business has been good, we haven't sold near as many hats as we would like to have, and to make things go, especially hats, both trimmed and untrimmed, we are going to sell a lot at prices that bear no resemblance to their worth. For instance:

50 Trimmed Hats up-to-date in every way; pretty effects; trimmed with feathers, flowers and ribbons; everyone different; formerly $4.75, now marked at $2.95

65 Trimmed Hats for street and dress wear in excellent styles; beautifully trimmed; were $10.50, $12.50 and $15.00; now marked to go at only $7.95

Dozen Fine French Chip Hats in the most popular shapes and colors and black; regularly $1.98; priced for this movement at only ..... .95

Children's Trimmed Ready-to-Wear Hats; regularly 69c, 87c and 95c; priced for this sale at only ..... .45

A Perfect Gentleman.

"But," protested Miss Jokeley, "I assure you the stories I've been telling you were original with me. I shouldn't think a gentleman would doubt my word."

"Well," replied Brightley, "I consider it more gentlemanly to doubt your word than to believe you old enough to have originated those stories."—Catholic Standard and Times.

A SATISFACTORY REPORT.

That the consolidationists have reason to rejoice over the findings of the Bi-municipal Commission cannot be gainsaid for the investigators came to the only logical conclusion, after a most thorough and exhaustive study of the problem, that a complete merger of the two municipalities is highly desirable from an economic standpoint and that the benefits would be shared not only by the boroughites but equally so by the people of the sister community. The commissioners recommend no half-way merger; they urge that the bond of union be of the most perfect sort attainable.

The result of the investigations and deliberations was in no sense a surprise, although the commission's meetings were for the most part held behind closed doors and every precaution taken to have the findings kept secret. The Daily Press, however, told the public, exclusively, weeks ago, what the sum and substance of the report would be. Men of the calibre of those who had the matter in charge could not have found otherwise. Every common sense citizen knows that nothing would be gained by creating a city which would be in two counties. All sorts of legal entanglements would ensue and the greater municipality would constantly be placed in an anomalous position. It is therefore a satisfaction to realize that the investigators declared unequivocally and unanimously that "consolidation without annexation is impracticable."

"The logical plan to pursue," says the report, "is to secure the passage of a bill authorizing both annexation and consolidation. In our opinion it will be no more difficult to secure such legislation than it will be to secure satisfactory legislation to consolidate without annexation.

"The recommendation of the Commission, therefore, is that your Honorable bodies cause to be prepared a bill for submission to the next session of the Legislature which shall provide for both consolidation and annexation, to take effect only after a majority of the legally authorized voters of both municipalities shall have voted in favor of the same at a regular or special election held for that purpose."

It must be confessed that there has been little interest taken in the commission's work. As a matter of fact the subject has been considered by many citizens as "dead," but it is undoubtedly true that interest will be revived when the proposed referendum law for both consolidation and annexation is introduced in the Legislature. Somerset no more wants to lose its priceless treasure now than it did five or six years ago. The borough has always been a "good thing" to it and were it to lose its chief source of revenue, the county probably would be in a bad way financially. On the other hand, North Plainfield has every reason to desire to get away and become a part and parcel of Union. It has nothing in common with the rest of Somerset. Its citizens are in the main of a very different class, and by this we mean no reflection on Somerset. North Plainfield is more up-to-date and progressive in spirit; it is more like other communities in Union county.

Before dismissing the subject a word should be said regarding the valuable services rendered by the commissioners. These men represented neither Party or clique and neither did they have any selfish purposes of any sort to serve. Among their number were men who held entirely different views when they first began their investigations. Some had favored the proposition five years ago and others had just as strenuously opposed it. But in the end, there was an unanimity of opinion that Plainfield and North Plainfield are one in every respect except in law and that the sooner they became legally merged the better it would be for all conterned. The duty of the hour is to achieve that end.

In increasing the salary of the city judgeship, the Common Council did the usual thing by taking action in the right direction. If there is any office in the city government that has had niggardly pay attached to it; it has been this one. One thousand dollars is none too much for the services required, and certainly Judge Runyon earns the money.

and sufficient diet for travelers, and to give bond to find and provide good, wholesome and sufficient lodging, diet and entertainment.

Must Be Properly Equipped.

"These provisions of our statute indicate clearly that when the Legislature exempted inns, taverns and hotels with ten spare bedrooms from the regulation of the act of 1906, it meant only such places as were properly equipped for the entertainment of the traveling public. The keeper of an inn, tavern or hotel is not exempt merely because he has a license to keep an inn or tavern. He must, in fact, keep a place for the entertainment of travelers, to which they may go with a reasonable expectation of being furnished with sufficient food and lodging, and instead of the ordinary requirement of two beds required for license, the place, to be exempt from the provisions of the act of 1906, must have at least ten spare rooms and beds for the accommodation of boarders, transients and travelers. The Legislature probably thought that guests in an inn and tavern or hotel having ten spare rooms, might properly be served with drinks in their own rooms, and therefore did not limit the right to sell to a single room exposed to view from the public street.

Elizabeth's Tippling Places.

"I am told that there are many places in the city of Elizabeth licensed as inns and taverns not kept as such, but as mere tippling places. Such places are not exempt from the provisions of the act. If the Board of Excise has not directed that they be open to full view from the public street on Sundays, Election Day and other days when liquor is prohibited to be sold, it should do so at once. If the Board of Excise has given the direction required by the statute, and anyone not exempted has failed to comply with the order, he should be indicted for keeping a disorderly house. I assume that if the Board of Excise has failed to give the direction required by the statute, it has done so innocently through misunderstanding of the law and not wilfully. If it has failed wilfully the members are liable to indictment for failure to perform their public duty.

The Thorn Case.

"There is another matter of such a serious nature as to require special mention. In March last James Thorn was shot and killed by George Hollins. Thorn was at the time assisting Clarence Buckley who was employed by Hollins' mother to care for her furnace and removing ashes. The time was between 5 and 6 o'clock in the morning, and therefore, at that season of the year, in the night time. Hollins' excuse is that he thought the two men were engaged in a burglary. If they had actually been engaged in a burglary Hollins would have been justified, and no crime would have been committed. In fact, however, his act in shooting was unlawful, and the resultant homicide was a crime. Whether it was murder or manslaughter depends on whether the situation would have led a reasonable man exercising due caution to believe that the two men, Thorn and Buckley, were engaged in a burglary, and to act on a sudden impulse and without reflection. If so, the crime is manslaughter only.

Shooting of Bennett.

"There is still another matter to which I must direct your attention. One J. J. Bennett was shot in the back and dangerously wounded. The shot is said to have been fired by one Joseph Buckley. Bennett, I am informed, is likely to recover. If the facts appear before you as I have stated them, Buckley is indictable for an atrocious assault and battery. Before finding an indictment for that offense, it would be well for you to be assured that Bennett will recover, for if death results the indictment must be for a more serious offense.

"Buckley may, however, be guilty of another offense for which an immediate indictment would be proper. By an act of 1905 any person who carries a revolver, pistol or other deadly weapon or firearm concealed in or about his clothes or person is guilty of misdemeanor, unless he has a permit from the Mayor of the city in which he resides or the governing body of a municipality not having a mayor, if he resides in such a municipality. If the evidence leads you to believe that Buckley was carrying a dangerous weapon concealed in or about his clothes or person without a permit, he is liable to indictment. The language of the statute as I have stated it seems plain enough, and but for a suggestion made to me in another county, I should think it unnecessary to say more, but in view of that suggestion I ought to say that you would be justified in believing the weapon to have been concealed if shortly before its use the accused did not appear openly to have such a weapon. Whether it had been concealed in an interference which you may draw from the facts of the case. This statute is obviously one of great importance, and its strict enforcement will do much to preserve the public peace and prevent crimes of violence."

Celebrated Birthday Anniversary.

Miss Mabel Hamilton, of Verdon street, gave a party at her home last night in honor of her birthday anniversary. The evening was spent playing cards. Clarence Smalley won the prize for the men, and Miss Helen Smalley and Marcus Hoyt were tie for the women's prize, the latter taking the place of a woman. On the draw Miss Smalley received the prize. Those present were the Misses Catherine Chambers, Helen Smalley, Hilda Toense, May Hanlon, Florence Smith, Margaret Kennedy, Mabel Hamilton, and Taylor Mehaffey, Lou. MacLaughlin, Marcus Hoyt, Clarence Smalley, Frank Emmons, Lester Hamilton and Leon Harris. Demolli was the caterer.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of Ebenezer Baptist church gave their pastor, Rev. P. T. Morris, a reception, Saturday evening, when they presented him with a suit of clothing.

The W. C. T. U. will hold a sewing meeting in its rooms tomorrow from 10 o'clock in the morning until 4 in the afternoon. Friends who wish to participate are asked to attend, bringing lunch and sewing.

In the current number of St. Stephen's Messenger, there appears an excellent picture of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, accompanied by an interesting sktch of the parish from the pen of Mrs. M. A. Grannatt, as follows:

"Services were first held in the parlors of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis, of Evona avenue. Bishop Scarborough, a warm friend and college class-mate of Mr. Lewis, while visiting at the latter's home, held a morning service for the family and a few neighbors, friends of the family, after which he appointed Mr. Lewis lay reader on April 24, 1876.

"The services continued there for five years, when through the zealous efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, subscriptions were solicited at home and abroad and on October 6, 1881, the corner-stone of the church was laid, and on April 12, Easter Day, 1882, the edifice was opened for services to the public.

"The untiring efforts of those good people did not end here; they realized the need of a parish house and on May 27, 1893, the corner-stone of the parish house was laid. Soon after this Mr. Lewis was called to his rest and a well-earned tablet to his memory is placed in the church over the new his family once occupied. The church and parish house being declared free from debt was duly consecrated. Services are held regularly and although we are still a mission we are confidently looking forward to the time not far distant when we will become a parish church.

"The Sunday-school is well attended, an average of 80 per cent. in attendance. W. E. W. Moore is the superintendent. The Ladies' Guild is indeed the right hand to the trustees in aiding them in every way a most genial cordial circle of willing workers. At the last meeting the membership was increased by three. A fair will be held in the parish house early in June, the proceeds to be used in decorating and carpeting the church."

"Missions in the Philippines."

An unusually interesting paper on "Missions in the Philippines," prepared by Mrs. John D. Runyon, was read by Mrs. George H. Robins at the monthly meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, yesterday afternoon. Referring to the domination of Spain from the time of Philip II, after whom the islands were named, Mrs. Runyon told of the American occupation in 1898 and the establishment of Protestant missions. She described the home schools, industrial schools, medical work, the translation of the New Testament in the native language and the building of churches following the departure of the friars. The devotional service was led by Mrs. Charles H. Smith and current events were given by Mrs. G. F. Brown.

Married in Undertaker's Office.

William J. Frey, twenty-one years old, a machinist in the Manhattan subway, who says he resides at No. 791 West Side avenue, Jersey City, and Miss Henrietta M. Leavey, nineteen years old, of No. 43 Ege avenue, were married by Justice of the Peace E. P. Golden last night in the undertaking office of William J. Moran, on Montgomery street, Jersey City. The witnesses were Miss May Williams and John D. Boyd. The bride when asked if the marriage was an elopement refused to say anything. Frey said the bride's father objected to the union.

More Lots Sold and Several New Buildings Started.

A number of sales of lots have been recently made at Highland Park, among them a sale of seven lots to Enoch Berry, who has agreed with the Highland Park Realty Co. to build four houses on Leland avenue, through which street the city is about to put a sewer. The water company is now running its mains through Highland Park, and the five houses started by L. W. Spear have been sold by Elston M. French to the Highland Park Realty Co., and they are nearing completion.

Many other houses are to be built by purchasers of lots, and Highland Park bids fair to become an important addition to Plainfield.

The new plants of the Vacuum Cleaner Co., the Rushmore Dynamo Co., the Rogers Silver Plate Co. and the Automobile Supply Co., located in this section of the city, will employ in all about 600 men and there are practically no vacant houses in which then can live. Enterprising builders can do no better than to build a large number of dwellings in this section.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The chorus of Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Ham Tree," in which McIntyre and Heath are the stars, booked for presentation in this city at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night, is a remarkable one. It consists of sixty young girls ranging from eighteen to twenty-two years of age and twenty young men, not one of whom is over twenty-two. They are carefully selected for their ability as singers and dancers. They introduce their songs and dances throughout the performance. The beauty of the girls and the attractiveness of the boys add a great interest to this production, which is recognized by all critics as the funniest show now on the stage. McIntyre and Heath appear as minstrels in the first and second acts and as an an Indian Rajah and Ranee in the third. They, with Belle Cold, the comedienne, who plays the role of Desdemona, are the only three black-face characters in the piece. All the other parts are white and are played by notable actors and actresses, among them W. C. Fields, the tramp juggler; Frederick V. Bowers, the popular tenor and song writer; Jeanne Towler, Carolyn Gordon and Alfred Fisher.

Professor J. C. Monaghan, chief of the consular division of the bureau of manufacturers, has resigned from that position with the intention of taking uplecturing. He has made a fine reputation as a speaker since going to Washington and is looked upon as one of the readiest talkers in that city.

Colonel Hugh Scott, who has been more successful than any man in the army in capturing savage chiefs, both in this country and the Philippines, owes part of his prowess to his remarkable understanding of the sign language as used by the North American Indians. He mastered it in the west in the beginning of his career.

Obeying Orders.

A celebrated specfalist to whom time was money, and who had an imperious temper, made it a rule that all patients should undress before entering his consulting room so as not to waste any of his time. One day a meek little man entered with all his clothes on.

"What do you mean by coming in like that?" asked the doctor in a rage. "Go and strip at once."

"But I"—faltered the man.

"I tell you I've no time to waste," yelled the doctor, and the man left the room in haste. When his turn come he re-entered the room. "Now then," said the doctor, "that's better. What can I do for you?"

"I called to collect your subscription for the benevolent society."

SHORT TALKS BY
L. T. COOPER.
LIVER TROUBLE.

A dull, sluggish liver always brings a dull, sluggish feeling to the entire body.

MICHAEL SILK.

When the liver works properly the blood courses through the body in a bright red stream. When the liver is inactive the blood becomes dull and muddy, and it is full of poisonous matter.

A great many people try to get a fine, clear, pink and white complexion by rubbing things on their faces. They might rub a life time and the same yellow complexion would remain—for the liver causes it. Only bright, red blood brings fine complexions. Blood loaded with impurities from the liver sends the impurities out through the pores of the skin and turns the skin a brownish yellow.

To get rid of the dull, heavy feeling and muddy, yellow complexion get the liver to working again. Two bottles of Cooper's New Discovery will do this, nine times out of ten though sometimes it takes four or five bottles.

Here's what a man who tried it says:

"My health had been poorly for several years. My face was yellow and covered with pimples, I was bothered constantly with chronic constipation, had little or no appetite and could not sleep well at night. I became weak and lost all ambition. I tried many different medicines but nothing seemed to help me until I began taking Cooper's New Discovery. It seemed to help me at once. Now, after I have taken several bottles I feel entirely well. My face is clear, I sleep well, have a good appetite and am quite myself again."

"I am deeply grateful for my restored health." Michael Silk, 24 Kentucky Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

CHAPTER XXXII.

A Glance Behind the Mask of Grandeur.

Not until late in the spring of his second year did Burbank find a trace of gall in his wine.

From the night of his election parasites and plunderers and agents of plunderers had imprisoned him in the usual presidential fool's paradise. The organs of the interests and their congressional henchmen praised everything he did; I and my group of congressmen and my newspapers, as loyal partizans, bent first of all upon regularity, were silent where we did not praise also. But the second year of a president's first term is the beginning of frank, if guarded, criticism of him from his own side. For it is practically his last year of venturing to exercise any real official power. The selection of delegates to the party's national convention, to which a president must submit himself for leave to re-submit himself to the people, is well under way before the end of his third year; and direct and active preparations for it must begin long in advance.

Late in that second spring Burbank made a tour of the country, to give the people the pleasure of seeing their great man, to give himself the pleasure of their admiration, and to help on the congressional campaign, the result of which would be the preliminary popular verdict upon his administration. The thinness of the crowds, the feebleness of the enthusiasm, the newspaper sneers and flings at that oratory once hailed as a model of dignity and eloquence—even he could not accept the smooth explanations of his flatterers. And in November came the party's memorable overwhelming defeat—reducing our majority in the senate from 20 to 6, and substituting for our majority of 93 in the house an opposition majority of 67.

"I talked with him early in January and was amazed that, while he appreciated the public anger against the party, he still believed himself personally popular. "There is a lull in prosperity," said he, "and the people are peevish." Soon, however, by a sort of endosmosis to which the densest vanity is somewhat subject, the truth began to seep through and to penetrate into him.

He became friendlier to me, solicitous toward spring—but he clung none the less tightly to Goodrich. The full awakening came in his third summer when the press and the politicians of the party began openly to discuss the next year's nomination and to speak of him as if he were out of the running. He was spending the hot months on the Jersey coast, the flatterers still swarming about him, and still assiduous, but their batteries falling upon ever deafer ears as his mind rivetted upon the hair-suspended sword. In early September he invited me to visit him—my first invitation of that kind in two years and a half. We had three interviews before he could nerve himself to brush aside the barriers between him and me.

"I am about to get together my friends with a view to next year," said he through an uneasy smile. "What do you think of the prospects?"

"What do your friends say?" I asked.

"Oh, of course, I am assured of a renomination—" He paused, and his look at me made the confident affirmation a dubious question.

"Yes?" said I.

"And—don't you think my record has made me strong?" he went on nervously.

"Strong—with whom?" said I.

He was silent. Finally he laid his hand on my knee—we were taking the air on the ocean drive. "Harvey," he said, "I can count on you?"

I shook my head. "I shall take no part in the next campaign," I said. "I shall resign the chairmanship."

"But I have selected you as my chairman. I have insisted on you. I can't trust any one else. I need others, I use others, but I trust only you."

I shook my head. "I shall resign," I repeated. "What's the matter—won't Goodrich take the place?"

He looked away. "I have not seriously thought of any one but you," he said reproachfully.

I happened to know that the place had been offered to Goodrich and that he had declined it, protesting that I, a western man, must not be disturbed when the west was vital to the party's success. "My resolution is fixed," said I.

A long silence, then: "Sayler, have you heard anything of an attempt to defeat me for the nomination?"

"Goodrich has decided to nominate Gov. Ridgeway of Illinois," said I.

He blanched and had to moisten his dry, wrinkled lips several times before he could speak. "A report of that nature reached me last Thursday," he went on. "For some time I have been perplexed by the Ridgeway talk in many of our organs. I have questioned Goodrich about it—and—I must say—his explanations are not—not wholly satisfactory.

"I have come to the conclusion that you were right about Goodrich, Sayler. I am glad that I took your advice and never trusted him. I think you and I together will be too strong for him."

"You are going to seek a renomination?" I asked.

He looked at me in genuine astonishment. "It is impossible that the party should refuse me," he said.

I was silent.

"Be frank with me, Sayler," he exclaimed at last. "Be frank. Be my friend, your own old self."

"As frank and as friendly as you have been?" said I, rather to remind myself than to reproach him. For I was afraid of the reviving feeling of former years—the liking for his personal charms and virtues, the forbearance toward that weakness which he could no more change than he could change the color of his eyes. His moral descent had put no clear markings upon his pose. On the contrary, he had grown in dignity through the custom of deference. The people passing us looked admiration at him, had a new sense of the elevation of the presidential office. Often it takes the trained and searching eye to detect in the majestic facade the evidences that the palace has degenerated into a rookery for pariahs.

"I have done what I thought for the best," he answered, never more direct and manly in manner. "I have always been afraid, been on guard, lest my personal fondness for you should betray me into yielding to you when I ought not. Perhaps I have erred at times, have leaned backward in my anxiety to be fair. But I had and have no fear of your not understanding. Our friendship is too long established, too well founded." And I do not doubt that he believed himself; the capacity for self-deception is rarely short of the demands upon it.

TO AILING WOMEN.

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer in Plainfield.

No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the urine when the kidneys are well are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. Kidneys and bladder get inflamed and swollen, crowding the delicate female organs nearby and sometimes displacing them. This is the true cause of many bearing-down pains, lameness, backache, sideache, etc. Uric poisoning also causes headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatism.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that cures sick kidneys. You will get better as the kidneys get better, and health will return when the kidneys are well. Let a Plainfield woman tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. O. C. Moore, of 63 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "My kidneys were diseased for years and I also had trouble with my heart. I have endured the severe torture of a backache that comes from diseased conditions of the kidneys and likewise those heavy dull aches in the head. Many nights I have been unable to rest at all, and when I awoke in the morning my limbs would be so stiff and sore that I would be obliged to slide out of bed. When I caught cold it always settled on the kidneys and any little strain or over-exertion that involved the muscles of my back would cause intense pains. I have doctored with physicians at Washington, D. C., and here at Plainfield, but none of their medicines ever did me the good that I got from Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's pharmacy. This remedy went right to the seat of the trouble, dispelled the pains and aches, corrected the kidney derangement and made me feel like a different person."

PARK GOLF CLUB DATES

Large Number of Trophies Offered in Various Tournaments for the Season.

ANNOUNCE CONDITIONS

Play Begins Saturday and Ends on Election Day—Mr. McCutchen President of Club.

The golf committee of the Park Golf Club has announced its schedule for the coming season, which opens Saturday, and in all respects it is the most attractive yet offered. One strong feature is the presentation of monthly cups by individuals and the club. In addition to the President's cup, offered by C. W. McCutchen, there is the Golf Club cup offered by W. J. Buttfield; Hydewood Park cup offered by Louis K. Hyde and the July, September and October cups, offered by the club, in addition to the various holiday events and prizes. The schedule follows:

President's cup, weekly competition, beginning May 11 and continuing up to and including Election Day, November 5. This is a handicap competition, 18 holes, medal play, on the point system. The cup shall become the personal property of the member winning it three times.

Golf Club cup, offered by W. J. Buttfield, weekly competition, scratch, 18 holes, medal play, open to all members. Same conditions as for President's cup.

Hydewood Park cup, offered by Louis K. Hyde. Handicap competition, 18 holes, medal play, open to all members, to be played for on May 25, May 30; every Saturday in June; July 4.

July cup, offered by the club. Handicap competition, 18 holes, medal play. Every Saturday during July.

September cup, offered by the club. Handicap competition, 18 holes, medal play, except for the finals which will be match play. September 2 and every Saturday during September.

October cup, offered by the club. Handicap competition, 18 holes, medal play, except for the semi-finals and finals which will be match play. Every Saturday during the month of October. Points to be scored as for the Hydewood Park cup. The four contestants who score the greatest number of points to qualify for the semi-finals, to be played Saturday, November 2; the winners to meet in the finals on Tuesday, November 5.

The holiday events include play on Memorial Day for the Holiday cup, members' handicap competition, 18 holes, medal play; approaching and putting contest—mixed couples, suitable prizes for the winning couple.

Independence Day (July 4)—Holiday cup, Members' bogy handicap, 18 holes, match play; approaching and putting contest.

Labor Day (Sept. 2)—Holiday cup, members' handicap competition, 18 holes, medal play. The contestants may play thirty-six holes, the best selected eighteen holes to count; approaching and putting contest, suitable prizes to the winning couple.

Election Day (November 5)—Holiday cup, members' handicap competition, 18 holes, medal play; approaching and putting contest.

Handicaps will be adjusted each week on the scores made for the President's cup with a net score of ninety as a basis. Players making a net score of more than ninety will have one-third of the excess added to their handicap for the next contest and those making a net score of less than ninety will have one-third of the difference deducted from their handicap, provided that not more than three strokes shall be added to any player's handicap between one contest and the next one.

Winners of points for the President's cup will also have deducted from their handicap for the next contest as many stokes as they have scored points for the cup in the last competition. No more than thirty strokes for eighteen holes will be allowed to any competitor.

Morse; green committee, Reuben Knox, chairman; Alexander Gilbert, Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll; house committee, Miss Lydie Loizeaux, chairman; Miss May Shreve, Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Goodrich, A. W. SIX POISONED BY A POT-PIE DINNER.

Uncertain that Ptomaines So Seriously Affected Hagaman Families Near Mt. Holly.

Joseph and Stanford Hagaman and their families, six persons in all, developed most alarming sysptoms of poisoning immediately after eating dinner yesterday in Joseph's house at Smithville, near Mount Holly, N. J. Only prompt medical treatment saved the two men, who had eaten most heartily of meat pot pie.

Abbie Frake, Joseph Hagaman's sixteen-year-old stepdaughter, was the only one in the house who was not taken ill; she had helped to prepare the dinner and waited at table. When Abbie saw the others suffering she ran to the nearest neighbors, a quarter of a mile away, and notified them.

Dr. William P. Melcher, called by telephone, hurried from Mount Holly. He is inclined to attribute the poisoning to ptomaines, a product of putrefaction in the meat. But all the Hagamans say the meat, which was bought from a Smithville butcher, was perfectly sweet. The Burlington county authorities may investigate the poisoning.

Joseph Hagaman and his wife live on the farm of Daniel Ewan, whom a farm hand, William Heideman, stabbed nearly to death recently. Heideman is serving a twelve-year sentence for the crime. Stanford Hagaman, his wife and their two children, Norman and Elizabeth, are visiting Joseph.

Scarcely had they finished their dinner when they became dizzy and faint and suffered extreme weakness and pain. Joseph Hagaman started to go to his work in the Smithville Machine Works, but before he got out of his front yard, he fell unconscious. His brother, Stanford, was seized with cramps and fell senseless while trying to get into the air.

The wives of both men suffered great dizziness and pain, while the two children, who had eaten little, were the least affected.

AUTO SPEEDERS BEWARE OF THE BOGIE MAN

JERSEY'S BOGIE CAR WILL GET YOU IF YOU DON'T WATCH OUT.

Trouble awaits automobilists who violate the speed limits of New Jersey. James R. Smith, State commissioner of motor vehicles, today placed in service a high speed auto to be used in running down offenders. Inspectors will tour the State in the machine, looking for trouble. The sleuth machine has a possible speed of sixty-five miles an hour and the inspectors will know no limit in the pursuit of offenders.

To prevent watchers from "spotting" the sleuth car and giving an alarm, the color and number of the State machine will be frequently changed and other deceptions will be practised to enable the inspectors to nab speeders.

Governor Stokes has not yet signed the bill appropriating $5,500 for the State auto and there is considerable adverse comment because of the premature purchase, but Commissioner Smith explains that teh machine is needed at the very beginning of the auto season. The makers will wait for their money until the bill is signed.

Bills Signed by Stokes.

Among the bills signed by Governor Stokes yesterday were these: S. No. 233, Mr. Hutchinson—Provides for t heretirement on half pay of all teachers in the public schools who have served in that capacity for thirty-five years. At least twenty years of this time must have been under the employment of the board of education making the appropriation. S. No. 262, Mr. Frelinghuysen—Provides for the payment by the State of seventy-five per cent. of the cost of transportation of pupils attending school in a district other than in which they reside.

Champion Leaping Dog Killed.

"Rex," one of Leon W. Washburn's champion high jumping and leaping dogs, was killed during the performance of the Washburn circus in this city, last night. In its anxiety to leap over a high barrier, the animal did the trick before a landing mat was placed in position and its neck was broken by the fall. The dog was one of the best jumpers in the country and was valued by Mr. Washburn at $1,000.

Medical Journals for the Library.

The Board of Directors of the Public Library, at the month meeting, last night, subscribed to four medical journals for the library, the expense to be defrayed by Alexander Gilbert at his request. On motion the president was empowered to appoint a committee of two to act with him in making up the budget for the next fiscal year, the same to be reported upon at the next board meeting.

Isn't This Cute?

That James E. Martine, the "farmer" orator, really has a gubernatorial bee, is attested by his request that when his friends in Union tender him that dinner for the launching of his boom, they invite Messrs. Holy Cross Winners.

Holy Cross nine defeated Cedarcroft Academy yesterday afternoon by a score of 8 to 7. On Saturday, the Central Railroad nine, champions of Elizabeth, was defeated by Holy Cross by a score of 25 to 5.

COURT DECIDES TO DIVORCE MR. ROGERS.

Vice-Chancellor Stevens, at Newark, announced yesterday he had decided to advise a decree of divorce to Ernest R. Rogers, of Belleville, against Lillian R. Rogers. The decision was announced in court while argument of counsel was under way.

The case had several hearings before the Vice-Chancellor, and Mrs. Rogers entered a cross bill as part of her defense. The Vice-Chancellor listened to James R. McDermott, counsel for Mrs. Rogers, but informed Rogers' counsel, Ralph Linn, that it was not necessary for him to make an argument.

The Court thereupon said that the testimony clearly showed guilt on the part of Mrs. Rogers with John M. Sweeney, the co-respondent. The testimony against Rogers brought to sustain the wife's cross bill was dismissed by the Vice-Chancellor as insufficient and contradictory.

Mrs. Linn asked for the custody of the four children of the couple for the husband, but the Court announced that this question would be decided later.

Rogers is superintendent of the DeWitt Wire Cloth Works at Belleville, where he and his wife reside. Sweeney was formerly employed as bookkeeper under Rogers, and was on friendly terms with Rogers, and his family.

The incident that led to the divorce was the discovery last fall by Rogers of his wife and Sweeney in a private dining-room in a Newark restaurant.

MORTGAGE FOR $400,000 FILED WITH REGISTRAR.

Executed by the Rahway Valley Railroad Company to Secure An Issue of Bonds.

A mortgage executed by the Rahway Valley Railway Company to the Chemung Canal Trust Company, of Elmira, N. Y., as trustee, has been filed in the office of County Registrar Frank H. Smith, at Elizabeth.

The mortgage was given to secure an issue of $400,000 in five per cent. gold bonds and covers all the rolling stock, trackage, buildings, used for railroad purposes, franchises, receipts and profits of the company as well as any other properties, franchises or other material acquired at any future time.

The bonds are for $1,000 each and are due July 1, 1931. Interest is payable on January 1 and July 1 of each year without deduction of any tax under any present or future laws of the United States or any State. There is a provision in the mortgage for the redemption of the bonds on July 1, 1909, or on any interest period thereafter.

Another provision relieves the officers and stockholders from any individuality and sets forth that the mortgage is of corporate import only.

The Rahway Valley road extends from Summit to Aldene. It was organized February 28, 1905. The mortgage was issued pursuant to a resolution adopted at a meeting of the officers and directors held on April 9 last.

ROYAL ARCANUM ELECTS OFFICERS.

Grand Council of New Jersey Holds Annual Session at Lakewood.

The Grand Council of New Jersey, Royal Arcanum, held its election at Lakewood yesterday. The administration faction carried everything.

Henry R. Ward, of Excelsior Council, Jersey City, was elected grand regent, defeating John R. Weeks, of Corinthian Council, Newark, by a vote of 119 to 73.

When the "antis" found they could not elect the grand regent they made no fight for the other places. The other officers chosen were:

Grand Vice-Regent, Theodore S. Class, of Westfield, who defeated Henry Hollinshed, Jr., of Camden, by a vote of 130 to 60; Grand Orator, Prof. J. M. Arnold, of Princeton; Grand Secretary, Alberts; Grand Treasurer, William C. PROCLAMATION TO PUPILS

State Supt. Baxter Advises Dr. Maxson on Observance of Jamestown Day.

PROGRAM IS OPTIONAL

Letter to the Boys and Girls to Be Read In Plainfield Schools—Exposition Day, May 13.

Superintendent Charles J. Baxter, of the state department of public instruction, has sent to the superintendent of Schools H. M. Maxson a circular letter and a copy of the proclamation issued by Governor Stokes, calling for the commemoration on May 13 of the landing of the English colonists at Jamestown, three centuries ago.

The letter of the State superintendent which Dr. Maxson has ordered read follows:

"My Dear Boys and Girls:

"A few weeks ago, it was my pleasure to send you a letter from President Roosevelt addressed 'To the School Children of the United States.' Though it was received too late to form a part of your exercises on April 12, I hope it served to strengthen your interest in Arbor day and to give you clearer and broader views of the purpose of its annual observance.

"I believe it is now quite as important that I should write to the school children of New Jersey, and in obedience to the governor's proclamation I shall briefly dwell upon the 'historic settling and the far-reaching importance' of the settlement of Jamestown, Virginia.

"This settlement was made just 300 years ago, and during an era of exploration and conquest, with a view to the enlargement of empire. Spain, France and England were rivals in these explorations and each was anxious to pre-empt as much of the 'new world' as possible.

"In 1606 two trading companies were organized in England, one in London and the other at Plymouth, which we are quaintly told, 'were formed of sundry knights, gentlemen, merchants and other adventurers.' Queen Elizabeth having died and King James the First having come to the throne, these companies secured from him a charter which granted them 'all the lands * * * rivers, mines * * * fishings (and) commodities whatsoever * * * all along the said cost (of Virginia).' Said charter also enjoined them 'to search for all manner of mines of gold, silver and copper.'

"On the 20th of December, 1606, 'after many prayers and sermons in various churches,' the Jamestown colonists, 105 in number, 'besides 50 or more mariners,' were sent out from Blackwell, England, by the London company. They sailed in three vessels: the Susan Constant of 100 tons, the God Speed of 40 tons and the Discovery, a pinnace of 20 tons. Said colonists were discribed in the passenger lists as 'six counselors to govern the rest, 48 gentlemen, four carpenters, 12 laborers, one blacksmith, one sailor, one barber, one bricklayer, one mason, one tailor, two doctors,' making 78 in all. The remaining 27 passengers not being described, we can only conjecture their character. No women were sent to Jamestown until a few years later.

"The historian tells us that the 12 laborers were mostly footmen or attendants on the gentlemen and that the expedition had particular orders to search for mines of precious metals and to seek for a passage to the East India sea.' It will, therefore, be seen that the general make-up and intent of the explorers were not such as to give large promise of the tenacity of purpose subsequently displayed, and of the success which followed. The great majority of them were certainly not the kind of men we would select to subdue the wilderness and establish homes therein.

"After a perilous voyage of four months in vessels which would not, in this day, be regarded as seaworthy, they were caught in a furious storm, which drove them into Chesapeake bay. Crossing its wide mouth, they landed at a point on the western shore which, because of its wealth of fragrant flowers, its soft breezes and soothing quiet they named Point Comfort, a name it has retained to this day. After a two days' rest at this favored spot, the wearied voyagers sailed northward on a broad and placid river, which, in honor of their king, they named the James.

"On the north bank of this river, 32 miles from its mouth, they came to a high peninsula, on which they landed and at once began 'to raise a fortress with the ablest and speediest means they could.' Said fort occupied all their time for a month, and subsequently proved to be the beginning of the first permanent English settlement planted on the American continent. This site was chosen both

WARRING YOUNG COUPLE AGREE TO DISAGREE

JUDGE RUNYON TRIES TO BRING ABOUT A RECONCILIATION WITHOUT EFFECT.

Mr. and Mrs. James McConnell, of West Front street, appeared in the city court this morning to air a series of domestic grievances before Judge Runyon and seek his aid in settling their troubles. Each made charges of incompatability of temper and other ailments, while Mrs. McConnell declared her husband had a habit of coming home in the throes of a "brain storm" and making life miserable for her. McConnell asserted his wife wouldn't let him in when he tried to go home and as a result he had been staying away most of the time.

The magistrate tried his usually effective persuasive powers to have the two make up and resolve to begin their married life all over again but without success. Neither would yield a point and at their own solicitation he sanctioned their agreeing to disagree. McConnell will stay away from the house altogether but will contribute $8 a week to the support of his wife and their child. He is a machinist by trade and has worked in various local shops.

CITY COURT EXILES AN UNDESIRABLE FOREIGNER

MAN CONVICTED OF GROSS MIS-CONDUCT MUST LEAVE COUNTRY.

John Germaine, a new arrival in the country who was arrested Monday for gross misconduct in the presence of children on their way to school, was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning. Through his counsel, Francis J. Blatz he entered a plea of guilty but leniency was asked for on the ground of intoxication. He was fined $10 and sentenced to sixty days beside but the latter was afterward suspended on his agreeing to go back to his native land.

Germaine's case is similar to several others the police have had to do with lately and Judge Runyon has determined to deal severely with every one brought before him.

P.S.C. VS. THE DEMON RUM

Trolley Co. Takes a Crack at the Whiskey Drinking Habit.

NOTICE IN CAR BARNS

Corporation Instructs Trolley Employes That They Must Not Enter Saloons in Uniform.

Now the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey has girdled up its right arm and has pasted the demon rum a mighty wallop in the eye. Just what effect the wallop will have remains to be seen, but any trolleyman found drinking in a saloon in uniform will be peremptorily suspended from duty until he can pass a place of refreshment without turning an eye in its direction.

For some time past complaints have been coming in to the managers of the different divisions that many of the men have been in the habit of frequenting saloons in a more or less degree while in uniform. The complaints have come for the most part from the wives of the trolleymen, who complain that they do not get all that is coming to them in the line of wages from their lords and masters. The majority of the women have laid the blame on the demon rum.

It does not require an astute mind to figure out that the joy juice signs hold out red letter invitations to a man who has a dry whistle and who is wetly inclined. This fact it did not take the powers that be in the Public Service long to figure out. Booze might hold out its arms, but, said they, woe to the trolleyman that accepted the invitation to come and make merry while in uniform.

The first intimation the motormen and conductors had that there was war on between the Public Service and the demon rum was when a notice was posted in every barn in Hudson county in the form of a general order. General orders come from headquarters, and are not to be despised. The order read that any trolleyman found drinking in a saloon while in uniform would be at once suspended and his case taken under advisement. The rule has been in force several days, and thus far there have been no suspensions—not even in Hoboken.

The war on rum is but another step in the fight that the Public Service is making to keep clean the morals of its working force and to make better workmen of them. Something less than a year ago the first morality order was issued by the company. That order forbade gambling on the part of all employees of the company and any breach of the order was punishable with dismissal.

The City Beautiful.

Mayor Fisk, of Plainfield, has made an earnest appeal to the people of that town to maintain the reputation of "The City Beautiful." He urges co-operation in keeping streets, business blocks and vacant lots free from refuse. Plainfielders always were proud of their beautiful city, and it should not require much urging on the part of their chief magistrate to prevent them from falling into careless if not slovenly ways in the matter of the appearance of their streets We do not believe, however, that there is much danger from this source. At the same time, it was well for Mayor Fisk to issue a reminder for those who might become lax. His action shows that he has the best interests of the community at heart, and wants Plainfield to remain "a thing of beauty and a joy forever" to the eyes of visitors.—Elizabeth Journal.

"Dahlman" Disabled.

Robert S. Whittaker, the well-known circus performer whose home is on East Fifth street, has been compelled to cancel a season's engagement with the Walter L. Main show because of the illness of his trained horse, "Dahlman." The equine is suffering from a rheumatic attack and is undergoing special treatment at the hands of Dr. Voorheis, Somerville. "Dahlman" is twenty-one years old and has been owned by Mr. Whittaker for nineteen years, performing steadily every season since he became his property.

TOO MANY WOMEN THERE

SESSIONS AT ROSELLE

Union County Delegate Scathingly Rebukes "Child Slave Holders"—To Meet At Orange.

With the singing of the New Jersey State song the members of the State Federation of Women's Clubs ended their spring meeting yesterday at Roselle. Nearly one thousand women were present from all parts of the State, but lack of accommodations made it necessary for many of them to return to their homes without attending the convention.

The business of the session was transacted in the morning. The most important action taken at that time was the decision to hold the next autumn meeting in Orange. An invitation was extended from Atlantic City, but was not accepted, Orange being the popular choice.

The only important considerations taken up by the federation were the subjects of civic training in the public schools as exemplified in the "School City," and the question of child labor. On the first subject the principal address of the day was made by Wilson L. Gill, originator of the school city method of self-government. It is expected that the outcome of his address will be a general movement by women's clubs throughout the State in support of the city training system, of which he is the founder.

On the subject of child labor Mrs. James W. McClary, of Rahway, Union county, chairman of the State Federation, delivered a scathing rebuke to "child slave holders." She suggested as a design for the New Jersey shield "the figure of a woman with her hands on a child's head, emblematic of the days past when tyrants made slaves of the infants of the State. Her remarks were centred particularly upon the abuses practised in the glass factories in the southern part of the State.

Miss S. Elizabeth Demarest, of Passaic, a member of the Forestry Committee, recommended the study of nature by the members of the Federation during the coming summer. Mrs. Andrew J. Newberg, of Jersey City, also of the Forestry Committee, presented the idea at great length before the session.

The resolution committee, consisting of Mrs. Francis L. Gillman, of Montclair, president of the Research Club; Miss Ada Fuller, of Jersey City, president of the New Jersey Women's Dress Club; Mrs. Charles Winkleman, of Bayonne, president of the Athenian Club, of that city; Mrs. Marious G. Billoni, of Glen Ridge, president of the Women's Club of that place, and Mrs. Price Collard, of Jersey City, president of the New Jersey Division, International Sunday School Society, passed resolutions of sympathy for the family of the late Vice-President, Mrs. Charles T. Dodd, of Glen Ridge.

By resolution the School City question was referred to the Education Department to confer with the General Federation. It was also resolved that a committee of seven be appointed by the chair to organize a New Jersey Peace Society. In addition to the above, resolutions of thanks were passed expressing gratitude to all who aided in making the convention a success.

On June 4, 5 and 6 the members of the State Federation plan to attend the Jamestown Exposition, where their quarters will be at the Inside Inn. The annual General Federation next year will be held in Boston, it was announced at yesterday's session.

Upon taking the chair yesterday morning Mrs. Henry H. Dawson, of Newark, the president of the State Federation, remarked that in answer to an invitation extended to Andrew Carnegie to attend the convention she was informed that he was ill.

The session yesterday afternoon was given up almost entirely to a musical programme. The address of the afternoon was delivered by Mrs. Jeanne de la M. Lozier, of New York, on the subject "Club Ethics." The gist of her remarks found expression in the phrase "All for each and each for all."

Sr. and Not Jr.

A slip of the types made it appear in yesterday's Daily Press that Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., had attended the meeting of the Union County Democratic meeting Tuesday night. It should have been Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., as Mr. Hetfield, Jr., is not identified with the Democratic party.

Pink-eye in Rahway Schools.

An epidemic of pink-eye has broken out in the Rahway schools, several of the teachers, as well as scores of the pupils, being affected with the disease.

PLAN BIG GOLF TOURNEY

One-Day Metropolitan Contest on Plainfield Country Club Links on June 15.

W. J. TRAVERS COMING

Another Metropolitan Tournament For Women On May 28—On May 25 Big Tennis Contest.

The trustees of the Plainfield Country Club dined at the clubhouse Tuesday night as guests of the secretary, James P. Murray, after which plans for the season were completed. For the first time since the club started, it will hold a one-day "Metropolitan Invitation Golf Tournament," on Saturday, June 15, with six cups as prizes. Prominent golfers, including W. J. Travers, are expected to engage in the competition.

On Tuesday, May 28, the club will give a one-day invitation tournament to the women of the Metropolitan district, for which suitable prizes will be given.

On the afternoon of May 25, the men's doubles of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association will start, finishing on Decoration Day, and at the same time, the women's singles of the same association will be run off. All prizes in these two events are given by the association.

Another departure will be on July 13, when the club will give a one-day tennis tournament for men's doubles, open to members of the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association, and invited guests.

The social features at the clubhouse will begin on Saturday, May 18, with an opening tea, with music afternoon and evening. Music will be continued for dinners and dancing on Saturday evenings after that date, until further notice. The club having assumed full charge of the restaurant, formerly conducted by Mrs Lena Hellstrom, the house committee has engaged Mrs. Catherine Quinn, so well-known in social circles for her lunches and dinners, to have supervision of the cuisine. This insures to the members an opportunity of having unusual facilities for giving formal lunches and dinners.

During the business meeting four active, two non-resident, one associate and fifteen junior associate members were elected. For play during the season there are fifteen tennis prizes, seven women's golf prizes and twenty-eight men's golf prizes.

Clark, resigned. These officers, together with one more person to be appointed by the president in the fall, comprises the executive committee. After the election the meeting adjourned till next fall.

COUNCILMEN DISCUSS THE OVERHEAD WIRES

ACTION TO BE TAKEN AGAINST P. S. C. IS NOT DIVULGED.

The Police Affairs Committee of the Common Council met last night to discuss a number of matters referred to it at previous meetings of the council. The discussion was of a preliminary nature, and among the most important questions taken up was the one in reference to the high tension feed wires maintained overhead by the Public Service Corporation. It is the intention of the committee to exercise its full rights in the matter.

The aim of the committee at present is to ascertain its rights and advice will be sought before any action is taken. It is said that the Public Service Corporation officials have been and are acting rather arbitrary concerning requests for improvements and changes and do not show a disposition to co-operate with the council committee. While there was much discussion at last night's meeting there was no definite action taken.

ENTERTAINMENT IN ST. STEPHEN'S PARISH

"LADY WISTERIA AND HER COURT" THE ATTRACTION.

"The Lady Wisteria and Her Court," together with a carnival proved an enjoyable affair at the parish house of St. Stephen's church, yesterday afternoon and evening. The young women of the parish had full charge of the affair. The rooms were decorated with wisteria and the tables and booths were attractively arranged with all kinds of flowers.

In the afternoon several tableaux were given by the children under the direction of Miss Blanche Miller and Miss Catherine Curtis. There was also a children's entertainment, in the evening, recitations being given by Miss Dorothy Smith, Miss Lolita Weekes, Miss Anna Smith and Miss Gladys Hadley. Besides there were instrumental selections.

Among the many attractions were the "bearded lady," a fancy dressed chicken; "lemon lady," Mrs. H. S. Guinn; "Wonder Well," Miss Phillips. R. H. McCready was the fortune teller and F. H. Hebert was in charge of the shooting gallery. The members of St. Ann's Guild served chafing dishes and Mrs. J. H. Bulkley presided at the candy table and Miss Carrie Mulford the novelty table. There was also a sale of hats in charge of Mrs. C. H. Haywood and Miss Walsh. Miss Mamie Erickson looked after the fish pond. The affair will be continued this afternoon and evening.

POLICE LOCATE MAN WHO TOOK GROCERY RIG.

His Name Is Boward Rusman and He Appears to Be Lacking in Mental Capacity.

Members of the local police force succeeded in locating at South Plainfield, last night, the man they assert made off with Groceryman C. O. Smith's delivery wagon yesterday. He proved to be Boward Rusman, a German, who has been employed by George Voehl and who has given evidence of mental weakness. He was found wandering around the tracks of the Lehigh Valley Railroad and was in danger of getting killed.

It looked to the police as though Rusman had been hurt somewhere and Chief Kiely had him removed to Muhlenberg Hospital. The authorities there say there is nothing the matter with him but he will be detained for a day or two until it can be decided what to do with him.

Rusman has not been at Voehl's for several days and the theft of the grocery rig yesterday was evidently the result of a brain storm that came upon him while he was wandering around.

Funeral of Mrs. Jeannette B. Stowe.

The funeral of Mrs. Jeannette B. Stowe was held yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Miss Harriett B. Stowe, in the Babcock building. Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the officiating clergyman. The body was sent to Binghamton, N. Y., this morning, for interment. Mrs. Stowe's death was occasioned by a choking spell which came upon her while she was alone in her daughter's apartments Monday. A violent effort to clear her throat caused a blood vessel to burst and she died before assistance could reach her.

Mrs. Esther Milligan, of West Fifth street, has moved to Orchard place, occupying the house recently vacated by Dudley Miller.

AT WAR OVER PROPERTY

Husband and Wife Arrayed Against Each Other in District Court Case.

WOMAN IS VICTORIOUS

Hickings Had Lease From Houston But Latter's Better Half, Who Holds Title, Gets Possession.

The first climax to what is probably the most important landlord and tenant case that has ever engaged the attention of the District Court, occurred yesterday, when acting upon instructions from Judge Newcorn, Sergeant-at-Arms Hezekiah Hand served a warrant of removal, issued April 12, upon William Hickings, who occupied the premises at 935 West Front street, in the rear, owned by Mrs. Frederica Houston, wife of Isaac Houston.

Following the issue of the warrant, by consent of counsel, it was not served immediately, the understanding being that an amicable agreement could be reached. This was found to be impossible and last Friday Sergeant Hand notified the defendant that possession would be demanded. He was given until the first of this week to move. Mr. Hickings said that he would not move and that his position was supported by Isaac Houston, who claimed an equity in the property.

Yesterday Mr. Hand visited the place, where he was met by Mr. Houston. He demanded the former's authority for proceeding against the tenant. This was shown, whereupon Mr. Houston said that he would not allow the officer to cross his property to reach the house occupied by Mr. Hickings as he considered it trespassing. A heated argument and a lively tussle followed, in which Mr. Hand came out on top. He then proceeded to the house, where he found Mr. Hickings awaiting him.

"I'll not leave the place," declared the tenant, whereupon Mr. Hand replied: "You will have to get out, here if I have to use force to accomplish my purpose." Mr. Hickings declared that he was acting upon the advice of his counsel, William DeMeza.

Just then Mr. Houston put in an appearance and it looked as though there would be more trouble, but moral persuasion Mr. Hand induced Mr. Hickings to vacate the premises. Both the tenant and Mr. Houston threatened to bring suit against Mr. Hand and Mrs. Houston.

Mrs. Frederica Houston, who is the second wife of Isaac Houston, claims that the property at 935 W. Front street belongs to her. On December 31, last, she served a notice on William Hickings, the tenant, that she would demand the premises on April 1. He claimed to hold a lease given by Isaac Houston and refused to move. She then brought action in the district court for possession of the premises and accordingly summons were issued April 12, returnable on April 9. On the latter date Mrs. Houston proved that the possess notice had been served and that the property was in her name.

At the time, Mrs. Houston's husband appeared as a witness against her. The lease given by Mr. Houston, dated October 1, 1905, was offered in evidence, but later was thrown out because the wife had proved the right of property. Mr. Hickings offered his receipts book showing that the rent was paid to date. At the conclusion of the hearing judgment was rendered for the plaintiff and against the defendant. On April 12 the warrant of removal was issued at the request of Mrs. Houston.

Some sympathy is expressed among the neighbors, it is said, for Mr. Houston. They say that he worked hard for many years to accumulate a sufficient amount of money to purchase the property at 935 West Front street and erect a new dwelling on the land. It is alleged that during a period of financial trouble Mr. Houston placed the property in his wife's name and that now she is using her rights in an alleged arbitrary manner. Mr. Houston has been ill for some time and only recently was discharged from the hospital.

W. S. Angleman has been engaged as counsel by Mr. Houston, while Francis J. Blatz represents Mrs. Houston. Mr. Hickings has employed W. G. DeMeza as his lawyer.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

McIntyre and Heath, in Klaw & Erlanger's production of George V. Hobart's musical novelty, "The Ham Tree," will be the attraction in this city at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night. This is one of the funniest and most interesting shows now on the stage. It was first presented at the New York theatre in New York, where it made two long runs, and since then has been seen in Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Chicago and other large places. In each of these cities the New York verdict was repeated. McIntyre and Heath are undoubtedly the greatest impersonators of negro character. In this production they are surrounded by a great company of over 100 people, they appearing to better advantage than at any time during their career. Their old skit, "The Georgia Minstrels," has been incorporated into the new play in such a clever way that it becomes a part of the story, and in the second act they keep an audience convulsed by their funny description of their straits as stranded minstrels. Throughout the piece thewel musical numbers are presented by the principals and chorus. "The Ham Tree" is most elaborately mounted with magnificent scenery brilliant costumes.

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

PROGRAMMES OUT FOR BIG GOLF TOURNAMENT

WILL BE HELD ON NASSAU COUNTRY CLUB LINKS.

Programmes are out for the ninth annual championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf Association, to be held over the links of the Nassau Country Club on May 22, 23, 24 and 25. There will be a thirty-six hole medal play qualifying round, as usual, while the first thirty-two will continue for the championship, and the third and fourth sixteens will compete for prizes, as well as the defeated sixteen of the first thirty-two. On Friday, May 24, there will be the Metropolitan Club pairs four-ball match, eighteen holes medal play, teams to consist of two players, both of whom must be members of the same club. The best ball of players at each hole is to count, and a club may enter more than one team.

The Metropolitan handicap, at eighteen holes medal play, open to all members of clubs belonging to the Metropolitan Golf Association, will be held on Saturday, May 25, at 10 a. m. Any player not rated on the handicap list must present, before starting, a letter from his club secretary or his club handicapper, stating how many strokes he receives from some player of his club who is rated on the Metropolitan printed handicap list. If no such letter is presented, or if said information is not sent in by his club secretary with his entry, the tournament committee reserves the right to give any such unrated player a low handicap, or even to place him at scratch.

Chief among the prizes will be the Metropolitan Golf Association championship trophy, presented by Daniel Chauncey. This trophy will remain the property of the association until it shall have been won three times by the same person, playing from or representing the same club. Until permanent possession of the prize passes from the association it shall be held each year in the custody of the club whose representative shall have won a leg on the trophy at the last championship. The name of the winning player and the club he represents will be engraved on the trophy each year.

The Metropolitan Golf Association championship golf medal will be awarded to the winner of the championship. There will also be a gold medal for the runner-up, for the best score in the qualifying round, for the winner of the third sixteen and for the winner of the fourth sixteen. The President's cup will go to the winner of the defeated sixteen of the first thirty-two, and there will be two gold medals for the winning team in the four-ball match and a banner for the club represented by the winners. There will be a silver cup for the winner of the handicap and a gold medal for the player turning in the best gross score.

Last year Jerome D. Travers, of Montclair, not only won the title, but led the field in the qualifying round. All the match play rounds save the final will be at eighteen holes. The tuornament committee consists of Paul Wilcox, chairman; Simeon Ford and John R. Maxwell, Jr.

Entries for the championship must be made through secretaries of clubs, and will close at the office of the secretary of the association, No. 25 Broad street, Newark, at noon on Saturday, May 18.

Among the rules adopted by the Park Golf Club for the coming season are these: There must be at least six players competing for scores to count. Competitors must register with time in the entry book before starting in order to qualify. Competitors must play together except with the permission of the golf committee. In such cases there must be a scorer present. Scores turned in on Saturdays for the monthly cups shall count also for the President's cup. Scores turned in on holidays may count for both the monthly trophy and Holiday cup. The golf committee reserves the right to revise this schedule whenever, in its judgment, it may seem desirable.

The Park Golf Club has adopted the same plan for the services of caddies as the Plainfield Country Club. The charge is 15 cents for the first hour or fraction and five cents for each additional twenty minutes.

It is to be regretted that the women members of the Plainfield Country Club, as well as the Park Golf Club do not take a more lively interest in the game. There is scarcely another course in the metropolitan district where so few women take an interest in the play as here.

There will be unusual interest in the Y. M. C. A. game with the Monos on Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon, especially because the latter team has defeated three amateur league aggregations this season. Minard will pitch for the Y. M. C. A.

If the Y. M. C. A. team can secure the services of Walter Nelson as catcher it will be a ten-strike for the nine. He is unquestionably one of the best back-stops in this vicinity.

Heyniger, the Tiger pitcher, is improving all the time and it is now the rule for him to win his game for Princeton.

Clinton Avenue will journey to Metuchen on Saturday to meet the team from that place. It looks like a victory for the Plainfield boys.

Thus far Phil. Smith has not shown off to the best advantage. In the first league game in which he took part for Elizabeth against Easton, he pitched four innings and was largely responsible for the defeat. After the contest had been won, he walked six men while in the box.

The Elizabeth Stars will probably play Pittsburg at the Port on Sunday. Last Sunday's contest ended in an unsatisfactory manner. "Rube" Waddell was pitching for the Athletics, and it is said that the umpire gave him the worst of every decision. Discouraged he attempted to leave the grounds in the ninth inning with the score a tie, 2 to 2. He was persuaded to return and merely tossed the ball over when a home run was made, and the Stars won out.

Judging from newspaper reports and those who attend the games the Atlantic League teams at this end of the circuit are not drawing the crowds hoped for. There is a rumor that the Elizabeth nine is to be transferred to the Bronx because of a lack of support.

"Jimmie" Montross has not secured a permanent berth, although he has had several offers. He would be an acquisition to any minor league nine and it is not likely that he will be idle.

TENNIS.

The tennis courts at the Park Club are being put in first class condition for the season's play. The committee will soon announce its schedule of events, which include several team matches.

Plainfield, N. J., May 9, 1907.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR.

Assigning ill health as the cause, former State Senator William M. Johnson has withdrawn from the gubernatorial race. His decision not to become a candidate for the nomination was not unexpected, but he has set all reports to the contrary at rest by coming out today in a signed statement in which he says that he is out of the running. He adds that the approaching campaign will be a hot one but that there seems no reason to believe that the Republican party will not win.

Mr. Johnson was undoubtedly the strongest opponent with which State Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, the only avowed candidate, had to contend and now that the Bergen county man has quit, the chances of Somerset county's peerless one have naturally increased a considerable degree. If Frelinghuysen's friends could only induce the friends of Justice J. Franklin Fort that their favorite could not stand the strain of the contest and had better expend his eloquence in behalf of another, there would be perfectly smooth sailing ahead for him—unless the powers that be in the inner councils of the party decide upon a candidate more acceptable to the followers of State Senator Colby. As the situation presents itself at present, however, "Papa Joe" is the man of the hour.

SUNDAY SELLING INVESTIGATION

In defiance of the majesty of the law, Elizabeth's saloonkeepers, it is commonly reported, have been running their places wide open on Sundays. The deplorable condition of affairs in this respect at the county seat has become so notorious that the grand jury in obedience to the charge of Judge Swayzey is making a rigid investigation. But while this is going on, one is led to ask, where are the officers of the law whose sworn duty it is to see that the statutes are obeyed? Where have they been all this time? Would it not be well for the grand jury to look into this phase of the matter? If it be true that saloonkeepers have been flagrantly violating the provisions of the Bishops' bill, are not the officers of the law in that city guilty of neglect of duty or in other words of malfeasance of office?

This aspect of the subject will bear a little scrutiny.

The death of A. D. Mulford causes a vacancy on the board of trustees in charge of the State Mutual Building and Loan Association's affairs. As a considerable portion of the much run down concern's stock is held by Plainfielders, it is but fair that one of their number be selected as a trustee. Local stockholders have suggested the name of W. A. Woodruff and a better choice could not be made.

Kaiser's Friends Loyal.

Friends of Sheriff John C. Kaiser, of Hudson county, still were declaring yesterday that his arrest for alleged participation in a game of draw poker was part of a political plot hatched by followers of Mayor Fagan. They declared the whole proceeding would be exposed at the trial of the Sheriff, should he be indicted by the Grand Jury. All the men who were in the saloon at the time Patrolman Scheffmeyer put Sheriff Kaiser under arrest will testify that the game was pinochle and not poker as alleged by the policeman. The Grand Jury which will hear the evidence will be drawn by Coroner Bunnell.

—The first annual minstrel concert and cake walk will be given by the waiters of Truell Court, at the Court, tonight at 8:30 o'clock. PROCLAMATION TO PUPILS on account of its natural beauty and because it commanded a broad view in nearly every direction, and thus prevented the Indians from approaching the colonists under cover and attacking them unawares.

"Many years afterward the action of the river currents converted the peninsula into an island and carried the ashes of many of the brave colonists to the sea. Their sufferings were greater than it is possible for us to conceive. Sixty of the 105 who landed on May 13, 1607, were laid at rest on the shores of the James before the frosts of the first autumn. It is to the lasting renown of the English race that as fast as their numbers failed they were replaced by others. Of the first 7,000 settlers who came over in the early years, more than 6,000 perished 'in the seasoning.' Believing their sufferings were for 'the kingdom of God and the kingdom of England,' they faced death in every form, and faced it bravely.

"Though the settlement of Jamestown was entirely fortuitous, it long continued an important centre of interest. Here for the first time on the American continent a log cabin was built by Englishmen, and an English village established. Here for the first time on this continent the holy rite of baptism was administered, an English marriage was solemnized, an English child born (Virginia Dare was not born on the main land, but on Doanake Island), and a trial by jury held. Though several hundred of the colonists were massacred by the Indians in March, 1622, and Jamestown was burned by the insurgents under Nathaniel Bacon in 1676, it continued to be the seat of the colonial government of Virginia until 1699. It was also for a brief period the virtual capital of empire, for the first colonial assembly ever held in America was convened here in June, 1619.

"The settlement of Jamestown marked an important epoch in the history of the world. Here was planted the fruithful seed of future English predominance in the new world; here was laid the durable foundation of a nation of freemen who 160 years later assumed the grave responsibilities of complete independence; here was first established the Anglo Saxon civilization, and here first began the real history of the United States.

"Great achievements are usually accomplished by a very narrow margin, and the settlement of Jamestown was not an exception to this general rule. Because of the hostility of the Indians, the scarcity of food, sickness and even pestilence, the colonists were several times on the verge of abandoning the settlement in despair. Had it proved a failure, it would have discouraged other English enterprises of a similar character, and we would not now, in all probability, be able to read the history of our glorious country with so great a degree of pride and satisfaction.

"As measured by ordinary standards from May 13, 1607, to May 13, 1907, is a long period. But for the building up from a vast wilderness, overrun by hostile savages, the most powerful, prosperous and progressive country on the globe it is but a short time. The history of the United States furnishes the most wonderful and fascinating section of the annals of the human race. No other chapter of the story of the nations records a development so marvelous. No work of fiction can approach our country's history in interest and power.

"This great country, boys and girls, is yours and mine, and we should never, for a minute, be so thoughtless or so vain as to regard it as an inheritance to which we are richly entitled. We should be grateful to the brave pioneers who subdued the wilderness and prepared the way for us, grateful to the patriots who achieved our independence, grateful to the heroes who preserved the union, grateful to the able statesmen whose counsels have prevailed in perilous times, grateful that our lot has been cast where we are our own master and have unlimited opportunities for development, and, above all, grateful to Him who presideth over the destinies of nations and who hath in His mercy preserved ours.

"The Jamestown exposition was opened on April 26, and will continue until November 30. As this period includes your long summer vacation, some of you will undoubtedly be able to attend it. The managers of the exposition have promised to reproduce the original Jamestown as nearly as possible, together with a typical Indian village of that time, also to have exast reproductions of the three vessels—the Susan Constant, the God Speed and the Discovery—riding at anchor. These you should not fail to see. The Jamestown site is 35 miles from the exposition grounds, but can be easily reached by safe, cheap and convenient excursion boats.

"Trusting that the observance of the 300th anniversary of the landing of the English colonists at Jamestown will serve to strengthen your pride and love of country, and cause you to read its history with renewed interest, I am,

"Very sincerely yours,

"C. J. BAXTER,

"State Superintendent."

STATE WILL PROBE STONE ROAD COST

GOV. NAMES COMMISSION TO SEE IF ROCK IS CONTROLLED BY TRUST.

Pursuant to a joint resolution passed at the recent legislative session, Governor Stokes has named the five commissioners who are to investigate the reasons for the increasing cost of stone roads in this state. They are State Road Commissioner Elijah C. Hutchinson, of Trenton, Winthrop E. Scarritt, of East Orange, John E. Darnell, of Masonville, John Albertson, of Magnolia, and D. D. Denise, of Freehold.

The resolution under which the committee will operate was introduced in the legislature by Senator Robbins, of Burlington. In its preamble it stated that the cost of the stone roads has increased at an alarming rate, having practically doubled during the last five years. The supposition is that the crushed stone for road construction is controlled by a trust. If this can be proven to the satisfaction of the committee, that body is authorized to investigate and report upon the probable cost of the State's acquiring its own quarries and crushers.

AUTO TOO SLOW IN RACE WITH DEATH.

Man It Was Carrying After Running Him Down Dead at Hospital Gate.

Peter Magin, eighty years old, of No. 195 Orange avenue, Irvington, was struck and fatally injured yesterday afternoon at Springfield and Union avenues by an automobile, in which were William W. Pryor, of No. 227 Roseville avenue, Newark, and John L. Prewitt, chauffeur, of No. 158 North Fifteenth street, East Orange. The machine ran down the old man as he was crossing the avenue.

Pryor and Prewitt picked up Magin, placed him in their car and then raced against death to St. Barnabas' Hospital, Newark.

When the hospital was reached it was found that death had won, as the aged victim expired on the way. His ribs and chest had been crushed.

Pryor and Prewitt were placed under arrest at the hospital. They asserted the accident was not their fault and that they were not exceeding the speed limit when the old man stepped from the sidewalk, directly in front of the car and too close to enable them to avert striking him. The two men were released on bail. Both will be charged with manslaughter.

The Newark police said that a man giving the name of John L. Prewitt, of East Orange, a chauffeur, employed by an automobile concern at No. 213 Clinton avenue, Newark, was arrested in Plainfield last Monday on two complaints for exceeding the speed limit.

Girl Mourns Her Money.

Phillipsburg, N. J., May 9.—Dobrick Colman, clerk in the postoffice at Alpha under Richard Applegate, the absconding postmaster, is missing. Colman had papers which showed he had paid Applegate $500 as security for his position. The money was given him by a woman whom he took with him when he left Alpha. The couple went to New York, Colman telling the girl he would marry her when he got there. Instead he left her on a street corner and took a train for Chicago. The girl has returned to Alpha, heart sore and minus $900 more, which she had given the man when they left Alpha. He has a wife and family in Hungary.

Cranford, May 9.—While at work at Walnut street and South avenue, here, yesterday, Jeremiah Hurley, of Elizabeth, an electric light company employee, touched a live wire and received 2,400 volts through his body.

John Grogan, a fellow-employee, who was on an electric light pole nearby, saw Hurley's plight and severed the wire quickly enough to save the victim's life.

The shock knocked out several of Hurley's teeth and tore off the heels of his shoes. He was taken to an Elizabeth hospital. It is said he will recover.

Red Bank, May 9.—Mrs. Arthur Lucas is still in quest of her missing husband, who disappeared so mysteriously yesterday after a honeymoon of only one day. Charles Seme, of Perth Amboy, who is held in jail at New Brunswick on a charge of murdering Pasquale Pari, of the same city, was indicted again for murder yesterday afternoon by the Grand Jury under the name of Angelo Moncure. This makes the third indictment found against the man.

He was first indicted for atrocious assault. Then Pari died and the murder indictment was handed in. Since then Chief of Police Burke, of Perth Amboy, has learned that the man was also known as Angelo Moncure, so it was thought wise to indict him under that name too.

WIFE DESERTED, GETS DIVORCE

Mrs. Grace Dalrymple's Husband Disappeared Three Years Ago.

Mrs. Grace Dalrymple, of Hackensack, was yesterday notified that Chancellor Magie had granted her an absolute divorce from her husband, Joseph Dalrymple, with the privilege to use her maiden name. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Spencer.

Joseph Dalrymple disappared mysteriously three years ago, while employed in the bank of the Citizens Trust Company in Paterson. Nothing has been seen nor heard of him since. The divorce was granted on the ground of desertion.

Divorce for Hartman.

Vice-Chancellor Stevens granted yesterday at Newark a decree of divorce to Joseph J. Hartman from his wife, Anna M. Hartman. In giving the decision, the Court said it was called on to decide as between the story told by the defendant and the co-respondent and the complainant and three detectives as to their respective versions of the incident of July 1, 1905, in the Hotel Victor in Frelinghuysen avenue. Careful analysis of the evidence made it inconceivable that the story told by the co-respondent could be true. James M. Trimble, counsel for Mr. Hartman, asked the Court to direct that the costs be put on Robert C. Erb, the co-respondent. As Erb was not present the Court reserved decision as to the costs.

Historical Society.

The New Jersey Historical Society at its annual meeting yesterday at Newark, elected the following officers: President, Mrs. M. Antoinette Quinby, Newark; vice president, Mrs. Garrett A. Hobart, Paterson; second vice president, Mrs. Thomas J. Craven, Salem; corresponding secretary, Mrs. James J. Bergen, Somerville; recording secretary, Mrs. Sydney N. Ogden, Newark; treasurer, Miss Rose Murphy, Paterson, and assistant recording secretary and historian, Miss Ginevra Freeman, Orange. Mrs. J. Hugh Peters, of Englewood, and Mrs. John O. H. Pitney, of Newark, resigned from the Board of Managers.

He served throughout the war in the Fifth Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers. He was badly wounded at the battle of Chancellorsville. He is survived by a wife and three sons—Edward, Frank and George Luster.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

May 12: "Accounting For Our Time." (Epworth League Anniversary Day.) "Let your loins be girded about and your lamps burning."

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

Passages for reference—John ix. 4; Gal. vi. 5-10; Col. iv. 5; II Pet. iii. 10, 11.

It is well that we should observe anniversary days and review all the way in which we have come. It is wise to rejoice in the growth and prosperity which have been given us in these years since our beginning in that little church in Cleveland. It has been a path marked by great mercies and rich providences in which God has directed our footsteps.

If we do not do it in a spirit of boastfulness, it is also well to mark the growth of our numbers and take a world survey of the membership of our league fellowship. It gives us a new sight of our obligations, of our bonds of kinship, our opportunities for usefulness and our prospects and needs.

By all means make this anniversary mean as much as possible to the local chapter. Look over the ground you are now trying to cultivate and note the condition of each department of work. If either one is lacking in energy or deficient in wise planning, give immediate attention to the lack and bring up the work to the proper level, remembering that the weakest part must bear the strain and no chain is stronger than its weakest link. Do not try to do the easiest thing at hand. This will lead some chapters to run only the social work and others to have nothing but the spiritual department and still others to hold nothing but meetings for literary culture. Those who do only one of these will be likely to despise those who do anything else. All of them are at fault. All departments are needed in every place, and in all except the most unusual circumstances the whole work can be better carried forward than merely a part.

Do the very best work possible. It will require time, patience, devotion and indomitable perseverance. It will drag at times in spite of all your efforts. Keep at it. If you cannot get through one way, try another. If you cannot get over or through a difficulty, try going around. In some way get there. If you find no way, either make a new one or trust God until He opens one.

We are to keep the lamps lighted—not a few, but all of them.

In some places those who did the league work ten years ago are the ones who carry it now. They are not as young as they used to be. Of course they know a great many things and can do much in better fashion than the younger folks can, but nevertheless it is almost time that some of the younger ones were worked in and shown how to do some things and the responsibility put upon them. In some places there are none of the older ones in the league, and this is a bad state of affairs. Whatever your condition and wherever you are, look over the whole field, see what you are and what you are doing and then study the conditions closely and find how you can improve matters. When you see clearly where the advance can be made, then talk it up and get at work and accomplish the desirable task.

We have no business to do less than our very best. Search out the retiring ones who need to be brought out and developed. Cultivate the things lacking. It is a serious mistake to neglect any line because it is not liked so much as another. Do not push those who push themselves.

Make some discoveries. There are plenty lying right at your door looking up into your face trying to catch your eye and be found out. Open your eyes and find them. Make the most of all your material and time.

God Understands.

No room for a discouraged or depressed feeling is left you. If your sphere is outwardly humble, if it even appears to be quite insignificant, God understands it better than you do, and it is a part of His wisdom to bring out great sentiments in humble conditions, great principles in works that are outwardly trivial, great characters under great adversities and heavy loads of incumbrance. Let it fill you with cheering and exalted feeling, however deep in obscurity your lot may be, that God is leading you on, girding you for a work, preparing you for a good that is worthy of His divine magnificence. If God is really preparing us all to become that which is the very highest and best thing possible, there ought never to be a discouraged or uncheerful being in the world.—Horace Bushnell.

Do Not Fret.

Let us not live fretful lives. God will never stretch the line of our duty beyond the measure of our strength. We ought to live with the grace of the flowers, with the joy of birds, with the freedom of wind and wave. Without question this is God's ideal of human life. We are expected to do no more than we can do with the time granted us, with the tools, the material and the opportunity at our disposal. We serve no Egyptian taskmaster who watches to double the tale of bricks, but a generous Lord who waits to make our duty our delight.

If our love were but more simple,
We should take him at his word.
And our lives would be all sunshine
In the sweetness of the Lord.

—Rev. William L. Watkinson.

It Leads to Light.

Self is the only prison that can bind the soul;
Love is the only angel who can bid the gates unroll,
And when he comes to call thee arise and follow fast;
His way may lie through darkness, but it leads to light at last.

—Van Dyke.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 12.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Lessons from the patriarchs. IV. Joseph.—Ps. cv. 16-24.

Joseph was the eleventh son of Jacob and the firstborn son of his beloved wife Rachel. He was born in Mesopotamia about 1746 B. C. He is first mentioned in sacred history when, as a youth seventeen years of age he brought evil reports of his brothers to Jacob, their father, and thus aroused their enmity. This enmity was increased by the fact that he was the favorite son of his father and that this partiality had been shown by giving to Joseph a "coat of many colors," a long tunic with sleeves worn by youths and maidens of the richer class." Joseph's dreams, by which his future power over his brethren was foreshadowed, added new fervor to their hatred. Being sent on an errand to them by their father when they were in the fields, they determined to kill him, but instead they sold him to a band of Ishmaelites going to Egypt. Here he was sold to Potiphar and soon rose in power; but, being falsely accused by Potiphar's wife, he was thrown into prison, where he remained for at least two years and then was released and placed in high position for interpreting a dream of Pharaoh foretelling seven years of plenty and seven years of famine. Joseph was given entire charge of preparation against the famine and proved a great success. He saved Egypt and even his own family. Through the famine all his brethren and finally his father came to Egypt. Jacob died in Egypt but at his own request was sent back to Canaan for burial. Joseph lived 110 years, spending nine in Egypt. But his body was also embalmed and carried back by Moses to Canaan and buried at Schechem. Joseph's life is thus seen to have been a most romantic one, and from it lessons of value come, especially to the young.

1. Joseph's life teaches a lesson on the dangers of parental partiality. Some children are undoubtedly more lovable than others, and parents may be excusable for even preferring one to another. Joseph was Rachel's firstborn son, and it was natural perhaps that for this reason Jacob should take him especially to his heart; but, whether we may excuse a partial feeling or not, we cannot excuse the manifestation of partiality. No parent should show a marked preference for one child over another. Just as nearly as possible each one should be treated alike to avoid any feeling of enmity or hatred among the children or a resentment toward parents.

2. Joseph's life teaches that, under God, trials may be turned into triumphs. The trial of being sold into a strange country resulted in the triumph of attaining a position of power in that land. The trial of being basely and falsely accused ended in the triumph not only of high position, second only to the king himself, but also in the opportunity of being of great service to humanity. Better than being in high position was the opportunity of saving thousands from starving to death, even his own father and brethren. And why did God thus overrule evil for good in Joseph's life? Because Joseph took God with him into the strange land and was ever faithful to Him. Too many leave God behind when they go far away from home. Such a course cannot bring God's blessing and success.

3. Joseph had no resentment against his enemies. His treatment of his brethren was most magnanimous. In this he typified Christ himself. "Though reviled, he reviled not back again." Human nature usually seeks vengeance upon enemies. "I'll pay you back!" is a very familiar expression, but God has said: "Vengeance is mine; I will repay." Like Joseph and the Master, let us leave all vengeance and punishment to God and strive to live with no feelings of hatred even against our enemies.

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. xxxvii. 1-4, 28-36; xxxix. 19-23; xli. 25-43; xlii. 1-8; xlv. 4-15; xlvi. 1-7, 29, 30; l. 24-26; Matt. v. 43-48; Heb. xi. 22.

A Necklace of Promises.

The Junior pledge as it is used in Dr. William Carey's mission field in India, is called Pratijna Mala, or "Necklace of Promises," a beautiful name. A translation of the pledge will be interesting and suggestive to all Junior superintendents:

"I love the Lord Jesus and will try every day to keep near Him and to walk according to His will.

"I will try to do all those things by which I may learn His will, such as reading the Bible, attending Sunday school and the services of the church.

"When I get up in the morning and lie down at night, I will pray that I may be able to keep this promise.

"If I possibly can, I will be present at all the meetings of our Junior Endeavor society and in some way or other be the Lord's witness and so help the meeting."

Dr. Clark a Crusader.

Dr. Francis E. Clark, needless to say, received an enthusiastic welcome at the Massachusetts state Christian Endeavor convention, and every Endeavorer in the vast audience at one of the evening meetings heartily seconded the remark of the Hon. Curtis Guild, Jr., the governor of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, when he said: "Each century has furnished its own peculiar type of crusader to lead the world along the paths of civilization and of progress. Surely among the crusaders of this century who have preached clean living and high thinking and the very foundation facts of [illegible] name stands higher than that of Francis E. Clark."

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY.

AUTHOR OF THE COST. THE DELUGE. Etc.

"It's unfortunate—" I began. I was going to say it was unfortunate that no such anxieties had ever restrained him from yielding to Goodrich. But I hadn't the heart. Instead I finished my sentence with: "However, it's idle to hold a post-mortem on this case. The cause of death is unimportant. The fact of it is sufficient. No doubt you did the best you could, Mr. President."

My manner was that of finality. It forbade further discussion. He abandoned the finesse of negotiation.

"Harvey, I ask you, as a personal favor, to help me through this crisis," he said. "I ask you, my friend and my dead wife's friend."

No depth too low, no sentiment too sacred! Anger whirled up in me against this miserable, short-sighted self-seeker who had brought to a climax of spoliation my plans to guide the strong in developing the resources of the country. And I turned upon him, intending to overwhelm him with the truth about his treachery, about his attempt to destroy me. For I was now safe from his and Goodrich's vengeance—they had destroyed themselves with the people and with the party. But a glance at him and—how could I strike a man stretched in agony upon his death-bed? "If I could help you, I would," said I.

"You—you and I together can get a convention that will nominate me," he urged, hope and fear jostling each other to look pleadingly at me from his eyes.

"Possibly," I said. "But—of what use would that be?"

He sank back in the carriage, yellow-white and with trembling hands and eyelids. "Then you don't think I could be elected?" he asked in a broken, breathless way.

For answer I could only shake my head. "No matter who is the nominee," I went on, after a moment, "our party can't win." I half-yielded to the impulse of sentimentality and turned to him appealingly. "James," said I, "why don't you—right away—before the country sees you are to be denied a renomination—publicly announce that you won't take it in any circumstances? Why don't you devote the rest of your term to regaining your lost—popularity? Every day has its throngs of opportunities for the man in the White House. Break boldly and openly with Goodrich and his crowd."

I saw and read the change in his face. My advice about the nomination straightway closed his mind against me; at the mention of Goodrich, his old notion of my jealousy revived. And I saw, too, that contact with and use of and subservience to corruption had so corrupted him that he had no longer any faith in any method not corrupt. In an instant I realized the full folly of what I was doing. I felt confident that by pursuing the line I had indicated he could so change the situation in the next few months that he would make it impossible for them to refuse to renominate him, might make it possible for him to be elected. But even if he had the wisdom to listen, where would he get the courage and the steadfastness to act? I gave him up finally, and forever.

A man may lose his own character and still survive, and even go far. But if he lose belief in character as a force, he is damned. He could not survive in a community of scoundrels.

Burbank sat motionless and with closed eyes for a long time. I watched the people in the throng of carriages—hundreds of faces all turned toward him, all showing that mingled admiration, envy and awe which humanity gives its exalted great. "The president! The president!" I heard every few yards in excited undertones. And hats were lifted, and once a crowd of enthusiastic partizans raised a cheer.

"The president!" I thought, with mournful irony. And I glanced at him.

Suddenly he was transformed by an expression the most frightful I have ever seen. It was the look of a despairing, weak, vicious thing, cornered, giving battle for its life—like a fox at bay before a pack of huge dogs. It was not Burbank—no, he was wholly unlike that. It was Burbank's ambition, interrupted at its meal by the relentless, sure-aiming hunter, Fate.

"For God's sake, Burbank!" I exclaimed. "All these people are watching us."

"To hell with them!" he ground out. "I tell you, Sayler, I will be nominated! And elected too, by God! I will not be thrown aside like an emptied orange-skin. I will show them that I am president."

Those words, said by some men, in some tones, would have thrilled me. Said by him and in that tone and with that look, they made me shudder and shrink. Neither of us spoke again. When he dropped me at my hotel we touched hands and smiled formally for appearances before the gaping, peeping, peering crowd. And as he drove away, how they cheered him—the man risen high above 80,000,000, alone on the mountain-peak, in the glorious sunshine of success. The president!

The next seven months were months of turmoil in the party and in the country—a turmoil of which I was a silent spectator, conspicuous by my silence. Burbank, the deepest passions of his nature rampant, had burst through the meshes of partisanship and the meshes of social and personal intimacies in which he, as a "good party man" and as the father of children with social aspirations and as the worshiper of wealth and respectability, was entangled and bound down; with the desperate courage that comes from fear of destruction, he was trying to save himself.

But his only available instruments were all either Goodrich men or other kinds of machine-men; they owed nothing to him, they had nothing to fear from him—a falling king is a fallen king. Every project he devised for striking down his traitor friends and making himself popular was subtly turned by his cabinet or by the senate or by the press or by all three into something futile and ridiculous or contemptible. It was a complete demonstration of the silliness of the fiction that the president could be an autocrat if he chose. Even had Burbank seen through the fawnings and the flatteries of the traitors round him, and dismissed his cabinet, whatever men he might have put into it would not have attached themselves to his lost cause, but would have used their positions to ingratiate themselves with the power that had used and exhausted and discarded him.

He had the wisdom, or the timidity, to proceed always with caution and safe legality and so to avoid impeachment and degradation. His chief attempts were, naturally, upon monopoly; they were slyly balked by his sly attorney general, and their failure was called by the press, and was believed by the people, the cause of the hard times which were just beginning to be acute. What made him such an easy victim to his lieutenants was not their craft, but the fact that he had lost his sense of right and wrong. A man of affairs may not, indeed will not, always steer by that compass; but he must have it aboard. Without it he cannot know how far off the course he is, or how to get back to it. No ship ever reached any port except that of failure and disgrace, unless it, in spite of all its tackings before the cross-winds of practical life, kept in the main to the compass and to the course.

His last stagger was—or seemed to be—an attempt to involve us in a war with Germany. I say "seemed to be" because I hesitate to ascribe a project as infamous to him, even when unbalanced by despair. The first ugly dispatch he ordered his Goodrich secretary of state to send, somehow leaked to the newspapers before it could be put into cipher for transmission. It was not sent—for from the press of the entire country rose a clamor against "deliberate provocation of a nation with which we are, and wish to remain, at peace." He repudiated the dispatch and dismissed the secretary of state in disgrace to disgrace—the one stroke in his fight against Goodrich in which he got the advantage. But that advantage was too small, too doubtful and too late.

His name was not presented to the convention.

LITERARY.

"I've laid down Current Literature in despair," remarked a prominent New York editor the other day. "When I look over the index I find so many articles of compelling interest that I don't know where to begin." This statement is forcibly illustrated by the May number of this magazine. Among the topics of the day which it discusses special mention should be made of "Taft and Foraker: Master and Bulldog," "The Rich Men's Conspiracy," "Will Roosevelt Dominate at the Hague," and a clever caricature of W. T. Stead, that Barnum of the pen. A biographical sketch of "Carnegie on the Verge of Seventy" is almost epical in its broadness of appeal. The literary department excels as usual in unique features. Literature, domestic and foreign, is treated with remarkable insight and skill. There are articles on Jack London, Thomas Bailey Aldrich, Lord Leighton, Hawthorne, "Mistral, the Homer of Provence," and "The Mad, Bad Genius of Baudelaire." The dramatic department, too, abounds in unique features. It covers the most stirring scenes from Broadhurst's timely dramatization of graft, "The Man of the Hour," and "The Veritable History of Peter Pan," with exquisite illustrations by Arthur Rackham; an article that will appeal to every mother and every man who is at heart a Peter Pan. And it is said at heart that all men are Peter Pans.

The May issue of McClure's Magazine is both important and pleasing. The first article is C. P. Connolly's "The Fight of the Copper King," in which are described in a vivid manner the struggle between F. Augustus Heinze and the Amalgamated Copper Company, the picturesque campaign of 1900 and re-election of Clark to the senate, and the beginnings of the great legal battle over the Butte Hills. "The Reminiscences of a Long Life" by Carl Schurz give his personal experiences as a General in the Civil War, describe the great leaders and throw new light on many important events of the war. "Chicago As Seen by Herself" pictures those conditions of life in Chicago that have developed as a natural result of its existant government which George Kibbe Turner described last month in "The City of Chicago."

During last year there were exported from Cuba the enormous number of 256,735,029 "Havana" cigars. Contrary to the general idea, however, that America gets the bulk of this trade, only about 10 per cent. came here, the total purchases amounting to 79,488,125 cigars, while England took 92,459,687. Germany buys from twenty-five to thirty million, and France ten to twelve million. One reason for the larger sales to England than to the United States is the fact that America buys a large amount of leaf tobacco, which is worked up here; last year twenty-five million pounds were imported, while England took only twenty-five thousand pounds. But few Cuban cigarettes come to this country, most of the manufacture going to South America. Although two hundred and fifty million cigars—the number we received from Cuba—would appear to be a considerable stock, cigar dealers' cases would soon be empty if that were the only source of supply, as America smokes some 8,000,000,000 cigars annually.—Scientific American.

ARM RIGHT BOWLERS CLAIM THE CITY CHAMPIONSHIP.

They Have Defeated the Boastful Ponies and Are Ready to Meet All Comers.

By defeating the well known Pony team three straight games in a series Tuesday night, John Conklin's Arm Rights have won the city's five-men championship. The Ponies claimed the title but in their match with the Arm Rights they dropped five games out of nine and have quietly but sadly passed to the rear. Conklin's aggregation now stands ready to meet any team in Plainfield or suburbs, having polished off everything in sight.

In Tuesday night's games, the Arm Rights were true to their name and mowed down the pins in great shape. Chief Kiely and Ed. Britton each got two double centuries and "Doc" Voehl made one, while the only Pony to get 200 was Nash. Even "Louie" Skelly, who has always been depended upon for something good, failed to reach 180.

The scores:

Teachers and Parents Meet.

The principal and teachers of the primary and kindergarten departments held a conference at the Borough High School, yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The object of the meeting was to discuss a few matters relating to the education of the children and especially to promote acquaintceship between teachers and parents, thus securing a closer co-operation between the home and the school. Principal Krebs was in charge and about thirty persons attended the meeting.

Teachers' Bill Signed.

Governor Stokes has signed Senator Wakelee's bill, 253, amending the teachers' retirement fund law by correcting the features of the act of last winter, which were believed to be of doubtful constitutionality. The bill does not attempt to divide into classes the members of the fund, but leaves each member free to accept the provisions of the new law or to be bound by the provisions in force at the time he became a member of the fund.

Dormitory Set Afire.

Wellesley, Mass., May 9.—An attempt last Tuesday night to burn a dormitory occupied by thirteen young women students of Dana Hall Preparatory School has just become known. The fire had gained considerable headway when it was discovered, just in time to save the structure.

Senator Ackerman's Bill a Law.

Governor Stokes has signed the bill introduced by State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, which defines the manner in which executors may invest money as guardians or trustees.

OBITUARY.

A. D. Mulford.

Aaron Denman Mulford, head of the real estate firm of A. D. Mulford & Son, and one of the best known citizens of Elizabeth, died suddenly at his home yesterday afternoon. He had been ill for about a week, but death was entirely unexpected. It was due to a complication of diseases. He had suffered recently from rheumatism, which affected his heart. Mr. Mulford was 67 years old. He is survived by a son, Ernest D. Mulford, a member of his father's firm, and by a widow. He had recently been appointed receiver for the Mutual Building and Loan Association of Camden.

Charles C. Dilts.

Charles C. Dilts, for many years a well known resident of this city, died yesterday at his home in Westfield. He was in his forty-eighth year and was secretary of the Westfield Realty Company, the concern which has been developing several large tracts of land in the place. Mr. Dilts resided on West Fifth street, near Liberty street, for a long time and while living here was also in the real estate business. He was a member of the Crescent Avenue church and several local organizations. A wife survives him. The funeral will be held at his late home and will be private.

"23" UPSETS AN ELECTION.

The figure "23" upset the annual election for first assistant fire chief of the Westfield department at the annual meeting held at fire headquarters Tuesday night, when A. S. Flagg, candidate for re-election, and George W. Peek, each polled this number of votes. William Kelly, who was Peek's running mate, defeated William Willoughby for second assistant chief.

The firemen decided to hold another election next Monday night at headquarters to decide the choice for first assistant chief.

Caught in Providence.

Stover J. Kennedy, a former motorman on the Pike line trolley, Hackensack, N. J., who, it is charged, recently decamped with $500 belonging to Mrs. Annie Holmes, a blonde widow, has been arrested in Providence, R. I., and is held for requisition papers. Kennedy and the widow were to have been married the day after he borrowed the money. It was expected he would buy a building site with the $500, but he went away.

Big Pow-wow of Red Men.

The Indians from the several camps of Red Men in Cranford, Westfield, Plainfield, Bound Brook and Raritan will take up the trial to Somerville tomorrow evening, when a big pow-wow will be held and several scalps taken at that city. The members of the several tribes will go to Somerville over the Jersey Central on the train nearest to 7 p. m.

Schuyler Convicted.

Flemington, May 9.—The jury in the case of John E. Schuyler for the killing of Manning Riley at Califon on January 19, rendered a verdict of murder in the first degree at 6:15 o'clock this morning. They received the case at 5:10 o'clock last evening, after a three days' trial, during which time about thirty-five witnesses were examined.

Somerville Solons Organize.

The newly-elected Board of Commissioners, which governs Somerville, met yesterday and organized by the election of Charles C. Kenyon as president; Eugene E. Stryker, secretary, and Charles Schwed, treasurer. The first meeting for the transaction of business will be held on Thursday, May 23.

Prominent Men Subpoenaed.

New Brunswick, May 9.—James Callahan, whose trial for keeping a disorderly house has been set for tomorrow, has subpoenaed forty prominent men of the city, including business men, city and county officials, as witnesses for the defense. This action has caused, it is reported, desperate efforts to keep the case from coming to trial.

Charles H. Schermerhorn, the veteran telegraph operator, and Mrs. Schermerhorn, of Madison avenue, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Monday, September 2.

—Neuman Brothers' store is the place to get fresh vegetables. They are received early every day. New asparagus is a feature today.

TO INSTALL PASTOR ON TUESDAY, MAY 28

EXERCISES TO BE HELD IN NORTH BRANCH REFORMED CHURCH.

At a meeting yesterday of the committee appointed by the Classis of Raritan to arrange for the installation of the Rev. Charles E. Corwin as pastor of the Reformed church at North Branch, Tuesday, May 28, at 3 p. m., was the date selected for the exercises. The Rev. Thomas M. Simanton, of Peapack, president of Classis, is to preside and read the form. The Rev. E. T. Corwin, of New Brunswick, will preach the sermon, having the privilege of inviting the Rev. Dr. Henry Stout, of South Bound Brook. The Rev. Dr. Edward G. Read, pastor of the Second Reformed church in Somerville, was selected to charge the people and the Rev. Isaac Sperling, of South Branch, to charge the pastor.

The Rev. Charles E. Corwin will be the fifth pastor of the Reformed church at North Branch, succeeding the late Rev. Dr. P. M. Doolittle, who last July celebrated his semi-centennial as pastor of the church there and a few months later, several days before he was to deliver his farewell sermon, died suddenly.

Mr. Corwin is a graduate of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary. He is a son of Dr. Corwin, formerly one of the professors there. He has had several important charges.

CLERKS CHARGED GRAFT.

Trenton State House Employees Inspired Democratic Inquiry.

It developed at Trenton yesterday that most of the information obtained by Assemblyman Wright of Essex, the introducer of the resolution to investigate the Republican departments in the State government, was contained in anonymous letters supposed to come from clerks in the State House. Senator Silzer, of Middlesex, says that he also received many such letters, and will turn them over to the committee on investigation, which meets on Tuesday.

The Wright resolution charges extravagance, and not criminal conduct. Mr. Wright has been asked to attend the first real meeting of the committee on Tuesday, and be interrogated as to the source of the resolution.

NEGROES CONFESS TO FIRING HOUSE

WHILE INTOXICATED THEY DESTROYED MR. LUFBURROW'S COTTAGE.

Joseph Lufburrow, who is the guest of his son, Dr. Charles B. Lufburrow, of West Front street, has received information which solves the mystery concerning the destruction by fire of his twenty-room furnished cottage at Navesink Highlands, many months ago.

Detective J. B. Rue, of Red Bank, has secured sufficient evidence to cause the arrest of two negroes, both of whom have confessed that on the night the cottage was burned, they were driving about the country in an intoxicated condition. Wishing for some excitement and being in the vicinity of where the cottage was located, they set fire to the dwelling which was occupied at the time. Both men are now in the county jail at Freehold awaiting trial.

ASSAULTED NEGRO LAD

VICTIM WILL RECOVER

Young Warrick Is In the Hospital and Gross Is Held Awaiting Results of Former's Injuries.

Albert Gross, aged seventeen years, white, was held this morning by City Judge Runyon, sitting as a State magistrate, to await the result of injuries received by Sydney Warrick, colored. Bail was fixed at $250. The boys had an altercation at Central and Stelle avenues, last night, and Warrick was found later in an insensible condition. He was removed to the hospital, where he is now under treatment.

Mrs. Warrick, who is employed at the home of Charles F. Abbott, at Central and Stelle avenues, was about the yard, when she heard a disturbance. Her attention was attracted by the words, "Don't kick him any more!" and on hastening to the corner found her son unconscious. Upon her complaint Gross was arrested.

According to the story told by Gross this morning, he is employed by Mrs. Percy Ohl on her farm. Last night he was riding to Plainfield with Mrs. Ohl and daughter, Wenonah. He claimed that Warrick owed him one dollar and that when he met him at Central and Stelle avenue he asked him for the money. Warrick made a reply that angered him and a fight followed. Gross contends that Warrick in falling struck his head against a hydrant and that his injuries were not the result of blows.

At the hospital it was said today that Warrick's injuries are not serious, being chiefly contused wounds, and that he would recover.

WILLIAM VAIL BROKAW DIES OF HEART DISEASE.

Was One of the Founders of the Clothing Firm of Brokaw Brothers.

William Vail Brokaw, one of the founders of the clothing firm of Brokaw Bros., died at his home at 825 Fifth avenue, New York, Wednesday night of heart disease. Mr. Brokaw had been in feeble health ever since the death of his wife, who died several years ago while the family were traveling abroad, but his condition was not considered alarming. He was taken shortly after dinner Wednesday evening and died soon after. He is survived by four children, Mrs. James Martin, who is sojourning in Europe; Mrs. Henry Gilbert, W. Gould Brokaw and Clifford Brokaw, all of New York. He is also survived by a brother, I. V. Brokaw, of New York, a sister, Mrs. George Smock, and a niece, Mrs. L. S. Mr. Brokaw was seventy years old and came of an old Huguenot family. His father, Samuel Brokaw, came to Long Island in the early part of the seventeenth century and settled there. Later he moved to New Jersey and William was born at Bound Brook. His mother, Prudy Vail, was of fine old Quaker family, descendence of the Mayflower, and for years lived in the country around Plainfield.

When a young boy Mr. Brokaw went to New York and entered the employ of Wilson G. Hunt & Co., commission merchants. On reaching his majority he was made a member of the firm. In 1865 he began the clothing business, which has since reached such large proportions, with his brother, Isaac V. Brokaw. It has been located at Fourth avenue and Astor place for many years.

Mr. Brokaw was a member of the Union League Club, the Huguenot Society, the American Sons of the Revolution, the Larchmont Yacht Club and the Chamber of Commerce. Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., observed Ascension Day by attending divine services at the Church of the Holy Cross, last night. The sir knights were present upon the invitation of the rector, Rev. George A. Warner, who preached the sermon. The edifice was crowded to its capacity with worshippers. The regular services were held, including a special programme of music by the vested choir of the church, under the direction of H. Raymond Loder.

In addressing the sir knights, Mr. Warner said:

"It is with very real and genuine pleasure that I welcome you men here on the evening of Ascension Day—a day in the Christian year which is full of its lessons for churchman and knight in common. I shall be disappointed if our acquaintance begins and ends here in this somewhat formal manner. A common cause is ground not only for unity but a basis for personal friendship as well. No man needs to know men so much as the Christian minister, to know them on the broad ground afforded by personal friendship. That there is a broad clearage today between the clergyman and a large number of the laymen no thinking man denies. The laymen in his heart reverences God and the things of God and in times past he has seen and heard that in the clergyman which in the pulpit or out, to him, the layman, seems twaddle and vague theorizing. Then some dreadful scandal shakes the church such as the daily papers report of a clergyman gone wrong and the man decides with a man's independence to do his own thinking and act on his own counsel. The clergyman only too often on his part resents the critical attitude of his male parishoner, call him a man of little discernment or respect for authority; handles the man tactlessly and sees him drift from the chartered sea of established truth and authority out on to the bosom of that great ocean of free thought, individualism and radical disbelief of the tenets of the Christian Faith. How different it all might have been and might be could the men thus differing—the clergyman and the layman—see how much they had in common and how slight their differences often are. Had the personal equation of a real admiration and regard for one another entered in, the making of allowances, the patient dealing with one another's difficulties and doubts such as one friend gives to another, how much stronger and richer the lives of those men might be and the world made better for their united testimony and witness of the truth.

"It is on this common ground of personal friendship that we must meet, you as laymen and as clergymen in this community. As an order from the beginning you have stood for two things—for the preservation of the ancient creeds in defence of which during its recital your drawn sword is typical of your readiness to defend the faith; you stand also for knighthood in its truest sense. The exponents of chivalry in an age which is said to have lost it and the protection of the weak from the strong—in a time when the weak are going to the wall and the strong prevailing.

"Surely we have common ground however far our methods may differ and our conceptions of truth vary. We are both pledged to the fight to maintain the Christian Faith and to uphold the cause of the weak. Believe me, I honor you in proportion as you are earnestly seeking to fulfill the ideal of your order and by any way in my power I would cooperate with you. If I demand the same of you am I exacting? Let us know one another and be free of suspicion, religious bigotry and jealousy and do the work of Christian man and knight.

"The defence of the Christian faith was never more needed than in the present. What form shall it take with the Christian knight. The days of the drawn sword in defence of the faith are of the past. We live in an age where the power of moral suasion goes further and is more effective than the sword. The sword at best is purely negative, it protects from attack, but the power of moral suasion is positive, growing, defining, explaining, illumining. What do I mean by this power of moral suasion? Simply that power which was exemplified in the life of Christ, a life so lived that men were compelled to see in it the power and the truth of God in its source.

"But surely on the face of Christ's

AUTOISTS BACK MAYORS

Owners of Machines Endorse Scheme For Special Committee to Regulate Traffic.

AN OPEN DISCUSSION

Assurance Given That There Will Be No Plain Clothes Men to Watch Out for Speed Merchants.

For the purpose of devising ways and means that will be acceptable to both the authorities and automobilists as applying to the running of autos through the city and borough, officials of both places and nearly a hundred machine owners held a conference at the Casino, last night. It was called at the request of Mayor Charles L. Fisk, who realized that the recent crusade against speeding inaugurated by the police was becoming a serious matter inasmuch as so many of the arrested chauffeurs protested that they had not violated the ordinance. In the past two weeks, fifteen of them have been in the city court and of this number six are awaiting a hearing as they have pleaded not guilty.

The gathering was called to order by Mayor Fisk and at the time he explained that his purpose in getting the automobile owners and authorities together was to arrive at some amicable agreement regarding the speed limit. It had not been the intention of the police, he said, to display animosity toward the sport or to be technical in enforcing the ordinance but if a machine went through the city at fifteen miles an hour possibly it would not be stopped. He declared with emphasis that it was his own and the police department's wish that everyone receive a "square deal."

Mayor Newton R. Smalley, of the borough, and a dozen autoists expressed their views of the matter and in conclusion the following resolution, offered by former Assemblyman Rogers F. Murray, was adopted: "That it is the sense of this meeting that we endorse the policy of Mayor Fisk in the appointment of a special committee to regulate automobile traffic in Plainfield."

The committee idea was advanced by Mayor Fisk as one possible solution of the trouble, his plan being to have certain autoists designated as a sort of special officers to regulate the traffic. It met with unanimous approval and the men who are to act will be announced later. It was also suggested and agreed to by both mayors that there should be no more plain clothes men detailed to catch speeders, the method that has been in vogue for a long time. Hereafter all officers doing duty of this kind will be in full uniform and will stand where they can be seen plainly. The city and borough will also have new warning signs put up at the approaches to both places and the present number will be almost doubled.

The paramount feature of the discussion was the pointing out of the difference between speeding and reckless driving. All the machine men who spoke were vociferous in their declarations that chauffeurs who ran cars through crowded streets in a careless manner, apparently without regard for the rights of others, should be dealt with severely. On the other hand they asserted it was drawing the line too close if a driver was arrested for sending his machine along a perfectly straight and clear road on the outskirts of the city at a few miles over the speed limit.

Dr. Frank C. Ard was one of the owners who spoke in this vein and he was seconded by Robert Rushmore, H. P. Hess and others. Mr. Rushmore suggested that a system be devised whereby all owners could stand together and suppress the reckless drivers who were responsible for the trouble heaped upon the ordinary speeders. Former Senator Charles A. Reed, F. O. Ball, E. S. F. Randolph and others addressed the gathering at different periods of the discussion and an interesting letter was also read from Benjamin Wood, a former resident.

Carnival a Great Success.

The carnival and [illegible]teria and Her Court, continued in the parish house of St. Stephen's church, last night, attracted a large crowd and was even more successful than the first night. The entertainment was a happy feature and all of the booths and tables did a thriving business, which will net a large sum for the church.

Pfeffer, the star twirler for the Boston Nationals, is believed to be the first National League slab artist to pitch a no hit, no run game this season. He accomplished the feat at Boston against Cincinnati on Wednesday.

"Phil" Smith has certainly not struck his proper pace yet. On Wednesday pitching for Elizabeth against Brooklyn, he lasted but four innings, when he was taken out of the box. A lame arm is said to be his trouble.

Weather permitting the Y. M. C. A. squad will meet at Crescent Oval for practice tonight. Captain Craig has not definitely decided on the different positions to be filled.

The Y. M. C. A. team will play the Mono Field Club at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon, when both teams will have a severe test. The Monos are somewhat flushed over recent victories, while the Y. M. C. A. feel sure of winning. Minford will pitch for the association nine.

The Clinton Avenues are rapidly rounding into form and by the time the league season opens on Saturday, May 18, it will be prepared to make a fine showing.

Not a single player has been suspended in the National League this year, which speaks well for the older organization.

Captain Clarke, of the Pittsburgs, secured two of the four hits off "Christy" Mthewson at the Polo Grounds Wednesday, when the Giants shut out the Smoky City team, 4 to 0.

Bowerman is playing first for the Giants, although McGann is back in harness. A change once in awhile proves beneficial.

Chesbro, of the Highlanders, is believed to be in better shape than ever before.

The Western fans complain about the slowness of the games as played this year, but no kick has been heard in the East, except when Doyle, of the Highlanders, is in the box.

GOLF.

A glance over the schedule of the Plainfield Country Club for this season, indicates a very busy time for enthusiasts of the game. The chance of seeing W. J. Travis and possibly Jerome Travers on the local course should be a strong attraction. The innovation of having a one-day tournament open to all players in the Metropolitan Golf Association will undoubtedly be a red letter day event.

The Plainfield Country Club is generous this season with its prizes. There are many handsome trophies offered and every member has an equal chance to compete.

The Park Golf Club active season opens tomorrow under auspicious circumstances. The course is in excellent condition and every inducement is offered to attract players. The initial competitions will be for the President's and Park Golf Club cups, scratch and handicap events.

Aside from the large number of events planned for the golf course and tennis courts, this season, the Plainfield Country Club will be a center of attraction socially. There will be many luncheons and dinners throughout the summer and music will add to the interest.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, the "pro" at the Plainfield Country Club, has arranged to play a match game with George Lowe some day next week. The young Plainfielder is out for a record this year and undoubtedly will make it.

Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, president of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, is spending considerable time this season on the links, and she will be an important factor in many of the big events."

Among other women golfers who are likely to be seen frequently on the links this season is Miss Maude VanBoskerck. Last season she played a strong game and was a formidable opponent in many matches.

According to experts the present brand of weather will greatly benefit the golf links. Glad it is good for something, for most people are getting rather tired of it.

Whitehouse, May 10.—The funeral of Rev. Elijah R. Swackhamer, ninety-seven years old, was held Wednesday night at his home in Brooklyn, and the body was brought here yesterday. After a short service at the grave interment was in Rural cemetery. Death was due to infirmities incident to old age.

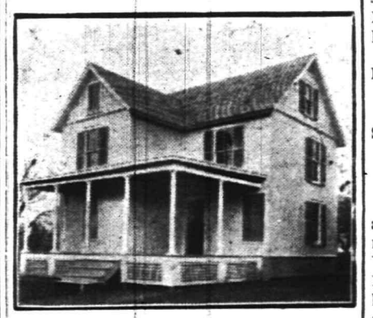
NEW SYSTEM OF BUILDING.

A MARVEL IN THE SCIENCE OF CONSTRUCTION.

A method far in advance of anything formerly used in the preparation of the different parts of a house when erected in sections, making it easy to construct any design of a house, and a very superior house for all seasons, countries and climates at a great reduction in cost.



These houses are constructed principally from the best kiln dried lumber in a factory entirely protected from weather, where best high speed woodworking machines are used for cutting and shaping of every piece, reducing cost for mechanics fully one-half, making a superior house when finished.

Houses or other structures erected under this system make the warmest house in winter, and the strongest building that can be constructed with any material, the fiercest storm fails to cause any vibration whatever. And they are adapted to receive all improvements, plumbing, lighting, heating, etc., when desired.

A new method of lath and plaster is used for interior finish, making a perfect indestructable wall superior to anything ever before used.

Estimates furnished.

CONSOLIDATION INEVITABLE.

The Newark Evening News shares with many leading citizens of this community the belief that the city and borough should have been merged under one government long ago. In commenting favorably on the excellent and exhaustive report made by the Bi-municipal Commission, that paper says:

"It is ten years or more since the first attempts were made to consolidate Plainfield and North Plainfield; the one located in Union county, the other in Somerset county. The original scheme was purely political, and was carried on more or less surreptitiously. This was by means of a bill before the Legislature, which annexed North Plainfield to Union county, without so much as saying to its people, 'by your leave.' This was a mistake. It roused the North Plainfield people to bitter indignation and resulted in the defeat of the bill. But the borough was, from that time, split into belligerent factions, and during the past ten years there has been little but wars and rumors of wars there. Only after this long lapse of time has sentiment in both borough and city calmed down sufficiently to allow the officials of both to meet, in one room, and calmly talk over consolidation, with or without annexation.

"Such a meeting was held a few evenings ago, and the Mayors and corporation attorneys reported that consolidation without annexation would be impracticable. But as the two municipalities are really one, separated only by an imaginary line and a bridged brook, consolidation is inevitable. A bill, therefore, is to be presented to the next Legislature, providing for a referendum. Next year, perhaps, annexation will take place. It would have been better for both had this been done ten years ago, but a political blunder caused a decade to delay and detriment. The only way to do things right is in the right way."

OUR TWENTIETH BIRTHDAY.

It was just twenty years ago today that a little four page daily printed on pink paper and bearing the title "The Daily Press" made its first appearance. Together with the public, the management shared some misgivings as to its future for the undertaking was viewed as an experiment inasmuch as there was already one daily in the field. It was a serious question at that time whether a town of the size could support two, but the proprietor believed that there was a demand for the kind of a paper he intended to issue in an exceptionally intelligent community. His belief proved to be correct for the daily grew steadily and it was not long before it won the name of being "Plainfield's Leading Paper."

As the population increased the paper progressed in like proportion. Its upbuilding has been so marked that it has never been compelled to hang out a sign "Watch Us Grow." Popular support has permitted many improvements to be made from time to time for, pardoning our vanity, the paper has always been considered the city's reliable journal. The aim has ever been to chronicle all the local news in an accurate, complete and cleanly fashion. Whether that object has been attained rests for the public to say and we abide by its verdict. It is freely admitted, however, that we share with other dailies of small cities the defects of papers conducted by a limited working force, but we hope that in some measure we have merited the many pleasant things said by our readers.

In the future as in the past, The Daily Press will endeavor to fulfill the expectations of the public and to deserve being called "Plainfield's Leading Paper."

PRISON BARS, NOT TAR AND FEATHERS

MONTCLAIR'S UNDESIRABLE COUPLE FOUND GUILTY OF IMPROPER LIVING.

It required just twelve minutes deliberation for a jury in the Essex County Court of Quarter Sessions at Newark to return yesterday a verdict convicting Otto E. Fentzlaff and Mrs. Mary Phillips of misdemeanor. The convicted couple were held in $1,000 bail each for sentence.

Fentzlaff is a resident of Montclair and has made a comfortable fortune as a contractor. He gained the enmity of his neighbors and brought down on himself the public wrath of the whole town of Montclair some time ago when he deserted his wife and openly went to live with Mrs. Phillips, a widow, to whom, it was alleged, he gave the use of a house he owned.

Fentzlaff formerly lived in West Orange, and, it is said, his removal to Montclair was at the hint of the authorities of West Orange, who warned him that his actions would not be tolerated there.

When Fentzlaff took up his home with Mrs. Phillips only a few doors away from his wife's residence, the residents of Monclair publicly protested. Threats were made to tar and feather him and the woman and to ride them out of town on a rail. Fentzlaff was defiant. He provided for the support of his wife and declared it to be nobody's business but his own where or how he lived.

A sensational attempt was made by a local "vigilance committee" several weeks ago to blow up the house in which Fentzlaff and Mrs. Phillips lived by exploding dynamite. The attempt failed, for while the explosion partly wrecked the house, Fentzlaff and Mrs. Phillips remained.

Subsequently the couple engaged in a violent quarrel. It was said to have been the outcome of Fentzlaff's announcement to Mrs. Phillips that he intended to return to his wife. Fentzlaff and Mrs. Phillips were arrested last February on a complaint made by Mrs. Fentzlaff at the urging of neighbors. The community volunteered to back up the deserted wife.

Testimony was given Wednesday showing the conduct of Fentzlaff and Mrs. Phillips. They entered a general defense and claimed that Fentzlaff was merely a boarder in Mrs. Phillips' house. They also denied the testimony that they had quarrelled over the alleged intention of Fentzlaff to return to his wife.

—The police reported this morning at 6:30 o'clock live and unprotected wires were found at Woodland avenue and Ravine road, and the Public Service Corporation was notified to attend to the matter.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

MEDICINE.

MISS ISAACS.

It's curious what some people believe a medicine will do. They seem to think because I advertise my preparations I claim they will cure anything and everything. Well, I don't.

The other day I got a letter from a woman who said her husband had been in bed eighteen years with paralysis. She had bought seven bottles of the Cooper medicines and her husband was still in bed. She stated that I was a scoundrel, a robber and various other pleasant things.

Now the only thing I claim for Cooper's New Discovery is that it will put the stomach in working order. I know that if this is done, rheumatism, constipation, kidney and liver troubles, nervousness, and the general tired out, despondent feeling will disappear in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred. I know this medicine to be a fine tonic which used twice a year will throw off impurities and add flesh, strength and tone to the entire system. But it will not do the impossible. No medicine on earth will do more than help nature. Certain diseases are beyond all medicine, although God in his wisdom may some day give us frail humans a knowledge of how to cure them. At present I know Cooper's New Discovery to be as thoroughly efficient a medicine as was ever on the market, and people who will take it for the common ills to which flesh is heir will be more than satisfied.

Here is a letter from one who has tried: "For a long time I have suffered from severe headaches, weakness, and pains in my back and sides."

"Nothing I tried gave me relief, and a friend advised me to try your medicine. I improved from the first week. My backache and headache left me and I felt myself growing stronger. My appetite increased and I felt greatly improved in every way. I am indeed thankful for the benefit I have received." Miss Jennie Isaacson, No. 18 15th Avenue, West, Duluth, Minn.

We have sold and are selling great quantities of these famous medicines.

Ibsen, Hendrick.—Peer Gynt.

Iles, George.—Inventors at work.

"One is struck with three qualities not by any means overcommon in works of popular science: first, thoroughness and completeness of knowledge; secondly, clearness of expression and regard for the demands of the non-technical reader; third, a broad comprehensive view of the relations of science and invention as evolutions of civilization." Outlook, Nov. 17, '06.

Jastrow, J.—The subconscious.

"For the psychologist the main value of the work will be in the compendius account which it furnishes of a large and significant group of related phenomena and its able exposition of a definite and frank attitude toward these phenomena. . . . LITERARY

Jack London's latest story of the Alaskan wilds appears in Success Magazine for May. The terrible sufferings of a prospector lost and at last driven to madness in the snow-heaped fastnesses of the Yukon fields gives this gifted writer opportunity for a wonderful display of his magnificent descriptive powers. This story, "Morganson's Finish," will rank as one of Jack London's greatest portrayals of character and depictions of the awful loneliness of the Arctic winter. A new presentation of Christian Science is given in Mrs. Sue Mims' "The Christainity of Christian Science." Mrs. Mims, who is a society woman and a well-known writer and lecturer on Christian Science in the South, argues for the Scriptural basis of the doctrines taught by Mrs. Eddy, and claims that the teachings of this religious order are in large measure a reversion to the purest beliefs of the primitive Christian church. Ernest Thompson Seton contributes an article on "The Merry Chipmunk," an interesting litle animal of which he has made a long and careful study.

Staggering to our matter-of-course ideas on the punishment of crime is Brand Whitlock's article, "What Good Does It Do?" in the May Everybody's. The brilliant young Mayor of Toledo presents what is usually termed the idealistic view with a cogency and power of conviction that are bound to arouse discussion. The May number is full of good reading. Leroy Scott describes his recent sojourn among the Russian terrorists in an article of unusual personal and dramatic interest. The career of George Westinghouse, a fascinating narrative, is the second of the "Romances of Success." Ernest Thompson Seton contributes one of his intimate animal studies, and there is an eminently readable article on "Modern Masters of Music." The fiction is of unusual excellence, including two classics in humor by O. Henry and Porter Emerson Browne. Among other writers are Lloyd Osbourne, Henry C. Rowland, Netta Syrett, Zona Gale, Edith Rickert, and Louise Morgan Sill.

Mary Fenollosa, who wrote "The Dexter" and "The Breath of the Gods," contributes to the May Smart Set one of her most delightful stories of Japan—a love-story full of delicate humor and subtle analysis. She has called it "Cupid San," and no more charming piece of fiction has recently appeared. No magazine publishes such a wide variety of stories, and the May issue is a particularly fine one. Henry Sydnor Harrison is the author of a deliciously humorous tale quite out of the ordinary run, entitled "Rhoda Gaines, M. A." Elizabeth Jordan, in quite another vein, writes "The Perfect Lady," which is distinctly unusual; "The Guide and the Guerdon," by Beatrice Hanscom, is purely a love-story, the scene of which is laid in the summer woods. Charles Battell Loomis, who is always amusing, writes "The Lady of the Museum Steps," and Howard Markle Hoke a fascinating story whimsically called "The Ultimate Hannah."

The poet Lowell asked "What is so rare as a day in June?" And the answer is: a right down good detective story. Lippincott's Magazine is therefore lucky to secure for the complete novelette in its May issue one that is up to the top-notch. "The Moyett Mystery," by Nevil Monroe Hopkins, is superlatively original in scheme, yet quite within the realm of reason. A satisfying conclusion is reached through rapid-acting scenes of thrilling obscurity. While love is not the primary interest in this captivating tale there are glimpses of the tender passion, between a niece of the victim and one of the men who essays to unravel the mystery, which relieve the high tension in which the whole is envolved. There are eight short-stories up to the standard which this Magazine has established—and endeavors to raise a peg with every number. Bertha M. Sinclair contributes one of her best stories of the far West, "The Deputy," which is humorous and pointed. A charming love-story of artistic trend is "The Real Things" by Katherine Metcalf Roof. "The Firebrand, a tale of South Russia by George Allan England presents a powerful picture of present-day priestcraft in the land of the Czar.

Marshall & Ball Clothing
The Highest Type of Ready-to-Wear.

Clothing Excellence
MEANS MORE THAN GOODNESS OF QUALITY.

In the manufacture of Marshall & Ball Clothing excellence means much more than just goodness of quality. It also means shapeliness built in by skilled handwork so that it lasts as long as you wear the garment.

Individuality, shapeliness, style, finish and fit stand out as conspicuously in M. & B. Garments as excellence of workmanship and materials.

It is the weaving together of these elements by past masters of the tailors' craft into garments which appeal to dressers of critical judgment that has elevated M. & B. Clothing to a position which is approached by no other ready-to-wear.

The new gray fabrics are here in a great variety of weaves, in Suits, Spring Overcoats and Raincoats. There ars styles to please the radical as well as the conservative.

WESTFIELD'S FIRST GAME TOMORROW AFTERNOON

THE TOWN OF SPORT FOR SPORT'S SAKE HAS FINE TEAM.

The Lackawanna League baseball season will open at Recreation Park, Westfield, tomorrow afternoon, when Westfield will cross bats with the strong Irvington team. That Manager Smith will have a strong team in the field, goes without saying. He has secured "Doc" Scanlon to pitch and it is probable he will be the slab-artist the entire season for Westfield. Mayor Alpers will pitch the first ball across the plate in the opening game. All the games scheduled to be played by Westfield at Irvington will be played at Recreation Park, as the latter aggregation is a travelling team. Persons leaving New York Saturday afternoon on the 3 o'clock express can get off at Westfield and be in plenty of time to see the game at the park.

These games will be played at Recreation Park: May 11, Irvington; 30, Irvington; June 1, Summit; 8, Chatham; 15, Dover; 22, Irvington; 29, Summit; July 4, p. m., Elizabeth; 6, Chatham; 13, Irvington; 27, Elizabeth; August 3, Chatham; 10, Summit; September 2, 2 p .m., Irvington; 7, Dover.

TEMPLARS AT SERVICE

teaching and the example of His life, Christianity was not to be advanced by power of the sword or brute strength; how we heam Him say to those who would call fire down from Heaven on those who had treated their master contemptuously, 'Ye know not what spirit ye are of, the Son of man is not come to destroy men's lives but to save them.'

"Again, I am come to seek and to save that which is lost; I come not to destroy but to fulfil. Put up thy sword, and the whole example of His life was all against brute strength and arbitrary force.

"Knowest thou not, he says, that I could summon twelve legions of angels, but how then could the Scriptures—telling of his saving power and the way of peace which He should travel be fulfilled.

"It has taken us long to learn the lesson from our Master and even now after long centuries of enlightenment there is the spirit of religious intolerance, of bigotry and hatred which only needs sufficient rein to try the compulsion of brute strength and bodily torture.

"What then is the compelling force? For the message rings out true and clear to every one of us who are servants of Christ. It says go out into the highways and hedges and compel them to come in.

"Is not the force that shall be exerted by the servants of Christ the same which he exerted—the compelling power of moral suasion. Just what do I mean by that? Simply this to present by thought, word and action such a life changed like unto Christ's that it is itself the most convincing message. Sincerity, honesty, purity, gentleness, sympathy, helpfulness, unselfishness, all flowed out from Him so that life and word were one harmonious whole; think of the crowd that followed Him and whose oft-repeated comment was, never man spoke like this man; He speaketh as one having authority (the authority of moral superiority) which men from the depths of their being felt was true and natural and following a natural and true impulse they willingly yielded to such compulsion; they forsook all that stood in the way and followed Him. That is what we mean by moral suasion, the appeal to the inherent, innate sense of righ and justice and goodness, an appeal so strong that it cannot be resisted.

"It is like the appeal to the plant which is made to plant life by sun and rain, soil and dew; it is compelled by the very nature of its being to answer to the call; a rock may bar its way the soil or environment may be poor, the weeds envelop it, but let the great Gardener rush in and help clear away the weeds or transplant the new soil and the sunshine and the rain have natural and free access, and how the poor starved plant will be compelled to grow.

"We are beginning to realize, I think, the wonderful power of moral suasion; a power which works subtily and more powerfully that any brute force could to compel men. It is a common thing to read of men, who by force of example, by a sermon, or by kindly treatment, or by the power of a book, have been compelled to give up evil lives, to restore, 'conscience money,' it is called, to disgorge, to confess, to make restitution; the compelling power of love, of trust and confidence has been such that men could not go on in evil doing, they must accept the invitation of Christ and come to Him and enjoy the blessings He has accumulated for those who come to Him.

"But having showed the difference in the spirit which we interpret compulsion let me speak briefly of its individual application to all of us who are servants of Christ, priest and laymen alike. He sent His servants (that's you and me) and said: 'Go out in the highways and hedges and compel them to come in;' not merely in the lanes and streets of the city, but in the places that reach beyond the immediate neighborhood; the places where men might be easily overlooked or hidden by the hedges.

"How easy it is to bring out the best in our friends, our neighbors, to be kindly and gentle and courteous to the well bred, those who are known to us; those who belong to our own church, our own community. But to go outside of it. Ah that is hard. Our daily papers tell us in their editorials of the decline in church membership and church going among the artisans, mechanics and laborers, the small percentage of men seen in our churches, and all sorts of reasons are given from the results of higher criticism, down to church snobbishness and exclusiveness; and the decline it is said in the character of men and their preaching; but it seems to me rather inadequate to lay the blame at these doors; doesn't it lie deeper and isn't the blame to be divided among us individually? Out into the byways and the hedges we have gone, as servants of Christ, we stand marked men and bearing the message, and that message is the whole tone and tenor of our lives.

"If the men whom we would fain see members of Christ and attendants at His church are not there it is because the messengers have not made the message so compelling and beautiful that men are stirred out of their carelessness and their wickedness and brought as the Prodigal son was, back to His Father's home.

"Christ treated every soul with the profoundest respect; rich and poor alike were attracted by Him and His life. Ought it not to be so with your life and mine?

"Tomorrow, if through ignorance or necessity, a man should offer you the best service in his power what would be your method? Would you look upon it as a rare business opportunity, or get a man at a small wage, or would you give the man a fair and just and generous wage according to his capability even though you made a few dollars less. There is your choice between a business opportunity according to business standards and a Christian's treatment of a brother man. Be sure whatever specious arguments you may put to yourself and how thankful the man ought to feel to you for giving him employment, he will know if you have treated him unjustly and so much for you and your message to that man from Christ; it doesn't ring true and He knows it doesn't. Not one religion for week days and another for Sunday, but the life always ringing true whenever and wherever it be sounded.

After the service the commanderie returned to the asylum, where a banquet was served. Mr. Warner was the guest of honor, and after warm words of welcome by Commander George Kirkner, the rector made a short address, in which he touched on the subjects of trade schools, one dear to his heart. He briefly outlined his ideas of such a school and said that he hoped to see one established in Plainfield in the near future. Mr. Warner's remarks were received with enthusiasm. A few words concerning trade schools were also spoken by L. B. Woolston and favoring Mr. Warner's plans.

MARTINE WORRIES THEM

Plainfield Man's Boom For Governor Puts Democratic Bosses in Quandary.

HE CAN'T BE HANDLED

Farmer-orator Wants Harmony but No Bossism—His Relations With Smith.

Herman B. Walker, the best informed political writer in the State, sizes up "Jim" Martine's boom for governor in this fashion:

"Union county Democrats are arranging for a testimonial dinner to James E. Martine, Plainfield's 'Farmer Orator,' on May 29, that is intended to harmonize all the conflicting elements in the Democratic party of New Jersey and clear the way for Martine's nomination for Governor.

"It is a pretty experiment. Nobody who knows Martine, Democrat or Republican, doubts his honesty. He has been the pack horse of the party in his county and district for many years. Whenever the party has needed somebody to lead a forlorn hope Martine has been given the nomination that was going begging, and with an inborn love for fight and supreme contempt for defeat, Martine has never shied or sidestepped any sort of a contest. In the face of obstacles big enough to dumfound and utterly confuse and discourage any ordinary man, Martine has made his best fights. He has always been defeated, but he has always, and usually in lone-handed campaigns, attained results that surprised the faint-hearted men of his party.

"In his fight against 'Charley' Fowler for Congress last year, however, Martine proved himself to have the confidence of the voters in his Congressional district to an extent that surprised even the party bosses on both sides. The result of his fight against Fowler has put Martine into the Gubernatorial class for this year. Most of the Democrats in the State believe that the party has a chance to elect a Governor and Legislature this year, and the Republican bosses are doing nothing to change the Democratic outlook. In Union county there is a well-defined belief among the Democrats that Martine is the man who should head the ticket.

"How it will work is a question. Martine is not in sympathy to any extent with the views of the present party bosses, and has no admiration for the present State committee. On the other hand, he is a strict partizan, and a stanch believer in party organization and party regularity. Martine is in sympathy with practically all of the reforms for which independents of all kinds are working in the State, but his idea of successful non-partizanship is strict and close allegiance to the Democratic party, and he indorses the reforms urged by the independents on the ground that most of them are Democratic principles.

"In their view of public questions, for instance, Martine and James Smith, Jr., have little or nothing in common, but Martine would not put Smith out of the party, because he believes Smith's money has aided the party in the past. Smith probably is not particularly anxious to see Martine nominated or elected, because it is not likely that he could control him if he were Governor. On the other hand, Smith is under obligations to Martine. It was the Plainfield man who saved the former Senator from utter disgrace and repudiation last summer by inducing Bryan to come to Newark, when the Nebraskan had practically refused to do so, and had denied the truth of Smith's statement that Bryan had accepted his invitation to come to the city. Martine's explanation of his action in at that time indirectly helping Smith to save his face, was that he did not do it to aid Smith, but because he believed that Bryan's visit would help the cause of Democracy, no matter under whose auspices he appeared. Within the last month Martine was just as active and energetic in aiding to bring Bryan to Newark again, as the guest of the People's Lobby, of which Martine is a member, at a non-partizan dinner and meeting which both the regular party organizations ordered boycotted by their followers.

"If 'Jim' Martine decides to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination, he will say so and won't wait to be nominated by dictate of the bosses in a convention of unpledged delegates, and when he makes his announcement he will make it in a way that will leave no doubt as to where he stands on public questions. Martine is a plain man and believes in plain talk. If he gets into a State fight this year, there will be more plain talk than has been heard in a State campaign for many years in New Jersey."

FERTILIZING PLANT OWNER RESTRAINED

COURT GRANTS TEMPORARY INJUNCTION AND FACTORY IS CLOSED.

On the application of William R. Codington, counsel for Miles Reusch, of Fanwood Township, Vice-Chancellor Magie has granted a temporary injunction against Theodore Glazer, a rule to show cause why he should not be permanently restrained from operating his fertilizing plant at Alton, being returnable in thirty days.

This is one of the many attempts made during the past few years to have this alleged nuisance abolished. Citizens of Fanwood township have complained to the township committee many times but without result. Mr. Reusch resides in the vicinity of the plant and in his bill of complaint he sets forth that the stench coming from the place is unbearable, adding that the work carried on there is a nuisance and a menace to health.

A number of affidavits have been obtained by Mr. Codington attesting to the complaint and they will be presented at the hearing next month.

P. S. C. SPREADS FAME OF COUNCILMAN TYLER

PUTS HIS INITIAL ON ITS POLES—AN OBJECTOR TO THE MARKING.

From a letter of protest received by The Daily Press this morning, it would appear that satisfaction over Councilman Tyler's successful effort to have the P. S. C. number all its poles in this city was not universal. This is the way the protest, which is signed "One Who Objects," reads:

"I wish to protest through your paper, against the unsightly splotches of white paint which have recently been put upon the electric light poles. The poles are bad enough at best, and why should they be made more conspicuous, and objectionable?"

Mr. Tyler, it is alleged, was moved to insist on the pole-numbering, because he saw the plan followed in several other cities. The company didn't hurry to do the numbering, but finally gave way before the coun-

"Value of Memorizing Scripture."

The Sunday-school Teachers' Union will meet in the Y. M. C. A. building Monday night at 8 o'clock. Devotional services will be led by Horace J. Martin, Sr. The lesson for Sunday, May 19, will be taught by Rev. George B. Shaw, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, and he will also present the subject, "Value of Memorizing Scripture." All interested in Bible study are invited.

cilman's insistence, and the poles received their distinguishing marks. Every pole in the city was marked.

The style of the marking has aroused comment on a line other than that of the foregoing communication. The number is painted on a white ground shaped like a letter T. Some people profess to believe that the P. S. C., in a spirit of corporate humor, arranged the marking so Councilman Tyler's initial shall stare everybody in the face all over town.

Will Award Stone Contract.

HOME FOR BOY, NOT JAIL

Albert Gross Comes Out From Shadow of a Homicide Charge.

COLORED BOY RECOVERS

Young Warrick's Injuries Much Lighter Than at First Reported —Mr. Robbie Rescues Gross From Commitment.

Albert Gross, the 15-year-old white boy arrested Thursday night for causing supposedly severe injuries to Sidney Warrick, colored, 14 years old, in a fight at Stelle and Central avenues, will not have to face trial for assault. The police learned yesterday that Warrick's injuries were not nearly as bad as at first reported, and that the Gross boy, in all probability made no such violent assault as Warrick's mother tried to convict him of.

Warrick's scull was not fractured, and he rallied rapidly from the concussion his brain received. He was discharged from the hospital yesterday afternoon. Secretary Kenneth Robbie, of the Y. M. C. A., interested himself in the Gross boy's case, and helped the police in establishing the facts as to the assault. Gross is a member of the Y. M. C. A. boys' club, and Mr. Robbie knew him as a boy of industrious habits and good character. Mr. Robbie who learned of the colored boy's discharge from the hospital soon after it took place, and hurried with the information to police headquarters. He brought it just in time to save Gross' transfer to the county jail under the commitment made out by Judge Runyon yesterday morning, when Warrick was supposed to be in danger of death.

Investigation convinced Chief Kiely that Warrick's insensibility was brought on by the impact of his head against the curb when he fell under Gross' blow. The injury to the colored boy's head was of a character to support the belief. Taking the character of the two boys into consideration, the police believe Gross' statement that Warrick struck at him first.

The criminal proceedings against Gross were halted this morning, and in their place arrangements were made to send Gross to a Catholic home on Staten Island. The boy is an orphan, and the plan is to his likin. He will be taught a trade at the home, and kept until he is 20 years old.

NAMED FOR GOVERNOR.

A Methodist Minister the Choice of the Cold Water Party.

Scenes characteristic of conventions of Democratic and Republican parties, but rather unusual for Prohibitionists, occurred yesterday afternoon at the Prohibition State convention in Y. M. C. A. hall in Trenton, when an attempt was made to put a clause indorsing local option into the platform of the party. After much talk, the resolution was lost.

The surprise of the convention was the selection of the Rev. J. R. Mason, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Collingswood, as the party's candidate for Governor. The Rev. Mr. Mason had no intention of becoming a candidate, but his friends sprung a sudden boom and, after the rst ballot, the Rev. W. C. Kinsey, of Clinton, the only other candidate, moved that the selection of the Rev. Mr. Mason be made unanimous.

MR. LOVELL SPEAKS ON GOING TO COLLEGE

ADDRESSESS MOTHERS' MEETING AT HIGH SCHOOL; FATHERS HEAR TALK.

Leander N. Lovell, vice-president of the Board of Education, addressed the Mothers' Association at the High School last night on "Going to College." The fathers were invited, and a good-sized gathering heard the talk. It was delivered in the library.

Mr. Lovell strongly advised the parents to send any boy or girl who expressed a desire for the higher education to college. If the children didn't want to go he advised the parents not to send them. Where the children were in doubt he advised sending them, so they could tell what college really meant for themselves.

College education, the speaker said, was an equipment. It armed the boy or girl in the battle for success; it was not success in itself.

A JAPANESE AFFAIR.

Unique Features at Meeting of Crokinole Club.

The S. 16 Crokinole Club was entertained last night at the home of Miss Edna Sebring, of Somerset street. The gathering was a Japanese "affair," both in costumes and decorations. The first part of the evening was spent in crokinole, prizes being won by Miss Della Voehl and Raymond E. Miller. After that dancing, music and other features were enjoyed.

The dining room was converted into a pretty scene with a large Japanese parasol in the centre and appropriate trinkets around it. The table decorations were red and white with large American beautities predominating. The young women all wore Japanese dress and each guest was given a Japanese parasol as a favor. Miss Sebring served the chocolate.

The net meeting of the club will be held at the home of Miss Lou Clark, of Grandview avenue, Friday night, May 24.

INDUSTRIAL FAIR.

To Be Held In October At Hope Chapel For Organ Fund.

An industrial fair for the benefit of the organ fund will be held at Hope chapel the third week in October. Many of the booths have already been planned. Most of the articles offered will be home-made, and some of the chapel folk are already at work on them.

The fair committee is made up as follows: William H. Condict, honorary chairman; Donald McInnes, chairman; Rev. L. R. Howard, Ralph Eckart, Walter Firstbrook, John Slorah, Henry Vogel, David Bowden, Charles J. Vincent, Philip Braunsten, J. B. Howe, Jr., Walter Bradford, Ben. Evans, John Kenny, Mrs. L. R. Howard, Mrs. R. Marsh, Mrs. D. McInness, Miss Hazen, Miss Carrie Konzert, Miss Edith Roseberry, Miss Hunter.

Martine Logical Candidate.

A testimonial dinner is to be tendered to the Hon. James E. Martine at Elizabeth, on May 29 by the Democrats of Union county, when he will be boomed for the officfie of Governor of this State. Mr. Martine needs no such booming. He is the logical candidate for the office and it is only necessary for him to announce once for all that he will run for the office, to insure his nomination and subsequent election.—Bound Brook State Centre-Record.

Killing Frost a Year Ago.

While "the oldest inhabitant" was surprised this morning in the decided change in the weather, the thermometer registering 40 degrees at 8 o'clock, it is not without precedent in recent years. Paul Symons, of East Third street, reports that a year ago this morning there was a killing frost in Plainfield and that his fruits and vegetables were ruined by it.

ASSESSORS RAKED OVER

County Board of Taxation Issues a Sharp Letter Containg Instructions.

UNION LEADS STATE

Trouble In Store for County Board As Many Complaints Will Be Filed.

The Union County Board of Taxation has for several days past been going over the ground in different parts of the country, making comparisons and estimates.

The board has sent to each assessor a copy of the following letter:

"To the Assessors of Union County:

"Dear Sirs—In preparing your tax list for 1907, this board urges the necessity of commencing your work promptly and keeping persistently at it until the levy is completed.

"The books of last year show that while some of the assessors worked faithfully and conscientiously, others were careless and indifferent in the matter of equalizing values.

"Union county leads the State in 1906 in the percentage of increase, upon which we congratulate the assessors of the county. This year we ask and urge that you give more care and thought to the irregularities which exist, especially as to personal property. When you find a property assessed too high do not hesitate to lower it; nor if too low, to raise the assessment so that all may bear alike the burden of taxation.

"We ask you to hand in work such as you can intelligently defend on the witness stand if your work is challenged by the owner before this board or the State board.

"This board insists upon these provisions being carried out in every particular, and that your duplicate book be delivered complete at the office of this board on or before the date required by law, namely, the first Tuesday morning in August, at 10 o'clock."

Those who know say that the county board will be confronted with a large batch of complaints from persons who did not take the trouble to appeal last year from their assessments and it is to enable themselves to specifically answer all objections with unquestionable testimony from the assessors that the sending of the letters was decided on.

EXACTING MR. RIVERS.

He Keeps the "Peasant Prince" Company On the Go at Rehearsals.

H. Fletcher Rivers, who is conducting the stage rehearsals for "The Peasant Prince," W. E. MacClymont's new opera, is nothing if not thorough. His one aim is perfection, and he is not satisfied until his purpose is accomplished. The company, under his direction, is the most willing and loyal workers imaginable, and yet even they are sometimes appalled at the demands made upon them. It is no uncommon thing for Mr. Rivers to repeat a bit of stage business twenty-five or thirty times, until every girl and man is working with absolute precision, and although fatiguing in the extreme for the chorus, the results justify his methods. An example was seen yesterday afternoon when he rehearsed twelve girls for three hours on a dance which lasts exactly two minutes.

Mr. MacClymont has composed beautiful music. Dr. Clinton, of New York, has written an exceedingly bright libretto, and this combination, supplemented by Mr. Rivers' work, will without doubt charm Plainfielders next Thursday evening. While the sale of seats has been large there are many good ones left, and music lovers will be amply repaid if they attend.

Successful Performance Assured.

Tickets for the production of "The Peasant Prince," William E. MacClymont's comic opera, which will be given at the New Plainfield theatre, Thursday night, May 16, are selling rapidly. There are many good seats left and the prospects for a large audience and a successful performance are practically assured. A full rehearsal was held last night at the theatre and was satisfactory in every particular. The next rehearsal will be held Monday night.

Elmer S. Garretson Honored.

In the official railway guide for the month of May, announcement is made of the appointment of Elmer S. Garretson, formerly of this city, as auditor of traffic for the Northampton and Bath Railroad, of Pennsylvania. Mr. Garretson is the son of Baggagemaster J. S. Garretson, of the North Avenue station.

Open for Inspection.

The Plainfield Savings Bank will open this evening for the purpose of showing the new building to those who have not had an opportunity to see it. All are welcome.

SURVIVORS OF 11TH. N.J. VOLS. IN ANNUAL SESSION

Mayors of City and Borough Welcome Veterans who are Guests of Capt. and Mrs. Hand.

BRISBANE A SPEAKER

On 50th Anniversary of Their Wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Hand Are Married Again—Banquet Follows Session.

Truell Hall, better known to Plainfielders as the Netherwood hotel, is the scene today of one of the largest and most unique gatherings that the big hostelry has ever housed. It is the combined annual reunion of the Veteran Association of the Eleventh Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, and the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Captain and Mrs. William Hand, the former being one of the members of the organization. Veterans from all parts of the State together with New York notables and officials of the city and borough are in attendance, sharing the hospitality assisting in the general exercises, assisting in the general exercises.

Among the guests of honor are Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of Plainfield; Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield; Arthur Brisbane, editor of the New York Journal; Colonel Mason W. Tyler; Major Peter F. Rogers, of New York; former Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer, of the borough, and many others. The attendance is all numbers several hundred and it is possible the number will be largely increased during the afternoon.

The members of the Veteran Association reached the hall early for the purpose of holding their business meeting. It was called to order at 11 o'clock by the president, Colonel J. S. Schoonover, of Trenton, after which reports were received from the officers. At the call of the roll, fifty-three responses were recorded, the following Plainfielders answering to their names: Isaac Randolph, H. G. Molleson, Thaddeus O. Doane, William Payne, William Hand, John Goodwin and Thomas B. Titsworth. A letter was read from Aaron Lyons, a former Plainfielder, regretting his inability to be present.

With this part completed the election of officers was called for with the following result: President, Colonel John S. Schoonover, Trenton; first vice-president, Alonzo B. Searing, Dover; secretary, Bishop W. Mains, Kearney; treasurer, C. A. Oliver, New Brunswick; chaplain, E. Clark Cline, Phillipsburg.

With the completion of these business matters and several minor details, adjournment was taken for dinner. It was served by members of the Woman's Relief Corps and during an intermission, the association surprised Captain Hand by presenting him with a magnificent silver loving cup, bearing the inscription:

"A token of esteem, presented to Captain William Hand and wife by his comrades of the Eleventh Regiment, N. J. V. I., on the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, Plainfield, May 11, 1907." There is also engraded on it the diamond shaped badge of the Third Army Corps. In addition to the cup, a cut glass water set was presented to Mrs. Hand.

Following the dinner, the guests assembled in the large hall where the programme prepared by Captain and Mrs. Hand in connection with their golden wedding anniversary was commenced. Addresses were made by Mayor Fisk and Mayor Smalley, Mr. Swackhamer, Colonel Schoonover, Alonzo B. Searing, of Dover, and many others. Editor Brisbane reached the hall early in the afternoon and will speak to the veterans at the Jackson school house, to which place they will adjourn before the celebration is concluded. It was at this little building that Mr. Brisbane, Captain and Mrs. Hand and many others attending the celebration received their first lessons and the day is being observed as a sort of reunion of the pupils.

Captain and Mrs. Hand are each sixty-nine years old and were married when they were nineteen by Dr. William Rollinson of Rahway. The ceremony was performed at the home of Captain Hand's aunt, Mrs. Amos Hetfield, at Rahway. The bride was Miss Fanny Cushing, daughter of Milton F. Cushing, who was editor of the Plainfield Union, one of the first papers ever published in the city. Captain Hand is the son of the late William Hand, who owned a big farm in Netherwood. Truell Hall, standing on what was once a part of it. The celebrants were assisted in receiving the guests by their

FANNING GIVES HARTMAN; $75 AND CHARGES ARE DROPPED.

Convinced that no blame attached to the autoist, the police today withdrew the technical charge of careless driving against W. S. Fanning, of Montclair, whose car ran into and severely injured Irving Hartman, a P. S. C. conductor, as the latter was turning a signal light at Clinton avenue and Front street on April 30.

Hartman, who was discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital this week, met Mr. Fanning at police headquarters this morning, and signed a release. Mr. Fanning gave the conductor $75. He offered to pay all the expenses of the injured man, including loss of time, but the conductor, appreciating the generous attitude of the autoist, said $75 would be ample compensation.

This afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles E. Case, of Madison avenue, occurred the wedding of Miss Cora U. Haviland, of New York, formerly of this city, and Willliam B. Bowne, of New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Eckman, of New York, the guests being only the immediate members of the respective families. The house was decorated with spring flowers, the prevailing not being delicate apple blossoms and smilax. The bride's gown was of princess lace over which was worn a tulle veil crowned with orange blossoms. Her flowers were pale lavender orchids and she carried a hite prayer book. Her only attendant was Miss Margaret McCutchen, of this city, who was gowned in embroidered white mulle over pink and with a hat trimmed with pink roses. One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $4 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

Panama Canal—Erie Canal.

Machinery is digging the Panama Canal a thousand times quicker than the shovel dug the Erie.

Machinery produces the L. & M. Paint at 50 times less cost for labor, than if made by hand.

The L. & M. gives the best job in the world, because L. & M. Zinc hardens L. & M. White Lead and makes L. & M. Paint wear like iron for 10 to 15 years.

It only requires 4 gallons of this celebrated paint and 3 gallons of Linseed Oil at 60 cts. per gallon, to paint a moderate sized house.

If any defect exists in L. & M. Paint, will repaint house for nothing.

CIRCUS HAS COMFORTS.

Forepaugh and Sells Bros. Add to Pleasure of Guests.

There is no circus in America that gives such sincere attention to the convenience and comfort of visitors as the Forepaugh and Sells Bros. show, which comes to Plainfield on Saturday, May 18.

Much money has been spent by the management in the introduction of new devices in seats and a thorough system of handling crowds, both of which have added greatly to the comforts of the attendants. Uniformed and obliging attaches patrons, and also the menagerie to answer all questions about the many strange animals. A popular concert during the hour between the opening of the doors and the beginning of the regular programme is given by an excellent band of fifty musicians, thus adding to the enjoyment of the day.

To insure perfect safety to the crowds during parade and performances, a corps of professional detectives is carried to keep the streets and the grounds absolutely free from all objectionable characters. The Forepaugh and Sells Bros. circus has now attained such size that no other circus can compare with it. It employs 1,200 people and travels on a train more than a mile long. It has in round numbers 500 horses, as many other animals and more than one-half the elephants in America. The circus maintains its own hotel, where 3,600 meals are served every day, has its own postoffice, barber shop, laundry, carpenter shop, general store paint shop, gas plant, blacksmith shop, hospital and repair shop and its own police force, lawyer, doctors, dentist, shoemaker and tailors.

Not least among the many conveniences is the down-town ticket sale, where reserved seats and admissions are sold at regular tie-up wagon prices. In Plainfield this branch sale will be located at Schreiber's drug store.

Among the European acts to be seen for the first time in America with the Forepaugh and Sells Bros. circus is that of the Arizona troupe, who are presenting something new in contortion specialties.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY'S BUDGET IS $165,000.

Low Figures by Freeholders' Estimate—Balance From Last Year.

The Middlesex County Board of Freeholders yesterday adopted the budget for the eight months, May-December, 1907, the amount being $165,000. For twelve months last year the total was $107,400. The previous year, the last of the Democratic Board, the total was $319,700, or nearly double for twelve months the present budget for eight.

This year the county tax rate will drop to .34. In 1905 it was .66 and in 1906 it was .44. Last year it was claimed that the decrease in the tax rate was due to a raise in valuations. The increase was about twenty per cent. If the valuations now were the same as in 1905 the county rate would be .42 or 25 points lower than when the retired Freeholders held sway of county finances.

The Freeholders were greatly hampered last year because of the unparalleled extraordinary court expenses. This year's budget contains an item of $15,000 to make up a deficiency in that account, and there were numerous transfers from other accounts to that of the court.

Outside the court expenses the Freeholders ended the year on the right side of the ledger, a balance of $4,932.97 remaining in the treasury.

KILLED IN AUTO UPSET.

W. Rickey Crushed to Death Under His Overturned Machine.

Dover, May 11.—W. Rickey, proprietor of a garage at East Orange, was crushed to death by the overturning of an automobile which he was taking to Newton yesterday afternoon. The accident happened at a turn of the road between Ledgewood and Landing and was caused by the skidding of the wheels of the machine as Rickey attempted to steer by two tank wagons of the Forcite Powder Company coming toward him.

When the wheels slipped the car broke a guard rail and shot down a twenty-foot embankment, turning over and the two occupants under it. Rickey's companion managed to get out, but Rickey lay wedged between a stone and the steering wheel of the overturned machine.

Athletic Meet at Westfield.

The Senior Athletic Club will hold its second annual games at Fair Acres Race Track, Westfield, on Decoration Day. The events are those usually found at any out-door meet. The committee in charge is making elaborate plans for the meet and it promises to eclipse last year's successful affair. All athletes under 21 years of age are invited to compete. Silver and bronze medals will be given to the winners in each event, and a ribbon as third prize. A silver trophy will be awarded the club obtaining the greatest number of points. Entry blanks can be had upon application and will close with C. Wesley Collins, 49 Broad street, Westfield, on May 20. The games will start promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning. Besides the senior events there will be a 220 yard junior and a junior half-mile relay race for boys under sixteen years of age.

McIntyre and Heath and Belle Gold play colored types. All others are white and are represented by such well known players as Alfred Fisher, David Torrence, W. C. Fields, the tramp juggler, Jeanne Towler and Carolyn Gordon. This has been one of the best college baseball seasons in the history of the game. It has been full of close scores and one run contests, and there is more good material than usual. Six of Wednesday's games were won by one run.

Stricklett held the Giants to three hits and the next time he was plastered by the Chicagoes for sixteen. But the Giants are not troubled about it.

It is generally admitted that the retirement of Donlin from the Giants' team has done more than anything else to improve the conduct of the players.

Frank Corridon, of the Philadelphia Nationals, has pitched two one-hit games this season. He looks exceptionally good.

The Y. M. C. A. and Mono Field Club will clash on Crescent Oval this afternoon. A lively contest may be expected.

Clinton Avenue will meet Metuchen at the latter place this afternoon and as the Plainfield team is in fine condition a victory may be expected for the local aggregation.

"Phil." Smith is confident that as soon as the soreness leaves his arm he will be as good as ever. Throughout his whole pitching career his work has not been as poor as this season.

Those who witness the game at Crescent Oval this afternoon will have a chance to get a line on the Y. M. C. A. bunch. Captain Craig is confident that his team will prove a winner.

"Matty" McIntyre, well known to local fans, fell and fractured his ankle in a game on Thursday and will be out of the game for a long time.

Many local fans will journey to Westfield this afternoon to witness the opening of the Lackawanna League, when Westfield and Irvington will clash.

GOLF.

The local golf season will be marked today by openings at the Park Golf Club and the Westfield Golf Club, where attractive events are scheduled.

The events at the Plainfield Country Club today will include play for the May cup, Class B, qualifying round, Golf Committee and Green Committee cups.

There will be general play on the course at the Middlebrook Country Club, Finderne, today.

Among the interesting events at the Park Golf Club this season will be team matches. Arrangements are being made for matches with the New Brunswick Golf Club.

It is possible that Jerome Travers will play in the one-day Metropolitan Invitation Golf Tournament at the Plainfield Country Club in June, and many other crack golfers are sure to engage in the play.

The open golf tournament for men and women of the Metropolitan district to be held at the Plainfield Country Club this season will give the local club unusual distinction and at the same time it gives the visitors an opportunity to learn something about Plainfield.

Alexander Gilbert, besides being an active member of the Plainfield Country Club, has also joined the forces at the Park Golf Club, where he is an officer, this season. He will divide his spare time playing on the two courses.

Perhaps, there is no golfer that more thoroughly enjoys the game than Charles W. McCutchen, president of the Park Golf Club. When at home he frequently visits the course for the exercise and love of the game.

Already considerable interest is being shown in the monthly competitions for cups at the Park Golf Club and they are sure to attract many players to the course.

TWO STRIKERS SHOT.

Constable Uses Revolver When Asphalt Workers Attack Him.

Perth Amboy, May 11.—Strikers at the Barber asphalt plant rioted yesterday when an attempt was made to put others in their places. They attacked James Moran, a constable, who was thrown to the ground and beaten before he drew his revolver and shot two men. Both are in the hospital. One, named Buysviment, was shot in the neck and seriously injured. Steve Biles was shot in the leg.

THIS WOMAN BECOMES HER STEPSON'S WIFE

CONSEQUENT RELATIONSHIPS ARE AS PUZZLING AS "PIGS IN CLOVER."

Friends of William F. Dickinson and Ida E. Dickinson, of Newark, are trying to figure out all the complications of relationship that have or may ensue in consequence of their marriage, which, according to a public announcement made yesterday, took place at their home, No. 42 Baldwin street, last March 17. Rev. Lincoln A. Ferris, of St. Paul's M. E. church, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Dickinson, prior to her recent marriage, was the widow of Wilbur P. Dickinson, father of her present husband, who was the son of his father's first wife. Thus the present Mrs. Dickinson was considerably the senior of his second wife. His death occurred about five years ago.

By her marriage to her stepson Mrs. Dickinson not only merged her relationship of stepmother and wife, but she became the daughter-in-law of her late husband, so that she would be sister-in-law to any other stepchildren there would be. If there should be issue to this marriage it is figured that Dickinson would become a sort of stepgrandfather to his own child, and also, in the same degree, his own stepfather. Mrs. Dickinson would also be stepgrandmother to her child and stepmother to herself. There is not much difference in the ages of Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson.

R. L. STEVENS WILL VOID.

Names of Proposed Beneficiaries Not Filled in Document.

Hoboken, May 11.—An oversight in the will of the late Robert L. Stevens, who died in Long Island recently, makes the document entirely void, except in the fact that the testator names as his executors his brother, Richard Stevens, and his widow, Mary S. Stevens. The estate is known to be large, although no inventory was filed, and the will has caused a flurry.

The only method of procedure now open to the executors is to divide the estate among the next of kin, the widow to receive her dower right of one-third and the daughter, Margaret Stevens, becomes the possessor of the remaining two-thirds.

The deceased named, with his wife and brother, another executor, Edwin A. S. Lewis, who has died since the making of the will on September 13, 1896.

The will was prepared in typewritten form, with blank spaces to be filled in with the names of the beneficiaries and executors. The executors were noted, but the space left for the beneficiaries is still blank, although the trend of the will and conversation of the deceased at the time of the making were taken to mean that Mr. Stevens intended his widow as his chief beneficiary, after making proper provision for the daughter.

Elizabeth Saloon Men Worried.

Elizabeth, May 11.—The saloonkeepers here are greatly stirred up over the fact that a large number of them have been summoned before the Grand Jury to explain why they have not complied with the requirements of the "bishops' law." It is feared that the step means the same vigorous enforcement of the "bishops' law" that is now carried on in Newark. Every indication points to next Sunday being about the "dryest" that Elizabeth ever saw, as no liquor dealer is going to take a chance of having his license revoked, since the Grand Inquest has shown that it means business.

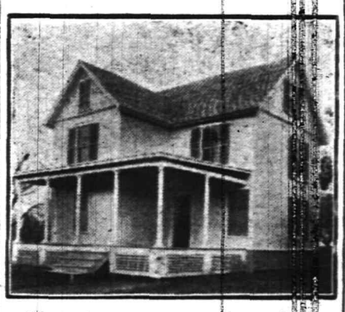
NEW SYSTEM OF BUILDING.

A MARVEL IN THE SCIENCE OF CONSTRUCTION.

A method far in advance of anything formerly used in the preparation of the different parts of a house when erected in sections, making it easy to construct any design of a house, and a very superior house for all seasons, countries and climates at a great reduction in cost.



These houses are constructed principally from the best kiln dried lumber in a factory entirely protected from weather, where best high speed woodworking machines are used for cutting and shaping of every piece, reducing cost for mechanics fully one-half, making a superior house when finished.

Houses or other structures erected under this system make the warmest houses in winter, and the strongest building that can be constructed with any material, the fiercest storm fails to cause any vibration whatever. They are adapted to receive all improvements, plumbing, lighting, heating, etc., when desired.

A new method of lath and plaster is used for interior finish, making a perfect indestructable wall superior to anything ever before used.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

Nat M. Wills, the comedian who appeared in this city a short time ago with his play, "A Lucky Dog," for the benefit of the local firemen, has retired from the cast and will play a seven weeks' engagement in vaudeville. He opens at Philadelphia next week and will give his parody singing specialty.

Peter Winn, of George Primrose's stage force, is spending this week in town while the minstrel organization is appearing at the American theatre, New York. It was Mr. Primrose's plan to close his season in this city, where it began, but the people of Mount Vernon, N. Y., his home town, prevailed upon him to give the concluding performance in that city and the route was changed. It is his intention, however, to come to Plainfield to get next season's company in shape.

W. C. Fields, "the tramp juggler," plays the character of "Sherlock Baffles," the tramp detective, with McIntyre and Heath in Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Ham Tree," the great laughing hit which comes to this city today. Mr. Fields was a high-salaried headliner in vaudeville. Desiring a player of his type for the part of "Sherlock Baffles," Klaw & Erlanger, without regard to the unusual expense of his salary, made a contract with him to accompany McIntyre and Heath on their present tour. His performance is a remarkable one. Throughout his stage business he introduces all the unique juggling feats which brought him so much fame as a vaudeville star. Another noted artist in this company is Frederick V. Bowers, the song writer and tenor. Mr. Bowers renders several songs of his own composition during the performance. McIntyre and Heath play the parts of stranded Georgia minstrels. The presentation of this attraction in this city at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight will undoubtedly attract large audiences, for it has proved, without exception, the strongest musical play presented in several years.

While stars are sailing for Europe and still more planning the near by summer vacation, two of Charles Frohman's satellites, who have appeared in this city the past season, are settling down for a summer of real hard work. William Collier and Ethel Barrymore are holding up the Frohman banner in New York at present. Mr. Collier has his one hundred and fiftieth rainstorm on Monday evening, when he reaches the century and a half mark of his run in "Caught in the Rain." He is planning to hit the three hundred mark, if he can, or, if not, somewhere between. Mr. Collier and his company have had a remarkable year, or a little more than a year of it. They were hurried over to England, where he played an engagement at the Comedy theatre. Then to America again; no respite, and more playing. Then he and his company were rushed off to Australia, reaching San Francisco, en route, the day before the earthquake. The company caught the shock with full force and lost everything they had. Worse than this, Mr. Collier and several of his associates, venturing into the sections where the soldiers were, were pounced upon and put to work. Finally they set sail, and his collaborator, Grant Stewart, rewrote from memory during the voyage a play, the manuscript of which had been lost in the San Francisco wreckage. Then they toured Australia. In the meantime the manuscript was mailed to Mr. Frohman. It was the play "Caught in the Rain," and he accepted it. When Mr. Collier and his company arrived at Vancouver the first letter the star received was one from Mr. Frohman telling him of the acceptance of the play. Mr. Collier then played across the Continent, and reaching the East began rehearsals and his present success. Now he is at his 150th performance, with a stretch of summer before him. Miss Barrymore has not travelled so extensivey, but she has been busy. Opening in "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire," she engaged to "Captain Jinks" and then to "The Silver Box," "His Excellency, the Governor," and now it is to be "Cousin Kate." Completing her New York run on May 18, she jumps to Michigan, and begins a tour that will last well into August and extend to the Pacific Coast.

ELKS' PROGRAM COMPLETE

Week of July 15-20 Promises to be Liveliest in History of Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, May 11.—With the exception of some minor details, the programme for the convention and reunion of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, which is to be held in this city during the week of July 15, is complete and is now presented to the public for the first time.

From reports received from all sections of the country it is expected that upwards of 150,000 visitors will be in Philadelphia during the convention, and the executive committee of Philadelphia Lodge, No. 2, of which Chester P. Ray is chairman, confidently hopes and looks for the co-operation of the people of this city in the entertaining of this mighty host of strangers. The committee is now raising an entertainment fund of $100,000.

Of such large proportions is an Elks' convention that councils have taken official recognition of the event, and a joint committee has been appointed to co-operate with the local committee of Elks. Mayor Reyburn has also expressed himself as interested in the convention, and will do all his official position enables him to make the convention week the most memorable in the city's history.

Expect Hosts on Sunday.

A large number of delegations, particularly those coming from distant points, are expected to arrive on Sunday, July 14. All trains will be met by the reception committee, who will escort the visitors to their hotels. Ladies accompanying special delegations will be taken to their hotels in automobiles, tally-hos, and special cars. Baggage will be immediately transferred by special wagons to hotels.

Monday, July 15.

Entertainment of Grand Lodge members, which will include a trip on the Delaware river, visiting Cramps and other shipyards, League Island Navy Yard, forts and all other points of interest. A stop will be made at Washington Park, where luncheon will be served. The time of embarkation will be at 11 a. m., and the return made at 5 p. m.

The formal opening of the Grand Lodge will take place at the Grand Opera House at 8 p. m., where the guests will be welcomed by the Governor, the Mayor and other officials. At the same hour bands will discourse patriotic airs in Independence Square.

Tuesday, July 16.

The Grand Lodge opens in business session at 11 a. m. at the Garrick theatre. On that day Washington Park-on-the-Delaware will be the scene of what will be the greatest festal occasion ever attempted by any organization. Every Elk in the world is invited to come to this unprecedented feast. The ocean will be scoured for shell fish, the rivers for their finny denizens, the earth for its gifts to make this feast unparalleled. The only thing necessary for admission is an Elks' card and the official badge.

Boats will leave Arch street wharf every hour, no tickets being necessary to Elks, identification as above stated being made by the badge and visiting card. These boats will make trips up and down the river before proceeding to Washington Park.

In the evening a concert at Independence Square and at 11 o'clock the singing of the 11 o'clock toast on City Hall plaza.

Wednesday, July 17th.

In the morning a trip through Fairmount Park, that embraces within its domain 3,341 acres, with unsurpassed natural scenery that has inspired artists from every corner of the world. Hundreds of monuments are within its environs, chief of which is that magnificent work of art, the bronze equestrian statue of George Washington, erected by the State Society of the Cincinnati, at a cost of $250,000, and is one of the most imposing monuments in America. Then there are the Lincoln Monument, Grant's Cabin, Memorial Hall, a $1,500,000 reminder of the Centennial of 1876; marvellous Horticultural Hall, with its collection of rare exotics and its famous and wonderful "sunken gardens," and then the beautiful Wissahickon, where nature runs riot. No other great city in the world can boast of such a park.

At 11 a. m. a massed band parade of 3,000 musicians will take place, each lodge having a band of thirty or more pieces entered in this feature, and in the general parade receiving $100, besides having a chance to win the special and best appearing band, or the second prize of $100.

In the afternoon a train to Willow Grove. The Victor Herbert Orchestra has been especially engaged to play during the Reunion week, and on this day the famous Strawbridge & Clothier Chorus of 1,000 voices will sing.

In the evening grand band concerts in Independence and City Hall squares.

Thursday, Friday, Saturday.

The great parade of all lodges of the order will take place on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, and at night special illuminations and band concerts. This parade will be the largest and most magnificent ever seen in Philadelphia. Thousands of dollars in prizes will be awarded to those participating. The official trip to Valley Forge is scheduled for Friday, and on Saturday the official excursion to Atlantic City will take place.

Other features may be added to this programme, and altogether the week should be the liveliest Philadelphia has ever experienced.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Sunday Selling.

Despite the bishops' law, an attack on which was so strongly resented in this city as well as elsewhere in the State during the last session of the Legislature, many of the saloons of Elizabeth, it is commonly reported about town, are continually open for business on Sundays. Rumors are persistent that violators of the law, for months without restraint, no longer fear the hand of justice, and pursue their illegal trade with a flagrant openness. Knowledge of the violations is reported to be so general that Sunday liquor-selling in Elizabeth appears to be understood as something that the people countenance and public sentiment upholds. The existence of such reports can only work harm for this community. Viewed from the standpoint of cold business, they are demaging and full of danger to the future welfare of this city. Just now everybody is bending every effort to make Elizabeth a strong industrial community. Such stories as are now being given wide circulation and prominence can only weaken it in the eyes of manufacturers, and make it less attractive to that large body of lawabiding workmen whose homes are located in that part of the city where the saloons are most numerous. But there is a higher motive for insisting on the enforcement of the liquor laws. In any civilized community the necessity for law and order is realized as vital and fundamental to its progress. To protect itself from being preyed upon by selfish interests it has built up a careful system of law and has organized strong machinery to execute it. In this city there is law enough and provision enough for its execution. We have a Mayor, who, as the chief executive officer of the city, is under oath "to be vigilant and active in causing the laws and ordinances of the city to be duly enforced." To accomplish this he has a police department at his command, of which he is the head. The enforcement of the excise act is one of the duties of the police. These reports of violations of the excise act as regards Sunday liquor selling have been given prominence enough in this city to call for investigation on the part of the Grand Jury at the session about to open. This is a matter of unquestionable importance to this city, and the citizens have a right through the Grand Jury to protection if the damaging accusations are true.—Elizabeth Journal.

SPECIALIZED SCIENCE.

Three—only three, my darling,
Separate, solemn, slow;
Not like the unspilled shapeless ones
We used to know
When we kissed because we loved each other,
Heedless of style or size;
And lavished kisses as the summer
Lavishes flies.

The first of these, my darling,
Is Hobson's. We are told
'Tis calm, correct and finished,
Though somewhat cold.
I kiss thee, dear, in Hobson style:
'Tis meet that we should be
Conversant with the various schools
Of kissery.

The second kiss, my darling,
Is Andrew Carnegie's;
'Tis bountiful and thrilling—
It seems to please.
Observe, then, sir, my darling,
This kiss requisitions bears
To the rich oscillation
Of millionaires.

The last kiss—Oh, my darling,
I've had enough of this!
Hereafter I'm contented with
Our same old kiss.
—Carolyn Wells, in December Lippincott's.

The king of Roumania rules over the youngest monarchy in Europe.

Queen Wilhelmina, of Holland, has been appointed colonel of the First Belgian Grenadiers by King Leopold.

The king of England is a publisher. He has the exclusive right to issue mariners' charts, and English mariners are forbidden by law to use any charts but his. The copyright on these royal charts, furthermore, never runs out. It endures forever.

Queen Alexandra owns several fine chinchillas and Persian cats. Princess Alexander of Teck and Prince Maurice of Battenberg also possess valuable specimens, but the real cat fancier among the royal family of Great Brittain is Princess Victoria of Slesvick-Holstein.

TRAIN AND TRACK.

Ireland has only 657 miles of double line railways.

There are nearly 600 railway stations in greater London, and into the trunk line stations alone there pour annually more than 300,000,000 passengers.

The Indian railways are now the cheapest in the world. The average charge for passenger is one-fifth of a penny per mile and for goods a half-penny a ton per mile.

CHAPTER XXXIII.
A "Spasm of Virtue."

I forced upon Goodrich my place as chairman of the national committee and went abroad with my daughters. We stayed there until Scarborough was inaugurated. He had got his nomination from a convention of men who hated and feared him, but who dared not flout the people and fling away victory; he had got his election because the defections from our ranks in the doubtful states far outbalanced Goodrich's extensive purchases there with the huge campaign-fund of the interests. The wheel-horse, Partisanship, had broken down, and the leader, Plutocracy, could not draw the chariot to victory alone.

As soon as the election was over, our people began to cable me to come home and take charge. But I waited until Woodruff and my other faithful lieutenants had thoroughly convinced all the officers of the machine how desperate its plight was, and that I alone could repair and restore, and that I could do it only if absolute control were given me. When the ship reached quarantine Woodruff came aboard; and, not having seen him in many months, I was able to see, and was startled by, the contrast between the Doc Woodruff I had met on the train more years before than I cared to cast up, and the United States Senator Woodruff, high in the councils of the party and high in the esteem of its partisans among the people. He was saying: "You can have anything you want, senator," and so on. But I was thinking of him, of the vicissitudes of politics, of the unending struggle of the foul stream to purify itself, to sink or to saturate its mud. For we ought not to forget that if the clear water is saturated with mud, also the mud is saturated with clear water.

A week or so after I resumed the chairmanship, Scarborough invited me to lunch alone with him at the White House. When I had seen him, four years before, just after his defeat, he was in high spirits and looked a youth. Now it depressed me, but gave me no surprise, to find him worn, and overcast by that tragic sadness which canopies every one of the seats of the mighty. "I fear, Mr. President," said I, "you are finding the men who will help you to carry out your ideas as rare as I once warned you they were."

"Not rare," was his answer, "but hard to get at through the throngs of Baal-worshipers that have descended upon me and are trying to hedge me in."

"Fortunately, you are free from political and social entanglements," said I, with ironic intent.

He laughed with only a slightly concealed bitterness. "From political entanglements—yes," said he. "But not from social toils. Ever since I have been in national life, my wife and I have held ourselves socially aloof, because those with whom we would naturally and even inevitably associate would be precisely those who would some day beset me for immunities and favors. And how can one hold to a course of any sort of justice, if doing so means assailing all one's friends and their friends and relatives? For who are the offenders? They are of the rich, of the successful, of the clever, of the socially agreeable and charming. And how can one enforce justice against one's dinner companions—and in favor of whom? Of the people, voiceless, distant, unknown to one. Personal friendship on the one side; on the other, an abstraction."

"I should not class you among those likely to yield many inches to the social bribe," said I.

"That is pleasant, but not candid," replied he with his simple directness. "No man of your experience could fail to know that the social bribe is the arch-corrupter, the one briber whom it is not in human nature to resist. But, as I was saying, to my amazement, in spite of my wife's precautions and mine, I find myself beset—and with what devilish insidiousness! When I refuse, simply to save myself from flagrant treachery to my obligations of duty, I find myself seeming, even to my wife and to myself, churlish and priggish; Pharisaical, in the loathsome attitude of a moral poseur. Common honesty, in presence of this social bribe, takes on the sneaking seeming of rottenest hypocrisy. It is indeed hard to get through and to get at the men I want and need, and must and will have."

"Let Us Help Each Other."

"Impossible," said I. "And if you could get at them, and if the senate would let you put them where they seem to you to belong, the temptation would be too much for them. They too would soon become Baal-worshipers, the more assiduous for their long abstinence."

"Some," he admitted, "perhaps most. But at least a few would stand the test—and just one such would repay and justify all the labor of all the search. The trouble with you pessimists is that you don't take our ancestry into account. Man isn't a falling angel, but a rising animal. So, every impulse toward the decent, every gleam of light, is a tremendous gain. The wonder isn't the bad but the good, isn't that we are so imperfect, but that in such a few thousand years we've got so far—so far up. I know you and I have in the main the same purpose—where is there a man who'd like to think the world the worse for his having lived? But we work by different means. You believe the best results can be got through that in man which he has inherited from the past—by balancing passion against passion, by offsetting appetite with appetite. I hope for results from that in the man of to-day which is the seed, the prophecy, of the man who is to be."

"Your method has had one recent and very striking apparent success," said I. "But—the spasm of virtue will pass."

"Certainly," he replied, "and so too will the succeeding spasm of reaction. Also, your party must improve itself—and mine too—as the result of this spasm of virtue."

"For a time," I admitted. "I envy you your courage and hope. But I can't share in them. You will serve four stormy years; you will retire with friends less devoted and enemies more bitter; you will be misunderstood, maligned; and there's only a remote possibility that your vindication will come before you are too old to be offered a second term. And the harvest from the best you sow will be ruined in some flood of reaction."

"No," he answered. "It will be reaped. The evil I do, all evil, passes. The good will be reaped. Nothing good is lost."

"And if it is reaped," I rejoined, "the reaping will not come until long, long after you are a mere name in history."

Even as I spoke my doubts I was wishing I had kept them to myself; for, thought I, there's no poorer business than shooting at the beautiful soaring bird of illusion. But he was looking at me without seeing me. His expression suggested the throwing open of the blinds hiding a man's inmost self.

"If a man," said he absently, "fixes his mind not on making friends or defeating enemies, not on elections or on history, but just on avoiding from day to day, from act to act, the condemnation of his own self-respect—" The blinds closed as suddenly as they had opened; he had become conscious that some one was looking in. And I was wishing again that I had kept my doubts to myself, for I now saw that what I had thought a bright bird of illusion was in fact the lost star which lighted my own youth.

Happy the man who, through strength or through luck, guides his whole life by the star of his youth. Happy—but how rare!

CHAPTER XXXIV.
"Let Us Help Each Other."

In the following September I took my daughters to Elizabeth. She looked earnestly, first at Frances, tall and slim and fancying herself a woman grown, then at Ellen, short and round and struggling with the giggling age. "We shall like each other, I'm sure," was her verdict. "We'll get on well together." And Frances smiled and Ellen nodded. They evidently thought so, too.

"I want you to teach them your art," said I, when they were gone to settle themselves and she and I were alone.

"My art?"

"The art of being one's self. I am sick of men and women who hide their real selves behind a pose of what they want others to think them."

"Most of our troubles come from that, don't they?"

"All mine did," said I. "I am at the age when the very word age begins to jar on the ear, and the net result of my years of effort is—I have convinced other people that I am somebody at the cost of convincing myself that I am nobody."

"No, you are master," she said.

"As a lion-tamer is master of his lions. He gives all his thought to them, who think only of their appetites. And his whole reward is that with his life in his hand he can sometimes show them through a few worthless little tricks." I looked round the attractive reception-room of the school. "I wish you'd take me in, too," I ended.

She flushed a little, then shook her head, her eyes twinkling. "This is not a reformatory," said she. And we both laughed.

As I did not speak or look away, but continued to smile at her, she became uneasy, glanced round as if seeking an avenue of retreat.

"Yes—I mean just that, Elizabeth," I admitted, and my tone explained the words.

She clasped her hands and started up.

"In me—in every one," I went on, "there's a beast and a man. Just now—with me—the man is uppermost. And he wants to stay uppermost. Elizabeth—will you—help him?"

She lowered her head until I could see only the splendor of her thick hair, sparkling like black quartz.

"Will you—dear? Won't you—dear?"

Suddenly she gave me both her hands. "Let us help each other," she said. And slowly she lifted her glance to mine; and never before had I felt the full glory of those eyes, the full melody of that deep voice.

And so, I end as I began, as life begins and ends—with a woman. In a woman's arms we enter life; in a woman's arms we get the courage and strength to bear it; in a woman's arms we leave it. And as for the span between—the business, profession, career—how colorless, how meaningless it would be but for her!

THE END.

Doan's Kidney Pills never fail you

Plainfield people know this.

Read this Plainfield case.

Read how Doan's stood the test

For many years.

It's local testimony and can be investigated:

Richard Day, of 208 East Front street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I have given a statement which has appeared in our papers for several years. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills because I know there is no reason why they will not do for others what they did for me. I had a miserable dull pain across my back an da sort of lameness across my kidneys. Standing any length of time or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much and did not like to take medicine, but these attacks grew worse instead of better, and reading frequently about Doan's Kidney Pills I bought a box and used it. After taking two boxes I was cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

MAY BE RECEIVER FOR STATE MUTUAL SOCIETY.

Charged Officers Knew of Its Insolvency and Improperly Loaned Its Funds.

Camden, May 11.—On the application of Thomas Fitzgerald, of Moorestown, Vice Chancellor Leaming here made yesterday another order for a rule to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed for the State Mutual Building and Loan Association of New Jersey and also why the appointment of three trustees chosen to wind up the affairs of the association shall not be set aside. The rule is returnable May 20.

Fitzgerald in his application alleges that the officers and directors knew about a year ago that the association was insolvent and used their influence with the State Banking Department to prevent the appointment of a receiver at that time. He also charges that the officers of the association loaned its funds on insufficient security.

Vice Chancellor Leaming refused recently to appoint a receiver for the association on the ground that the trustees were the proper persons to wind up its affairs.

GIRL KILLED BY TRAIN.

Was On Her Way Home From Work When Hit By Express.

Elizabeth, May 11.—While passing in front of a freight train on the Long Branch line of the Central Railroad Wednesday night, Jennie Spelenger, fifteen years old, of 248 Inslee place, was struck by an express and died at the General Hospital yesterday as the result of the injuries. She received a fracture at the base of the skull which rendered her unconscious up to the time of her death.

The girl lived with her aunt, Miss Elizabeth Grechen. She was employed in New York, and was going home at the time she undertook to cross the track at Wall street. The oncoming freight obscured the view of the express, which struck the girl just as she stepped on the track.

THE following sentence from an editorial in a New York daily paper deserves the widest publicity. The latter part is especially true of

The Prudential

"The wage-earner who hesitates about protecting his family by continuing a Life Insurance Policy may comfort himself with the reflection that insurance in any of the widely-known companies is probably safer to-day than ever before."

The attention of renters of Safe Deposit boxes in New York is called to the fact that New York State levies a tax on the contents of the Safe Deposit box of a non-resident at his or her death, which tax may, of course, be avoided by keeping one's valuables in the same state in which one resides. It is, therefore, greatly to the advantage of a resident of New Jersey to keep personal property in a Safe Deposit box within the state.

Save Pulpit from X Science.

New York, May 11.—That the doctrines of Christian Science shall never be taught from the pulpit in which Henry Ward Beecher and Lyman Abbott preached, was decided last night when the members of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, voted unanimously to ask the trustees to rescind a lease of the building to followers of Christian Science for a lecture there on next Thursday by Judge Septimus J. Hanna. In a speech filled with emotion, General Horatio C. King denounced Christian Science and Mrs. Eddy, its head, as shams and frauds, and said Plymouth church would be disgraced forever if the news went out to the world that the doctrine was discussed from its famous pulpit.

Want Colby for Governor.

Paterson, N. J., May 11.—The Republican Representative Government League of Passaic county has declared in favor of State Senator Everett Colby for Governor. This message, signed by Henry Marelli, as secretary, was today sent to the Senator at Hot Springs, Va: "The Executive Committee of the Republican Representative Government League of Passaic county by resolution unanimously recommend you as their choice for candidate for Governor."

Wife Has Disappeared.

Frank Sprosit, of No. 65 Sammis avenue, Dover, has asked Chief of Police Young, of that place, to aid in the search for his wife, who, he says, disappeared Monday with their child. Sprosit says Mrs. Sprosit ran off with a mutual friend and took with her $300 which Sprosit had saved. Sprosit declares he is not anxious to get his wife back, but he wants his child. He also would like to recover the $300.

PLUCKEMIN PROTESTS AGAINST A LICENSE

INVADES COURT TO OPPOSE A LICENSE —WOMEN SCARE APPLICANT.

Francis M. Bacon, of Bacon & Co., woollen manufacturers, of No. 92 Franklin street, New York, made application in the Somerset Court at Somerville yesterday for a license for Kenilworth Inn, a summer hotel in the village of Pluckemin, at the foot of the Watchung Mountain.

Pluckemin has been a dry town for fifty years, and almost the entire population of the village came to court yesterday in all kinds of vehicles to protest.

Judge Lyons, of Perth Amboy, who is a native of Pluckemin, appeared for the remonstrants and was backed by the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the pastor of the village church. One of the women told the court that if a license was granted Mr. Bacon would pay his hotel manager $3,000 a year, while the village pastor received only $250.

Mr. Bacon told the court he had no intention of establishing a barroom, but wanted to furnish liquid refreshments to summer boarders and toautomobile and coaching parties. He said that as he was a resident of New York he had made the application in the name of Thomas Moore, a resident of Pluckemin. Moore was soon surrounded by a crowd of outraged women and became frightened. He told the court that he didn't intend to run the hotel or to lease it.

The court decided that as the application for the license had not been made in the name of the owner of the hotel it could not be granted.

Mr. Bacon said that the inn would not open this season. He threatens to build a wire fence around it and to allow it to rot.

Funeral of Mrs. J. W. Mitchell.

The funeral of Mrs. James W. Mitchell, who died at her home on West Third street, Monday night, was held yesterday afternoon. The service was in charge of Rev. Mr. Cooper, of Rahway, who was assisted by Rev. Elliott, of Newark; Rev. M. A. Alexander, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, and Rev. E. B. Maynard. During the service selections were sung by the Mt. Olive church choir and by Mrs. Lulu Dempsey and Fred White. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery.

Martine's Habit.

The number of times which James E. Martine has declared himself out of politics is equalled only by the instances in which he gets in again. The intimacy of Martine and Bryan might easily be founded on the similarity of their political experience and their strong belief that it is a long lane that has no turning.—Westfield Standard.

Mayor Fisk a Director.

At the annual meeting of the Delaware and Bound Brook Railroad, held in Trenton, Thursday, Mayor Charles J. Fisk was elected a director.

VOLS IN ANNUAL SESSION

sons and Mayor Fisk.

The Eleventh Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, which is conducting the reunion, was organized at Camp Perrine, Trenton, and was mustered into the service of the United States on August 18, 1862. On August 25, with 979 officers and enlisted men it left Trenton for active service at the seat of war. It was commanded by Colonel Robert McAllister, who was several times wounded and came home at the close of the war a brevet major general. Only about ninety of the original 979 men were mustered out at the close of the war.

After his promotion the regiment was commanded by Colonel John F. Schoonover, who was promoted from adjutant. The depleted ranks of the regiment, thinned by disease and battle, were filled up with recruits until 1,840 names were recorded upon the roll book. The regiment is credited with having participated in twenty-nine engagements, besides numerous skirmishes, and was present at the surrender of the Confederate Army at Appomattox, after which it returned to Trenton with about ninety men left out of the original 979 who first went out, and they were honorably discharged June 15, 1865.

COLOSSUS IN ELIZABETH.

Colonel William Baker, who claims to be the tallest man in America, was in Elizabeth yesterday. Whether he holds the record or not, he is there some on height. He loks like an incarnation of a character from the pages of "Gulliver's Travels."

The colonel can't ride on horseback, for his feet would drag on the ground. No bicycle was ever made that could accommodate him. With a little reaching he could shake the hand of the soldier on top of the shaft in Military Park. There are few doors, if any, that he can enter, without stooping, and when standing in a room of ordinary dimensions he can write his name on the ceiling with ease. He never sits down in a trolley car, as his knees reach over to the other side and block the way. When traveling by night he cannot get accommidations in a sleeping train. Once he had a shakedown arranged for himself in the aisle. No ordinary bed will do to rest his limbs. His tailor charges him by the yard for his clothes.

His statistics are as follows: Height, something over seven feet seven inches; weight 212 pounds; age, 25 years. He claims to be still growing. He is a colonel because he was born in Kentucky.

LOSE SUIT AGAINST P. S. C.

Tingley and Wife Claim Damages for Assault by Conductor.

Elizabeth, May 11.—After being out all the afternoon a jury in the Circuit Court brought in a verdict yesterday in favor of the Public Service Corporation in the suit brought against the company by Thomas Tingley and wife.

They claimed damages because they were both assaulted by a conductor when they refused to leave a car after the conductor had called "All out." The conductor, it seems, gave Tingley a severe thrashing. The defense claimed that Tingley was the aggressor and that it was not liable at any rate for the actions of the conductor.

New Idea Rally on June 4.

Gardner Colby, chairman of the Republican League for Limited Franchises and Equal Taxation, announced in Newark yesterday that the active work of the ante-primary campaign of the New Idea organization in Essex county will be begun on June 4, with a big meeting in the New Auditorium, Newark. The chief speaker will be Winston Ccurchill, of New Hampshire, Senator Everett Colby, Sheriff Frank Sommers and other reform leaders will also speak. The fight of the New Idea wing of the Republican party will be along lines much the same as those of last year.

Stokes to Address Jr. O. U. A. M.

Governor Stokes is to be the guest of honor and one of the speakers at a banquet to be held at Trenton next Friday night to celebrate the fifty-fourth anniversary of the organization of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics. The affair will be in charge of the Trenton Past Councillars' Association. One hundred guests, including the Grand Council officers, will attend.

Y. M. C. A. vs. Mono.

The Y. M. C. A. nine will play its first game in this city this afternoon, meeting the Mono A. C. on Crescent Oval. The champs—they call themselves that, because they hold the last amateur pennant won in this city—will line up as follows: Minford, p; Howard, c; Payne, 1b; Gilmore, 2b; R. Schoonmaker, ss; Craig, 3b; Banks, lf; Egan, cf; Davis or Hubbard, rf.

Dunellen Teachers Raised.

Dunellen's school teachers have received an increase in salary. The borough Board of Education voted an average increase of $25 a year at its meeting this week, and re-engaged the present teaching force. The total increase will cost the borough $210.

James Burns, a former Plainfielder, who is remembered by a large circle of friends, has set up in the plumbing business in Kearny.

The Epworth League of Monroe Avenue M. E. church will fittingly celebrate the eighteenth anniversary of the organization of the society tomorrow. There will also be special music by the choir, who, it is expected, will be accompanied on the hymns by violins and cornet. The public is especially invited to attend this service.

OBITUARY.

Charles Kennett.

Charles Kennett, aged twenty-five years, died this morning in Muhlenberg hospital where he had been for several months, suffering from a lingering complaint. He was the son of Stephen Kennett, of West Fourth street, and previous to his illness was employed by Frank Day, of West Fourth street, as a driver. eH is survived by one brother, William Kennett, of Philadelphia. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

CARNEGIE NOT GIVER.

Tells Tribune in Wireless Message "Lake My Only Gift to Princeton."

Andrew Carnegie, who is now aboard the Baltic on his way to Europe, in a wireless dispatch yesterday, in answer to one from The Tribune asking if he was the giver of any of the gifts to Princeton University, amounting to $1,200,000, which were announced in yesterday's Tribune, said that he had not made any of the gifts.

The authorities of Princeton would not reveal the identity of the givers, but student speculation indicated that Mr. Carnegie was one of them.

Mr. Carnegie's dispatch to The Tribune was as follows:

"Steamship Baltic via Siasconset, Mass.—New York Tribune: The lake my only gift to Princeton.

"CARNEGIE."

Cigarettes Criminal.

DR. JOHNSON AT TRINITY

Preaches Special Sermon to the Ladies' Christian Work Society.

READING OF REPORTS

Robert Clark, Jr., Recounts the Year's Efforts—Total Receipts Were $809.

The twenty-sixth anniversary of the Ladies' Christian Work Society was observed at the service of Trinity Reformed church last night. The pulpit front was decorated with flowers, and the acting-pastor, Rev. Dr. E. P. Johnson, delivered a sermon to the members of the society.

Nearly one-half of the members of the society, adorned with their society badges, were present and occupied seats in front, on either side of the centre aisle. The choir rendered special music, which was highly appreciated by all. At the close of the service, Rev. Dr. Johnson was heartily congratulated by members of the society for his able and helpful address.

Before the sermon, Robert Clark, Jr., read the reports of the secretary and the treasurer. From the former it was learned that the society has 63 members, 51 active and 12 honorary. Seven active members and three honorary were added during the year. The meetings have drawn an average attendance of 22 members. The society sent out a missionary box valued at $137, and three barrels of clothing; besides many articles of different kinds to various places. It gave $250 to the consistory for special work. Total receipts of $809 were reported by the treasurer. Of this $616 was given to various denominational causes, and $150 was set aside for the carpet fund. In the missionary fund a total of $126 was collected. It was all disbursed, the chief items being equal amounts to foreign and domestic missions; each received $48.

Dr. Johnson spoke, in part, as follows:

"I give, first of all, thanks for the story of self denial you have lived. Next I offer you congratulations. What would the officers and this church have done without your services? Your acts are registered on high, and I am persauded the Savior smiles on you tonight.

"I know the kind of Christians you are, and I am sure you would rather hear a word of appeal, for the attainment of higher things, than to listen to words of praise. There can be no better motto for a society like this than Christ's word, 'Ye have done what ye could.' You know when you have done your best. Whatever praise may be given you, however much you may help the church, unless you hear the Master's words in your soul, 'Ye have done what ye could,' you have not reached the highest standard.

"I wish to emphasize individuality. The only perfect faith is individual faith. You have done such service in your Master's cause this past year, that He calls you tonight to higher, nobler service. What Jesus says He says to you personally and whatever other men or women may do in worship and service their actions should not dim your sense of direct accountability. Everyone must give account. The Lord expects you to do your duty, and your duty is to do what you can.

"Enlarged opportunities come from co-operation. Combination in spiritual things cannot fail to be effective and useful. Jesus confederated His disciples and inspired His disciples to confederate their church work. Church worship and work is a thousand times better than seclusion in a monastery.

"My sisters, by your co-operation in this society you become, not only more womanly, more sisterly, your faithful service has furnished a gem for the coronation of your Divine Master. But however good is co-operation, the impulse of Divine power must be felt in it to bring out its best. Oh, my sisters, if you desire to be remembered by your influence long after you are gone, if you wish your influence to be fragrant with self-denying, remember that the immortal love of Jesus must constrain you in your service to the Blessed Masted and His church."

Made Front Porch His Bedroom.

William Troy, a signalman employed in construction work on the New Jersey Central, loaded up on borough rum Saturday night and lost his bearings. He mistook a front porch at Park place and Duer street for his bedroom and laid down to rest with racket enough to rouse the inmates of the house. They summoned Marshal Pope and the sleepy Troy was lugged off to jail to round out his slumber on the soft side of an iron cot. He put up $10 bail yesterday morning to secure his release until tonight.

D. A. R. RAISING FUNDS FOR MEMORIAL TABLET

PROGRAMME FOR WASHINGTON ROCK ENTERTAINMENT TOMORROW NIGHT.

Patriotism in Plainfield has always centred about Washington Rock, the historic spot whence George Washington looked anxiously out on the plains below, keeping watch over the movements of the British, during the dark days of the Revolution.

Celebrations were at one time held here, on the Fourth of July. Hence the efforts of the Continental Chapter of the D. A. R. to mark this spot with a fitting monument, appeal strongly to our citizens. The Colonial Tea to be given tomorrow at the Park Club, in aid of this movement, promises to be of especial interest. Mrs. L. W. Serrell will contribute a witty monologue, "Afternoon Tea at the Waldorf-Astoria;" Miss Helen Stevens will give a charming dance, called "Night;" Miss Caroline Minturn Hall will add a recitation in French. A piano duet, by Mrs. A. H. Atterbury and Miss Susan Corez, songs by Miss Mary Hubbell, with whistling by Miss Anna May Campbell; Miss Leal and Miss Davis acting as accompanists, ensure plenty of excellent music.

Brief addresses will be made by Miss Ellen Freeman, State regent; Mrs. Kearfritt, vice president-general D. A. R. for New Jersey, and Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, regent of the local chapter. Mrs. George N. Campbell will preside over her interesting collection of revolutionary relics.

The refreshments will be of the same excellence as last year, when they gave such satisfaction. All the regents of the New Jersey Chapters, D. A. R., some thirty in number, have been invited, and it is hoped that many will attend, thus adding to the charms of an occasion which promises to be very attractive in all ways. The women of the chapter will appear in Colonial dress. The advertisement for the tea appears in another column.

SCENES OF PRINCETON GIFT TO THE P. H. S.

EDWARD J. PATTERSON MAKES PRESENTATION SPEECH.

Edward J. Patterson, a graduate of the Plainfield High School and a member of the class of '84, Princeton, addressed the students of the local school, this morning. In the name of the Alumni Association he presented to the school a picture which shows the buildings and campus of Princeton.

He spoke of the value of a college education and referred to the advantages offered at Princeton. Of the latter he mentioned the open air, unconventional life of this college; the gymnasium, which he said is second to no other of the American colleges; and the honor system introduced by President Woodrow Wilson, which leaves the matter of conducting examinations entirely with the students. During examination the students have their freedom and are not watched by professors, but at the conclusion they sign a pledge of honor.

BECKER HEARING POSTPONED.

Adjourned Two Weeks On the Ground of Defendant's Disability.

The case of George Becker, charged with beating his wife, before Justice R. P. F. Von Minden, in Dunellen, was laid over for two weeks Saturday morning. The adjournment was secured by the defendant, through his counsel, Judge William Newcorn.

The postponement was asked on the ground of physical disability. Becker was injured recently in a smash-up of his wagon by a Black Diamond Express, and left Muhlenberg Hospital a little more than a week ago. He limped into the court room apparently very weak. Mrs. Becker's allegations would make it appear that he was strong enough to beat her black and blue last Monday, four days after leaving the hospital.

Cashin Must Leave Town.

James Cashin, arrested several times recently for drunkenness, and on complaint of his family, was again before City Judge Runyon this morning. He was given his choice of leaving town, and relieving his family of annoyance, or of going to jail. He promised to get out and sentence was suspended.

Drunks Fined.

James Smith, Foster Sprague and Michael Kejock, all charged with drunkenness, were arraigned in the city court this morning. They were arrested Saturday night, at different times. Smith and Sprague were fined $5 and Kejock $3.

VIEW MISS HALL'S WORK

Striking Portrait of Her Distinguished Grandmother in the Exhibit.

SOME CHARMING OILS

So many of the friends of Miss Caroline Minturn Hall have expressed a desire to see her work, that she held two informal receptions in her studioin the Babcock building, on Friday and Saturday last, assisted by her mother, Mrs. David P. Hall.

Miss Hall's studio is charmingly arranged, bits of old brass and pottery, together with embroideries furnishing an artistic background for the pictures and drawings displayed. The portrait in oils, of her grandmother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, attracted especial interest and attention. The color scheme is very pleasing. The distinguished lady is represented sitting in a white Windsor chair, and dressed in creamy white. The background of the picture is of a brownish green of subdued tone. The figure is life size and three quarter length. The likeness is excellent, and Miss Hall received many compliments on her success in painting so difficult a subject. Dignity and power characterize face and figure alike. The portrait was painted to order, for Mrs. Howe's son, Professor Henry Marion Howe, of Columbia University.

Miss Hall's specialty is landscape however. Her most recent piece of work shows a group of oakes, with the russet tints of autumn outlined against a sky of the loveliest turquoise blue, in which rise great golden clouds. The coloring and composition of this picture were much admired.

Another painting exhibited is a wind-swept lanscape, the onward rush of clouds showing the artist's power of reproducing striking atmospheric effects.

A number of scenes in Brittany, Fountainebleau, Paris and Rhode Island showed a wide range of subjects and great variety of color and treatment. Critics both in Paris and in this country have declared Miss Hall's work to be distinguished by poetic feeling and excellence of composition, as well as by the large way in which she looks at nature.

Especial interest was shown in her three large landscape drawings, that were exhibited in the New Salon in Paris, Miss Hall having taken the first prize for drawing, a silver medal, at the Delecluse Academy. Two of her most important paintings are now on exhibition elsewhere.

A moonlight in Brittany is at the Macbeth Galleries in New York and a Wooded Vale (which has been at the exhibition of the National Academy in New York, just closed) will be shown by invitation at the coming summer exhibition of the Worcester Art Museum. This picture was also at the New Salon in Paris, and at Angers, France (aiso by invitation), and elsewhere. Miss Hall's friends declared her mornings in a studio to be very agreeable novelties, while Mrs. Hall was much congratulated on her daughter's success.

Rev. Alexander F. Irvine, of New York, lectured on "Lumber Camps of the South" at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon There was a large attendance.

Mr. Irvine talked in a most entertaining vein of the lumber, mining and turpentine camps. He touched on the convict labor used in them, condeming the use of the prisoners under the conditions in force.

May Walk Again Postponed.

The annual May walk of the Gesang and Turn Verein was again postponed yesterday, the committee deeming the atmosphere a little too chilly for the occasion. A meeting will be held tomorrow night but a new date will not be set for the affair unless the weather man gives a guarantee that the participants will not have to carry overcoats and oil stoves.

Charles Kenneth's Funeral.

The funeral of Charles Kenneth, who died in Muhlenberg Hospital Saturday, will be held at the home of his father, Stephen Kenneth, of West Fourth street, tomorrow morning, at 8.30, and from St. Mary's church at 9. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

STRENGTH'S ESSENTIALS

Rev. Dr. Moore, Pres. of Pennington, Preaches Epworth League Anniversary Sermon.

DR HERBEN'S TALK

Editor of Epworth Herald Addresses First M. E. Church Congregation in the Morning.

"Supreme Strength" was the subject of a scholarly sermon delivered at the First M. E. church, last night, by Rev. Dr. Frank Moore, president of Pennington Seminary, the occasion being the anniversary of Chapter No. 1, of the Epworth League, the first one organized by the young people of that denomination in this country.

The speaker divided his subject into three parts—the strength of the body, that of the mind and thirdly that of the spirit. Under the first heading he dwelt on the importance of physical strength, so necessary in fighting the battles of life. He then spoke of the necessity of having mental strength and lastly spiritual strength, which he considered the most important of all.

Dr. Moore proved conclusively the advantages a college-bred man has over a High School graduate as the latter class has the advantage over Grammar School pupils, and quoted many statistics to show that history proves the statement. He urged the importance of a college education which he said would help to develop a student physically, mentally and spiritually and by attaining these things are developed in a way that makes them valuable and useful citizens in all walks of life.

Dr. Moore was a classmate of Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea at Dickinson College, and has held several pastorates in the New Jersey Conference. He was appointed dean of Pennington Seminary, which position he held but a short time, when he was elected president three years ago, succeeding Rev. Dr. O'Hanlon. Although but forty years old, he has exceptional talent and executive ability and has had great success in his present position.

Rev. Dr. F. J. Herben, editor of the Epworth Herald, who was the guest of James R. Joy, of the borough, yesterday, spoke at the First M. E. church, yesterday morning, taking for his subject, "Be Strong." His remarks had a bearing on the Epworth League anniversary of Chapter No. 1, which was celebrated last night, when Rev. Dr. Moore, president of Pennington Seminary, made an address. Dr. Herben, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Joy, was the guest of Rev. Dr. Noble, president of Hackettstown Institute, and Mrs. Noble, at their summer cottage in the Adirondacks, last week, returning home on Saturday.

SCOTTISH-RITE TEMPLE

BUILDING DESCRIBED

The new temple which is being erected for the bodies of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry in the Valley of Jersey City, at Nos. 15-21 Park street, in Jersey City, is rapidly nearing completion. In fact, it is so nearly ready for occupancy that notices have been mailed to the members that a special meeting will be held in the building on May 28. The picture of the temple printed in this issue can give no adequate idea of the beauty and stateliness of the structure, and when the members are admitted they will find that they will have a home of which they may well be proud. A reporter of The Daily Press was permitted a view of the building recently and found a small army of workmen straining every nerve to finish it in time for the special meeting.

The temple stands upon a high terrace, with a fine stone approach and esplanade, ornamented with two bronze columns with three electric light globes on each. When once the building is entered the entire scheme of architecture is apparent. It is severely classic and gains much of its impressiveness from its beautiful, simple lines. The contractors and architects have grasped the idea of the trustees, who have had entire charge of the construction, and have given the members a structure which for beauty of workmanship, adaptability for their every need and completeness of detail is not approached by any Scottish Rite Temple in the United States.

The first floor is devoted to the secretary's office, cloak rooms, kitchen and a banquet room, of which the beamed ceiling is twenty feet above the floor, and will seat over five hundred people. The main staircase is double and leads from the right and left of the lobby to the mezzanine floor, where are found the library and candidates' parlor. One short flight up are the members' parlors and the main auditorium with vaulted ceiling twenty-five feet high, a most commodious stage to the east, and to the west the organ balcony a harmony of red and gold, the feature being the great organ with twenty-seven feet frontage, built by Midmer & Sons, and one of the finest instruments ever turned out by them. The stage has been most completely equipped by Toomey & Volland Scenic Co., of St. Louis, Mo., with some fifty drops and their accessories, notably a beautiful drop curtain of red plush with gold embroidery. The dressing rooms—which are very large and fully equipped—are under the stage. The second mezzanine floor is devoted to a lodge room, with proper parlors, etc., which the trustees intend to rent exclusively to Masonic bodies, now meeting in various halls in Jersey City, and for which they have a great many applications. The building is most tastefully furnished in hand bossed leather and massive oak, with rich and beautiful hangings. Its site is most accessible from all directions, being only twelve minutes from the Pennsylvania Railroad ferry, and five minutes from the Newark branch of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and the trolley cars from Newark, Elizabeth, Bayonne and Hoboken, etc., pass within one hundred and fifty feet of the door.

The building is erected by the Scottish Rite Association of New Jersey, a corporation formed by the trustees of the several bodies of the Rite in the Valley of Jersey City, and of which John W. R. Crawford, of Elizabeth, is the founder and president, with Steven Smith, T. F. Watson, R. B. Sears, M. G. Perkins and J. C. Cassidy as directors.

The presiding officers of the four bodies are:

Walter B. Ward, 33d degree, of Elizabeth, commander in chief of N. J. consistory; William H. Jones, of Newark, M. W. Master of the Chapter R. C.; L. A. Burritt, of Bayonne, S. P., Council P. of J.; Henry C. Cadmus, of Elizabeth, T. P. Master, Lodge of Perfection.

All of the above bodies own allegiance to the Supreme Council, thirty-third degree, for the Northern Masonic Jurisdiction, U. S. A., of which Henry L. Palmer, thirty-third degree, is Sov. Grand Commander, and Robert A. Shirrefs, thirty-third degree, of Elizabeth, is deputy for the State of New Jersey.

Y. W. C. A. NOW IN POSSESSION OF HOME

NEWLY FORMED ORGANIZATION GETS THE LATE DR. JENKINS' HOME.

Today the Young Women's Christian Association takes possession of the late Dr. Jenkins property in East Front street, recently purchased by the organization. Ever since the organization meeting when the money for the purchase of the property was pledged, the committees have been making plans for work and start as soon as the house could be secured. A few repairs are to be made before the place is entirely ready for occupancy. These are to be hastened as much as possible and in a very few weeks the association hopes to be permanently located in its very attractive quarters. The social committee is planning an opening day when all those who are interested in the association can visit the house. In the meantime the house committee is busy, making the rest rooms, the reading room and library and the class rooms most attractive and inviting.

In order that the short term of educational work planned for the spring may not run too far into the hot summer weather, the classes are to begin this week.

The Bible class taught by Miss Elizabeth Chadbourne will be a three weeks' course in how to make the Bible attractive for summer reading. This course will be open to all pledged members of the association in payment of their membership fee.

The walking club announced for Saturday afternoons will not start until June. Miss Tapping, the secretary of the association, will be at 212 Front street every day this week except Wednesday in the morning from 11 to 12:30 and during the evening.

NEGRO JAILED FOR CARRYING A REVOLVER

WILLIAM MAUSELY THOUGHT HE WAS A BAD MAN BUT COP WILTED HIM.

William Mausely, colored, carrying more red-eye and distilled lightning than was good or proper, navigated down Front street Saturday night with noise and disorder on tap and flowing freely. He said he could whip anybody in town, but he wilted when Policeman William Messler took a firm clutch on his collar.

When Mausely was searched at the station house a loaded .38 calibre revolver was found on him. The armament will cost him two months of liberty, for Judge Runyon sentenced him to sixty days in the county jail, this morning, because of it.

"There is too much of this weapon-carrying," said the magistrate in passing sentence. "I intend to do all I can to discourage it."

YOUNG MAN CUTS ARTERY IN A QUEER MANNER.

Nearly Bled to Death Before He Received Treatment at Muhlenberg Hospital.

Edward Dawson, aged 20 years, residing at 132 East Second street, fell yesterday and in so doing one of the main arteries of the right leg was cut by a pen-knife which Dawson carried in his trouser pocket. The police patrol was summoned, but before the young man could be removed to the hospital, he suffered the loss of a great quantity of blood and was in a weakened condition.

The hospital authorities had been notified in advance of the case and were ready for prompt action upon his arrival. The flow of blood was quickly stopped and today it was reported that the man is doing well with every chance for recovery.

THEIR DAY OF REJOICING

Anniversary of Capt. and Mrs. Hand Overshadowed the Military Reunion.

MAYORS CONGRATULATE

Both Mr. Fisk and Mr. Smalley Felicitate the Happy Couple—Visit to the Old Jackson Schoolhouse.

It was a great occasion on Saturday when the surviving members of the Eleventh Regiment N. J. Vols., held their reunion at Truell Hall, but it was of far greater significance to Captain and Mrs. William Hand, who entertained the veterans and a host of their Plainfield friends in honor of their golden wedding anniversary. The affair was as complete as possible to make it. Everyone extended their best wishes to the celebrating couple for all realized that it was their day.

In the remembrance of the day Captain and Mrs. Hand were showered with gifts. There were the silver loving cup and cut glass water set from the members of the regiment, a chocolate set from the Women's Relief Corps, a handsome pin set with diamonds, three pearls and an amethyst from the Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational church, a purse containing gold coins and many individual gifts from relatives and friends.

The loving cup and water set from the regiment were presented in an eloquent speech by Chaplain E. Clark Cline, of Phillipsburg; while S. S. Swackhamer and Mrs. John Manley also made presentation speeches, the latter in behalf of the Relief Corps.

Perhaps, the most impressive part of the afternoon celebration was the marriage ceremony performed by Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church. Captain and Mrs. Hand, attended by Mrs. Phoebe A. Stagg, of Rahway, who was a bridesmaid at the wedding, stood in an alcove surrounded by their guests while Mr. Goodrich one more pronounced the couple one, concluding with an earnest prayer that their lives might be spared many years.

Following the dinner which was prepared and served under the direction of Mrs. J. R. Truell in the spacious dining hall, there was an exchange of happy remarks, all tending to congratulate Captain and Mrs. Hand. Captain William C. Smith made a most admirable master of ceremonies and he took charge of the programme.

The speeches began with remarks by Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of Plainfield, and Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, who occupied seats at the head of the main table with Col. J. S. Schoonover, the commanding officer of the regiment. Mayor Fisk heartily congratulated the couple and paid them deserving compliments and it was his wish that they might live many years to come.

Mayor Smalley said that he was glad to be introduced as the second Mayor of Plainfield and that he felt like the man who is assistant to the president of a large corporation, an assistant to Mayor Fisk. Addressing Captain Hand he said that he has fought a good fight and had kept the faith and on behalf of North Plainfield he extended the best wishes to him and his bride and that all were to remember that the gates of the borough always stand ajar.

Col. Schoonover, the next speaker, dwelt briefly on the achievements of the regiment and related a few personal reminiscences, in which Captain Hand played a conspicuous part. He also recalled the fact that the day marked the anniversary of the battle of Spottsylvania, in which the regiment participated; adding that it was twenty years ago that the veterans held their reunion in Plainfield. He thanked Captain and Mrs. Hand and Plainfield for the hospitality on this occasion.

cident of the occasion from a personal point of view, was the reading of a sketch by Alonzo B. Searing, of Dover, a member of the regiment, in which he recalled the achievements of the Cushings and Hands in the Civil War. The sketch follows:

"Captain William Hand was born in Plainfield, May 16, 1838. His wife, whose maiden name was Fannie T. Cushings, was also born in Plainfield on July 4, 1837. They were married at Rahway on May 11, 1857, by Rev. William Rollinson. Of the guests at their wedding only one is known to be living, Mrs. Phebe A. Stagg, of Rahway.

"When Captain Hand went to the war in 1862 he left at home his young wife and two children, one of which, an infant girl, died before his return. Their son Frank bade them his last farewell about five years ago, leaving Milton C. and Frederick W. with eight grandchildren to comfort and make happy

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

"The Ham Tree" company, which appeared at the local playhouse Saturday, ended its season with the night performance, when the curtain descended at the end of the last act, the members of the troupe gathered around McIntyre and Heath, the comedians, and gave three rousing cheers. The show has been out forty-two weeks and in that time has been across the continent and back, playing to splendid business the greater part of the time.

Says Eric Clement Scott in the Bystander (London): "Why it is that actors, when they write plays, should incline so much to the sentimental side? But for a poor memory I could give many instances of the kind. All I can recollect is asking myself the question on many occasions, and not being able to supply the answer. Stay—a few examples occur to me. The 'Old Homestead,' perhaps the most successful play of its genre, was the work of the actor who starred in it for so many years—Mr. James Hearne." Great critic is Mr. Scott, thoroughly informed on the drama.

— Theodore Burt Sayre, the author of "Eileen Asthore," is writing for the use of Chauncey Olcott next season a play to be called "The Irish Cavalier." It will be produced in Minneapolis August 25.

Richard Mansfield has so far recovered from his recent illness that he will sail for England today. He will be accompanied by two attendants, and upon his arrival in England will go directly to the country seat he has leased for the summer. His wife and son will follow him within a few weeks.

George M. Cohan has revised his least successful production, "Running for Office," and will present it under the title, "The Honeymooners," as a summer roof garden show. The play has been seen in this city several times.

On May 1 Henry B. Harris added another candidate for stardom to his long list of excellent artists when he signed Miss Grace Elliston for five years. Miss Elliston, who has been appearing for two years as "Shirley Rossmore" in "The Lion and the Mouse," will be featured in "The Movers," a new play of American life by Martha Morton Conheim, which will open in New York early next season.

Robert Fischer, who has played the role of the Squire in "Way Down East," for many seasons, and who before appearing in that production made a notable hit by his portrayal of Baron Stein in Sardou's "Diplomacy," when that drama was revived by Rose Coghlan, has been engaged for the role of the boss in the Chicago production of "The Man of the Hour." Mr. Fischer was seen as the Squire in this city two weeks ago.

Dr. Pauline and his supporting company will hold the boards at the New Plainfield theatre this week and after that but one more dramatic production will be seen this season. It will be the well known comedy drama, "The Little Outcast," with Miss Ella Galvin, whose home is in this city, appearing in the title role. Two performances will be given, next Monday and Tuesday nights, and both will be benefits for Stage Carpenter Fred Bennett and Janitor David Bush, of the house staff.

SOME OSLERIZED IDEAS.

"He is the best physician who knows the worthlessness of the most medicines."—A quotation indorse by Dr. Osler.

"My practice at Johns Hopkins was aptly described as a mixture of hope and nux vomica."

"The pathologist has made the province of the physician one of prevention quite as much, or more, than one of cure."

"Physicians must recognize and should admit that some diseases are incurable, even at the sacrifice of their pride."

"There is no cure for pneumonia by drugs. I have little hope there ever will be."

"There are about four drugs of real value in their various forms. I shall not name them."

Statements made by Dr. William Osler yesterday before the Pathological Society at the Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia.

—John Parkhurst, father of Editor Parkhurst, of the Courier-News, has been engaged as business manager for Truell Hall, by Mrs. J. R. Truell. Mr. Parkhurst formerly managed a large hotel in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. McGee, of the borough, are planning a trip abroad in June.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

DIAMOND DUST.

"Phil." Smith started the game for Elizabeth against Easton on Saturday and lasted but two innings. He was very wild. Elizabeth won the game, the pitcher succeeding Smith striking out thirteen men.

"Red" Waller, the hero of other days, did not make an auspicious beginning at Westfield on Saturday, Irvington giving the home team its first coat of whitewash—score 7 to 0.

"Doc" Scanlon, who was slated to pitch for Westfield on Saturday, went to Elizabeth, where he pitched for the Lackawanna League team against Chatham. The Morris county boys won by a score of 5 to 2, securing eleven hits off Scanlon.

"Dave" Driscoll and Seward were the only two players who did themselves justice on the Elizabeth Lackawanna League team, Saturday.

Linderman and Farmer appeared with Summit on Saturday, despite the talk that they were going with the Elizabeth Atlantic League team.

It is said that the Atlantic League teams in Pennsylvania are drawing good crowds and making money, while the teams at this end of the circuit are having their own troubles.

The Lackawanna League officials will hold a meeting tomorrow night to act on the petition of "Dave" Driscoll, of the Elizabeth team, asking that his club be made a travelling one. The reason given is that the Atlantic League team wants to play on the grounds of the Invaders. The request will probably be granted.

Norton, who did the backstop work for the West Ends, of Somerville, last year, is a member of the Allentown Atlantic League team, this year, and is doing fine work behind the rubber.

Jim Scott, who was on the pitching staff of the Easton Atlantic League team, and who was obliged to quit the game on account of a sore arm, has returned to Plainfield. He says that his arm will be all right in a short time.

Clifford Randolph, pitching for Clinton Avenue against Metuchen on Saturday, struck out sixteen men.

Bayard, a former Morristown High School player, who recently moved to Plainfield, is being given a tryout by Dunellen. He showed up well in practice on Saturday.

GOLF.

"Marty" O'Loughlin, the "pro" at the Plainfield Country Club, will probably play in the big tournament to be held in Philadelphia the latter part of June.

The rain of the past few days has helped the course and greens at the Plainfield Country Club and while on Saturday there were a few soft spots, the general condition was good.

Many luncheons were served at the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday, and the service is proving very satisfactory.

J. H. P. Wharton, formerly of Plainfield, is following the game this season at Baltusrol, where he is making a good record.

The Baltusrol Golf Club team defeated Essex County on Saturday by a score of 56 to 25. I. K. Taylor, of Essex, won the prize for the best net score.

Jerome D. Travers won the invitation tournament of the Princeton Golf Club, Saturday afternoon, defeating F. H. McAdoo, of Princeton, 6 up and 5 to go. Travers outclassed his rival and the result was never in doubt.

Dudley H. Barrows, although defeated by Jerome D. Travers in the opening rounds of the invitation tournament at Princeton, is playing a strong game this season with chances for steady improvement.

Frank O. Reinhart by his play at the Plainfield Country Club Saturday showed that he is rapidly getting into form.

Forest Hill defeated Glen Ridge by a score of 7 to 1, Saturday afternoon in the East Jersey Golf League match.

5 TIE IN GOLF TOURNEY

Reinhart, Glenny, Morgan, Murphy and Rowland in the Lead.

FOR COMMITTEE CUP

Morse Wins First Honors at Park Club With Net Score of 95, Dr. Carroll Being Second.

Despite the high wind and chilly atmosphere there was a large field out at the Plainfield Country Club Saturday to engage in play. While the wind conditions were such as to prevent good work, many excellent scores were returned. A somewhat remarkable feature was that there were five contestants who were tie for first honors for the Golf Committee cup, each returning an 84. This will give each one of the five 1 1-6 of a point. The result speaks well for the excellent handicapping system, showing that the committee was pretty accurate in its rating of the players.

These scores were returned for the Golf Committee cup:

Frank O. Reinhart, 84, 0-84; W. Lester Glenney, 84, 0-84; C. B. Morgan, 86, 2-84; Arthur Murphy, 91, 7-84; D. H. Rowland, 98, 14-84; Roger F. Murray, 91, 6-85; Julius E. Erickson, 97, 12-85; Frank C. Talmadge, 88, 0-88; Henry D. Hibbard, 97, 6-91; Stuart H. Patterson, 107, 10-97.

In addition there was play for the Green Committee cup, weekly competition for those with handicaps of fifteen or over. These scores were returned:

Herbert Rogers, 99, 18-81; George F. Earl, 111; 21-90; Hugh F. Fox, 107, 17-90. Mr. Rogers receives three points and the other two players 1 1-2 points each.

The active season began at the Park Golf Club on Saturday with the initial play for the President's cup, scratch competition. Owing to the heavy rain, the course was in many places almost inundated with water, making good scores impossible. There was a large field, but a number did not post their scores for the first day's play. Charles B. Morse won the first honors for the trophy with a net score of 95, Rev. Dr. Carroll finished second with a 98, while Charles A. Reed and Leon R. Thurlow were tie for the remaining points with a net 102. The scores:

Charles B. Morse, 113, 18-95; Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, 113, 15-98; Charles A. Reed, 107, 5-102; Leon R. Thurlow, 112, 10-102.

their declining years.

"Of his five brothers, John was a member of Company I, Third New Jersey Volunteers, and was killed August 31, 1861, near Munson's Hill, Va., being the first man in a New Jersey regiment to be killed in battle. By a sad coincidence his sister, Mrs. Gilliland, died the same day, and his body was sent home and they were buried together in the Baptist Cemetery at Scotch Plains.

"His brother Henry served as corporal in Company B of our regiment. He was disabled at the battle of Chancellorsville, Va., in May, 1863, and was sent home on furlough. He returned to duty and served with the regiment until the close of the war, and died in Florida about two years ago.

"Captain Hand's patriotic parents had their three younger sons, Thomas, David and Hezekiah, drilled, ready to take the places of their older brothers should their services be needed. They are still living and present to unite with us today in wishing for their honored brother and his wife many happy returns of their wedding anniversary.

"Comrades, the muster roll of our association is growing less, while the roll of honor is growing longer. Today we are reminded of our departed comrades. We recall by memory McAllister, Kearny, Bloomfield, Kelly, Halsey, Martin, Logan, Ackerman, McDavit, Sleeper, Eagen, Baldwin and a host of others. They have been mustered out, marched on and joined the ranks of the Silent Grand Army. Their names and deeds of heroism are inscribed upon the pages of history, while the memory of their loving comradeship with us upon the tented field and in the hour of conflict is engraved upon the inmost recesses of our hearts never to be forgotten.

"Let us so live, my comrades, that when taps are sounded, and the light of life extinguished, we may be mustered into that Grand Army above where God is the Supreme Commander."

During an intermission there were soprano solos by Miss May Smith, and a duet by Mrs. Fred Hand and Miss Smith; interspersed with popular selections by Charles Suhr's Imperial Orchestra.

In eloquent words and a spirit of patriotism, S. S. Swackhamer stirred the hearts of all as he related a few of the more important incidents of the Civil War, beginning with the call of Lincoln for 75,000 men and the response of 350,000 true and noble sons. It was his hope and prayer that the nation thus preserved and spared might live on and on to enjoy the rich fruits of prosperity.

The presentations to Captain and Mrs. Hand followed and then the company adjourned to the large parlors where dancing was enjoyed for a time. In the meantime many accepted the opportunity to visit the old Jackson Schoolhouse, where a number of those present attended school and learned their letters. There was special significance in this visit and reunion of the school boys and girls of other days because of the presence of Arthur Brisbane, editor of the New York Journal. Mr. Brisbane arrived at Truell Hall early in the afternoon and enjoyed meeting those present. He was the centre of much interest by reason of the fact that he has shown a desire to preserve some of the cherished spots of his boyhood days when he attended school at the Jackson Schoolhouse. At the reunion, Mr. Brisbane made a few remarks recalling his early days spent in the vicinity and expressing a desire that the old school-house might ever remain as one of the historic spots in that locality. Mr. Brisbane declared that he would never part with his possessions there and that he hoped in the near future to build a modern home for himself on the site.

Remarks were made by David Hand and several other older residents and the reunion proved a happy and fitting climax to the day. In connection with the celebrations of the day too much praise cannot be given Mrs. Truell for her hospitality and efforts to entertain the veterans and their guests.

One of the attractive features, much admired by the veterans and others, was the display of the trunk of a tree, on the main table in the dining room, which contained a cannon ball. This was obtained on the battleeld at Spottslvania by J. Frank Lindsley, of Compton avenue, and loaned to Captain Hand. It was in this battle that the Eleventh Regiment was engaged. At the request of Mr. Lindsley, a rebel scout, who now resides at Spottsylvania, cut about sixty canes from wood on the field, and sent them to Plainfield. These were distributed among the veterans at the reunion.

Clarkson's Indiscretion.

William Clarkson, employed on the city side of the brook as a hostler, got mussy in a borough restaurant Saturday night and was ejected by the proprietor. The trouble might have stopped there if he had kept still but he did some tall shouting around and the cops got him. A deposit of $10 secured his release for a hearing tonight.

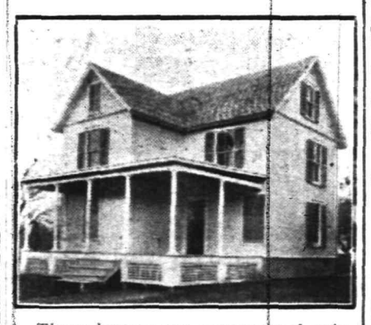
NEW SYSTEM OF BUILDING.

A MARVEL IN THE SCIENCE OF CONSTRUCTION.

A method far in advance of anything formerly used in the preparation of the different parts of a house when erected in sections, making it easy to construct any design of a house, and a very superior house for all seasons, countries and climates at a great reduction in cost.



These houses are constructed principally from the best kiln dried lumber in a factory entirely protected from weather, where best high speed woodworking machines are used for cutting and shaping of every piece, reducing cost for mechanics fully one-half, making a superior house when finished.

Houses or other structures erected under this system make the warmest houses in winter, and the strongest building that can be constructed with any material, the fiercest storm fails to cause any vibration whatever. They are adapted to receive all improvements, plumbing, lighting, heating, etc., when desired.

A new method of lath and plaster is used for interior finish, making a perfect indestructable wall superior to anything ever before used.

OBITUARY.

James H. Smith.

James H. Smith, brother of William C. Smith, of Grandview avenue, dropped dead yesterday afternoon while walking along Gates avenue, Brooklyn. Death was due to apoplexy. Mr. Smith was sixty-seven years old. He was born in Monmouth county, and was one of the old residents of this city. He erected the first brick building in Plainfield, it being the one now occupied by S. H. Whitney, the dry goods merchant on East Front street. Mr. Smith was also one of the early chiefs of the Plainfield volunteer fire department, and after taking up his residence in Brooklyn, frequently visited in this city.

Plainfield Horse Show.

The directorate of The Plainfield Horse Show Association is nothing if not progressive. Not only is this so in its efforts to furnish ample accommodations and a warm welcome for visiting exhibitors, but also in engaging the most efficient staff of managers available. Mr. Charles W. Smith, favorably known in horse show circles, will look after the practical details of the secretary's office, while Mr. James Gethin will assume the management of the Riding and Driving Clubs grounds, stables, horses, etc. Mr. Gethin was for a long time manager of the extensive show stables of Mr. Stuart Duncan. His success in the management of that important establishment argurs well for his new office. Mr. Gethin is not only an excellent driver but also a finished equestrian and huntsman. His judgment regarding horses is of the best and his reputation as a man beyond reproach.—Rider and Driver.

Will the Pennies Stay Put?

West Orange, May 13.—The choir of the Verona Congregational church has adopted a new plan to pay off the indebtedness on the organ. They are asking people connected with the church to help them encircle the church property with two rows of pennies. The distance is 1,500 feet, and when the plan is accomplished the necessary $250 to cancel the debt will have been raised.

Bank Reception.

The new Dime Savings Bank building was open for inspection Saturday night, from 7:30 until 10 o'clock. The bank was brilliantly lighted, and officers and clerks welcomed the visitors and showed them about. A large number of people availed themselves of the chance to see the handsome interior.

Frost and Ice in May.

The unusual cold weather of Saturday and Sunday nights formed ice in this locality and frost was plainly visible, neither of which, however, did material damage to fruit, vegetables or flowers. The minimum temperature yesterday was 30 degrees, the lowest on record for May 12.

Governor Stokes Growing Better.

Montclair, May 13.—Governor Stokes spent yesterday here as the guest of Thomas W. Stephens. The Governor attended services at the First Reformed church. He said he had been a much sicker man than people knew, but that he was growing better every day.

Awning Destroyed by Fire.

CITY CUTS OFF PROPERTY.

Dr. V. Ruch, Jr., Finds New Englewood Park Closes Thoroughfare.

Englewood, May 13.—Dr. Valentine Ruch, Jr., of Englewood, N. J., has notified the City Council that he will serve an injunction on that municipality unless it ceases to obstruct an entrance to property owned by him near Jay street. Last year Dr. Ruch purchased several lots in Jay street. A map showed an outlet to his property known as Armory street. Several months ago Donald Mackay, Mayor of Englewood, deeded seven acres to the city for a public park and it was discovered that Armory street, which crossed the deeded land, was not a public thoroughfare. The city at once proceeded to plough and grade the seven acres, thus blocking the entrance to the physician's property.

There will be a meeting of all persons interested in a few days with a view to obtaining an amicable arrangement.

FRANCHISE ACT SIGNED.

Extends Limited Grants in All but First-class Counties.

Governor Stokes has signed these bills: Senate 326, Mr. Robbins, provides that in all but first-class counties consent granted to corporations for the use of streets and other public grounds shall not be in perpetuity, but for a term of years not exceeding fifty years. This is an amendment to the limited franchise act for the benefit of the rural districts.

Eating Sand Caused Death.

Elgin, Ill., May 13.—Word has been received here of the death of John L. Morgan, a former resident, in Death Valley, Cal., from tuberculosis of the stomach, contracted by eating hot sand when crazed with pain from thirst and hunger in the Furnace Creek region. Walter Adams Hartner, now on his way East, is endeavoring to locate Morgan's wife, supposed to be living in Chicago. The Morgans formerly lived in Madison, Wis., and she left him after a trivial quarrel. He went West and met Hartner, and they prospected together, finally locating a valuable claim in Death Valley. Last summer both were lost in the dessert and suffered greatly from thirst and hunger. Morgan never recovered from the eects of eating sand.

Statue of "Pittsburg Phil."

Pittsburg, Pa., May 13.—A $4,000 statue of George B. Smith, "Pittsburg Phil," a race track plunger, who died two years ago, surmounting the $10,000 mausoleum he built in Uniondale cemetery, will be unveiled on Memorial Day. The statue is erected by his mother, Mrs. Eliza Woods, who has remarried since her son's death. "Pittsburg Phil" was five feet ten inches tall. The granite statue is just one foot taller, in order to give it a life size appearance when raised twenty feet above the ground on the mausoleum. The statue shows "Pittsburg Phil" standing with his right foot forward and with a racing sheet in his right hand.

A BIG FAILURE IN THE PIANO TRADE

The Firm of Chas. H. Fisher & Co., Philadelphia,

(Established 52 Years)

Now in the Hands of the Receiver

Over 600 Pianos, in Their Warerooms and in Transit, Have Been Consigned to Us

All Must Be Sold Before May 31

STORE OPEN EVERY EVENING DURING THIS SALE UNTIL 9 O'CLOCK

LETTER FROM THE RECEIVER.

Messrs. D. Wolff & Co.,
81-83 Market St., Newark, N. J.

Gentlemen:—In response to your favorof the 2d inst., I appreciate your kindness very much in allowing me the space of your piano warerooms to dispose of the stock of Chas. H. Fisher & Co., 1117-19 Chestnut Street, this city. I have made arrangements to ship the entire stock to your warerooms.

You may advertise this sale to start on Saturday, May 11th, at which time I expect to be in Newark to assume charge.

I am sure that the people of Newark and vicinity will have in this sale an oportunity to purchase a piano at such a very low price that it is bound to be of lasting benefit to your firm to have been instrumental in inducing me as Receiver to select Newark as the city and your store as the place to dispose of the stock now in my hands for the benefit of the Creditors.

And I am equally sure that the sale will also be a benefit to myself and to the other creditors, who have entrusted their interests in my care.

Let the people of your city know that this will undoubtedly be the greatest piano sale ever held in their vicinity and that every bargain will be a genuine one.

Yours respectfully,
J. V. STEGER,
Receiver for Chas. H. Fisher & Co.,
1117-19 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

Read the letter from the Receiver, which will explain all details and show how it came about that the people of Newark are to profit by this huge failure—which shocked the entire piano trade.

If you have been planning to buy a piano soon or even at some indefinite time in the future, this is the one chance of a lifetime to get a GOOD one and pay next to nothing for it!

The following is only a partial list of all the different makes included in this transaction and which will go on sale tomorrow, our floors being entirely inadequate to accommodate all at one time: Chas. H. Fisher & Co., Steger & Son, Steinway, Reed & Son, Hardman, Hallet & Davis, Singer, Wilbur, Sterling, Chickering, Ludke, Brautigam, Weber, Taylor, Simpson, Webster, Fernwood, Oxford, Strauss, Gilbert, Krakauer, Shoninger, Gaylord, Davies & Son, Kranich & Bach, Princeton, Regal, Hasbrook, Bailey, Groverstein & Fuller, Gabler, Sohmer, etc.

EVERY PIANO IS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES BY THE RECEIVER, WHO WILL HAVE ENTIRE CHARGE OF THIS SALE.

THE SAVINCS on Each Piano are from $50 to $200

PRICES ARE AS FOLLOWS:

Uprights, from $45 up
Grands, from $125 up
Squares, from $3.50 up

The prices quoted on each piano are strictly spot cash. 5 per cent. additional if bought on time and paid within one year; 10 per cent. additional if paid within three years.

THE FORUM.

Open Letter to M. T. N. McCarter.

My Dear Mr. McCarter:

I am in receipt of a copy of your splendid speech delivered February 12, 1907, before the Board of Trade at Plainfield, N. J., for which I thank you very much. I have read it with great care and much interest, and, in the main, agree with most parts of it.

There is one part, however, which may call for closer elucidation, viz.:

"The third aim of Public Service, as I stated some time ago, is to earn a fair return to stockholders upon their investment. We have been going four years. In 1906, for the first time, we earned a little over five per cent. on our stock, and that on a gross business of $21,000,000 and a capital stock of $12,500,000. I think that all will agree that this is as close a margin as any legitimate business should be conducted upon. But with the enormous increase in the company's business each year, unless all conditions change, within a reasonable time the earnings will substantially increase. At least this is our hope and belief."

This shows that under former managements the stockholders may have got no returns at all or only small ones. I am not a stockholder in any of the concerns of the P. S. C., so I would have no right to speak publicly in the matter, but as by your distribution of your speech you have made it a public one, it behooves me not to remain quiet if I feel moved to speak.

I do not know or care to know whether or not the rumor that says the amount of income you and others of the management of the different concerns receive is true or exaggerated, but if true, does it not suggest an easy plan by which returns to stockholders may be increased somewhat?

Further along, under the same head, you say:

"No, the present method is right until the earnings available for distribution exceed 10 per cent. of bona fide stock capital."

It seems to me that there may be little danger that the distribution to bona fide stockholders will exceed 10 per cent. in the near future, especially if the managing directors, as would be most natural as being appreciative of the value of its officers who had brought their concerns from a no or small paying basis to a large or fair one, deem them worthy of an increase in salaries sufficient to keep the returns below the 10 per cent. basis. My dear Mr. McCarter, believe me, I am not actuated by motives of envy, for I am one of those who, perhaps foolishly, are satisfied with "but little here below, but want that little long" I am, individually speaking, probably one of the largest daily nickel contributors to troller system in Newark, but one who never complaints of any deficiency in its service publicly.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT P. LEHLBACH.

New Brunswick Mason's Strike.

New Brunswick, May 13.—It is understood that in the contract signed by the master masons and the Bricklayers' Union, who are returning to work after a week's unsuccessful strike in an effort to compel the bosses to give the bricklayers control of concrete, it is understood, that a clause has been inserted pledging the bricklayers to refrain for a year from striking for any cause, providing the agreement as to wages, scale, etc., is kept. This is supposed to be aimed at a possible sympathy strike, as it is known the hodcarriers and helpers are formulating demands on which an answer must be given by May 15, and which the boss masons are preparing to refuse.

Trying to Die By Starving.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 13.—Leroy Ware, cashier of the broken Farmers and Drovers' Bank, of Seymour, who has been slowly starving himself, is weak today, and it is said that unless some artificial method of administering food can be found he will die. Ware has told his friends he can never stand the disgrace of a long trial, and they believe that before May 20, the day of his trial, he will be in his grave. Ware has made no statement that will warrant the arrest of four other men believed to have profited by the $250,000 shortage. They will remain free if Ware dies with his lips sealed.

For New Brunswick Filter Plant.

New Brunswick, May 13.—Mayor Cooper has sent a special message to the Common Council favoring bonding the city for $100,000 for a filtration plant. He favors a commission to handle the matter, and his message says that a bill drawn by City Attorney Hicks was introduced in the Legislature providing for a commission, but that as those who were to have worked for its passage did not do so, it failed to go through. The Mayor favors a commission of seven, made up of members of the health and water boards, the Common Council and himself.

Milk Measurement Bill Signed.

Trenton, May 13.—Gov. Stokes has signed House bill No. 203, introduced by Assemblyman Ridgeway, of Salem county, fixing the standard of measurement for the sale of milk and providing penalties. This was a measure desired greatly by South Jersey dairymen and milk producers in order that they might have the full profit for their product, which they did not receive when dealt in by dry measure.

The attention of renters of Safe Deposit boxes in New York is called to the fact that New York State levies a tax on the contents of the Safe Deposit box of a non-resident at his or her death, which tax may, of course, be avoided by keeping one's valuables in the same state in which one resides. It is, therefore, greatly to the advantage of a resident of New Jersey to keep personal property in a Safe Deposit box within the state.

METUCHEN BEATEN BY CLINTON AVENUE

PLAINFIELD TEAM WINS WELL PLAYED GAME BY SCORE OF 5 TO 2.

The Clinton Avenue team journeyed to Metuchen, Saturday afternoon and defeated the nine of that place in a well-played and exciting contest, the score being 5 to 2. Features of the game were the pitching of Clifford Randolph, who struck out sixteen men, and the stick work of Brit. Martin, who secured three hits, including a clean home run. The Plainfield boys showed up strong, and gave evidence of being in championship form. That the team will be a factor in the Inter-City Amateur League race goes without saying, as every man fills his position well.

Next Saturday, when the league opens, Clinton Avenue will play Scotch Plains at the latter place.

SCOTCH PLAINS NINE DEFEATS WATSESSING

GOOD CONTEST IN THE INTER-CITY AMATEUR LEAGUE SERIES.

The Scotch Plains Inter-City Amateur League team added another victory to its string Saturday afternoon, when it defeated the Watsessing Y. M. C. A. aggregation, by a score of 7 to 2. Considering the weather the contest was a fine one. Penny, in the box for the 'Plains team, helped the visitors some by walking two men at the start. This aided by two two-base hits, netted the opposing team two runs. After that the home team settled down, gave Penny splendid support, and not another player on the visiting team reached the home plate. Connors, for the opposing nine, was very effective until the second inning, when the 'Plains found him for six hits.

In the seventh inning Frentz relieved Penny in the box. Only three men faced him, two striking out and the other one dying on first base on an infield hit. The visitors played a clean game, but were outclassed in stick work, the home team making ten hits off Connors. The lineup and score by innings:

WESTFIELD WHITE-WASHED BY IRVINGTON PLAYERS

THE OPENING OF LACKAWANNA SERIES SOMEWHAT OF A FIZZLE.

Westfield started badly in the Lackawanna League Saturday afternoon. In a fashion that left the handful of Westfield rooters present without hope except in reorganization, the nine fell down before Irvington by a score of 7 to 0.

Jack Waller was in the box for the one-time county champions, and his style of pitching was primarily responsible for the defeat. It was a poorly made team they sent in with Jack, and he acted as he has always acted under such circumstances. He wouldn't let himself out. Result: Thirteen hits and four earned runs.

It was a fizzle of an opening all the way. It was not until late in the forenoon that the management decided that Recreation Park would be fit for playing, and before that all the plans for opening ceremonies had been called off and a postponement announced. When the teams got together there was an attendance of little more than 300 and a total lack of enthusiasm. There was nothing in the way of a ceremony to mark the season's start.

Westfield played a slipshod game both in the field and at the bat, and the way they ran bases was enough to condemn them to defeat alone. Three times they pushed a man to third, but they might as well have kept all their men at the batting box for all the good it did. There was never a symptom of scoring.

There is a general feeling in Westfield that the team will have to be pounded into different shape before anything like pennant grabbing can be hoped for. Two old favorites, besides Red Waller appeared in the Mt. Ararat forces, to wit, one G. Mallen, and Tommy Barry. Barry played his usual snappy, but hitless game, and the old hoss cavorted like a two year old in the garden; but his arm is gone. He could hardly wing the ball to short. Red Alberts played in form in left, and wrenched one of the sparse hits off Phinn.

RUTGERS PREP. TEAM DEFEATS HIGH SCHOOL

NEW BRUNSWICK TEAM WINS BY SCORE OF 7 TO 4.

The Plainfield High School baseball team played Rutgers Prep at New Brunswick, Saturday afternoon, and was defeated by a score of 7 to 4. Murphy, for the local school boys, pitched much the better ball, allowing only three hits, but his team made six errors which lost them the contest. In fielding the Rutgers boys outclassed their opponents. The Plainfield aggregation made a total of five hits, Snyder being credited with two singles. The score:

Y. M. C. A. NINE WINS A TEN-INNING GAME

MINFORD PITCHES GREAT BALL AGAINST MONO F. C.; ONE SCRATCH HIT.

The Y. M. C. A. nine won a ten-inning game from the Mono F. C. at Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon, by a score of 4 to 3. The defeat was the first one suffered by the Monos this season and they felt it.

It was a pitcher's battle all the way through. The weather was too chilly for snappy fielding and both sides suffered from its effects. Minford had it on Conover in pitching and deserved the victory. He really pitched a no-hit game. The hit credited to Trotter was a roller along third which Craig allowed to wobble along, certain it would roll foul; it took an unexpected bounce and rolled fair.

UNIFORMED DEMONS WERE IN THE HALL

SO DANCING DEVOTEE OF APOSTOLIC CHURCH DRRGGED HER OUT.

"They are raising the Old Harry at a religious meeting in the Smith & Jackson Building," was the message telephoned to Police Headquarters, Paterson, about midnight, Saturday, by the janitor of the building, who asked for the reserves. Policeman Cooke investigated, and this is what he found:

The Apostolic Church, a new sect in Paterson, had been holding a Saturday night meeting on the third floor, with the Rev. P. J. Blackledge in charge. Members of the Salvation Army had heard of the enthusiasm of previous meetings, and Capt. Walker, a young woman, and Envoy Susi decided to attend. They had been present but a short time when a middle-aged woman unpinned her hair and, as one of the Salvationsts subsequently described it, "proceeded to dance from one end of the hall to the other and shout that there were uniformed demons in the hall and that she had been authorized by the Lord to drive them out."

As the Salvationists were the only uniformed persons in the hall they were a bit uncmorfortable, but kept their seats until the dancing one approached and seized Capt. Walker and attempted to drag her to the door. Envoy Susi interfered. Then it was that the attention of the janitor was attracted by the row and he decided to call the police.

"It was merely a case of outsiders scoffing at our meeting. We ordered them out and they would not go," said the Rev. Mr. Blackledge.

"Ham Tree" a Fine Offering.

What will be the last big offering of the season at the New Plainfield theatre, was presented Saturday, McIntyre and Heath, for many years known as "the Georgia Minstrels," appearing in their musical comedy, "The Ham Tree." It is an elaboration of the sketch in which the team played vaudeville for a decade and serves to introduce a lot of pretty girls in songs, dances and marches. In their old act of walking home after the minstrel show, McIntyre and Heath were as funny as ever and had their audiences laughing continuously. The supporting company was good and included W. C. Fields, the tramp juggler, and Fred Bowers, the well known song writer.

"Value of Memorizing Scripture."

The Sunday-school Teachers' Union will meet in the Y. M. C. A. building tonight at 8 o'clock. Devotional services will be led by Horace J. Martin, Sr. The lesson for Sunday, May 19, will be taught by Rev. George B. Shaw, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, and he will also present the subject, "Value of Memorizing Scripture." All interested in Bible study are invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Brown, of the borough, are parents of a daughter, born to them a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Hardeman, of West Front street, are entertaining relatives from Holyoke, Mass.

FOX AID SOCIETY HEAD

President of State Association Chosen for Similiar Position in Charity Organized Society.

UNION IS EFFECTED

Officers of Merged Organization Chosen From Membership of the Two Former Societies.

Trustees of the merged Plainfield Relief Association and the Charity Organized Aid Association, now the Charity Organized Society of Plainfield and North Plainfield, met at the rooms of the association on West Front street, last night, to adopt by-laws, elect officers and transact such other business as was necessary to complete the union, which went into effect on April 16. It is particularly desired that the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield know that by the merger the two leading charity associations of the city and borough have become one and by so doing have effected a stronger organization, which will do away with the duplication of charity.

It was reported that the certificate of merger was filed with the county clerk on May 8 and with the Secretary of State on May 9, thus effecting the legal union. First the incorporators met last night and adopted the new bylaws and this was followed by a meeting of the Board of Trustees, of which there are fifteen, eleven being present. The board approved the bylaws and then proceeded to elect officers.

Hugh F. Fox, who is president of the State Charities Aid Association, was chosen president; Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, who was president of the Plainfield Relief Association, was chosen first vice president, and Henry M. Maxson, who was president of the Organized Aid Association, was chosen second vice president; while William S. Tyler was elected secretary and William G. Wright treasurer. The two last named held the same offices in the Organized Aid Association, and in fact all of the officers have been so closely identified with the charity work that they are well fitted for the positions to which they have been chosen.

It is quite probable that Miss Mabel E. Pierson will be the secretary and Miss Lillian Moore, treasurer, of the relief committee, which is to be chosen at an adjourned meeting of the officers on Friday night. They have both been identified with the work in the same capacity heretofore.

In connection with the merger all of the land, funds, etc., of the old associations have been deeded over to the new association. At the meeting Friday night all committees will be appointed and the organization completed. It is understood that by the merger that the members of the old associations become members of the new association and are expected to continue as such. The following are trustees for the first year:

Henry L. DeForest, Hugh F. Fox, Mrs. Samuel Huntington, Henry M. Maxson, Samuel St. John McCutchen, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, John Doull Miller, Dr. William H. Murray, Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers, Miss Mabel Pierson, Mrs. Charles E. Ryder, Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, Mrs. Elizabeth Tiffany, William S. Tyler and William G. Wright.

AUTO LOST THE CASE.

Car Didn't Travel Fast Enough; But Lawyer Got New Trial.

Leroy A. Gibby, of Summit, representing Chester Henry, of that place, appeared before Judge Newcorn in the District Court this morning, to argue for a new trial of an action against his client by W. T. Kirk Co. The Kirk Company secured a verdict against Mr. Henry a week ago.

Mr. Gibby based his argument for a new trial on an automobile that betrayed him and his client. They started for this city last Tuesday in the car, but the machine couldn't make the distance in time. They reached the court after adjournment. Judge Newcorn granted the motion for a new trial, and May 28 was fixed as the date.

To Attend Baptists' Meeting.

Former Mayor and Mrs. A. W. Chambliss, of Chattanooga, who have been visiting their parents, Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Chambliss, of Central avenue, left Plainfield today, accompanied by their parents, for Washington, where they will attend the meetings of the National Baptist societies. They will be absent from the city a few days.

AUTO AND WAGON IN A COLLISION

JUDGE CODINGTON'S MACHINE INJURED BY THE MISHAP.

William A. Coddington's automobile and a delivery wagon owned by the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company and driven by Walter Swalm, were in collision at West Front street and Central avenue, yesterday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Coddington were in their machine going west on Front street, and Mr. Swalm was driving in the same direction, intending to turn into Central avenue.

Just before the collision, Swalm was leaning back in the wagon, fixing some groceries and the horse was allowed to take its own course. Noticing the position of the driver, Mr. Coddington yelled to Mr. Swalm, at the same time bringing his machine to a stop. As he did so the horse ran into the auto, smashing the fender and headlights. The occupants of the machine only escaped injury by jumping. Mr. Coddington ran behind his machine and the horse started after him, when one of the men employed on L. L. Manning's new building grabbed the animal, thus preventing further damage. The horse was not injured and the wagon was not damaged.

THIRTY DAYS IN WHICH TO STUDY BOOZE EFFECTS

STEVENS THOUGHT QUININE AND NOT WHISKEY MADE HIM WOOZY.

Joseph Stevens, drunk to a semi-comatose state, tried to steer his way down the steps of Bobby Leach's lunch wagon on East Second street, at 11.30 o'clock last night. His feet wouldn't answer the helm and he fell to the sidewalk with a bump that jarred him into unconsciousness and cut open his head.

He bled so much the lunch wagon clerk and passersby thought he was badly hurt, and a hurry-up call for the patrol wagon was telephoned to police headquarters. Before it reached the scene, however, a friend of Stevens soused him with a bucket of water and he came to. Policemen Messler and Keefe steered him to the station house, where Dr. C. A. Gesswein patched up his head.

In the city court this morning, where he faced a charge of drunkenness, Stevess told Judge Runyon that it was quinine pills and not drink that had made him woozy.

"As long as you seem to be much mixed up as to what caused your appearance here," said Judge Runyon dryly, "I'll give you an opportunity to spend a month in figuring out the difference in effect between quinine and booze. Thirty days in jail."

Stevens is said to have been drinking much. The court knew it wasn't his first jag, because Stevens, while drunk, bumped into a matron the judge was escorting home one night last week. Stevens' conduct at the time was such that the judge was moved to seize him by the collar and fling him to one side.

KEPT SALESMEN 40 YEARS.

J. W. Johnson, Old Silverware Dealer, in Hands of Receiver.

A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against J. Wesley Johnston, of this city, wholesale dealer in silver plated ware at No.22 John street, New York, one of the best known men in the trade, who has been in business forty years. Judge Hough, of the United States District Court, appointed George F. Bentley receiver, bond $10,000, on application of George C. Comstock. Liabilities are $53,000 and assets about $50,000, of which stock and fixtures are $6,000; good accounts, $2,000; stocks in other companies, $4,900, and real estate, $35,000.

Mr. Johnston's trouble is partly attributed to having too much money tied up in real estate, upon which he could not realize to meet his business obligations.

Mr. Johnston has eight salesmen, who have been in his employ since he started in business, and in all his business career, it is said, he never discharged any of his old employees.

Wagon Damages Auto.

An automobile touring car owned by L. A. Carter, of Elizabeth, was damaged by a United States Express Company wagon at Park and North avenues shortly before 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The driver in making a turn ran the wagon against the car, and the shaft tore through the side of the tonneau.

Building Loans.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Union Building and Loan Association held last night, loans were granted to the amount of $8,300.

PART OF EXHIBIT LOST

New Jersey's Showing at the Jamestown Exposition Not Intact and Axiety is Felt

STATE'S BUILDING BEST

Only One On the Grounds Completed —Two Months Before Show Is Worth Seeing.

Because of much confusion in transportation to the Jamestown Exposition grounds a large number of New Jersey's exhibits are missing and cannot be located. They are apparently lost, and it is doubtful if they are located for at least a week.

The disappearance of the State's exhibits has caused Colonel Lewis T. Bryant, secretary of New Jersey's commission to the Jamestown Exhibition, and his assistants there, much anxiety. Colonel Bryan has left Pine Beach for Trenton, to see if he can locate the exhibits and have them hurried to the exposition grounds. He believes they have been delayed in transportation because of the great rush on the railroads of exhibits, material and freight of all descriptions from all parts of the country.

In all probability the exhibits will be found on some railroad siding between New Jersey and Virginia. The railroad facilities are poor in this vicinity and the companies have proven themselves utterly incapable of handling the rush of the last few weeks. Only the double tracks of the new Tidewater Railroad Company, which is now in course of construction, run direct to the exposition grounds, and there are used by all the railroads operating in this sections for the transfer of freight to the grounds.

As a consequence freight cars are stalled at many points awaiting transfer to the tidewater tracks and the railroad facilities are held to be largely responsible for the incomplete condition of the grounds and buildings at the exposition.

At the New Jersey space in the "States" building the exhibits from the State Museum have already been placed on exhibition and are much admired by visitors. Particularly noticeable is the display of mosquitoes from the museum, which shows the various types that inhabit Jersey. The mosquitoes, arranged on pins, are in great variety and the various portions of the State from which they hail are marked on small tags. Newark is well represented in the display.

The various animal species from the museum and a great variety of insects and birds have been attracting considerable attention since having been placed in glass cases and shelves a short time ago.

The New Jersey space has not been decorated and no action will be taken to beautify it until all the exhibits have arrived. New Jersey, however, is not the only sufferer. Some States cannot even boast of having even an exhibit in the "States" building because of the lack of railroad facilities. Virginia's exhibit, almost opposite the space allotted New Jersey, is about completed, and was arranged at an enormous cost. It is not believed that any other State will equal in beauty the exhibit of the Old Dominion State.

South Carolina's exhibit, directly to the left of the Jersey space, is completed, and the exhibits present a magnificent display. They consist chiefly of agricultural products. The exhibit of Connecticut, which is also completed and occupies space close to that of New Jersey, is on educational lines and comprises a large display of work from the manual training schools of the State.

Included in the New Jersey exhibits which are on their way there is the historical display arranged by Historian Francis B. Lee, of Trenton. This will occupy a prominent position among the other State exhibits.

A portion of the large display of the State Board of Education is on the grounds and in readiness for arrangement. From the present outlook New Jersey will be classed among the other leading States of the Union as far as educational exhibits are concerned. The exhibits from the State Geological Survey are also interesting and are expected to prove extremely attractive when placed on exhibition.

The New Jersey building, which overlooks Hampton Roads, is one of the most beautiful among the State buildings on the grounds. It is thoroughly completed and its interior decorations present a homelike and comfortable appearance. Its colonial style of architecture gives it a certain charm which is pleasing to the eye of the visitor.

All visitors from New Jersey are welcomed at the building and make it their headquarters while visiting the grounds. Stationery is furnished visitors at the building and pictures of New Jersey are on both the paper

WALTER AWARD $1,000

After Being Out All Night, Jury Gives Verdict Against P.S.C.

MARSH WINS POINTS

Court Rules Against Howard MacSherry's Contentions—A Novel Legal Battle.

Alexander Walter, Jr., has won his damage suit against the Public Service Corporation. The jury, after being out all night, agreed upon a verdict of $1,000 damages, which was rendered when Judge Vail took his seat on the bench at Elizabeth this morning. The case excited much interest because of the novelty of some of the questions involved.

Mr. Walter was a clerk for Demolli & Co., and the accident happened on January 14 last while Mr. Mallini, one of his employers, was driving the firm's delivery wagon across the trolley tracks at Central avenue and West Fourth street. The delivery wagon was about to cross the tracks on a jog trot when the driver, fearing the car would not stop, whipped up the horse. The car struck the hind wheel of the wagon, over-turned it and threw the occupants to the sidewalk. Besides being bruised by the fall, Mr. Walter claimed that previous chronic troubles had been much aggravated because of the accident.

The company's defense was that the motorman was not negligent, but that the driver was because he deliberately took the chance of crossing ahead of the trolley car. The company moved to non-suit on this ground, but the court, after hearing argument by Howard MacSherry, for the trolley company, and Craig A. Marsh for Mr. Walter, sustained the point made by the latter that the question of negligence was for the jury and the defense of contributory negligence was not in the case, Mr. Walter not being responsible for any negligence on the part of his employers. After this decision the company continued the fight by calling many witnesses to prove that the motorman exercised all proper care, and to prove further by medical testimony that the character of the chronic ailments was such that they could not have been aggravated by the accident since there were entirely wanting the symptoms of aggravation that would necessarily be present if those injries had been in fact aggravated. On the latter point Mr. Walter's witnesses were Dr. Currie, of this city, and Dr. Brakeley, of Dunellen, and the company called four doctors, namely, Drs. Washington and Hinckley, of Newark; Dr. Pittis, of Plainfield, and Dr. Green, of Elizabeth.

Mr. Walter's counsel in opening the case, admitted that the plaintiff had the ailments referred to since 905, but claimed that the plaintiff was worse since the accident. The court ruled on this question that the jury would have to be guided by the medical testimony. Two of the defendant's doctors made physical examination of the plaintiff, and all four testified that in their opinion the chronic troubles referred to had not been aggravated, for the reason that if they had been there would have been present unmistakable symptoms of such aggravation. The plaintiff requested the court to charge that if the jury found from the evidence that the chronic ailments had been exaggerated by reason of the trolley company's negligence, the plaintiff was entitled to damages to the extent of such aggravation.

The case was given to the jury about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and no verdict was reached until shortly before the opening of court this morning.

CHURCHMEN AT DINNER

Rev. Dr. Zelie the Principal Speaker at Grace Episcopal Church's Annual Banquet.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

The Rector, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, E. E. Runyon, G. S. Clay and R. J. Letcher Also Make Addresses.

The Men's Club of Grace Protestant Episcopal church held its second annual dinner at the parish house, Sixth and Sycamore streets, last night. It was a delightful affair, and over fifty members enjoyed it. The tables were handsomely decorated with flowers, and the menu, served by Mrs. Lena Hellstrom, was most tempting. President H. B. Coombe was toastmaster.

For entertainment the diners had music and speeches in which after-dinner wit and humor sparkled richly. The music included songs by a quartette composed of A. H. Chamberlain, W. J. Tallamy, Bradley Hall, and Rev. E. V. Stevenson, and by Frederick Patman. Harry Westervelt, a professional pianist, played.

The principal speaker was Rev. Dr. John Sheridan Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue church. He said, in part:

"There are a great many things a broad-minded man ought to admire in churches other than his own. Sometimes I import things Episcopal into my service, but, somehow, I am always caught at it. Still, I am very well content to stay where I am, with occasional forays, such as the invitation of your committee leads me to.

"All of those who have to do with men's associations are in the same quandary as to how to keep them alive. One of the first things for Christian men to do is to take a high tone and cheer each other on by confidence and deep hopefulness. Do not judge by numbers. Some of the greatest things in life are being done by small pumbers. Take the missionary work of the church. How many men are carrying it on? Who is doing it? I suppose the whole thing is being done by ten per cent. of the church people; and the whole one hundred per cent. are proud of the work of that ten per cent.

"We have something very old to put before the world; we have no novelty. But we may win the world by the intrinsic value and the deep worth of what we have to give it.

"There is a word to be said of the ministry as a calling. Lawyers, doctors and tradesmen tell me nobody can understand human nature as they do. It is a delusion that only the best side of human nature is shown a minister. When I think of the ugly tempers and traits that are shown to a minister, I feel I know a bit of human nature myself. When you know your fellow-men at their worst, and begin to hope for the best, you can begin your real ministry. Ministers desire to be treated as men; the business man seems to think the minister is a being remote from everyday life.

"Let me now say a word of laymen in the church. One of the notable things of Plainfield is the great laymen it has produced. All the churches in this city are possessed of broad and virile laymen. You cannot make a great church by merely a great ministry; great laymen are needed. We haven't offices, to go around, but we have great things to do. One of the best things a minister can do is to interest splendid laymen in the service. Every church in this city has its splendid laymen, and the work is prospering.

"A great deal is happening in this city, happening under the surface. I speak now of the meaning of churchmen in citizenship. The character of the city is in the hands of Christian men. This town is being built up by men who are doing the necessarily obscure service of Christian labor. They are building it up as much as those who hold political office.

"The laymen are bearing a greater part in the churches' work than they ever did before. We have gotten away, for instance, from the old idea that missions were the field for women, and we have business men and bankers interesting themselves in that great work."

Rev. E. V. Stevenson, rector of the church, R. J. Letcher, Elmer E. Runyon and G. S. Clay also spoke. Mr. Stevenson appealed to the men of the club to hold themselves in readiness to help make the celebration of Grace church's freedom from debt, which will be held next month, a success. Mr. Stevenson said the date of the consecration and the all-day fete that will mark it had not been definitely decided, but that it would be June 11, 12 or 13, according as Bishop Scarborough decides.

At the business meeting following the dinner these officers were elected:

BABY DAUGHTER MEETS DEATH IN A RAIN BARREL

FELL IN AND LITTLE BROTHER PULLED HER OUT.

While toddling about the yard of her parents home on West Third street near Clinton avenue, yesterday afternoon, Helen Martin, the eighteen-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Martin, met an accidental death by drowning in a rain barrel. The receptacle was just high enough for her to lean over at the top and in looking into it she lost her balance and fell in. The barrel was nearly filled with water and she struggled in vain to get out. No one was near her at the time and her plight was unknown until a seven-year-old brother discovered her.

The boy thought she was playing and thinking to join in pulled her out by the feet. She was dead then and failing to understand why she kept still, he hurried into the house and told his mother that Helen was asleep outside. Mrs. Martin went to get her and then for the first learned what had happened.

She summoned Dr. Cregar but upon his arrival he saw at a glance that life was extinct.

TROLLEY HITS WAGON DRIVER THROWN OUT

VEHICLE SLOWED UP SUDDENLY AND COLLISION QUICKLY FOLLOWED.

An eastbound main line trolley car, No. 1901, in charge of Motorman Shaw and Conductor Parquett, both of this city, wrecked a delivery wagon belonging to Rosenbaum Brothers, dry goods dealers, of West Third street, at West Front street and Grant avenue, yesterday afternoon. Samuel Rosenbaum, of the firm, was driving, and the force of the collision threw him out of the wagon. He escaped serious injury.

The car and wagon were going in the same direction and Rosenbaum slackened his pace at Grant avenue and Front street, to allow the car to go ahead and pick up some passengers at the corner. He did not realize that the rear wheels of his wagon were on the tracks until the collision occurred. No damage resulted to the car.

WOMAN USED A HAT PIN.

Was Jabbing Edward Kiely's Face When Cop Interfered.

Marshal Pope, of the borough police force, was attracted by the unmistakable sounds of a scrap of some sort on Somerset street near Greenbrook road, late last night, and hastening in that direction arrived in time to stop a pitched battle between Mrs. Edward Willis, better known as Mary Garvel, and Edward Kiely. The Willis woman had a hat pin clutched in her right hand and she was making vicious jabs with it at Kiely's face. She had succeeded in scratching part of her initials on one cheek and was aiming for the other when the cop interfered.

Both belligerents were placed under arrest and locked up but Kiely was released on bail because his employer needed him. Mrs. Willis is occupying cell No. 2 while awaiting a hearing as she has no employer or the necessary bail. The police did not get the cause of the scrap but it evidently followed a mixed-ale party.

Charles Kenneth's Funeral.

The funeral of Charles Kenneth, whose death occurred in Muhlenberg Hospital last Saturday, was held this morning in St. Mary's church. Mass was said by Rev. Father Delehanty in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery. Those who acted as pall bearers were Frank Day, Albert Matthews, Aaron Mattox, Edward Feiring, Edward Eskerson and Thomas Muldowney.

Cataracts Threaten His Sight.

Herman Klinsman, of Harrison avenue, entered the Manhattan Eye and Ear Clinic, Sixty-fourth street, New York, this morning, to submit to an operation upon one of his eyes. The sight of the optic has been entirely obscured by a cataract and the other one has shown alarming symtoms of the same trouble. The surgeons are hopeful of saving his sight but he will probably be kept at the institution for several weeks.

ABDUCTS STEPDAUGHTER?

Colored Woman Alleges Husband Took Sixteen-Year-Old Girl Away.

ACCUSED ARRESTED

Colonel Clark In Borough Lockup On Technical Charge of Carrying Concealed Weapons.

Colonel Clark, a coal black negro who came to this city recently from Mount Vernon, N. Y., is locked up at borough police headquarters awaiting the action of the Grand Jury on a technical charge of carrying a razor but in reality to allow the authorities to investigate a charge of abduction preferred against him by a woman who claims to be his wife. He was arrested at the home of George Carter on Fritz place, last night, and the blade was found upon him when searched by the officers. He was given an immediate hearing before Justice Clark Mundy and the commitment was ordered to make sure of his being held while the other matter is looked up.

The woman, who claims to be Mrs. Clark, informed the police that her husband had run off with her sixteen-year-old daughter by a previous marriage. The girl's name is Hassie Washington and she had been working for a family on West Seventh street, near Spooner avenue. Clark is twenty-eight years old and came to Plainfield at the instigation of the mother who told him that he could get lots of work here. According to her statement, when he arrived in town, he paid no attention to her but spent all his time running after the daughter. A few days ago, she alleges, both went away together and she secured positive information that he took her to New Rochelle and knows where she is now. Clark returned to the borough, yesterday, and she preferred the charge against him.

In his own behalf Clark alleges that the complainant is not his wife, although admitting that they have been living together. He also told Chief Weiss that he did not take the girl away and that he has no idea as to her whereabouts. He claims that Miss Washington's age is nearer eighteen than sixteen and that the mother made the charge against him because he refused to give her money she asked for.

FIRE AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Outbuildings On Steengrafe's Farm Destroyed.

Fire destroyed the pig pen, corn crib, cider mill, corn cooker and grinder, located on Archibald Steengrafe's farm at South Plainfield, yesterday afternoon, and only through the prompt action of Mr. Steengrafe, George Pace and Ernest Snyder, was the large barn saved. The origin of the blaze is not known.

Mr. Steengrafe was returning home shortly after the fire broke out and was the first one to discover it. He hastened to the scene, called for the assistance of Mr. Pace and Mr. Snyder, and efforts were directed toward saving the barn, as the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to extinguish it. A large hennery standing near the barn was also saved. The loss aggregates several hundred dollars.

Colgate Gift to Orange Hospital.

Orange, May 14.—Sidney M. Colgate has presented to the Orange Memorial Hospital a tract of land on the south and east sides of the institution. It is about two hundred feet square and is at the back of the hospital and training school, with a strip running to Essex avenue about fifty feet in width. The depth from Essex avenue is 433 feet. The hospital has long desired to purchase property sufficient for a driveway to the rear of the buildings, but had not contemplated securing so much as has been given by Mr. Colgate. The property not only secures the roadway, but insures light and air to the tuberculosis pavilion. The doctors' room at the hospital has been refurnished by Mrs. Colgate.

Will Use Plymouth Pulpit.

New York, May 14.—Giving way to the determined stand taken by the Lecture Committee of the First Church of Christ, the trustees of Plymouth church, Brooklyn, decided yesterday to permit Judge Septimus J. Hanna to speak from the pulpit of that church Thursday evening. That there is likely to be no further determined opposition to the lecture from any quarter was evident last night when General Horatio C. King, clerk of the church, who lead the attack on Stephen V. White, the treasurer of Plymouth, for renting the church to the Christian Scientists, said he would abide by the decision of the Board of Trustees.

Start life afresh. Borrow from us to pay the several you owe and make payments in keeping with your income. By so doing you keep your credit good. Ease up the pressure on yourself and have a chance to "turn around" in other things needed for the family.

An Illustration

One of our clients owed $48 between four people. His salary is $14 weekly; rent $12 monthly. To have paid $2 weekly to each creditor, combined with rent, would have left only $3 per week to meet expenses, buy clothing, etc.—an impossibility you will agree. He borrowed $50, paid all his creditors, made his future credit good, if ever needed; pays his rent, the loan payments, and has $9 each week to use as his judgment dictates.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Saturday marks the opening of the Inter-city League, the locals meeting Clinton Avenue on the home diamond. The Plains team is in good shape, considering the small amount of practice that has been had, the team is nearly all doing good work with the stick and as this is what helps in the run getting Scotch Plains with its share of base ball luck should have more than a chance at the coveted pennant. Manager Frentz has as good a line-up from present indications as any team in the League, the pitching staff is strong and there is no reason why the local fans should not get right with the game and encourage the team all they can. Attend the games, contribute what you can and above all remember the home team is bound to lose a game now and then. This happens in base ball occasionally and when it does happen to the home team take it good naturedly, come out the following Saturday and root all the harder, this sort of feeling is what makes base ball the great American game that it is.

Jamestown Day was observed at the public school yesterday afternoon with an informal program consisting of the singing of National hymns, an address by Principal D. T. Hendrickson and the reading of Governor Stokes proclamation setting the day aside as Jamestown Day. At the close of the program school was dismissed for the day.

A second base ball team has been organized in town. Briant Johnston has been made captain and Anthony Warnock manager. The team is booking games for Saturdays out of town.

DIAMOND DUST.

Mose Baxter, the first baseman released by St. Louis to the Montgomery Club, when reproved by his manager for not covering more ground, retorted: "Say, I can't be in two places at once."

The Giants have won eleven straight victories and up to date not a member of the team has been suspended.

Minford showed up fine in Saturday's game against the Monoes, striking out fifteen men. Wait until warm weather arrives and he will show batsmen a trick.

Mike Lynch, of the Pittsburgs, is getting the reputation of being as slow in the box as Doyle, of the Highlanders.

What the Pittsburg team needs is more gray matter. Clarke and Leach cannot be expected to do all the thinking for the team.

The New York Americans are not playing up to their usual form. It will soon be time to start the hard-luck stories. By comparison the pitching staff is not in it with those of the other clubs.

Yale made only four hits off Pitcher Brady, of Pennsylvania, and the hard swatting Tad Jones made three of the four.

Heyniger, of Princeton, shows that he is capable of doing the box work as the season progresses. On Saturday he put the kibosh on Darmouth.

Griffith has changed his batting order again. If that won pennants the Highlanders would carry off the honors in a walk.

In the game the New York Americans played Sunday in Sandusky, Walter Clarkson had his pitching hand split by a sharply hit ball. The injury may keep him out of the game for a time.

Walsh has recovered from his illness and marked his return to the Chicago White Sox by pitching a winning game for them on Sunday.

GOLF.

Programmes for the eighth annual tournament of the New Jersey State Golf Association on June 6, 7 and 8 at the Baltusrol Golf Club repeat the attractive conditions of other years. The sixty-four players making the lowest scores in the eighteen hole qualifying round will continue for the following events: The first sixteen for the Championship cup, gold medal and runnerup gold medal; second, third and fourth sixteens, each for a gold medal; all beaten eights for gold medals. There will be the annual team match, four men from a club, for medals and a banner, to be settled by the qualifying round scores. The closing feature will be the eighteen hole handicap, with gross and net score prizes. Sixteen gold medals will be played for in all. Entries close on June 3 with the secretary, J. Whitney Baker, 76 Beaver street, Manhattan.

Leighton Calkins, secretary of the Metropolitan Golf Association, announces that club secretaries in sending in entries of players for the association handicap event at Nassau Country Club on Saturday, May 25, should carefully read the rule printed on the programme for the tournament. The rule requires club secretaries in entering players for the handicap who are not rated on the printed handicap list this year to state how many strokes such players receive at their home club from some player who is rated on the printed list. If this information is not sent in, all such unrated players will be placed at scratch or at least given very low handicaps. Club handicaps will be of no value and cannot be accepted.

The twelfth semi-annual thirty-six hole medal play golf handicap open to members of the University Club will be held over the course of the St. Andrews Golf Club at Chauncey tomorrow. Handicaps will be based so far as possible on the Metropolitan ratings and prizes are to be given for the three best net scores. The courtesy of the St. Andrews Golf Club will be extended to participants from the date of entry with the secretary. Robert L. Harrison, Arthur H. Lockett, O. P. Conant, Henry A. James and Frank A. Moore constitute the committee.

The team and individual championships of the New York Interscholastic Association will be held at the Garden City Golf Club under the auspices of the St. Paul's School golf team on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 20, 21 and 22. The championships of the two Metropolitan Golf Associations will be held the same week at Nessau and Knollwood, so it will be a busy one. Fred Kerreshoff won the New York interscholastic last year and now has the title, which he will not defend. It is a title that is seldom defended, for the holder is usually at college or out of school when the time comes to do battle. The St. Paul's boys are trying to make the tournament larger than usual and notices will be sent to all preparatory schools asking their players to enter.

As only three players qualified for the May cup, Class B, at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday, May 4, while the conditions provide for eight to qualify, five more were allowed to qualify last Saturday as follows: H. S. Rogers, 99, 18—81; Hugh F. Fox, 107, 17—90; George F. Earl, 11, 21—99; A. G. Henderson, 118, 20—98; R. H. Cox, 125, 27—98. The first round match play will be played on Saturday afternoon, May 18; the semi-finals Saturday, May 25, and the finals on Decoration Day morning.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

A treat in melodrama is promised in the presentation of "A Little Outcast" with Miss Ella Galvin in the title role at the New Plainfield theatre, next Monday and Tuesday nights. For three seasons this play has been a big favorite and it comes to Plainfield this season with a new third act, entirely new scenery and some big surprises. Its story is clear cut out and interesting. It is realistic in all its situations and presenting perfect views of the famous localities of New York, including Cooper Union, the docks off the Battery, a Chinese Restaurant in Mott street and a Fifth avenue mansion, an electric launch is one of the many novel stage effects. Miss Galvin is assisted by Johnny Galvin, leading man, Irene Drew, Lillie Steele, Ned Nelson, Henrietta Gibson, May Morris, Little Tootsie, Jas. A. Harris, James Grady, D. O. Secord, Burt Simon, Lonelle Norman, Billy Hanley, Bert Morris, Wm. Anger and others. The original Duo Anger and Hanley is a special feature.
